6 Veteran Cagers on Prowler '62-63 Squad

Six boys who were on last season's twelve-man district tournament squad — John Aune, Paul Klungness, Tom Lindberg, Rick Jensen, Ken Larson, and Jerry Erickson — reported to coach Jack Junker on Monday afternoon as the Lincoln high school cagers began preparation for the 18-game 1962-63 season.

Of this six-man cluster, John Aune and Paul Klungness were on the starting five when the Prowlers met, and lost by a 57-55 score, the Climax Vikings in a District 31 first-round game last spring. From that tournament squad, co-captains Wayne Bjerken and Gary Kelly, Elton Hornseth, George Hankerson, Mike Aune, and Gary Klungness have concluded their high school careers, having been graduated last spring.

Players who saw service during last season's campaign, and who will be relied upon for this season's play are Tom Lindberg, who shared center-man play with Hornseth last year; Ken Larson, a rangy southpaw who saw limited service as a forward, Rick Jensen, a quick-moving back-court player; Jerry Erickson, a diminutive guard who has proved to be an able ball-handler; Bob Olson, a rangy graduate from coach Joe Mrkonich's 'B' squad; and sturdy Steve Mittelstadt, a squad member for much of last season.

The Prowlers will open play on their 1962-63 schedule on Saturday night, Dec. 1, when they meet the Fertile Falcons at Fertile.

Crookston Horse Show Set Sunday

Program to Be Given at Winter Shows Building

The grand finale horse show of the season will be presented at 1:30 p. m., Sunday, November 18, at the Winter Shows buildings in Crookston.

Three special dress events will be featured on the show agenda. These include the Parade class, the Arabian costume and the Appaloosa costume classes. All of these events are most colorful as both horse and rider are extensively decorated to suit the occasion. Competitors in the Appaloosa costume class feature the colorful costumes worn by the Nez Perce, the Indian tribes of the western plains who used the Appaloosa horse extensively for hunting, racing and war a few decades ago.

The Arabian costumes classes have been received most enthusiastically at a wide variety of horse shows. Riders wear distinctive replicas of the ancient dress worn by the Arab chieftains when the horse was the major factor in the struggle for power on the desert sands. The purebred Arabian horses are likewise decorated in the same fashion that was popular with the Arabian horsemen at that time.

The Parade class reflects the modern American approach for the display of both horse and rider in the ornamental decorations appropriate for parade purposes.

In addition the show will also include a fine harness class, children's games and western pleasure classes. Racing events, such as the barrel race, pole bending, boot race, racing in pairs, are also scheduled for the show.

Check Address for Social Security

Many Neglect to Notify of Change of Address

Thousands of people who are collecting social security checks do not get them as promptly as they could simply because they move and fail to notify social security offices of their new addresses, the Social Security Administration has announced.

A notice to the postoffice will not get an address changed on social security records, Walter D. Kistler, district manager of the Grand Forks social security office, said today. The best way of insuring the prompt and safe delivery of your social security check each month, he said, is to let the Social Security Administration know your new address as soon as you plan to move.

A notice to the postoffice of your change of address will take care of having any checks already on their way to you, but it will not insure the prompt delivery of those to follow.

You may report your new address to the Social Security Administration by filling out and mailing the post card which is given to you when you begin receiving your checks. Or send a short note to your social security payment center, giving your name and address, your claim number, your new address, and the date you plan to move.

The address of the payment center is on your "Certificate of Award." If you prefer, you may contact the district office to get the address.

Modern Highways Are Termed Boon to State Doctors

Medical doctors were among the first users of the automobile. Automobiles permitted them to increase the number of patients they could call on — from 5 to 7 a day to perhaps 8 to 10 a day. Gradually, however, owing partly to the automobile and partly to improvements of roads, the practice of home visits changed until now the practice is for patients to visit the doctor's office.

The increase in productivity of doctors resulting from this change in mode of operation, under which patients bear the burden of transportation, has been quite spectacular — from 15 to 35 patients are now seen daily. An American Medical association study notes that in a rural county, 16 physicians in 1950 provided more service for more people than 42 physicians had done in 1920.

The effectiveness of such health facilities as hospitals often depends largely on how accessible they are. Travel time to the facility may be all important. In some instances as many as 75 per cent of all hospital patients arrive by motor vehicle.

Clara Larson Wins In National Registration

Clara Larson of Thief River Falls was named the winner of a $39.75 gift certificate when her name was drawn from registration in the recently-completed Pittsburgh Plate Glass company sweepstakes contest. Registration was conducted at Falls Decorators in this city and the drawing was held in Chicago, Ill.

Postpone Meetings On State Lands

Dept. of Conservation Sets New Hearing Dates

Two public hearings to discuss resource development plans for northwestern Minnesota counties have been postponed until later dates, the Minnesota Department of Conservation announced today. The plans involve the classification of state-owned land in the northwestern counties into various management categories.

A meeting originally scheduled for Marshall county and slated at Warren on November 20 has been postponed until November 28 and the meeting place charged to Newfolden. The meeting will start at 7:30 p. m. with the exact meeting place to be announced later.

The Beltrami county meeting will be held at Grygla as originally planned but the date has been changed from December 4 to December 12. Time and place of this meeting will also be announced at a later date.

Lake Mille Lacs Closed to Taking of Northern Pike

Mille Lacs lake will continue to be closed to the taking of northern pike according to an order handed down recently by Commissioner of Conservation Clarence Prout.

The ban on northern pike fishing applies to both angling and spearing and will continue in force until Nov. 30, 1963.

Conservation Department fisheries supervisor Hjalmar Swenson said that extension of the ban would enable research crews to evaluate the effects of the northern pike rehabilitation program.

Goodridge Girl Is Air Stewardess

Jean Krbechek Serving North Central Airlines

Jean Krebechek of Goodridge has completed her four-week flight stewardess course at North Central Airlines and is based at Detroit, Mich. She is the daughter of of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Krebechek of Goodridge.

She joins North Central's corps of 150 stewardesses who are located in Minneapolis-St. Paul, Chicago, and Detroit.

Her flight stewardess training was held at North Central's general offices in the Twin Cities. Classroom study was combined with the guidance of an experienced stewardess on regular flights aboard the company's twin-engine DC-3 or Convair 340-440 aircraft.

Miss Krbechek is a graduate of Goodridge high school. Before joining North Central she attended Winona and Bemidji state colleges.

Since its founding in 1948 North Central has flown more than 1,185,000,000 passenger-miles and carried over 7,340,000 passengers without a single injury to passengers or crew members.

Two Out of Eight Water Tests Show Contamination

Arnie Christensen of Falls Building Improvement, who recently received his Sabro Portable Laboratory for testing water for coloform bacteria, noted today that eight tests have been run to date and two water sources have been found to be contaminated.

One deep well and one natural spring were found to furnish contaminated water, Christensen said, indicating that contamination can be a problem in this area. Persons interested in having water tested without charge may call MU 1-1224 during the next week.

Samples should not be brought to Falls Building Improvement since they must be taken in sterilized bottles by himself, Christensen said.

The term "Preshrunk" is no guarantee against shrinkage. It has meaning only when followed by a statement telling how much the fabric will shrink — for example, "preshrunk — will not shrink more than one per cent."

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

After much research, and the securing of affidavits from eye witnesses, it appears that there is more truth than fiction in Bob Carlson's deer hunting experience of last Sunday.

Here's a recital of the tale: Bob, along with his young son Rod and Sid Jelinek, was hunting the Ditch 200 area north of Mavie. And, as usual, Bob was posted in a tree. A doe came prancing down a run-way, and Bob, with a well-placed shot, downed the animal. In his hurry to "stick" the doe, Bob hustled down the tree, leaving his gun on a limb.

He came up to the animal, and as he was about to put a finish to the animal's struggles, the doe regained her feet and began staggering away, with Bob hanging on to a hind leg. Bob was forced to let go and the doe continued to make headway through the bulrushes, but not for long as the animal again fell down. Bob, always a quick thinker, stripped off his belt, and looped the leather around the leg of the doe.

And that's the way the struggle ended, with Bob hollering for assistance, and the doe bleating, as Sid and Rod came on the scene and with a head-shot, killed the animal. Bob's deer hunting trips are always dramatic.

It's Quite a Jump

Not many players have made the switch from college hockey to the National Hockey league, but it appears that Gordon (Red) Berenson, who was twice named to the All-American team while at Michigan University, is making the grade with the Montreal Canadians. Berenson concluded his college career last spring, and was immediately signed by the Montreal club and joined the Canadians in the Stanley Cup playoffs.

Berenson played junior hockey with the Regina Pats, a club that reached the Memorial Cup finals. He was offered scholarships at North Dakota, Denver, and Michigan, and, says the redhead, "I almost decided to go to North Dakota, but at the last minute I switched to Michigan and I'm not sorry."

The former Michigan center ice star, in a magazine article just published, says that he "got the most satisfaction out of scoring three goals against Minnesota. There is a big rivalry between Michigan and Minnesota in all sports. There was almost a riot in last year's game in Minneapolis. The Minnesota team rarely loses on its home ice. The action was abnormally rough for college hockey, and then after we beat them, 4-3, the fans rushed down to the ice and tried to get at us. I guess they weren't used to seeing their team lose."

Bereson explained that 90 per Canadians, but he lauds the Minnesota plan for promoting hockey by saying "The only exception is Minnesota which has virtually all American-born players. They have an exceptional high school hockey program in Minnesota. All cities and states with ice facilities should try and copy the one they have there. Detroit has a good high school program going now."

Several of us here in town were fortunate enough to witness Bereson in his junior hockey days with Regina, and later as a member of the Michigan Wolverines. The six-foot 185-pound center-ice player could go on to a great career in pro hockey.

Canadian Mallards

While the duck hunting in Minnesota was pretty much of a "bust" this season, the hunting, for mallards, has been, and continues to be, good in Manitoba.

Says the Winnipeg Tribune's Kit Kitney, the paper's outdoor editor, "Wednesday we had one of the best stubble shoots I've experienced since shortly after the war. Big flights of ducks kept coming in and it wasn't until the sun was going down that other hunters moved in to gum the works—not because they were sharing the shooting, but because they wouldn't let the birds circle into range."

Adds Kitney, "No pits needed, and of course no hide available in a burned-over barley field. We just lay on our backs with a straw-padded rock as our pillow, cap peak pulled over the face and gun barrel resting over a leg. It works well, just keep still, the ducks eventually circle within rang, you kick the gun into shooting position, push off the safety and go into action."

This is a technique that Cotton Langevin should try! I would like to see him try to kick a shotgun into position.

Basketball Topic at Lions Meeting

Lincoln Coaches, Junker and Mrkonich, Speakers

The outlook for Lincoln high school basketball during the coming season opening December 1 was dicussed by Jack Junker, head coach, and Joe Mrkonich, assistant coach, at the Lions club luncheon meeting Wednesday noon.

Introduced by R. J. Dryden, program chairman, Junker outlined proposed strategy, including the zone press, to be used this season. He said he feels that this year's squad is a "real good outfit", and he urged that local fans attend the games and support the team.

In response to a request by James Parkins, Lions International councillor, a meeting of the committee in charge of arrangements for the district Lions conference to be held in Thief River Falls next February was scheduled for Wednesday evening, November 21, at 6 o'clock in the Rex Cafe.

Large Lynx Shot Monday on Alton Kalsnes Farm

Alton Kalsnes added a bonus to his deer hunting success this season when he shot a Canadian Lynx at the end of a drive on his farm 12 miles west and 5 miles south of Thief River Falls Monday. The animal measured 5½ feet in length but was not weighed.

Also in the hunting party were Harold, Arnold, Merle and Donald Kalsnes, Alec, Edward and Joe Jagol, Everett Langelett, Laurie Beman and George Jorgenson. The party filled out its limit of deer on Monday.

Several other reports of lynx being shot by deer hunters have been received, indicating that they are more common this season than in previous years. One hunter also killed two black bear while hunting in the western portion of Beltrami county.

State Farmers Union Session to Draw 2500

A total of nearly 2,500 delegates and visiting members is expected for the 21st annual convention of Minnesota Farmers Union to be held November 18-20 in St. Paul. Convention sessions are slated for the St. Paul municipal auditorium.

"We expect that most of the 585 Local Unions in the 84 agricultural counties of the state will be represented at the convention because of the importance of the 1963 farm policy recommendations to be made," said Edwin Christianson, state president of the Farmers Union.

In addition to the farm program recommendations, the convention will elect 16 official delegates to represent the state at the National Farmers Union convention next March 17-20 in New york City.

Among those participating in the state convention from this area will be Leslie Nelson of the Silverleaf FU local, Carole Ostby of Grygla, and DeVere Chapman and Bonnie Rokke of Newfolden, all of whom will be honored for five years or more of junior activity.

According to the trend of the resolutions being received from the county and local organizations all across the state, the delegates will be most greatly concerned about a new dairy program and about the adoption of a permanent feed grains program and the strengthening of the 1964 wheat program.

It is clear from the grassroots resolutions that the farmers of the state approve the trend toward greater use of direct payments in the support programs, President Christianson said this week.

President Christianson will make his annual address on the Monday evening convention program, to be followed by the address by James G. Patton, president of National Farmers Union and head of the American Freedom from Hunger Foundation.

M. W. Thatcher, general manager of Farmers Union GTA, will have his traditional place on the program as the featured speaker on the banquet program.

Thomas H. Steichen, general manager of Farmers Union Central Exchange, will speak Tuesday afternoon at the auditorium theater section.

Featured speakers from Washington will be John A. Baker, assistant secretary of agriculture, and Dr. Leon Keyserling, noted economist who headed President Truman's council of economic advisors.

State Coverage to Be Provided by New Monitors

Highway Department Employes to Operate Monitoring Instruments

Distribution of 216 radiological monitoring instruments to all highway department shops and truck stations, marks the successful completion of the first phase of the department's three-year training program in first aid and civil defense, the Minnesota Highway department announced today. Total value of the instruments is estimated at $40,000.

The program began as a training course for instructors in first aid for all department field personnel. With the construction of the department's training center at Arden Hills last year, in conjunction with the Office of Civil Defense, its first aid program was quickly expanded to include training of instructors for Civil Defense. Up to the present time, 3,000 highway department employees have completed the training in both courses.

According to the department's training officer, as soon as the monitoring instruments are set up during the next few weeks, Minnesota will have the capability of giving blanket coverage throughout the state by an expertly trained control group of monitors. Responsibility rests jointly with the state highway department's nine district engineers and the local civil defense authorities in the areas in which the monitoring stations are located. To maintain peak performance, all stations will have periodic review, instruction and inspection, the training officer said.

The monitoring instruments were provided by the federal government in response to a request made early in the training program.

The highest tax levy on homes, farms and other property in the history of Minnesota occured in 1959, when the state collected 14.32 mills in taxes on each dollar of taxable value.

TURKEY IN THE BAG

There's a new (and some say better) way to roast turkey. This new method, from the Minnesota Turkey Growers Association, is called "Turkey-In-The-Bag," and, from the standpoint of simplicity, is certainly an improvement over any other method.

Just prepare your turkey in the usual way, with or without stuffing. Brush the skin of the turkey with melted butter or your preferred shortening and season it your favorite way. Place the turkey in an ordinary brown kraft bag . . . the kind you get from your food store. Close the open end with one or two folds and seal this fold with any type of fastener you have in the house . . . safety pins, paper clips, skewers, or a stapler. Place the turkey-in-the-bag on the broiler rack or a flat rack which is raised up from the bottom of the oven. Pre-heat the oven to 325°F.

Now, your turkey is ready for roasting . . . bag and all! No, the bag won't burn, and you do not touch the turkey until it is ready to serve. All of the fat and juices accumulate in the bag so you merely pour it into a pan or bowl to make your gravy. The amazing thing is that the turkey browns perfectly right in the bag.

Farm Bureau to Convene Sunday in Minneapolis

1,000 Members Expected at Annual Convention In Leamington Hotel

The 44th annual meeting of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation will get under way Sunday, November 18, at the Leamington Hotel in Minneapolis. Approximately 1,000 members from throughout Minnesota are expected to attend.

Headlining the three-day meeting will be an address by Dr. Earl Butz, dean of agriculture at Purdue University. Dr. Butz, recognized for his contributions in the area of agricultural economics, will speak at the annual banquet on Monday evening, November 19.

Sunday's program gets underway with the Young People's talk meet and talent contests and a bowling tournament. The Sunday evening program calls for vesper services, with the Rev. Walter Rudy, pastor of the St. Paul Park Community Congregational church giving the address.

Monday's program includes an organizational breakfast, to be addressed by Edward J. Morrison, publisher of the Morrison Sun-Tribune; annual reports by MFBF Secretary-Treasurer Kenneth Snyder and President Clarence W. Myers; a talk by Paul Johnson, editor of the Prairie Farmer magazine; and several special conferences. The women's conference will hear Mrs. August Baumann, chairman of the Wisconsin Farm Bureau Women; and the commodity conference will hear Ancher Nelsen, District II Minnesota congressman.

The annual meeting wind-up will come Tuesday, November 20, as the voting delegates representing county Farm Bureaus throughout the state will take action on resolutions and elect a vice president and two district directors.

Revenue by Highway User Taxes is Higher

Minnesota ranks third in the five-state area in the total estimate for 1962 highway-user tax revenues with $109,071,000. Wisconsin is first with $123,100,000 and Iowa second, $112,692,000. Minnesota ranks second, however, in motor-vehicle registration fees, $44,371,000; after Iowa's $48,768,000; with Wisconsin third, $42,713,000. Second, also, is Minnesota in motor-fuel tax revenue, $60,519,000. Wisconsin, first, $77,090,000, and Iowa, third, $60,269,000.

Based on state reports of motor-fuel consumption and motor-vehicle registrations for the early months of this year, the Bureau of Public Roads, U. S. Department of Commerce, is predicting an expected total of almost $5.8 billion in highway-user tax revenues in 1962, an increase of 4.2 per cent over 1961.

State motor-fuel taxes, which are expected to produce $3.7 billion for the national coffers during the year, are the principal source of these revenues, representing 65 per cent of the total. The next largest source is the state motor-vehicle registration fees, which is estimated to reach $1.6 billion or 28 per cent of the total.

Other state highway-user tax revenues during 1962 are estimated as follows: other motor-vehicle fees, $220 million; motor carrier fees, $112 million, and miscellaneous fees, $95 million, representing seven per cent of the total.

California leads the states with an estimated $664 million. The four states next in line are: New York, $388 million; Texas, $352 million; Ohio, $331 million, and Pennsylvania, $318 million.

"The march of Providence is so slow and our desires so impatient; the work of progress is so immense and our means of aiding it so feeble; the life of humanity is so long, that of the individual so brief, that we often see only the ebb of the advancing ways, and are thus discouraged. It is history that teaches us to hope."

Time to Quit?

President Charles de Gaulle of France delivered a violent attack on his political opponents last week and urged the nation to elect a new National Assembly, favoring "National Renovation" and capable of working with him.

DeGaulle has been a good man for France. As a virtual dictator of the country he has done much to restore its economy. In his long career he has risen at times to great heights. It would be most unfortunate for him if he remained in office too long, and historians would have to write him down as a great character who finally failed.

University Wants More

Joyous Education Week tidings—the University of Minnesota is asking for an appropriation of $94 million to cover operating costs during the next two years and nearly $36 million for new buildings. The operating budget is $23 million greater than the amount appropriated for that purpose two years ago.

The budget provides for 406 new faculty positions and about $3 million for salary increases.

It is the same old story, year after year the people on the public payrolls get more, which means that for many others the bigger tax bite will lower net incomes. There was a time when we thought of public employees as people who were working for us. Gradually we are discovering that actually we are working for them.

Borrowing to Build Roads

Commissioner of Highways James C. Marshall does not agree with Governor Elmer Andersen in his proposal for an accelerated highway construction program to be financed by a bond issue. His objection is based on the high cost of interest. He prefers to see all of the dollars go into roads.

The Commissioner is very right. The road problem will always be with us. Speeding up the construction program with borrowed dollars builds up a peak that invariably is followed by a depression as a big slice of highway income must be diverted each year from construction to debt service.

There probably was some justification a few years ago in borrowing to pay for some high cost bridge construction. Buying a bridge, that requires a big investment, on the payment plan may make possible an orderly program of progress for other types of construction. But that does not apply to regular road construction. Peaks and depressions are not good.

Tax Cut Coming?

Last year's Berlin crisis resulted in a five billion dollar boost in this year's military spending. This year's Cuban crisis is going to result in an increase of at least four billion dollars in next year's spending for military purposes. This year's budget is 48 billion. All of which causes the Wall Street Journal to wonder why:

> "If we must spend additional billions to meet each new crisis, what have we been doing with the billions we have been appropriating precisely to meet such crises?"

The Journal's real concern is based on the administration's determination to ask for a tax cut next year. Walter Heller, the President's chief economic adviser, says the nation's economy needs the lift that a tax cut would provide. The Journal is satisfied that a tax cut, without a cut in spending, makes no sense at all. It states:

> "Whatever else this means, it assures a continuation of the long and dreary record of budget deficits. A budget deficit by itself is not necessarily evil; deficits are unavoidable in some emergencies. The cold war is an emergency, all right, but it differs from the emergencies that have confronted this nation in the past. It has been with us for more than a decade and may continue for many years more. Are we to go on piling up deficits year after year?
> "Already, nearly 10 cents of every dollar the Government spends goes to finance old debt. As this burden grows, the tax load for future years is steadily increased. And as we go on living widly beyond our means, we invite future inflation and a further weakening of our nation's currency.
> "Yet Administration officials seem bent on extending this process indefinitely. Their total refusal to establish any spending priorities raises the suspicion that they either don't understand economics or else are deliberately trying to set the stage for complete regimentation of the economy. The Administration does, in fact, have in readiness all the machinery of wage and price controls.
> "We don't know whether the answer is ignorance or design, but one thing is sure. We are on a course that can only weaken America's economy. And you can't build lasting military strength on a foundation of economic weakness."

Can It Be Otherwise?

Stanley Penn, writing in the Wall Street Journal, says that American movie makers are now producing more films in the United States because of rising costs in foreign countries. As an example he cites, "The Greatest Story Ever Told", a $10 million production dealing with the life of Christ, went before the cameras here in the United States recently. "This type of spectacle has been filmed almost exclusivley outside the States", he said.

The item is interesting mainly because it points up the importance of remaining competitive. Cost increases in other countries indicate that wage scales and salaries are approaching those paid in our country. That is as it should be. Over a period of years the living standards of the nations that are highly industrialized will gradually move to a common level. Unfortunately progress in the backward countries will lag behind the more advanced nations.

Can it be otherwise? Our living standards are gauged to our production. The more we produce the more we have.

Inadequate Program

The National Creameries Association will oppose any action to withhold dairy products from the market to increase prices. This organization speaks for a large segment of private and cooperative processors of dairy products in the north-central states. The action no doubt was taken in response to threats by the National Farmers Organization to withold milk from the market unless processors sign contracts guaranteeing higher prices.

While the objective of the NFO has merit, the way in which it hopes to accomplish that objective has notable shortcomings. Dairy products are perishable and they must be processed in order to be held in storage. The alternative is to destroy them, and if surpluses are to be destroyed then they should be destroyed in such a way that the cost of that surplus control will be shared by all segments of the industry, and all producers, equitably.

From our observation the NFO does not offer the kind of leadership that the dairy industry, on a national scale, should have. The NFO program is very inadequate.

Tax Bite Emphasis

Few people are aware of what their share of the cost of government adds up to. The withholding method of tax collection means that people on a payroll never have possession of the dollars they pay in this form.

A Parkersburg, West Virginia, businessman, was impressed with the fact that his employees never grumbled about the portion of their earnings that were paid directly to the government, while other taxes which they paid out of their own pockets made them very unhappy. A. K. Summers, the employer, decided they should be made more aware of how many of their working hours were donated to the government.

As told by the Michigan City News-Dispatch:

> "To Summers, the reason seemed obvious. Withholding taxes never got into a worker's hands, so there was no payback pain. Few, in fact, even considered withheld taxes as part of their pay. Only "take-home" counted.
> "To make his 65 employees aware of their federal tax bills, Summers instituted a new system last January. Instead of weekly, he began deducting federal income and OAS taxes from one paycheck a month.
> "The message got through, loud and clear. Some examples:
> "One $70-a-week employee without dependents drew full checks the first three weeks in January, but none at all the fourth week. In fact, she ended the month owing Uncle Sam another $4.75.
> "A $2-an-hour employee took home precisely 83 cents the fourth week—and a $125-a-week worker's fourth check was only $22.68.
> "Summers' new system got into the papers, of course—and Internal Revenue Service officials promptly questioned its legality. Summers invited a test case, but after eight months none had been filed. By then the plan—still in effect, by the way—had achieved results.
> "Most of our employees now realize that a lot of this wild federal spending is coming out of their pockets," said Summers.
> "Then, somewhat more bluntly, he added: "I have talked to many businessmen on this subject. They think it is a great idea but they don't do anything about it. I think the average businessman would rather sit back and let George do it, or maybe the brutal truth is, no guts. One George speaking out in the wilderness will not be heard very far, but three or four million Georges speaking at once would be heard a long way."

Interesting Opinions

"Neither happiness nor virtue, but worldly success, is what the average father desires for his children. He wants them to be such as he can boast of to his cronies, and this desire largely dominates his efforts for their education."

—Bertrand Russell

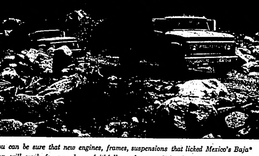
THEY'VE ALWAYS BEEN TOUGH BUT NEVER STRONGER THAN NOW!



You can be sure that new engines, frames, suspensions that licked Mexico's Baja Run will work for you long, faithfully and at traditionally low Chevrolet cost.*
A Chevrolet truck has always been a sound investment because of its quality construction. This is what makes it give you an honest day's work every day at very low cost and—when you are finished with it—return more resale money to your happy pocket.
This year stronger frames, engines that can pull more, and practically tailor-made suspension systems make Chevrolet trucks a better buy than ever. If you're in the market now, we'd welcome the chance to tell you about, and let you drive, the new trucks. Just give us a call.

How can you teach your children thrift if you still haven't opened a savings account yourself?

Children (bless 'em!) are the greatest imitators in the world. They do what they see, not always what you say. And follow in footsteps laid before them. Would you have them follow in yours?

You want to teach your youngsters thrift, of course. But are you setting the example you would have them follow? It's a personal question only you can answer. And personal it should remain.

But if you still haven't opened a savings account yourself, may we suggest that doing so might be the most significant and meaningful example you could possibly set for those youngsters?

Do stop in and talk it over with us. And be sure to bring the youngsters along. There's nothing we like better than to explain how even nickels and dimes—put away regularly—can grow and grow and grow.

Of course, if you decide to open a savings account yourself—and we hope you will—your example will mean more than anything we could possibly say. Won't you make it soon . . . say, first thing tomorrow?

Area Development . . .

TRF Farmers Join In Group Potato Venture

by Paul Stelmaschuk
Pennington County Agent

Area development is everybody's business. Farmers contribute their share to the program by intensifying their farming operation. The area is, and will continue to be, dependent on agriculture for most of the income. It is imperative that every farmer and everyone else look at the possibilities in agriculture.

This year three farmers pooled their resources to get started in potato production. Their methods may not work for everyone. The fact that the three did make practices work for their farms is noteworthy.

From the beginning the three farmers thought that if the project worked it would be good for the community as well as themselves. With this in mind, Silas Hanson, Curtis Johnson and Doug Peterson decided on a joint potato production venture.

All three farmers will tell you that they went to many meetings to get information, toured local and area warehouses, looked at wash plants and talked to potato growers. "Finally, this spring we decided to make the move," says Silas Hanson. "We figured that if we pooled our resources, equipment and labor, no one could get hurt too bad."

Potato planting started June 15 on the Curtis Johnson farm and was finished in July on Doug Peterson's farm. "We picked up a potato planter for $1,100 and we got a harvester from the Engelstad farm for the repairs we put on it which were $150," Hanson said. Cutting machinery and equipment costs is very important in a new operation while the growth of the enterprize is underway, and all three farmers kept this in mind.

The trio also arranged for renting from the Engelstads a potato warehouse located in Thief River Falls. The Engelstad family is an old-time seed potato producer in this area. The Engelstads built a new warehouse on their farm for their 1962 crop.

Expenses Ran High

Curtis Johnson, who farms with his father Anton in Rocksbury township, says, "We were expecting expenses to run high on this crop and they did. We put in 1,100 pounds of seed per acre. Then on our farm we used 300 pounds of 10-20-20 fertilizer per acre. Spraying for insects and blight cost $12 per acre. We had to go over the fields five to six times. All this adds up fast".

In dividing up the harvest work, Silas Hanson was put in charge of the field crew; Doug Peterson ran the digger and harvesting equipment; Curtis Johnson was in charge of storage of potatoes at the warehouse.

The three farmers harvested 100 acres of potatoes and employed 39 people for 10 days to pick, haul and store the potatoes. The labor included high school pupils, women and men who wanted part time employment. This is a form of area development not recognized often enough, says County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk. The extra expenditures, which run about $100 an acre as compared to about $20 an acre for grain crops means

Jaycees To Sell Christmas Bulbs Again This Year

Annual Project Supports Nativity Scene; Skate Collection Is Planned

Approval of a Christmas tree bulb sale to finance an additional figurine for the nativity scene erected each year on the postoffice lawn was given Thursday evening at the regular meeting of the Thief River Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce in the Elks club rooms.

Erection of the nativity scene, initiated by the Jaycees several years ago as part of a national Jaycee project to "put Christ back in Christmas", will take place in the near future. With additions made to the scene through bulb sale proceeds each year, a large number of near life-size figurines have been secured for the annual project.

Approval was also given to conduct the used skate collection which was begun last year and through which about 35 boys and girls received skates which their families could not normally afford. Distribution was made through the local Salvation Army unit with skates donated by individuals and business firms and repaired and polished by Jaycee volunteers and a local shoe repair shop.

George Hildre reported on the Farm Boy to Chicago project carried out by the Jaycees, noting that Corydon Chervestad of the Deer Park area had been selected to make the trip to the International Livestock Show. Presentation of the award was made at the annual 4-H awards banquet, a practice which Hildre recommended to be followed in coming years.

In other action taken at the meeting, the chapter voted cosponsorship with the Mrs. Jaycees of an entry in the Friday Mixed Doubles bowling league. A Jaycee party, with James Wilson as committee chairman, was announced for December 1 at the Fireside Room of Noper's Motel.

State Tax Levy to Hit All-time Peak for Coming Year

Levy for State Purposes Fixer at 16.85 Mills on Non-homestead Property

Minnesotans last week were confronted with another all-time high tax levy for state purposes.

Certified by State Auditor Stafford King Wednesday was a rate of 16.85 mill on which taxes will be collected next year. It applies to all real and personal property outside of Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth. In those cities, the rate will be 9.08 for state revenues.

The difference is caused by teacher retirement programs operated by those three cities independent of the state program.

One mill spread over all taxable property in the state produces an estimated $2,131,334. One mill outside of the three large cities raises $1,077,319.

In the statewide picture, the two big items are teachers retirement, 7.94 mills, and state building programs, 7.38 mills.

The statewide rate last year was 15.51 mills and the rate in the three largest cities 7.04 mills.

King said 1.1 mills was added to the levy for the building program enacted by the 1961 legislature, although there is some doubt that the program can take effect. The other 6.28 mills goes to pay off building certificates sold between 1949 and 1958.

The rate on homestead property in all areas of the state is 8.31 mills, compared with 6.39 mills.

Arctic Cat Sales Begin in Europe Through NY Firm

Arctic Enterprises Has AEC Contract for Local Production of Vehicles

Arctic Enterprises, Inc., Thief River Falls firm which manufactures eight models of the Arctic Cat, all-season overland vehicle, has begun its first European exporting. Through an import-export company in New York city the vehicles have been sent to Norway and additional export has been assured to other European countries.

Edgar Hetteen, president of the company, noted that a substantial order for the Super Deluxe model, the largest vehicle made by the concern, has been received from the Atomic Engergy Commission. The company has not been advised as to what use the vehicles will be put by the AEC since the information is apparently classified.

A large number of the machines have been shipped into Canada and to the East Coast. Currently Arctic Enterprises has 36 employees operating on two shifts at the plant in an attempt to keep up with demand. There is no machine warehousing problem, Hetteen said, since "they are gone as fast as we can slip them into a crate".

Hetteen also stated that not too much thought is currently being given to expansion of plant facilities since the firm would be more likely to add an extra shift if it is unable to keep up with the demand.

Police Warn of Dangers in River Ice and Driving

Parents Encouraged To Keep Youngsters Away from Rivers in City

Warnings were issued by the Thief River Falls police department today in an attempt to prevent accidents which could mar the opening of the winter holiday season. Three main phases of possible mishaps were listed by Elton Cummings, police chief.

Main consideration was given to the dangerous condition of the river which is now partially frozen and annually proves a temptation to youngsters who try to rush the season. The ice on the river should never be considered safe due to the current of the stream, particularly during the early winter when variable temperatures provide only a thin ice film on the water.

Parents are advised by the department to warn their youngsters again of the danger of playing on the river or sliding on the river banks. Simple precautions could avert a tragedy by preventing a drowning incident.

Chief Cummings also issued a warning to drivers to use extreme caution when traveling slippery city streets and to make the adjustment to winter driving skills. Reduced speed is the primary factor in reducing the number of accidents, particularly on highly traveled streets and in approaching intersections. Pumping brakes instead of jamming them is a cardinal rule for stopping a car on icy surfaces.

A third reminder was issued to Thanksgiving travelers to be alert to unknown road conditions when driving. A clear highway can suddenly turn to a sheet of ice in shaded areas or on bridges, the chief warned, and motorists are urged to drive accordingly.

Lower House of Legislature Picks Leaders

Rep. L. Duxbury of Caledonia Endorsed for House Speaker

State Rep. Lloyd L. Duxbury Jr., Caledonia attorney, was endorsed for the office of speaker of the House of Representatives in the 1963 session of the Minnesota legislature at a Conservative caucus in St. Paul Saturday.

Placed in nomination by Richard Fitzsimmons of Argyle, Duxbury won the endorsement over Rep. Aubrey X. Dirlam of Redwood Falls by a narrow 42-39 vote margin. Dirlam than was unanimously chosen for the post of majority leader of the House. In the past the majority leader has been appointed by the speaker, but the caucus by a vote of 40 to 39 broke the tradition.

Observers interpreted the closeness of the balloting as indicating that the more "liberal" faction of the caucus had gained new strength in the November 6 election.

Rep. Leonard Dickinson, Bemidji, who had previously announced an interest in the speakership, withdrew from consideration by the caucus in its closed meeting at the St. Paul Athletic Club.

The Conservatives won control of the House in the Nov. 6 election. Liberals had controlled the chamber since 1955. In the new House, 81 representatives are expected to caucus with the Conservatives, 54 with the Liberals.

Senate Conservatives, also in control of their chamber, met at the St. Paul Athletic Club Saturday, and chose a 13-member steering committee.

The members are: Sens. Donald Wright, Minneapolis; Val Imm, Mankato; Norman Larson, Ada; Gordon Rosenmeier, Little Falls; C. C. Mitchell, Princeton; Donald Sinclair, Stephen; John Zwach, Walnut Grove; Clifford Lofvegren, Alexandria; Gordon Butler, Duluth; Fay Child, Maynard, Robert Dunlap, Plainview; Leslie Westin, St. Paul, and Alf Bergerud, Edina.

The committee will organize committee structure in the Senate and make a report to its caucus in December.

Homemakers at Rosewood Hold Reorganization

A reorganizational meeting for the Rosewood Homemakers was held Tuesday, November 13, at the Bert Kron farm. Present at this meeting were Mesdames Percy Hagen, Emil Hellquist, George Solney, Irvin Johnson, and L. A. Myers.

Laura Duerst, Pennington county home agent, explained what type of lessons were in the program for this year along with some possibilities that club members could do on their own. Mrs. L. A. Myers from the Steiner homemakers group of Marshall county told of some of the things they do at their meetings.

It was decided to continue to call their homemakers club Rosewood. The next meeting will be held Tuesday, December 4, at 1:30 p. m. at the Emil Hellquist home. At this meeting each person present at this reorganizational meeting is to bring a guest and they will work on Christmas ideas. Anyone else interested in joining is also welcome to come.

Stewart Explains Status of City Street Projects

Unsatisfactory Patching To Be Replaced In 1963; Contract Is Held Open

Status of the city's street improvement projects at the end of the 1962 construction season was reviewed for the Times late last week by D. H. Stewart, city engineer. About 75 blocks of Thief River Falls streets were improved under projects this year.

Stewart emphasized that the contract is being held open although the construction season has ended since some work is not considered satisfactory. Due to the late, cold and wet season, patches placed around manholes and gate valves which had been raised are not acceptable and must be replaced in the spring.

The contractor will be required next year to remove and replace the mixture used for patching and make other minor improvements specified before the work is considered completed. Both east and west side improvements are included in the contract.

Equipment used by the contractor in street surfacing has been left here and will be put into use in the spring. It should be understood that the city is not accepting inferior work in an attempt to have the job completed this fall, Stewart said.

LHS Junior Class To Present Play

The plot evolves around the vacation visit of 10 people to an island off the coast of Great Britain and the discovery of a homicidal maniac.

Chairmen of production committees include Linda Thorkelson, stage manager; Robert Steitz, sound engineer; Marilyn Buddahl, make-up; Lorraine Lietzow, publicity; and Bonnie Finstad, properties.

Stores, Offices, Schools to Close for Thanksgiving

Local business places and public offices will remain closed Thursday, November 22 for the annual observance of Thanksgiving Day. The public schools will close in Thief River Falls at 2 p. m. Wednesday, and will not resume sessions until next Monday morning, November 26. The Thanksgiving Day issue of the Times will be printed late Wednesday, and those with material for publication are asked to get it in to the Times office on Tuesday if possible.

Four Accidents Involve 8 Cars In City Recently

Four traffic mishaps involving eight vehicles occurred in the city during the past several days with two crashes in part attributed to icy streets on Sunday, according to the Thief River Falls police department.

A two-car crash occurred about 8 a. m. on Friday when a car driven east on First street by Jerold Kjensrud, city, made a U turn at St. Paul avenue and was struck on the left rear fender by a car driven by Dale Bernard, city, who was following the Kjensrud vehicle. About $92 damage was done to the Bernard car and $10 to the Kjensrud machine, with Kjensrud tagged for careless driving.

At 9:30 a. m. on Sunday, a truck driven by Clayton Engel, city, was backing out of a stall at the Texaco station at Sixth and Main and had stopped to proceed forward when the motor stalled. The truck rolled back into a car driven by Vern A. Nelson, city, which was waiting to enter the stall. The car was damaged to the extent of about $60 with no damage to the truck.

At 4:50 p. m. the same day, a car driven by Thomas Ekeren, city, was going west on Mussey street and making a left turn on Conley av. when it hit a parked car owned by Mrs. Sylvia Torkelson. About $10 damage was done to the Ekeren vehicle and $60 to the Torkelson car.

At 9:20 p. m. Sunday, a car driven by Douglas Anderson, city, was traveling south on Tindolph av. and making a turn on Hughes when it skidded and crashed into a truck owned by Ripley Plumbing Heating which was parked at the side of the street. About $125 damage was done to the Anderson car and $75 to the truck.

In an attempt to receive federal funds under the Accelerated Public Works program instigated by the federal government, the Thief River Falls city council Thursday evening adopted a resolution authorizing the filing of an engineer's preliminary report with the federal agency. The report was on the first of four priority projects previously agreed upon by the council.

Included in the report approved Thursday were plans for $2,213,000 in project work on storm sewers, water mains, lift station, streets and miscellaneous construction associated with such projects. Other proposals, approved in order by the council and to be submitted later, include a municipal natural gas distribution system, multi-county jail facility and library construction.

For the purpose of clarifying the report, the city was divided into six sections—East side of river, Northwest area, West area, Southwest area, North area and Northeast area. Due to the irregular boundaries of such areas, no attempt will be made here to describe the territory involved in each of the areas listed.

Area Estimates

Total construction estimates and work specified for each area are as follows: East side of river—Storm sewers, force main, service connections and street construction, $990,000; Northwest area—Storm sewers, service connections and street constuction, $192,000; West area—Water mains, service connections and street construction, $156,000; Southwest area—Storm sewers, water mains, service connections and street construction, $227,000; North area—Service connections and street construction, $143,000; and Northeast area—Storm sewers, service connections and street construction, $150,000.

In his letter to the council which accompanied the proposal, D. H. Stewart, city engineer, stated, "The recommended storm sewers, water main and force main constuction would be in substantial compliance with the city's utility master plan. The proposed street construction would consist of the excavating of all unsuitable soils and backfilling with salvaged street surface gravel and sand-gravel backfill."

He also said the project would include ". . . a 4-inch gravel base (6-inch on municipal state aid streets); a 1½-inch thick road mixed bituminous base course and a 2-inch thick hot mixed asphalt bituminous surface course; the construction of new concrete curb and gutter where it does not exist; and the replacement of curb and gutter and driveways where existing curb and gutter does not have proper grades.

Projects in Order

"If it becomes necessary to decrease the scope of the improvement because of non-availability of Federal matching funds or failure by benefitted property owners to favor the work, it should be kept in mind that the underground work listed in each area should precede the street construction. It should also be kept in mind that street construction projects of less than $200,000 total construction cost do not invite the lowest unit costs."

Application forms on this project will be sent to the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency, Community Facilities Administration, Accelerated Public Works Program. If funds become available, they will be received on a 50-50 matching basis with local funds.

Holstein Cow Is Shot Near Holt

Deer hunters scored well last week, if not on deer, at least on four-footed animals. In addition to the Hereford cow shot twice on the farm of Mrs. Henry Trulson in eastern Pennington county last Sunday, a 2-year-old Holstein cow was shot on the Earl Carlson farm about two miles northeast of Holt on Wednesday. The animal was hit in the stomach and had to be butchered.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the kitchen of

MRS. CAROLINE WALTER

There's something about homemade doughnuts that stirs up such delightful memories — the intriguing odors from Mom's kitchen would come to meet us as we reached the house, and we'd eat our fill before the doughnuts had gotten cold. Now we wrap them in aluminum foil and warm them in the oven until they taste every bit as good as fresh ones, so we can make them ahead, freeze them, and have fresh taste whenever we so desire.

Mrs. Walter makes perhaps the best doughnuts we have ever eaten, and we prevailed upon her to share her recipe with us. It's a bit tricky, as the directions have to be followed exactly. But the results are worth the extra effort. The same can be said for the pie crust.

Mrs. Walter was born and raised in North Dakota. She and her husband came to Minnesota in 1935. They operated a farm most of their married life; she raised five children, had a big garden, helped with the farm work, did all of the family's baking and canned a "cellar-full" every summer. She sewed for the family, and still found time for crochet, embroidering and even working out occasionally. When they moved to Plummer, they had a restaurant of their own, and she baked her own pastries, becoming famous for her pies, and these doughnuts. Later she cooked in other restaurants, and the doughnut and pie crust recipes went with her. The last place she worked, Friar's, in Santa Monica, Calif., catered to many movie stars and other celebrities. The recipes were left in the files when she left there.

DOUGHNUTS

3½ cups flour
1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons shortening
3 eggs
1 cup milk
3 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon vanilla
1½ teaspoons salt

Cream shortening. Add half the sugar and cream well. Beat the eggs until light, and add the remaining sugar to them. Beat again, then add to the creamed shortening and sugar mixture. Sift flour, baking powder, salt and nutmeg together. Add alternately with the milk to the other ingredients. Mix well. The dough is soft. Chill an hour before rolling out, and use as little flour on the board as possible. Too much flour makes the doughnuts tough. Fry until golden brown in deep, hot fat. Drain on absorbent paper. Roll in sugar, powdered or granulated, and get set for compliments.

PIE CRUST

5 cups flour
1 lb. lard
1 egg white
1 tablespoon vinegar
¾ cup ice water
large pinch of salt

Work lard into flour until the mixture is crumbly.

Beat the egg white and add the vinegar. Add salt. Add to flour mixture. Add water. Work in slowly, handling dough only enough to make it stick together. Roll out on lightly floured board. (This is enough for two double-crust pies).

The dough can be frozen very well. When needed, it is simply thawed and rolled out, as with freshly-mixed crust.

The Library Corner

by Virginia Gjernes

Fairy tales, space flights and ballet held the spotlight during National Book Week. "Friends of the Library", members of the auxiliary organization affiliated with Carnegie Public Library, worked closely with Miss Frances Shanahan, head librarian, arranging displays in the library reading rooms and in the windows of various downtown business places.

Books and figures arranged in the First Federal Savings and Loan Association depicted famous fairy tales of interest to both children and adults. Mrs. Kenneth Taylor and Mrs. Bernard Brandon exercised their originality and decorated the space in an eye-catching manner.

Mrs. Lowell Swenson carried the science theme into the window of the Fashion Shop. The display caught the eyes of both children and adults as they passed the shop.

Mrs. James Disse and Mrs. Fred Sorensen gathered Dr. Seuss books and figures, then placed them tenderly in Elaines window for all to see. The imaginary animals appeal to youngsters and oldsters alike.

Exhibits were arranged by Mrs. Swenson in the windows of these shops and stores: Sjoberg's, Dr. Kaisler, Larson Music, Parkins Drug, Fox Studio, Ben Franklin, J. C. Penny Co., and Falls-Starekow Clinic, by Mrs. Swenson. Each poster stressed the "I Like Books" national theme.

Library displays and decorations were the handiwork of two members of the organization, Mrs. Dale Folger and Mrs. M. R. Hankerson, assisted by Mrs. Dale Dunning, teacher of art at Lincoln high school. Displays showing "Earth in Space" and "I Went to the Animal Fair" held the gazes of children minutes on end.

The main attraction depicted "The Nutcracker Suite". The story was told to groups of children, accompanied by classroom teachers, visiting the library during the afternoons. Miss Bertha Hastad, assistant librarian, held the children spellbound as she narrated the famous ballet, with a recording of the well-known score providing the background music. Mrs. Virginia Gjernes, assistant librarian, added further educational material by performance of a segment of the ballet. Thus, the 533 children learned firsthand about how it was set to music, and finally became one of the most famous ballets of all time.

"National Book Week" is over for another year, but because of the interest of Miss Shanahan in the children's world of books and because of the cooperation and originality of the members of the "Friends of the Library", the young minds of our community have experienced another tour into the realm of the magic world of the written word.

Many children, all those who saw the displays in the downtown windows, and those fortunate enough to visit the library for the first time during the story hours, will be able to say they have found another life-long friend — books. "I like books" is a phrase they'll be using now, with a greater understanding of friendship.

of Rhyme & Reason

NEW TELEPHONE DIRECTORIES ARE OUT and it is a good time for fiddlers with words to play "what's in a name". By stretching a point here and there, giving flagrant misuse to pronunciation and using wild imagination, a story can be woven around last names of people in the directory. Here is a story of seasonal interest with names in capital letters taken out of the Thief River Falls phone listing.

JOHNSON was just AKIN to bag a BUCK when the season's HUNT opened, so he kept EGGEN PETERSON and SWANSON, both expert BOWMAN and FULLER the DICKENs, to go along. The LULL after his request had his hopes DIMMEN, but the men made a JOYCE to let him go along if he's be an ANGELL and wouldn't WELCH.

That first morning JOHNSON DAHLed up in his BLACK and WHITE BLAZER, hopped on his BEICH and RACEd out to one of the FARMES where the GREEN grass had turned to BROWN FRAHM a heavy frost. The ROADFELT like SILKen MATTS in the STARK quiet as he BARILed over the HILL in the BLOOM of dawn. It was GRAND—the BIRDs sang and the HOEL world seemed SORTER in DELAP of luxury.

At the BOTTEM of the HILL he PARKS his BEICH and decided to HOEFER down the lane. "I'll HAFDAL BARROW a bow from the boys," he thought, "IDSO expensive to BROUSE around this BERG." A FOX jumped into the REEDSe near a PURDY POOLE of water where FISHERmen filled their KRIELs in the summer. He felt REICH as a KING as the cool air made him a NEWMAN.

"We're ready, MACK," said PETERSON and SWANSON. "VATSAAS we hear about you not being STOCKed with a bow?" "I'm a STRANGer in town," he alibied, "and made such a fast TRIPP. If I'd had MOE time I'd have stopped at the STOREBY the hotel last KNIGHT." "You're LIAN," they accused, "and it's a SINN to TEAL a lie. Oh, well, so you don't BALL up the works, HARRIS a bow ANDEN arrow. It's a JUNKER but no HAZARD."

The HUNT started. JOHNSON was put on POST where two BROOKS TRICKLEd FLOM the HILLside. HALL of a sudden, just as he began to YON, a BUCK burst like GLASS from the KAIN and his LEGGs turned to HJELLE. MABEY it was pure GALL, but he turned LEWIS an arrow that PIERCEd the BUCK, and it FELLMAN, like a STONE. Trying HARDER not to PANEK, he went to PIKOP the deer and PLOUGHed through the WOODs back to camp.

"I SWAN," said PETERSON. "The WURST shot; the most LOUZE hunter; it's a GROSS injustice for him to bring home the BACON." He popped the CORK on the cider JAHR. "I'm GESSNER to weigh 200 pounds. This really HERTZ!"

So now in the WINTER, before the snow MELTZ, and JOHNSON turns the HEATON and takes his grandchild on his KNE, he's beHOLDEN to a LATTA luck that made his HUNT a success. Though he MOENs over the loss of his KEES, leaving him without a HOUSKE, and the fact that he caught cold because it was WETENKAMP, he has MANEY other memories of his OWEN. He HALEs his HUNT for a BUCK as the real McCOY.

Don't forget to be thankful on Thursday. Ours is a great nation, founded on a fundamental principle of freedom which we too often take for granted. Let's take a few minutes on Thanksgiving Day to praise the Good Lord for letting us be a part of it.

Commenting on the brevity of 1963 bikini swimsuits, a local clothier was heard to say, "I've seen more cotton in the top of aspirin bottles."

A tribute to companionship may be found in the following poem written and submitted by the wife of one of the "Hunt Club" members. The poem was used at a gathering of the clan on its 25th anniversary.

SALUTE TO THE RIPE OLIVE HUNT CLUB

A great group of hunters we have got—
Not many times have they fired a shot,
But why, when hardly a shot is fired
Do they come home so beat and tired?

There's the "Sawmill," "Stove" and "Tombstone" yet,
And the little old stump where they like to sit,
And better yet, (as we've heard tell)
There's the poker game and the dinner bell.

George Erickson, Otis Wold and Carl Wennberg,
Herb Jung, Carl Kretschmar and Al Stenberg,
These are the men in this wonderful crew
Who hunt the game and cook the stew.

We salute these men, our hunters bold,
They're young at heart and never grow old.
The Ripe Olive Hunt Club, here's to you—
From '37 to '62.

HAPPY HOMEMAKING

by Laura Duerst

PENNINGTON COUNTY HOME AGENT

This week we take time out of our busy week to give thanks for the many blessings we have. We should not just remember this on Thanksgiving but every day of the year.

One food that will be on most dinner tables on Thanksgiving will be the cranberry. Cranberries are as American as Thanksgiving Day. The Indians were using cranberries for food and for medicinal purposes before the Pilgrim Fathers landed on Plymouth Rock. Cranberries became the First Fruit of America after the Pilgrim women learned from friendly Indians that cranberries were edible. Cranberry sauce added festivity to the first Thanksgiving and improved the flavor of that first turkey feast. Thus started a custom which has become a time-honored American tradition.

Occasionally homemakers ask if they can save time on Thanksgiving Day or Christmas Day by roasting the turkey the day before.

Actually the practice won't save time and may be risky, healthwise. The bird will still need time to heat through and to finish roasting the day it's served. The hazard comes in the long warming up and cooling off period, which invite the growth of bacteria. Furthermore, partial roasting may produce a drier bird and a re-heated flavor.

DON'T stuff your turkey the night before roasting it to save time the next day! There's a definite possiblity of food poisoning in stuffing poultry that far in advance. Dressing spoils easily.

If you want to save time in preparing dressing for the turkey, combine the ingredients the day before and refrigerate them. Then it's a simple matter to stuff the turkey before popping it into the oven.

Roast young turkey uncovered at a temperature of 325 degrees F. Brush the skin liberally with melted fat and place the bird breast side up. To keep the breast and upper thighs from getting too brown, cover them lightly with aluminum foil.

Turkey is done when the fleshy part of the drumstick feels very soft and tender to the touch and the drumstick will move readily up and down in the socket. If you use a roast meat thermometer, it should register between 190 and 200 degrees F.

Area Farmers Join Forces in Potato Venture

considerable more money for business at Thief River Falls.

Satisfactory Harvest

How was the potato harvest? Curtis Johnson says, "Better than expected, after a season like we've had. From the 29 acres I harvested I got 225 bushels per acre of Norland potatoes".

Silas Hanson harvested his Pontiacs and some Cobblers on October 5. With half of the 42 acres planted completely drowned out, the field still produced about 5,000 bushels of potatoes. The field was in oats in 1961 and had at least two other previous crops so this was the fourth crop. Considering the year and the fact that grain in Silverton township was very poor, Hanson feels the potatoes came through quite well.

Doug Peterson, who farms in Wyandotte township, grew 40 acres of Kennebecs, Norlands and Gems. He harvested over 6,000 pick-up bags from this field.

The potatoes are being marketed now. Doug Peterson is about sold out of Gems and some other stocks are being sold for table use. They are moving well. The potatoes were field inspected and field certified. "This gives us another outlet," says Hanson, "since most of our potatoes will be used for seed purposes".

The trio is well satisfied with their operation this year. If the weather would have been more favorable they agree they could have done much better. As it is, the enterprise was still a satisfactory venture.

Other intensified farm operations in the area which could have a strong impact on the economy would be expansion of begetable production begun by Veral and Don Mosbeck and Arlo Scholin last year. The group again produced truck garden materials this year. Other possibilities are expansion of livestock production to more intensively utilize the land in Pennington county, states Stelmaschuk. All these things add to area development which is of interest to everyone concerned with their own future and that of their children. Although all types of industries must be continually sought, those industries related to agriculture hold most potential in this area.

Rites Today for Selmer Walhaug, 50, Oklee Teacher

Selmer A. Walhaug, 50, of Garnes township, rural Oklee, passed away unexpectedly early Friday morning, November 16, at Deaconess Hospital in Grand Forks, N. D. during heart surgery.

Funeral services were conducted today, Monday, at 2 o'clock from the Salem Lutheran Church north of Oklee, with Rev. R. A. Saethre officiating, and interment was in the church cemetery. Military rites were under the directiong of the Oklee American Legion post.

A short memorial service was conducted in the Oklee righ school auditorium this morning for students and friends who were unable to attend the service this afternoon.

Petterson Funeral Home of Oklee was in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Walhaug was born March 29, 1912, in Garnes township to the late Swan and Ann Fossgaard. He graduated from the McIntosh high school in 1930. After completing Normal Training in Thief River Falls in 1932, he entered the teaching profession, serving for one year in District 252, Polk county, followed by two years in District 76, Red Lake county. He received his bachelor's degree in education from Bemidji state teachers' college in 1938, and his master's degree in social studies from the University of Minnesota two years later.

He taught school at the Red Lake Indian Agency before entering the service in 1943. Serving with the US Army as a radar instructor, he saw action in the South Pacific. He was discharged in November, 1945, with the rank of Master Sergeant.

For the past 14 years Mr. Walhaug has been teaching in the Oklee school, serving as principal for several years. He also operated the family farm since the death of his father in 1958. Active in community affairs, Mr. Walhaug was a member of the Oklee community club, stamp club, American Legion, and the Minnesota Education association, of which he served as area president for several terms.

Survivors include three brothers, Edwin and Clarence of Oklee, and Lloyd, of International Falls; and one sister, Ida, who made her home with him on the family farm. Preceding him in death were his parents, one brother, and one sister.

FIELD CREW supervision was the task of Silas Hanson, Silverton township farmer, who is shown above inspecting the Norland seed potatoes dug on his farm. "Half of the 42 acres we planted were drowned out on our farm this year but we still expect to get about 5,000 bushels from the 40 acres. This isn't good, but in a year like this we are lucky to get that."

WAREHOUSING of the potatoes produced under a joint operation by three Thief River Falls area farmers is supervised by Curtis Johnson, shown at the right in the above photo. The group leased a potato warehouse from the Engelstads in Thief River Falls and plan to sell both table stock and certified seed.

DIGGING of potatoes in the joint potato operation was handled by Doug Peterson, one of three area farmers engaged in the work. Mechanization has replaced this form of equipment on advanced farms, but the men were cutting costs to a minimum in beginning the new venture.

FATTENING LAMBS
PAYS GOOD DIVIDENDS
John and Robert Falk of Tenstrike are feeding out the 800 lambs shown above with Peterson-Biddick company lamb fattener feed. They say they will make an additional $3,400 over and above the amount they would have made if they sold their lambs as feeders.
The lambs came off the pasture weighing 60 to 65 pounds and are going on the market at premium prices at 105 pounds—and it doesn't take long to add on the extra weight and profit.
Why let someone else make the profit on your lambs? It may pay you well to investigate a good feeding program before selling your lambs as feeders. Ask about the lamb fattening program available at

Klungness Runnerup in N.W. Loop Scoring

Roger Johnson, the right halfback on coach Ken Wilson's champion Bemidji Lumberjacks won the Northwest Conference individual scoring honors for the 1962 season according to statistics released by Jim Carrington of Bemidji, the conference's publicity director.

Johnson, in the four conference tilts on the Bemidji schedule, tallied nine touchdowns for a 54-point total. The Prowlers' speedy Paul Klungness, scoring five touchdowns and two conversion points, had a total of 32 points for runner-up honors. The Prowlers' fullback, Steve Mittelstadt, and Bemidji's left halfback, Dennis Agular, shared third place in the point-scoring race with 28 points apiece, with each player tallying four touchdowns and four conversion points. The Prowlers' quarterback, John Aune, scored three touchdowns and two extra points for a 20-point total.

All five of the scoring leaders—Johnson, Klungness, Agular, Mittelstadt, and Aune — are seniors, as are Dave Greuel of Bemidji who was in sixth place, and Bob Kobetsky of East Grand Forks who was in seventh place.

The Bemidji club, in winning the conference title, rolled up a total of 118 points in the four games played, and during the season, during which the Jacks posted a nine wins and no losses mark, Bemidji scored a total of 261 points. Johnson, during the nine-game span, scored a total of 92 points, having 15 touchdowns and two conversion points. Roseau's Brandt, with 80 points, was the runner-up, while the Prowlers' Klungness, with 73 points, was in third place.

Conservation Dept. Reports on Deer Kill

Reports from Conservation Department game managers throughout the state indicate that the opening weekend of the 1962 deer season was at least as good and in some instances better than last year.

Game Manager Pat Karns reported that the Ely area was almost completely covered with snow for the opener but that the snow disappeared with the warmer weather Saturday afternoon and Sunday. Hunting pressure was approximately the same as 1961 and the weekend success was rated as good.

Regional Game Manager Milt Stenlund reported much heavier hunting pressure in the Grand Rapids area that in 1961 and indicated that the weekend hunter success was very good. LeRoy Angell, in the Cloquet area, reported hunting pressure the same as last year with the success being only fair.

In the northwestern part of the state hunting success was generally better than last year and hunting pressure was heavier than in 1961, according to Regional Game Manager Vern Gunvalson. He also noted that contact with hunters indicated that a higher kill occurred Sunday than on Saturday.

Regional Game Manager Hiram Southwick indicated that hunting pressure in Zone 5 (west-central) was from 20 to 60 per cent heavier than in the same general area one year ago. He also stated that hunter success was down somewhat but preliminary figures indicate that nearly 40 per cent of the hunters were successful in his part of the state.

Refuge Manager George Meyer reports that 481 hunters took 103 deer on Saturday and 254 hunters took 52 deer on Sunday in the Whitewater Wildlife Management Area.

Orville Hagman, Manager of the Mille Lacs Wildlife Management Area, reported 1,209 hunters with 153 deer on the opening day and 870 hunters with 66 deer on Sunday.

Last year a record number of hunters took a record number of deer in Minnesota. It is anticipated that both records will be at least equaled when the final reports come in on the 1962 season.

RARITY in the deer family was this trophy taken last week by the Florian Kritz hunting party north of Grygla. The antlered doe, with antlers still in velvet, was shot by Ralph Fischer of Brainerd, shown at left in the above photo with Florian Kritz. The big deer tipped the scales at 176-pounds field dressed. Robert Farmes, area game manager, stated that a recent technical bulletin, "The Whitetail Deer of Minnesota," indicates that only four does with antlers have been reported in the past 20 years. During that time about 1,400,000 deer have been killed in the state, the Department of Conservation bulletin indicates. The animal shot by Fisched is believed to be about three years old.

Setting Records

It took a couple of games before the Schmidt's Beer bowlers in the Thursday night Commercial league became warmed up last week, but after losing a pair of games, by scores of 777 to 729 and 861 to 807, to the Narverud Cleaners, the boys came up with a 1058 game. That game gave the Schmidt's an even break in the series as they gained the bonus point on the aggregate total. The Schmidt's won the final game, 1058 to 713.

In this high-scoring game, Pilot Dave Clough scored a 269, Jack Hoppe tallied a 201, Pat Poole had a 191, Larry Perkins scored a 220, and anchor Del Harbott marked up a 177.

In his record-making 269 game, Dave had ten strikes and two spares. Dave opened with a spare, then marked up a double, scored a spare in the fourth frame after getting nine pins on his first ball, and then racked up eight consecutive strikes.

The Blue Bombers

Coach Bud Grant's Winnipeg Blue Bombers, the defending Canadian football champions, are in danger of elimination as they trail the Calgary Stampeders in the western Canada semi-finals. Playing at Calgary on Saturday afternoon, the Blue Bombers dropped a 20 to 14 decision to the Stampeders in the first of the best-of-three series.

The second game of the series, and it will be a "must win" game for the Bombers, will be played at Winnipeg on Wednesday night. A couple of weeks ago, in a game played at Winnipeg, the Calgary club took the measure of coach Grant's team, so the home field won't be too much of an advantage for the Bombers.

It is the consensus that this season's Winnipeg club isn't as strong, or as well-balanced as last season's Grey Cup champions. And one reason given is that Mike Wright, the former Gopher lineman, isn't with the Bombers this season. Wright's absence has forced coach Grant to re-shuffle his offensive and defensive tackle assignments, and this weakened the Bombers. It will be an uphill fight if the Winnipeg club is to gain the Grey Cup finals this year.

A Warning

This is a word of warning and caution to be especially alert if Jim Engelstad offers to prepare a stew. Jim took over the cooking duties at the Malcolm deer hunting camp the other day and made a savory stew. But from the reports that have been received, and noting that Roger Krats spent a day or two on the sick list, Jim wasn't very particular what he put into the stew. A handkerchief, even if it was clean, doesn't belong in a venison stew.

For the Killebrew Fans

The current issue of "The Sporting News" has an article on this season's home-run hitters, and the Twins' Harmon Killebrew is given top ranking.

It states that "Harmon Killebrew of the Twins was the most prolific slugger on the road, whacking 28 over the fences in rival parks." And the article adds, "Killebrew was the outstanding slugger with men on base, 30 of his 38 blows, or 83 per cent, coming with teammates on the sacks. He hit the most homers with one man on base, 20, and the most with two aboard, nine. Hank Aaron of the Braves and Frank Robinson of the Reds led in grand-slam homers with three apiece."

And further, "Although Willie Mays of the Giants won the home-run championship of the majors, with the benefit of three extra playoff games, Killebrew topped the Giants' leader in the frequency column. The Twins' slugger hit his 48 homers in 551 official times at bat, a ratio of one for every 11.5 trips. Mays' frequency was 12.7, putting him fourth in ranking."

Willie McCovey of the Giants, with 20 homers in 229 at-bats, tied Killebrew with a figure of 11.5. The Yank's Mickey Mantle had a homer for every 12.6 appearances at the plate.

More Dependents Now Living in Minnesota

A high "dependency ratio" is one of the costs of the net out-migration of 392,000 persons from the Upper Midwest in the 1950's.

As measured by the Upper Midwest Economic Study, the proportion of "dependents", or persons under 15 and over 65 years of age, averages 43.4 per cent, a 6 per cent increase since 1950 for the four states in the region. For the United States as a whole the 1960 dependency ratio is 39.2 per cent.

During the decade the dependency ratio in Minnesota increased from 36.6 to 43.2 per cent; in Montana from 37.4 to 43.3 per cent; in South Dakota from 37.6 to 44.0 per cent; in North Dakota from 38.9 to 44.0 per cent; in the 26 northwestern counties of Wisconsin from 38.9 to 44.0 per cent, and in Upper Michigan from 38.2 to 42.5 per cent.

For Pennington county the dependency ratio was, in 1950, 38.96 per cent; in 1960, 44.44 per cent.

Seventy per cent of the 1950-60 net out-migrants were less than thirty years of age in 1960, the big bulge being at high school graduation age, the report noted. The most observed net in-migration is concentrated in the oldest age group.

"Until many decades of prolonged out-migration have passed, the average age of the population will increase due to the higher mobility of younger persons. Even after the population export is long established, the number of persons too young for the labor force will loom disproportionately large.

An increase in average age was observed in 85 per cent of 197 counties which experienced strong out-migration rates from their rural sectors.

Only 8 of 68 counties having net in-migration to their urban sectors showed an increase in average age, whereas 60 of the 89 urban out-migration counties had such an increase.

"The evidence strongly supports the hypothesis that the rural out-migration of the past decade has increased average age," the report concludes.

The rural exodus of the 1950's totalled 582,000 but was offset by urban in-migration of 190,000, establishing a retention ratio of 45 per cent for the four full states in the region. The urban growth was nearly as rapid as in the United States as a whole — 26.5 per cent as compared with 29.5 per cent.

Since continued out-migration losses from the region, if they continue, can be expected to increase the dependency ratio, the study raises important questions for consideration in the Upper Midwest Research and Development Council's action program to help stimulate the economic growth of the region.

The lost potential of workers in their productive years, J. Cameron Thomson, Council president, pointed out, also means a contracting base upon which to spread state and local taxes assessed for maintenance of essential services and, therefore, a proportionately heavier individual tax burden.

The council and the University of Minnesota are joint sponsors of the economic studies under the direction of Professor James M. Henderson of the University Department of economics.

STATIONED at Key West, Fla., following completion of "boot camp" at San Diego, Calif., is Leonard Rondorf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Rondorf of rural Thief River Falls. A 1962 graduate of Lincoln high school, Rondorf entered the Navy on August 27 and is now serving aboard a destroyer.

Aviation Agency Extends State VOR

Now to Cover Area Duluth to International Falls

The Federal Aviation Agency has extended the VOR airway system from Duluth to International Falls.

VOR stands for Very High Frequency Omnidirectional Radio range. The VOR range stations aid pilots while navigating along the airways. VOR Airways consist of a well-defined network of aerial highways, 10 statute miles in width and are designated by the letter "V" and a number; for example, V 129, the new airway which runs from Duluth to International Falls.

Airways are normally designated on a straight line between successive VOR stations. This is the first time the Federal Aviation Agency has utilized a state-owned VOR in this airway system in Minnesota, said Lawrence McCabe commissioner of aeronautics.

The air traffic control division of the federal agency has the authority to control air traffic operating within the boundaries of these airways. This adds much to the safety of flying during periods of restricted visibility.

There are fourteen state and sixteen federal VOR stations serving the state of Minnesota, including Thief River Falls. The FAA has plans to install more VOR stations in northern Minnesota at Humboldt, Bemidji, Brainerd, Hibbing and International Falls in 1963.

Cuban Crisis Is Cause for Plea to Buy Savings Bonds

Pennington Co. Citizens Urged by State Director to Increase Purchases

Rollin O. Bishop, Minnesota Savings Bonds chairman, today called on Pennington county citizens for added support of the U. S. Savings Bonds program in light of the Cuban crisis.

In a letter to J. M. Roche, County Savings Bonds chairman, Mr. Bishop repeated an appeal from Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon which stressed the "vital importance of keeping our country strong" and stated that "the help and participation of every citizen is a necessary part of such national strength."

Secretary Dillon's appeal noted that Savings Bonds contribute greatly to the economic strength on which our defense efforts depend, and called the act of buying a Savings Bond "a splendid expression of faith in our American system so that we may strengthen it for future generations."

Cash sales of Series E and H Savings Bonds in October in Minnesota totaled $4,787,534, bringing the ten months total to $51,554,007.

Purchases of Series E and H Savings Bonds in Pennington county during October amounted to $7,731. This brings sales for the first ten months of the year to $91,258.

Shell Oil Offers 100 Fellowships

Open to Teachers with at Least 5 Years Experience

One hundred teachers of high school science and mathematics will attend expense-paid summer seminars at Cornell and Stanford universities in 1963 to study the latest developments in their subjects and in techniques of teaching.

The teachers will be Shell Merit Fellows. The fellowships are awarded by the universities under grants from Shell Companies Foundation, Incorporated. Applications for fellowships are now being accepted by the universities.

More than 650 high school teachers from the United States and Canada have taken summer courses under the foundation grants.

Fellowship winners attend classes, work in laboratories, conduct research projects, meet outstanding scientists and make field trips to industrial plants and research centers.

The Cornell seminar will be held from June 26 to August 8, and the Stanford seminar from June 24 to August 15.

Each teacher selected for a fellowship by Cornell and Stanford will receive from the Shell Foundation, full tuition and fees, a travel allowance and $500 in cash to offset loss of summer earnings. Application forms can be obtained from the two universities and should be completed and returned to them by January 4, 1963.

Chemistry, physics and mathematics teachers living east of the Mississippi River should write Dr. Philip Johnson, School of Education, Cornell University, Ithaca, New York; west of the Mississippi River, to Dr. Paul DeH. Hurd, School of Education, Stanford University, Stanford, Calif.

The Shell Merit Fellowship program is designed to help strengthen science and mathematics teaching by enabling good teachers to become even better teachers and hence more inspiring to students who may plan careers in science or become science teachers themselves.

Editorials . . .

"God of commonsense, I give Thee thanks for the heavy blows of pain that drive me back from perilous ways into harmony with the laws of my being; for stinging whips of hunger and cold that urge to bitter strivings and glorious achievement; for steepness and roughness of the way, and staunch virtues gained by climbing over jagged rocks of hardship, and stumbling through dark and pathless sloughs of discouragement; for the acid blight of failure that has burned out of me all thought of easy victory, and toughened my sinews for fiercer battles and greater triumphs; for mistakes I have made, and the priceless lessons I have learned from them; for disillusion and disappointment that have cleared by vision and spurred my desire; for strong appetites and passions and the power they give when under pressure and control; for my imperfections that give me the keen delight of striving toward perfection.

"God of common good and human brotherhood, I give Thee thanks for siren songs of temptation that lure and entangle, and the understanding of other men they reveal; for the weaknesses and failings of my neighbors, and the joy of lending a helping hand; for my own shortcomings, sorrows and loneliness, that give me a deeper sympathy for others; for ingratitude and misunderstanding and the gladness of service without other reward than self-expression."

—Arthur W. Newcomb

Recount Certain

Rolvaag was about 40 votes ahead of Andersen Saturday as the canvassing boards proceeded with their work. It is certain that the final figures will be so close that a recount will be a "must" and there is a possibility that we will not know definitely by the end of the year which of the two will be our next governor.

A recount could last a long time if the count continues to be close. There will be contested ballots that will require court decisions. And a recount could become very costly, which raises interesting questions as to who should pay the bills.

Because the race is so close there is some justification for the requests that the cost be paid by the state, but to change the established procedure for this one recount would not be proper. If there is need for changes in the laws that govern election contests, then make the necessary changes, but the new rules should have general application.

In this instance, we must conclude that the political organization supporting each candidate would assume responsibility for the candidate's costs, and for a statewide organization, raising the necessary funds should not be much of a problem.

Political Trends

No Birchers, identified as such, were victors in the election, and that fact no doubt was disturbing to some of our good citizens who thought well of the John-Birch approach to our problems of government. But these good people may get some consolation from another fact and that is the election of several Democrats who are just as right-wing as any of the Birchers.

Interesting thing, politics. We will string along with James Reston, New York Times Service reporter, when he says the voter is a contradictory fellow who isn't as party-conscious as his pappy was. Party names are becoming less important and, as Reston notes:

"Party allegiances are looser; traditional voting patterns are less dependable—the South a little less Democratic, New England and the agricultural Middle West a little less Republican; the balance of political power shifting restlessly with the movement of the people a little to the left, a little to the West, a little to the cities. But not enough to determine what will happen next time.

"Nevertheless, the main characteristics of the American voter are clear enough: a tendency to be moderate, a tendency to be optimistic, a tendency to look forward, a tendency to give the President the benefit of the doubt, a tendency to concentrate on the "man" rather than the party, a tendency to retire old windbags, a tendency to be skeptical of all politicians and even of their own judgement.

"All these are in the portrait, together with a tendency to be glad it's all over and forget the whole thing."

Well Stated

Charles H. Percy, chairman of Bell & Howell Co., said very much in a few words recently in setting forth his ideas about the importance of remaining competitive. He said:

"Very frankly, I am more concerned about how our products are doing "across the counter" in the free market of Hong Kong than how they are competing in Peoria, Ill.

"For the fundamental fact is that if we can't compete in Hong Kong, it isn't likely that we will be competing favorably in Peoria for very long."

The gentleman is so right. And it is well to keep in mind that employers and employees have a common interest in this matter of remaining competitive. We should keep in mind too that the biggest single factor in weakening our competitive position is high taxes.

For industry taxes are a part of the cost of doing business and are added to the selling price of the products that are sold. Taxes are a more important factor in determining the locations of industrial plants than are the wages paid for labor.

And that is why taxes are such an important factor at the local and state levels as well as at the national level. High taxes are impediments to progress.

Nearly 17 Mills

Our tax rate for state purposes next year will be 16.85 mills, the highest in history. What effect would the announcement have had on the election if the information had been released before election day? It's a good question.

One thing is sure, neither the conservatives nor the liberals in the legislature can point the finger of shame at the other for the record of reckless spending in recent years. The appropriations were approved both in the conservative Senate and the liberal House.

The first question that should be decided before any appropriations are made by the next Legislature should be, "Where is the money going to come from." Unfortunately that will be one of the last questions to be answered.

The New Khruschev

The smart boys are having trouble in figuring out reasonable answers for Khrushchev's conduct. He certainly has been out of character lately and the speculation as to what is in the background and in what direction is he moving is understandable.

From the Christian Science Monitor we get the following objective appraisal of the possibilities:

"The weathervane is flapping wildly as the experts try to forecast what the Kremlin will do next. It is best to be ready for anything.

"Two disturbing events have upset the normal lines of analysis. One is the sudden coolness of the Soviet leaders toward India. The other is a recurrence of talk about dissent in the Kremlin.

"Both are too fragile to lean on.

"To record these gusts of analysis from various quarters is to admit uncertainty and this is just as well. Peace has to be waged or managed positively, especially in these nuclear times. The best and most objective watch on what the other fellow thinks and does is none too good."

Youth Training

Ross Munro, publisher of the Winnipeg Tribune and now travelling in Europe, reports a favorable reaction to the problems of practical education in Germany. The problem of what to do to help teenagers who don't care for school seems to be universal. In Germany greater emphasis is placed on the need for preparing them in some way of useful employment.

According to Mr. Munro, in Germany they have an apprenticeship system that was started back in 1935, "one of the good things to come out of the Hitler period." He states:

"Any boy or girl in Germany can leave school at 15 but for most of those who don't continue on, between the age of 15 and 18, they are obliged to take the apprentice training in some trade or to take a course in clerical and office work. There are some exceptions but it is practically compulsory and has provided German offices and plants with a large reservoir of people who at least have had basic instruction in specific fields.

"It is a great help to employers in hiring young people to be able to have these teenagers present their apprenticeship diplomas as proof of their training.

"The system is flexible but in general terms a young person between 15 and 18 contracts to an employer and then spends two half days a week at his training school. His or her training might go on for two or three years before qualification for the much-wanted diploma. The state pays for the schooling and the apprentice-worker receives from his employer about $25 a month to help him along in the project."

In Hamburg, a city of 1,800,000 people, there are 51,000 teenagers registered for apprenticeship training, and in every other major German city the program is active. There are 15 training schools in Hamburg teaching apprentices for industrial trades and another 15 for commercial and clerical training.

THE ANDERSEN LETTER

from
Gov. Elmer L. Andersen

How the Legislature Organizes

The November 6 legislative election was significant in many ways. First of all there was a big turnover. The Senate will have 23 new members of a total of 67, the House 56 of a total of 135. This is a larger than average change and undoubtedly partly brought about by reapportionment.

Both houses will be under Conservative control. Actually the terms Conservative and Liberal are name tags not really describing the groups. The Senate majority group would far more aptly be called the "Independent" group. It does not have the close liaison with the Republican party the liberals have with the DFL, and it surely is not always conservative.

You might be interested in how the houses organize after an election. The Senate has a pre-session committee called the Steering Committee consisting of one person from each Congressional district. Once on the Steering Committee a Senator stays on, if he chooses. When a vacancy occurs it has always been filled by a caucus of the reelected Conservative Senators from the Congressional district involved.

The Steering Committee will meet frequently from now until January and will decide chairmanships of committees, the membership on committees, and even the seating of members.

The majority leader of the Senate is John Swach from Brown County — an honest, able dedicated school man turned livestock feeder of whom all the state can be proud. He carries a great burden of work as Chairman of the Steering Committee, also responsible for organizing the house-keeping chores, developing a schedule for committee meetings, presiding as Chairman of the Rules Committee and easing the frictions that develop between members.

When a Senator accepts his assignments he agrees to support the group on organization motions. The senior member becomes president pro-tem and succeeds to the Lieutenant Governorship if he succeeds the Governor.

In the House the procedure is not the same. All of the members of the majority group caucus and decide upon a Speaker, majority floor leader, and assistant floor leader. Under Liberal domination Ed Chilgren of Littlefork has been Speaker and Fred Cina of Aurora majority leader. They will no longer serve in these capacities.

When the Speaker is chosen it is his responsibility to make appointments. He does not make all decisions alone, but confers with senior members of the group.

Legislators tend to become specialists in certain fields and stay on as Chairman of certain committees because of their knowledge and experience.

In the Senate, seniority absolutely governs. No member can become chairman of a committee where there is a vacancy if another member of greater seniority insists on having it. Seniority does not carry from one body to the other. A number of former House members have become Senators in this election. They will start all over on seniority but recognizing their knowledge and experience they may be placed on more important committees than new Senators with no previous legislative experience. The House does not follow seniority so absolutely.

The legislative process is a complicated one — some new members catch on quickly, some never do. The more people study the legislature and its members the more respect they have for the men and women who work exceedingly hard to hammer out the decisions on appropriations, taxes, and new law that characterize each session.

You can have great influence on legislation by knowing your State Senator and Representative personally, telling them what you think or writing them about particular measures. This is much more important than most people realize. Everyone can share in good lawmaking.

Do's, Don'ts Of Poison Treatment Outlined

When a child or adult has swallowed a poisonous substance, think twice before ramming your finger down his troat, advises the Minnesota State Medical association.

There are several forms of poisoning when vomiting can be extremely dangerous, even fatal, warns the Association. For instance, a person who has swallowed an acid should never be forced to vomit. Instead he should be given an alkali (acid's cremical opposite), such as magnesia, baking soda, chalk or lime water to neutralize the acid. Also milk, olive oil, or any vegetable oil, raw egg white, can be administered to protect the lining of the digestive tract.

Strong alkalies can also cause destructive action. These include lye, caustic soda, postash, quicklime, and others. Because of the destructive action of these substances, the violent strain from vomiting can cause a rupture of the stomach wall. Instead, the victim should be given a weak acid, such as lemon juice, to neutralize the alkali. Also of help are milk, salad oil, cooking oil, melted butter, or raw egg white.

Additionally, the Association says vomiting in a person who has swallowed kerosene, gasoline, benzine, naphtha, lighter fluid, or flammable cleaning fluid should not be forced. There is danger of breathing them in and causing aspiration pneumonia. Instead, mineral oil and a stimulant such as strong coffee or tea should be given. They should be kept warm.

It is vital to rmember, says the Association, that when poisoning is suspected, immediate action must be taken before the poison is absorbed. This can be done by diluting the poison by giving four to seven glassfuls, preferably lukewarm, of water or other fluid; and by inducing vomiting, except when strong acids or alkalies have been swallowed.

Poison diluted with a large amount of fluid is not absorbed as readily as when it is in concentrated form, and vomiting is easier to induce if the stomach is full. When vomiting can be safely induced, it should be done repeatedly until the returning fluid is clear. After giving several glassfuls of fluid, vomiting should be attempted again by tickling the back of the throat.

When the stomach is well washed out, give the antidote, if you know what is is and have the ingredients available. The Association cautions, however, that you should never take time to find the antidote before washing out the stomach. After the above emergency procedures have been completed, a doctor should be called.

Ask Wool Growers to Keep Records

Necessary to Qualify for Payments in '63, Says ASC

Wool growers who marketed lambs this fall should keep adequate records of their sales so that they will be able to make proper applications for payment under the wool incentive program, Edward A. Johnson, chairman, Marshall Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation county committee, urged today.

The sales record for lambs sold must include the name of the buyer, his signature, and the number of liveweight lambs sold, plus the description "unshorn". Lamb payments are made only on lambs that have never been shorn to encourage the customary practice of selling lambs with the wool on.

The chairman emphasized that growers should get all their fall sales records together and either keep them in a safe place at home or file them at the ASCS county office. The final date to apply for payments on 1962-63 marketings is next April 30, but an application may be submitted anytime between now and then. The applications cover wool and lamb marketings from April 1, 1962, through March 31, 1963.

Mr. Johnson said that lamb feeders particularly should keep accurate records which will establish the length of time they have owned lambs on which they apply for payment. Lamb payments are made only on lambs which a producer has owned for 30 days or more, and the amount of payment is based on weight gain of the lambs during the seller's ownership.

Minnesota Called High Spending and Low Income State

Taxpayers Association Reports on Government Costs During Past Year

A current report of the U. S. Census Bureau reveals that Minnesota continues to be a high spending and low income state, according to Charles P. Stone, General Counsel of the Minnesota Taxpayers Association.

"The report, titled 'Governmental Finances in 1961,' released October 26, 1962, shows that state and local expenditures in Minnesota in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1961 amounted to $344.32 for each man, woman and child in Minnesota," Stone said. "This is $37.28 more than the national average of $307.04, and continues Minnesota's ranking as 12th highest among all 50 states in state and local spending.

"For the previous year, Minnesota's per capita state and local expenditures were $328.98—$40.74 above the national average.

"The latest Census Bureau report also shows that in 1961 the average personal income of Minnesota's 3,470,000 residents was $2,149. This is $114 less than the national average of $2,263, and ranks Minnesota in 25th place among all the states in per capita personal income. This was some improvement over 1960, when the Minnesota per capita personal income figure was $2,066—$149 below the national average. As a result, Minnesota went up one step in the ranking — from 26th to 25th place.

"But this slight gain was hardly enough. As applied to a Minnesota family of four — father, mother and two children — the 1961 official statistics show that this family still had $456 less income, and spent $149 more for state and local services, than the average American family.

"Below-par personal incomes and above-par public spending combine to put a terrific strain on the pocketbooks of all Minnesota taxpayers. The unhappy combination not only calls for careful screening of all proposals for new and increased expenditures by our state and local governments, but also emphasizes the great need for tax reform to encourage the business and industrial development in our State that can mean more and better jobs and higher individual incomes," Stone said.

Blue Shield Has New Prepayment Medical Aid Plan

More Minnesota residents are now eligible for full-service surgical and in-hospital medical benefits through the introduction of a new pre-payment plan from Minnesota Blue Shield.

The plan, which has been approved by the state's medical association, is called the M-series.

Blue Shield said that "full service" means that qualified subscribers will have surgical and in-hospital medical bills paid in full when treated by a participating Minnesota doctor of medicine.

Minnesota Doctors of Medicine participating in Blue Shield have agreed to accept the policy as full payment for their services covered in the contract, provided the subscriber's annual family earnings are within the income limits of their new contracts which range from $4,200 a year to $7,500 a year for a family.

Crop Insurance Claims Being Paid

David Drotts Also Taking Applications for 1963

Early estimates indicate over $3,500,000 will be paid this year to Minnesota farmers by the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, according to David Drotts, FCIC agent in Pennington county.

"Exact figures for this county and the state will be determined as farmers file and adjusters around the state send in their reports", he added.

Checks for losses are already going out to county farmers. As fast as additional loss claims by farmers in the county are filed and processed, additional payments will be made.

The number of crops protected by Federal Crop Insurance in the state of Minnesota has increased over 50 per cent since 1957, and reached an all time high of 58,000 crops in 1962.

1963 sales quotas for this county are being determined and will be released to the agent soon. Applications for protection in the 1963 program are now being received by Drotts.

"The American Family in a Troubled World" will be the topic of discussion by Gerhard Neubeck, associate professor and chairman of the family studies department of the University of Minnesota, at the annual banquet of the Thief River Falls chapter of the U of M alumni association. The banquet will be held Wednesday, Nov. 28, at 6:30 p. m. in the Elks club rooms.

Gerhard Neubeck

Neubeck is also assistant director of the family student center and marriage counselor with the student counseling bureau and is engaged in teaching, research, counseling, college teacher training and marriage counselor training. He holds an M. A. degree in psychology from Northwestern University and an Ed. D. degree from the teachers college at Columbia University.

Selected for a Fulbright lectureship to Denmark in 1960 and 1961 for the national council on family relations, Neubeck is a member of the American psychological association and American association of marriage counselors and subcommittee on training and standards. His publications include "Research On Extra-Marital Relations", "Attitudes Toward Employment of Women" and "Marriage Counseling Dynamics".

Tickets for the banquet will be $1.75 each and the event will be open to the public, according to Jon Metusalem, president of the local alumni group. It is not restricted to University of Minnesota alumni. Tickets may be secured from Metusalem, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Olson, Ted Hellie, Peter Probasco, Francis Hamerlinck, J. J. Womack or Arnt Aune. Group singing will also take place at the dinner.

Home Loans Being Made to Old Folks

Farmers Home Agency Explains New U. S. Law

The Senior Citizens Housing Act of 1962 included special provisions for meeting the housing needs of persons who are at least 62 years of age, Joel P. Rosengren, county Farmers Home Administration supervisor, announced this week.

A senior citizen loan may be made to purchase an existing dwelling as well as build and improve a dwelling. When the applicant is deficient in repayment ability a qualified co-signer is permitted. Loans may be made to finance the cost of both the building site and the dwelling. The making of senior citizen loans is limited to persons unable to obtain necessary credit at reasonable rates.

Loans may be made to country dwellers and residents of rural towns of 2,500 population or less. Applications for senior citizen loans can now be made at the Farmers Home Administration office for Red Lake and Pennington County located at the court house in Thief River Falls.

State Farm Bureau Would End Oleo Ban

Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation Tuesday recommended removal of Minnesota's ban on sale of colored oleomargarine.

It is the first influential farm organization in the state to take that stand.

Delegates to the group's 44th annua meleting in the Leamington Hotel also recommended repeal of the 10 cents a pound tax on margarine.

The Farm Bureau's contention was that the tax represents a nuisance rather than source of revenue and that butter can compete with margarine on its own merit regardless of the difference in price.

Minnesota and Wisconsin are the only states that now prohibit sale of colored margarine.

Newfolden School Officials Happy With AEW Plans

125 Persons Attend Open House November 12; Ten Discussion Groups Held

"Response of the parents to American Education Week at Newfolden community school was indeed gratifying," states Supt. John P. Halvorson. The Newfolden Education association wishes to take this means of expressing sincere thanks to all who helped to make it worthwhile."

Pastors of Newfolden area churches were asked to emphasize AEW at the worship services on Nov. 11. Approximately 125 persons registered at the November 12 open house and each was given a name card.

A community sing was led by Mrs. Alton Carlson with Mrs. Vera Craig as accompanist. Frank Kohoutek introduced the discussion group recorders and explained the procedure of the groups. The 10 groups were headed by Mrs. Alton Carlson, Elmer Johnson, Mrs. Harvey Stokke, Mrs. Peter Tandberg, Mrs. James Thompson, Mrs. Ray Tunheim, Mrs. Laurence Bjoraness Alvin Grandstrand, Mrs. Lowell Hogberg and Stanley Holmaas.

"The recorders' reports to the group proved interesting," Supt. Halvorson said. "We express thanks to these people for their willingness and cooperation in this venture." Following room vistations refreshments were served in the cafeteria by the school cooks, Mrs. Alvin Nelson and Mrs. George Gunderson.

A contest was held in the first six grades for the percentage of parents who visited during AEW. Winner was the fourth grade with 88 per cent. The other grades and percentages were: first, 74 per cent; second, 67 per cent; third, 63 per cent; fifth, 73 per cent; and sixth, 76 per cent.

Faculty members were guests of the American Legion Auxiliary at a coffee hour on Friday at 4 p. m. American Education Week is sponsored jointly each year by the National Education Association, American Legion, National Congress of Parents and Teachers and U. S. Office of Education.

November Proves Satisfactory on Weather Scene

November is fast disappearing as to date area residents do not have a great deal of complaint in regard to the weather. Low reading of 34 on Tuesday and 32 on Wednesday were the only two low temperatures above freezing during the month to date. Only four readings have indicated highs at or below the freezing mark.

A total of about 6 inches of snow has been received but most had disappeared by Wednesday morning with light snowfall began again. A trace of rain was recorded Tuesday by the North Central Airlines weather station at the municipal airport.

The forecast calls for partly cloudy skies with scattered light rain or snow, colder temperatures today and northwest winds from 20 to 35 miles per hour.

Gov. Andersen Again Leads in Governor Race

Rolvaag Attorney Questions Returns from Nine Counties

Governor Elmer L. Andersen's lead over Karl Rolvaag for the governorship in the still undecided November 6 election increased to 140 votes Tuesday, when the Hennepin county canvassing board made its official report on the election totals, showing a net gain of 48 votes for Andersen. The vote then stood: Andersen, 619,719; Rolvaag, 619,579.

Meanwhile, attorney Sydney Berde, representing Rolvaag, said Tuesday he felt that the next step in the dispute over reopened county canvasses remained with the state canvassing board procedures rather than the supreme court.

There is no way of getting the dispute before the Supreme court unless the state canvassing board rules on a Berde request to reject what he termed "legally insufficient" county canvasses, officials said.

Berde said that he would present furthir argument and evidence to the state canvassing board at its next meeting at 2 p. m. Friday.

The board yesterday adjourned until Friday for two reasons, according to Secretary of State Joseph L. Donovan, chairman of the board:

The Hennepin county canvass had not then been forwarded to the state body, making state certification of the vote for governor impossible.

The supreme court suggested the body delay action until the high court ruled on the question of the supplementary canvasses.

The DFL is protesting that nine counties illegally reopened their canvasses to correct vote counts. These amended canvasses should not be included in the official state totals, the DFL says.

If the DFL prevails, Rolvaag will win the official state canvass by 58 votes, Berde said. If the reopened canvasses are valid, Andersen will win official certification, he said.

Oscar R. Knutson, chief justice of the supreme court, Monday said the court is ready to rule on the validity of the amended canvasses if the question is brought before it.

Strength of Guard Unit to Be Increased

Drive Is Scheduled to Bring Personnel up to 130 Men Total

A 1200-man increase has been ordered in the strength of the Minnesota National Guard's 47th Viking Infantry Division, according to an announcement Tuesday by Governor Elmer L. Andersen. The objective strength of Minnesota's Guard units will rise from the current level of 9,300 to 10,500, the Governor said.

"The increase in Guard strength is being made in response to a request from the National Guard Bureau," Governor Andersen said. "I have directed Brigadier General Chester J. Moeglein, state adjutant general, to proceed at once to bring up the Army National Guard to this new level. General Moeglein has informed me that, because the Guard has been overstrength for some time, it will not be necessary to recruit the full 1,200 men represented by this increase, for the Guard is only about 1000 men short of the new goal."

The new strength authorization will bring the 47th Division to 70 per cent of full strength, according to Major General Robert P. Miller, Appleton, who commands the division. This represents a 15 per cent increase since the division was reorganized three years ago. When the division was organized as a Pentomic unit in February, 1959, its strength objective was set at 55 per cent. This was later increased to 60 per cent.

The division expects to attain its new strength objective before next summer's training camp, General Moeglein said.

The Guard will inaugurate an intensive recruiting campaign immediately to reach the new strength level. Particular effort will be made to enlist men with previous military service because they will be needed to assist in training of the new men, Guard officers said. In most cases such prior-service men will be able to enlist in the Guard at the military grade they held in active service.

Bulk of the new manpower will consist of men who have had no previous military service. These men will undergo six months of active duty training at a Regular Army training camp and then serve the balance of their six-year enlistments with their Guard units in their home communities. Young men in this category who wish to become members of the Guard should make inquiry at their local armories.

Minnesota Army National Guard units are located in 66 communities in the state. Company D of the 136th Infantry, stationed in Thief River Falls under the command of Captain Richard Edlund, now comprises 117 men, while its new strength objective is 130.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtiss Nelson and son Dale are leaving for Phoenix, Ariz. on Monday. They expect to spend about a month visiting there, and in Texas and California, where they will also visit friends and relatives.

KRATKA BRIDGE replacement project is now underway by Roy Benson and Son of Stephen, contractors on the Pennington county project. The new structure, scheduled for completion by November 6 of 1963, will be 165 feet long with a 28-foot roadway. The bridge will be constructed of prestressed concrete slab, a new innovation in bridge construction, and will be the first of its kind in this county. Bid price for the new facility is $69,172.26. Closing of the bridge road took place last Thursday as crews went to work in razing the old structure, forcing detours to other bridges to the east or west in order to cross the river. The new bridge will use the same approaches as the old structure.

Klopp Given Year On Probation in Traffic Fatality

Enters Guilty Plea To Careless Driving Charge In Swenson Girl Death

David Klopp, 21, Thief River Falls, was sentenced to a year's probation recently when he appeared before a district court judge in Crookston. Klopp was the driver of a car in which 17-year-old Shirley Swenson was fatally injured in a one-car crash about five miles north of Red Lake Falls on September 3.

Charles Boughton, Red Lake county attorney, told the Times this week that Klopp was placed under the supervision of a state parole officer who would set forth a code of rules to be followed. If the parole is broken, Klopp would be obliged to serve a 90-day jail sentence.

The court had ordered a presentence investigation, Boughton said, and the facts set out by the parole agent making the investigation did not furnish sufficient grounds for a jury trial on a criminal negligence charge. With the consent of the court, the defendant was permitted to plead guilty to a careless driving charge with the resulting year's probation sentence. No jury trial was held.

Northwest DHIA Has Numerous Big Producers in '62

Annual Meeting Held at Northwest School in Crookston Nov. 14

Seven hundred and seventy seven cows from 25 herds on test in the Northwest No. 1 Dairy Herd Improvement Association, produced an average of 435 pounds of butterfat per cow this past year. This information was revealed by Karl E. Nygard, DHIA Supervisor, at the association's annual meeting at the Northwest School of Agriculture, Cookston, last Wednesday, November 14.

Of the 25 herds, 23 completed the year. Nine of these herds are in West Polk county, seven in Norman county, 4 in Marshall county and one herd in each of Red Lake, Mahnomen and Pennington counties.

A herd of registered Holsteins owned by the Northwest School of Agriculture and Experiment Station of Crookston topped the association this year with an average butterfat production of 535 pounds per cow. In 1961 this same herd ranked third with an average of 479 pounds of butterfat per cow.

Sixteen cows produced 600 lbs. of butterfat or above, 66 cows produced 500 lbs. B. F. or above, 188 cows produced 400 lbs. B. F. or above and 4 cows produced 200 lbs. of butterfat or less.

High producing cow, a grade Holstein owned by Mount St. Benedict Farm of Crookston, was a 4 year old who produced 732 lbs. of butterfat. Lloyd Kasprick of Angus had the second high producing cow, a 5 year old grade Holstein who produced 730 lbs. B. F.

The top 15 cows in the association produced from 609 to 732 lbs. of butterfat. Other dairymen who had cows in the top 15 are as follows: James Muzzy, Thief River Falls; Northwest School, Crookston; Paul Olson & Sons, East Grand Forks; Erwin Vanek, East Grand Forks; Donald Christensen, Twin Valley; Orrin Kruecker, Warren, and Warren Gast of Beltrami.

Directs Attorney To Particpate in Hearing Nov. 28

Thief River Falls city council, following presentation of information at its regular session Tuesday evening, unanimously adopted a resolution asking for a land use study in Eastern Marshall county. The action was based on the belief that conditions existing in that area have an economic impact on Thief River Falls and that reasonable action should be taken to work out an equitable compromise between conflicting interests in the area.

William E. Dahlquist, in requesting council action favorable to farmers in the area, reviewed the transfer of land in the area from the Division of Lands and Minerals to the Division of Game and Fish and "breach of promise" by state officials who had made pledges to the farmers and failed to keep them. He noted that the Thief River Watershed Development association had been formed and a survey started but that action was halted when state officials failed to keep faith with the farmers.

He asked the council to reaffirm stands taken by a previous council and more recently the Chamber of Commerce that agriculture be given first consideration in any dispute. "The farmers have no objection to wildlife," Dahlquist said, "if it does not interfere with farming. The only right side is to recognize that the area is basically agricultural and that agricultural progress is being made."

Vernon Scholin, an officer of the Pennington County Sportsmen's club, stated that his visits to the area in question did not lead him to believe the land was agricultural. It would take too much expense to put it into tillable condition, he said, and "it is ideally suited to wildlife". He noted that much of the area was tax forefeited at one time and expressed the opinion that such a condition may well take place again.

Resolution Adopted

In essence the resolution adopted by the council recommends that a survey of the area be made by an agency qualified to make such a survey and that land found to be suited for agricultural purposes be reserved for such use. It further authorizes Robert Wurst, city attorney, to present a certified copy of the resolution at a hearing to be conducted Wednesday, November 28, at Newfolden.

Present Building Plans

Two more projects to be submitted to the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency under the Accelerated Public Works Program, in the hopes of obtaining 50 per cent federal assistance, were accepted by the council. They were priority number three — a city jail suitable for use by other counties — and priority number four — a new addition to Carnegie Public Library.

Resolutions were adopted by the council for submitting the projects to the federal agency. K. Russell Anderson, local architect engaged by the city for the jail planning, presented the plans for that facility and listed an estimed cost of $102,000. Richard Mabey of the

Miss Myrna Hallstrom Is Married To Jim Nelson

Marriage vows were exchanged on November 3, by Miss Myrna Hallstrom of St. Hilaire and Jim Nelson of this city at Zion Lutheran Church, with Rev. Leland Steen performing the ceremony. Matching baskets of white glads and white carnations flanked the altar, as did tapers in candelabra. Smaller arrangements at the communion rail were of foliage, white candles, and red carnations. At every third pew there were candelabra with lighted white tapers, green foliage, and red carnations.

Jerry Joringdal of this city provided nuptial music at the organ, and accompanied vocalist Mrs. Harold Storhaug.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a floor-length gown of white satin with white brocaded satin front paneling. Detailed with a chapel train, it featured a V-neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. It was fashioned by the bride and by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Harlan Hallstrom. Her fingertip veil was of nylon net, set off by a crown of satin and pearls. She wore a cultured pearl necklance, a gift of the groom. The bridal bouquet was fashioned of three large white mums surrounded by red roses, in a setting of green ti leaves.

Maid of honor was Miss Phyllis Callies of St. Paul. Bridesmaids were Misses Diane Lindquist of Little Falls, and Karen Nelson of this city, a sister of the groom. Their gowns, also fashioned by the bride, were of red peau de sole, in waltz length, with rounded necklines. They wore crystal tear-drop necklaces and carried colonial style bouquets of large white mums with red roses, against a background of ti leaves.

Flower girl was Jennifer Botton of Kansas City, Kans., a cousin of the groom. Her gown was of satin and brocade, like that worn by the bride. Robin Hallstrom of Centerville, nephew of the bride, carried the rings on a pillow of white satin.

Best man was Harlan Hallstrom of Centerville, and the groomsmen were Dennis Hallstrom, the bride's brother, and Jim Fisher.

Ushers were Bruce Hall, Dale Nelson, Lee Gustafson, and Butch Kritz. All the men of the bridal party wore dark trousers with white dinner jackets.

Mrs. Hallstrom chose a beige sheath dress with dark brown accessories for her daughter's wedding. The groom's mother wore a blue dress, also sheath-style, with black patent accessories. Both wore corsages of yellow roses with white pom pons.

The two grandmothers of the groom also wore corsages.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held for 25 guests, with Mrs. Wilbur Hallstrom as hostess. Mrs. Harlan Hallstrom of Centerville, sister-in-law of the bride, cut the cake. Mrs. Robert Botton of Kansas City, the groom's cousin, served punch. Mrs. Dennis Hallstrom, the bride's sister-in-law, poured. Waitresses were Carmen Pederson, Miss Yvonne Ekdahl of Minneapolis, Karen Kruse and Susan Lindquist of St. Hilaire. At the gift table were Mrs. James Fisher and Mrs. Stuart Nelson of this city; and Mrs. Ward Brink of St. Hilaire. Mrs. Harold Jaskin was at the guest book.

The bridal table was decorated in red and white, with a tiered, pillared cake topped with a miniature bridal couple in a heart-shaped frame. It was baked and decorated by Mrs. Lawrence Lubitz.

The bride graduated from Lincoln high school of this city and was a beautician at Clip and Curl shop, Minneapolis. The groom also attended Lincoln high school, and is owner of Nelson Floral in Jordan, Minn.

The couple honeymooned in Duluth and along the North Shore Drive, the bride choosing a black and brown sheath with patent accessories for her travel outfit. They are now at home in Jordan.

Guests attended from Minneapolis, St. Paul, St. Hilaire, Warren, Viking, Bemidji, Centerville, Red Lake Falls, Little Falls, and Hallock, Minn., and from Kansas City, Kans.; Winnipeg, Manitoba, Can.; and Edgar, Wisc.

Candy Hoglo Says Vows with Marvin Olson Recently

St. Bernard's Catholic church of this city was the scene of the recent wedding of Miss Candy Hoglo of rural Thief River Falls to Marvin Olson, also of this city. The double-ring ceremony was performed by Father G. Robert Pryor in the presence of 150 friends and relatives. Decorating the altar were baskets of mums.

Miss Hoglo is the daughter of Mrs. Marion Hoglo, and Mr. Olson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Olson, all of this city.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Bill Hoglo, wore a white satin floor-length gown with scoop neckline and short bell sleeves. Her fingertip veil fell from a white crown. She carried a white missal, and a bouquet of yellow roses and white carnations.

Attending her as matron of honor was her sister-in-law, Mrs. Richard Hoglo; other attendants were Mrs. Gary Potucek, Warren, and Mrs. Larry Johnson, Kennedy. They wore street-length dresses of gold, green, and bronze satin, respectively, and each carried one large mum arranged with a background of net and accented by a huge satin bow.

Flower girl was Miss Michelle Lamb of Warren, who wore a dress similar to that worn by the bride. Carrying the rings was Gary Hoglo.

Best man was the bride's brother, Richard Hoglo; groomsmen were Gary Potucek, Warren, and Dale Sevre of this city. Sharing ushering duties were Bob Hoglo of Thief River Falls and Marlin Anderson of Warren.

The bride's mother wore a beige knit dress with brown accessories; the groom's mother wore a gold dress with black accessories, and both had corsages of bronze mums.

A dinner was given in the couple's honor after the ceremony. Hosted by the family of the bride, it was served to 150 guests in the church parlors.

Centering the serving table was a bridal cake fashioned like a cross, and surmounted by a wedding emblem. It was baked and decorated by the mother of the groom, Mrs. James Olson; cut by Bernice Bergman, the groom's aunt, and served by Mrs. Henry Myrfield. Mrs. Vernon Hecht and Mrs. Francis Raymond, aunts of the bride, poured. Opening gifts were Mrs. Clifford Habedank, Mrs. Geno Hoglo, and June Broadwell. Mrs. L. W. Lamb was at the guest book.

Waitresses were Mrs. Robert Hoglo, Mrs. Orville Hall, Mary Davidson, and Diane Hecht. Assisting in the kitchen were Alma Lull, Marie Potucek, and Hannah Anderson, along with Art Potucek and Frank Lull.

The newlyweds chose the Black Hills of South Dakota for their honeymoon trip. Mrs. Olson wore a beige walking suit with brown accessories.

The bride graduated from Lincoln high school of this city in 1961, and from the cosmetology department of the area vocational school. She is presently employed at LeMoine's Beauty Salon. The groom also graduated from Lincoln high school and is employed at Hartz Supermarket of this city. They are at home at 1214 N. Arnold Ave.

Disabled Veterans Income Report Due

Fargo VA Agency Asks Reports by Pensioners

This year's income reporting time begins one month earlier than usual for 9600 disabled veterans and some 4000 dependents of some deceased veterans on VA pension in North Dakota and that portion of Minnesota served by the Fargo Regional Office, John R. Parrish, Director of the Veterans Administration Center in Fargo, explained today.

Along with their November 30 checks, all VA pension recipients will receive enclosed tabulating cards. They carry the words "please do not mutilate." It is important that these instructions be followed.

On these cards beneficiaries must report all income received during 1962 and that expected in 1963. Income means everything, including Social Security payments, except of course the VA pension payments themselves.

Law requires the VA to use the reports to determine continued eligibility of pensioners and in some cases to make adjustments on the basis of increased or decreased outside income.

The questionnaire should be returned to the address in the upper right-hand corner. This address should be copied exactly as it appears on the form.

The most important thing is getting those cards back from the beneficiaries.

Prompt and accurate reporting can save the VA — and the beneficiary — both delay and headache.

Elaine's CHATTER

The minute we read the article expounding the fact, that "A woman can't be like a man," we had the feeling that the battle of the sexes was on again. "Science has put women under a microscope and discovered that women and men are not the same.' . . . what do you know! . . . a brilliant deduction! We are sure that men do not carry around a microscope to discover that fact.

The article was full of discoveries . . . women wiggle when they walk; their sense of color is more intense than man's; their baby teeth come out first; more men commit suicide; women live longer; BUT are not as smart as men.

We did take exception to the fact that it stated that a woman's liver ages faster than men's . . . Now we believe that women are entitled to a few secret ailments. A fainting spell is feminine; a headache can cover a multitude of things, but to state that their liver is acting up . . . it's a low blow!

A woman answered this article. "While women are not as good as men, a horde of experts in the science field would be selling apples if they weren't gainfully employed in picking females apart."

It doesn't make much difference to us which sex is the smarter . . we're sure both are here to stay. One wears the mink, the other pays for it . . . who's the smartest?

Back in 1770 George Washington, bless him, declared the last Thursday in November a national holiday, to give thanks for what we have. As this day of Thanksgiving dawns, there will be mixed emotions. Take a few minutes before the festivities start and let that prayer be very real. Our sadness and gladness is pretty much of our own making.

Be sure to stop in at Elaine's right after thanksgiving and help yourself to the savings on Dresses, Coast and many other items reduced for clearance. We couldn't possibly explain all the values, prices and items in this space, so you'll just have to stop in and see. Happy Thanksgiving, to all.

That Mysterious Term

That mysterious term, "apothecary shop" is just another way of saying "drug store." The story behind it is interesting — and significant to everyone who gets a prescription filled. 'Apothecary shop" comes from the ancient Greek word meaning "storehouse." That's exactly what our prescription department is — a storehouse of healthgiving, livesaving drugs . . . thousands upon thousands of drugs gathered from all over the world and kept on hand so that you can instantly get the one drug your doctor prescribes for you. That's why we say . . .

Postmaster Suggests Christmas Mail Helps

R. J. Dryden, Thief River Falls postmaster, launched his 1962 "Mail Early For Christmas" Campaign today by offering a number of helpful suggestions to guide postal patrons in planning their Christmas mailings this year. Heeding the suggestions will mean faster and better service for Christmas mail. The suggestions follow:

Bring your Christmas card and gift lists up-to-date immediately. Be sure each address is complete, with full name, street and number, city, zone and state. Avoid abbreviations of city and state names.

Send your Christmas cards by first class mail, using the new 4-cents Christmas stamps, to secure priority of dispatch and delivery, forwarding without additional charge, and return to you without cost, providing you put your return name and address on the envelopes. Christmas cards sent First Class may be sealed and carry written messages.

Separate your Christmas cards into "local" and "out of town" bundles, using the handy labels you can secure from the post office or your letter carrier.

Stock up on the new 4-cents Christmas postage stamps. They will "dress up" your Christmas cards and gift packages.

Schedule your Christmas mailings so that your cards and gift packages going to most distant points are mailed by December 10. Mail Christmas packages for local destinations by December 15, and by all means, be sure to mail your Christmas cards for friends and relatives in this area at least a week before Christmas.

Use air mail for Christmas cards and gift parcels for distant points, especially for your last minute mailings.

'Cross-compliance' in Wheat Plan Explained

"Cross-compliance" is a term farmers should keep in mind if they are participating in the 1963 wheat stabilization program, according to Edwar A. Johnson, chairman, Marshall county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee.

It is a requirement intended to prevent paying a producer for reducing wheat acreage on one farm and then having this reduction offset by boosting wheat acreage above the allotment —or small farm base, if this is larger — on another farm in which the producer has an interest in the wheat crop.

Failure to cooperate with the cross-compliance provision of the wheat program, the chairman emphasized, would result in loss of the diversion and price-support payments available to growers participating in the program, as well as loss of eligibility for the regular price support on the wheat crop.

Explaining the cross-compliance provision further, Mr. Johnson said:

"Assume a producer has an interest in three farms. Intentions-to-participate in the 1963 wheat stabilization program are filed for Farm 1, and all program provisions are carried out on the participating farm. The wheat allotment (or small-farm base, if this is larger) on Farm 2 was exceeded. The wheat allotment on Farm 3 was not exceeded.

"Under these circumstances, the producer would not be eligible for the diversion payment, the extra price-support payment, or the regular price support on Farm 1 because he did not comply with the cross-compliance provision. He would not be eligible for price support on the wheat from Farm 2 since the wheat allotment was exceeded. He would be eligible for price support on the wheat crop from Farm 3 at the $1.82 level (national average).

"Any other producers on Farm 1 — who do not have an interest in wheat on any other farm — would not be subject to cross-compliance provisions of the program, but they would be eligible for their share of the diversion and price-support payments. They would also be eligible for price support on their share of the wheat production."

The chairman said that a producer who does not sign up in the wheat stabilization program on any farm would not have to meet any cross-compliance requirement in order to be eligible for regular price-support loans or purchase agreements on his wheat crop. In such a case, the producer would merely have to comply with the farm wheat acreage allotment; if he did not, his wheat would not be eligible for price support. This represents a continuation of program provisions which have been in effect for years prior to 1962, as authorized by earlier legislation; it has no connection with the new 1962 legislation which authorizes the 1963 wheat stabilization program.

Council Adopts Resolution On Marshall Lands

library board presented the library addition plans (the same as those rejected in a bond issue about a year ago) with a total estimated cost of $118,700. Both projects, if given government approval, would be financed by 50 per cent federal funds and 50 per cent local bond issue.

Union Request

Petitions signed by a majority of the members of Municipal Drivers and Helpers Local 664 were received from the union negotiator and requested salary increases. Under law, the city must now proceed with fact-finding in the case and appoint a member to the fact-finding panel. Action on appointment of a member was deferred to the next meeting of the council to be held Wednesday, November 28, at 7:30 p. m.

Morris Owen, superintendent of utilities for the city, reported on a meeting called by the Bureau of Reclamation Tuesday afternoon. Upon his recommendation, the council adopted a resolution noting that the city did not wish to participate in a proposed "Pooling agreement" until such time as the city believed such action necessary.

Other Business

In other action taken by the council Tuesday evening, the following business was transacted:

Call for bids for 80 and 100 octane gasoline for the municipal airport with bids to be opened at the December 18 council meeting; transfer of beer license from Elmer Poole at the Viking Tavern to Charles Hennessey of Walsh county, N. D.; acceptance of the resignation of Earl Gjernes as bartender at the municipal liquor store; and hiring of William G. Peterson as off-sale clerk at the store.

Building permits approved were as follows: Iver Nelson & Sons, addition to a dwelling on Oakland Park Road, $2,500; N. H. Korteum, addition to domestic garage at 618 Main av. N., $300; William LaFave addition to Thief River Jobbing company on Pennington avenue, $12,000; Russell Moen, domestic garage at 236 Markley av. N., $1,000; and Bertha Bottem, domestic garage at 101 State av. S., $700.

Final and semi-final estimates for city projects in the amount of $98,598 were approved by the council for payment with the exception of $2,000 withheld from the Jay W. Craig company. The figure was withheld from the firm which provided seal coating on city streets since the job is not considered to be satisfactory.

City fathers also voted payment of $389 to Wells, Denbrook and Associates for the balance of architects fees on the airport shop building. The amount had been billed to the school district rather than the city and the error was not discovered until a short time ago.

Petroleum Group Leader Opposes Gas Tax Increase

Thornburg Says Present Taxes of Nine Cents Per Gallon Have Hit Limit

Gasoline tax increases, likely to be an issue on the 1963 legislature, will stimulate the compact car trend in a motorist rebellion against higher taxes, Robert T. Thornburg, executive secretary of the Minnesota Petroleum Council said today.

Suggestions already have been made for an increase of at least one cent per gallon for highway construction and a half a cent for distribution to the townships for their roads. The highway department has announced that it should have an additional $8,000,000 next year to match federal funds for state trunk highway construction.

A one-cent increase in the gasoline tax would add $11,000,000 annually to highway department revenues. The present state tax is five cents per gallon, to which is added a federal tax of four cents.

"The constantly increasing use of our highways by more and more motorists has brought a large growth in the revenues available for road building," Thornburg said. "Since 1952, gasoline tax revenues have risen from $39,000,000 a year to $59,000,000 in 1962."

Motorist reaction to high gasoline prices brought about by the current taxes, he said, has been to turn to the compact automobile, now registered for a total of 115,000 in the state, nearly 10 per cent of the total auto registration. Motorists are attracted by the higher mileage per gallon of gas and hence the lower cost for operation, and less spent for fuel and taxes.

With $226,000,000 in state and federal funds available for road construction during the next 18 months, Thornburg said the highway program can be continued without halt through the next biennium without any new taxes on the motorist.

Postal Dept. To Issue 2 New Postage Stamps

Two new postage stamps, both being printed as a result of the increase in postal rates, will be placed on sale soon by the U. S. Post Office department. One of the stamps is an eight-cent airmail stamp and the other is a five-cent George Washington stamp.

The Washington stamp in sheet, coil and booklet form will be first placed on sale at New York, New York, on November 23, 1962. After the first day sale, these stamps will be available at other post offices as fast as manufacturing conditions permit.

Based on a bust sculptured in 1785 by the French artist Jean Houdon, the stamp will measure 0.75 by 0.87 inch in dimension, arranged vertically and printed in blue. The sheet stamp will be issued in panes of 100. Booklets will consist of four panes of five stamps each and coils will be issued in rolls of 100, 500 and 3,000.

Collectors desiring first day cancellations may send addressed envelopes to the Postmaster, New York 1, New York, together with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed. Covers will be serviced with full booklet panes of 5 stamps only, requiring a remittance of 25 cents for each cover submitted. Since this is a vertical pane, envelopes should be addressed low and as far to the left as possible.

The eight-cent air mail stamp in sheet, coil and booklet form will be first placed on sale at Washington, D. C., in December 5. Designed by Henry K. Benesuth of New York City, the stamp will be printed in red and features a modern air liner and the U. S. Capitol dome.

Collectors desiring first day cancellations may send addressed envelopes to the Postmaster, Washington, D. C., together with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed. Covers will be serviced with full booklet panes of five stamps only, requiring a remittance of 40 cents for each cover submitted.

Envelopes for sheet stamps on both issues will be serviced in the regular manner (singles, pairs, blocks, etc.), but it is recommended that no more than two coil stamps be requested for affixment to each cover in order to obtain a satisfactory cancellation.

Highway Dept. Sets up Relocation Program

An advisory relocation assistance program to aid those in need of such help because the state has acquired their property for highway right of way purposes has been organized by the Minnesota Highway department.

Anticipating the requirements of the Federal Aid Highway Act of 1962, passed by the last Congress, the Minnesota department drew up preparatory orders to establish such service for the public which became operative November 15.

Financial assistance as outlined in the federal law is left to action by the respective states and, in Minnesota, authorization of payments awaits action by the legislature.

James C. Marshall, Minnesota highway commissioner, recently directed each of the district engineers in the nine construction districts to delegate a member of his staff to direct this assistance task.

Among the appointees are E. W. Johnson, Bemidji; Harold Homme, Brainerd; and Henry E. Fisher, Detroit Lakes.

It will be the duty of these highway representatives to give each affected owner or occupant a portfolio in which there will be appropriate maps, a letter explaining the procedures for obtaining assistance and a questionnaire for those who wish to avail themselves of the service.

The relocation officer will maintain listings of available rental and sales properties and be able to offer referrals to existing services such as local housing authorities, Chambers of Commerce or financial institutions which make loan arrangements.

The relocation advisor will survey his area for all pertinent information on owner occupants, income levels, renter occupants, rental levels, home values, family sizes, home standards and data on all social service and welfare agencies as well as housing and loan agencies within his area.

Persons with questions relating to the relocation assistance program are asked to contact the relocation official designed for the area in which his property lies.

State Gets $456,367 for Forest Highways

The largest sum apportioned in the five-state area for improvement of national forest highways for fiscal year 1964 will be received by the state of Minnesota, according to a report from the Bureau of Public Roads which administers forest highway funds. The apportionment, amounting to $456,367, was more than the combined sums of the other four states. The basis on which forest highway funds are determined, as provided by federal law, is in proportion to the area and value of the forest land owned by the federal government within the state.

Minnesota has approximately 2,717,987 forest acres, valued at over $28½ million, all located in the northeastern portion of the state. Probably the best known forest highway, nationally, is the Gunflint Trail in Cook county.

Minnesota's national forest acreage represents 5.1 per cent of the state's total area of 53,803,520 acres. It is not only the largest area of any state in the five-state area, but also of any of the 13 states containing national forests in the eastern section of the United States.

In addition to serving as major arteries for intra and interstate traffic, the forest highways have been highly important in making large stands of marketable timber available. The construction and maintenance of these highways and the development of tributary roads have resulted in tremendous increases in the annual timber harvest. In 1960, eight times as many board feet of lumber were cut from our national forests as in 1938. Receipts from timber sales showed a corresponding increase as did, also, the revenue from grazing fees, mining and other land uses.

Prowler Wrestlers Start Action Nov. 30

Varsity coach Al Shaff welcomed nine lettermen as the Prowler wrestlers began their practice sessions in preparation for the 1962-63 schedule that will begin on Tuesday evening, Nov. 30, when the Ada Vikings' A and B squad wrestle here.

Heading this nine-man letterman group are co-captains Roger Wilson and Dwight Myhrer. Other lettermen are Roy Deloreme, Don Berggren, Gary Nereson, Joe Taylor, Ray Ulrich, Terry Nelson and Leland Pietron. Mike Magnuson was also a letterman last season, but an injury, sustained during the football season, has sidelined the rangy grappler for the year.

The wrestling squad made a trip to Greenbush on Tuesday for an informal scrimmage against the Greenbush squad.

Dept. Reports Licenses Down Sharply Since 1946

Some trappers have expressed concern about the effects of this year's lengthened season on mink, according to the state conservation department.

What the trappers fear most is the possibility of taking a greater proportion of females and thus in turn depress next year's population. The department's research and planning section, however, says there are several reasons why this should not occur:

(1) The number of trappers has decreased, to the lowest since department records began in 1928. In 1961 only 7,577 licenses were sold, compared with 58,000 in 1946.

(2) For the most part, only the good experienced trappers remain. Such men pride themselves in their ability to trap males selectively in order to leave females for breeding.

(3) With mink prices showing a downward trend, trappers can be expected to show correspondingly less perserverence. In any year, the enthusiasm of trappers or hunters wanes rapidly as the effort to take a unit of game increases.

(4) Water levels are very high. This will spread out the mink and spread out the trapping pressure. Records indicate that mink always increase with the wet years and decrease with the dry years. Trapping has not had nearly as much effect upon mink numbers as has the weather.

(5) Part of the trappers' fears ar based upon the poor showing last year. While it is true that mink appeared to be down somewhat last year, this decrease was made more apparent by a change in their habits. They were not frequenting their usual haunts along the streams and slough edges but were hunting the fields until late in the mink season.

The high water levels this year have caused a spectacular increase in muskrats — a good indication that the mink population is starting upward.

MANY FOREST FIRES ARE REPORTED IN FIVE YEARS

Although great strides have been made in the development and use of new fire fighting equipment and techniques, forest fires are still a serious problem in Minnesota. During the past five years, fires have annually burned over an average of 64,500 acres.

Early spring is a good time to seed grass. It's very important not to seed too deep, so, if seeding with a row crop, the best plan is to seed the crop first. Then seed the grass mixture the opposite direction of the crop rows and half an inch deep.

Deer Hunters Told to File Reports

Hunters Are Required to Report on Game Bagged

David C. Brandon of White Bear Lake reports that he shot a buck deer in Beltrami county, near Blackduck. By itself, this is not newsworthy, but the thing which makes it so is that Brandon scored a "first" with his report.

No, he doesn't claim to be the first to shoot a deer in the 1962 season, but he is believed to be the first to turn in his big game report card. On Monday, November 12, Brandon walked into the conservation department offices in St. Paul and delivered his report by hand.

Hunters of big game and small game alike were reminded by the department's research section that the law requires a report on game taken on or before January 31 each year. This is clearly stated on each license sold. These reports are used in calculating the kill of the various game species—information which is important in game management.

By following the example set by David Brandon, each hunter can have a direct part in this management. Even though the hunter may have been unsuccessful in bagging any game, the report is desired.

SUCCESSFUL deer hunts come and go but this one stands out in the mind of Carl M. Johnson of 314 Duluth av. S. It was in 1943 when Carl and nine companions from the Goodridge and Grygla areas bagged these 10 deer while hunting northwest of Grygla. Mrs. Johnson sent in the picture and noted that "10 men with 10 guns got 10 deer" in what she termed "the good old days." Carl doesn't remember the full names of all members of the party but identifies them as follows: standing left to right, Otto Kiesow, Big Bill, Carl Johnson, Mr. Bredeson and Henry Sandland. Kneeling are Olaf Sandland, Erick Kiesow, Mr. Sandland and Christ Haugen. The tenth member of the party snapped the picture.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

A Summing Up

The 1962 Minnesota deer hunting season closed at sunset on Sunday and while the reports are not complete, it appears that the kill will compare favorably with that of 1961. And this is surprising considering that the weather, the last four or five days of the season, was unfavorable, with visibility being poor.

The St. Hilaire locker plant, as of Tuesday afternoon, had processed 265 deer, and manager Len Brekke expected that the number of deer processed there would approach the 303 deer that moved through the plant last season.

Len did say, though, that the deer brought in this year were smaller than in previous years. And that seems to be the consensus of the hunters in this area who filled their tags, stating that the deer were running smaller. That is all except the antlered doe that Ralph Fischer killed. The biologist at the Lake Agassiz refuge checked the animal, and it was his belief that the doe was a twin. And that figures, as the Fischer-Kritz party shot a buck that was running with the doe, and it is theorized that the doe and buck, both three and a half years old, were twins.

No One Wounded

And it is pleasing to report on the close of the deer hunting season without having to mention a gunshot injury or two. There were a couple of harrowing incidents that could have been tragic. On the opening morning, on a ridge west of town, a bullet went through the windshiled and rear window of Kermit Finstad's car. This happened some time before the legal hunting hour. Ordinarily, Kermit, and his hunting partner Joe Kramer, would have been drinking coffee and having a light lunch before going into the woods. But this morning the two were out of the car. A measurement of the trajectory of the bullet indicates that if the two boys had been in the car, one would have taken the bullet in the head.

And Lloyd Hogenson, traveling in a pickup truck along the Rapid River, had one of the headlights shot out as a couple of hunters opened up on a buck that crossed the road. Lloyd gave the boys a few choice words, and then he made the mistake of telling them that they had hit the deer, and even helped them find the animal. That's carrying the Good Samaritan act a bit too far.

Curling Notes

The Dale Dalziel rink of Fargo, North Dakota curling champions last season, won the FM Curling club's invitational bonspiel that was concluded at Fargo on Sunday. In the finals, the Dalziel foursome defeated the Frank Kleffman rink of Hibbing, the Minnesota and United States champions last season, 19-8.

To reach the finals, the Dalziel rink defeated the Orville Gillesbammer rink of Grafton, while the Kleffman rink defeated the Barney Lamm rink of Kenora, Ont.

Throwing second rock for the Dalziel rink was Steve Larson, a former resident here. Dale Dalziel, the skip, is well-known to local curlers as he was the winning skip of the Jon Larson rink that won the States-Dominion bonspiel held here a couple of years ago.

In fairness to the Kleffman rink it must be reported that the veteran Hibbing curler was without the services of several of his "regulars". But that 19-8 margin must have been satisfying to the Dalziel squad.

Re-shuffling the Lineup

Last season Jim Muzzy's Daleford Farms team had a comparatively easy time in gaining the Service league championship, but this season the boys are having their troubles.

In an effort to bolster his lineup, and get some weight at the anchor position, Jim has shifted Helmer Skomedal to the anchor spot. And the strategy has begun to pay dividends.

On Monday night, in a match against the Eagles, the Daleford Farms squad picked up 3½ points, moving into a three-way tie, with the Grain Belt Beer and the Farmers Union, for first place. The Dalefords had games of 813-856-788 while the Eagles posted scores of 772-822-788.

In the man-to-man duel between the anchor men, Daleford's Skomedal chalked up games of 127-202-151 to take the odd game against the Eagles' anchor Elwood Ehrenstrom, who had games of 178-171-144. Ehrenstrom, though, won the aggregate pin honors, having a seven-pin edge over Skomedal.

The Prowler Cage Squad

Coach Jack Junker has trimmed the squad of boys trying out for the Prowlers' 1962-63 basketball team to fourteen, and it is probable that a couple more will be pared, bringing the varsity squad to twelve.

County Engineers to Hold Institute December 10-13

Minnesota county highway engineers will hold their 18th annual institute at the Center for Continuation Study on the Minneapolis campus of the University of Minnesota on Monday, December 10 through Thursday noon. The institute is sponsored jointly by the Minnesota highway department and the Minnesota Association of County Highway Engineers of which Frank Turnacliff, Kanabec county, is president, and J. S. Schmidt, Chisago county, secretary.

A program, covering many of the phases of technical and managerial problems confronting county engineers, is being arranged. Commissioner of Highways, James C. Marshall, will address the group at the opening session.

Plummer Cage Squad Has Seven Lettermen

Seven lettermen, three of whom were starters on last season's team, were included in the group of cage prospects who reported to coach Howard Emerson at the Plummer high school last week. The returning lettermen are Russ Vigstol, a 6-foot 2-inch senior, Dennis Wilkens, a 6-foot senior, Marvin Walter, a 5-foot 10-inch junior, Mike Gagner, a 5-foot 8-inch junior, Dennis Hyde, a 6-foot 2-inch junior, Gregory Toupin, a 6-foot 1-inch senior, and Rodney Myhre, a 5-foot 9-inch junior. Vigstol, Wilkens, and Walter were starters on last season's Cardinal club, a team that won the subdistrict championship of District 31, and which posted a season's mark of 18 wins and three losses.

The Cardinals will begin play on their 1962-63 schedule on Tuesday, Nov. 27, when the Gonvick team invades the Plummer court for a game.

Plummer's coach, Howard Emerson, a graduate of Jamestown College, will be starting his third season as mentor of Cardinal cagers. This past football season he coached the Cardinals to a Tri-County conference title.

Thora Skomedal Devotes Life To The Teaching Field

By Flora Allison
Times Society Reporter

What motives and what circumstances combine to spawn a decision to devote one's life to teaching? Certainly the decision is not based on the desire for wealth or ease: the profession is an especially demanding one, and hardly remunerative enough to shove one into a high-income bracket.

But it is replete with its own rewards, Miss Thora Skomedal would tell you. And she should be in a position to know, for teaching has been her lifetime dedication; she has given many, many years to it.

"I guess I always wanted to be a teacher," she stated, "perhaps because I had a primary teacher for whom I felt a profound admiration — perhaps because it seemed to be a foregone conclusion that I would enter the profession — my parents more or less made the decision for me. And for three of my sisters as well," she added.

Born and educated in Thief River Falls, up to and including Normal Training, Miss Skomedal began her career by teaching first in the rural schools in Marshall county. Durring those five years, she nursed a desire to be county superintendent of that county. So she finally exchanged her teacher's desk for that of a student, and proceeded to learning from textbooks instead of teaching from them. The college she chose was at Bemidji.

Ultimately she received her degree in education there and went on to become a high school teacher. At intervals she continued her education at UND in Grand Forks.

Taught Seven Subjects

One year, while employed at Rauch, she had to teach seven subjects, among them such widely divergent fields as English, Latin, algebra, history, and biology, in addition to which she directed declamation contests. "A full schedule," she commented wryly. In general, she devoted her energies to the teaching of English; although necessity sometimes decreed that she would fill in to teach some other subject for which no teacher had been secured. This was especially true when she served as high school principal. "The principal usually inherited the job of filling a vacancy when one occurred. She might find herself called upon to teach almost anything."

Now, the job calls only for teaching English, but part of it entails directing speech contests. It is still a full-time pursuit.

"Mentioning speech work," she laughed, "I am reminded of my first experience in public speaking. The dread of my first speech grew to such proportions that I was practically scared to death. However, once I'd gotten to my feet, I drew confidence from the audience.

"But on occasion it still frightens me—like the time when I had to address 300 school board members, all of them male." She admitted to having that "about-to-come-apart-at-the-seams" feeling until she saw, in the group, the face of a next-door neighbor peering out to smile at her, and then she was entirely reassured.

Memories

Miss Skomedal continued teaching high school. One day, picking up the Warren Sheaf, she noticed that the position of Marshall county superintendent of schools was vacant and she promptly filed for the post. However, she was defeated in the election. After that, she accepted a position in an Indian school at Cass Lake.

"I just loved it there," she smiled. "We had a choir of squaws, and I remember so well the times when we rehearsed for the Christmas concert. The women liked singing so well they had no desire to go home when practice ended. So I made coffee, and after coffee announced that we would all leave after the next number. Still, no one made the move to leave, and I announced again that it was time to go home. Finally, after the third such reminder, they left."

At Christmas, instead of the well-publicized apple, she received from the Indians such gifts as a pailful of walleyed pike; sugar prepared from the sugar maples; and wild rice by the bagful.

"I recall thinking that the rice looked terriby dirty — now buying that commodity, I realize what a valuable gift they had given me.

"I grew to love my work with the Indian children to the extent that I had almost made up my mind to stay there for good," she chuckled. "But then one day when my mother came to visit me, she brought along a copy of the Warren Sheaf, and you know what happened — the county superintendent post was open again; I filed, and this time I won."

She served in that capacity for eight years. Then, her tenure of office ending in January, she filled out the school year by teaching in North Dakota, where she was also superintendent for the remainder of the term. "I was supposed to teach English," Miss Skomedal sighed. "Imagine doing that without text books!" It seems that the state did not furnish free texts at that time.

"Finally the students remembered that this uncle, or that cousin or aunt, or some other relative, happened to have an English book at home, one that he or she had bought while going to school. So we eventually assembled enough texts to carry on our class work."

Home Again

The students made to pretext of hiding the fact that the English teacher was expected to direct the class play, so she undertook this as well. "It was most enjoyable," she recalled. "In fact, I had almost made up my mind to come back in the fall, when I felt a sudden urge to come home for a year. "You know the result: I liked it immensely; so well, in fact, that I've put in sixteen years right here."

There was a time, eight years ago, when Miss Skomedal succumbed to the urge to spend a summer overseas, really for pleasure, but with an opportunity to absorb a great deal of background that would be beneficial in her work. Going as part of a group on a guided tour, she visited England (naturally, for she teaches English literature); Norway, where she has several cousins (teachers, one active, the other retired); Germany, France, and Switzerland, among others. "But I had to get back to my work after the summer was over. You know how it is. . ."

For 16 years, Miss Skomedal has served as English instructor in Lincoln high school, and she is still going strong. In fact, she is practically an institution there. Ask any alumnus from that far back; mention English "Lit," and someone is sure to query, "Remember Miss Skomedal?"

AT HOME in the classroom is Miss Thora Skomedal, former Marshall county superintendent of schools and for the past 16 years an English instructor at Lincoln high schol in this city. Included in her varied experiences are those of directing a choir of Indian women at Cass Lake in a Christmas concert and visiting England, home of Shakespeare, during a trip to Europe a few years ago. She is shown above behind her desk in her English classroom at LHS.

Cite Responsibility for Holiday Drinkers

"If liquor is served at a holiday party, the host should assume the responsibility of providing free and safe transportation home for each celebrator."

So said highway safety director Garnet Hall today as he urged employers to take a "new look" at office parties to help prevent the drinking driver and the speeder from reaching the highways during the year-end holiday season.

"While not apparently legally responsible for employees after they leave the office or plant, employers should consider themselves morally responsible for mishaps occurring because of a company-sponsored event. The host of a private party also should acknowledge such moral obligation.

"Alcohol and excessive speed seem to go hand-in-hand in contributing toward the year-end traffic problem, and they are the chief products of 'wet' holiday parties," Hall said, "and if all such parties were kept dry, families would stand a greater chance of escaping a saddened Thanksgiving, Christmas or New Year caused by a needless traffic accident."

He pointed out that in Minnesota alone, excessive speed was a factor in 24 per cent of the fatal mishaps occurring in the first half of 1962, and the drinking driver was involved in 26 per cent of the death-dealing crashes. During the holiday season, the involvement rate is usually much higher, he said.

Social drinkers, the one or two cocktail drinkers, are considered a bigger menace on the road than the obvious drunk. The drunk usually is aware of his inability to operate safely, but the social drinker will not admit that his senses are dulled by only two drinks. They definitely are, and it takes three hours to eliminate the effect of two cocktails, the safety director explained.

Witnesses Back from Ely Session

Meeting schedule of the Thief River Falls congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses has returned to normal after a weekend of special activity at Ely, according to R. H. Wetenkamp, local presiding minister. There were 475 persons in attendance Sunday for the public address climaxing the three-day educational convention.

If you have less than 4 times your monthly take-home pay in savings . . .
Act at once on this advice from a family-finance counselor: "If you have less than 4 times your monthly take-home pay in savings, it's time to take stock. Either you have not been saving, or you have not been saving enough. Or—and this is most likely the case—you have not been saving regularly.
"If you want to do right by yourself—and by your family—you should immediately set up or revise your present budget to include a definite sum to be put aside in savings each payday."
We couldn't agree with this advice more. And while we readily admit there are many recognized ways to save, may we remind you that a bank savings account is probably the safest and surest way to save there is? You know your money is always available for emergencies, and your interest is guaranteed.
Why not do the right thing by your family this week? Stop in and let us open that savings account you know you really should have. Say, tomorrow?

Jack and His Jack

The federal government is going to end the fiscal year with a deficit of $7.8 billion, according to the Budget Bureau estimates released last week—a few days after the national election. About eight months ago, when the official budget was announced, we were given the encouraging news that under the good Kennedy administration management we would finish the year with a $500 million balance. We are sure that not many were fooled.

The Kennedy's do have a kack for publicity. The same newspapers that carried the bad news about the budget told the tear-jerking story of sacrifice by the President himself. He has given his entire salary as president to charity. We like the nice, quiet way in which the President's good deeds are publicized. Jack means nothing to Jack.

Some Alternatives

It is encouraging to know that the school board is now considering alternatives to the extravagant building program that has been rejected by the voters in two special elections. We are sure there are resonable alternatives that would make it possible to provide for our present needs at a moderate cost. In the interests of encouraging discussion we will pass along a few ideas that we believe have merit.

Now that a state school official has admitted that we might get another ten years of service out of the old Washington building, making the necessary improvements and putting this building back into service should be acted upon immediately.

If more elementary classrooms are needed, consideration should be given to the possibility of adding the needed rooms to our present elementary schools rather than building another school. Building another school would mean another gymnasium and cafeteria which would not be needed if we add a few rooms to the buildings we already have. And there would be other substantial savings.

Providing adequately for the vocational school is a "must" and should have top priority in the planning.

Possibly there are other alternatives to the plans that have been rejected, and there should be a continuing search for better solutions for our school problems. A study should be made of Junior College possibilities and whether, under the present expanded state-aid program, such a school would be worth while and within our means.

What is needed as a preliminary to all of these matters is more information about our present operations and why the costs are mounting so steadily. Toward this end we would suggest the organization of a taxpayers association to direct such a study, getting factual information on school operating costs here and in other communities, so that intelligent comparisons can be made.

We all want good schools, the best schools we can afford, but we can't afford frills. We do have the right to get full value for the dollars we pay, and the best way to get full value is to keep informed on how they are being spent.

Fortunately there is no emergency in our school building needs that requires speedy action. There is no occasion for the rush act. We can take a little time becoming better informed and better prepared to act wisely.

And let's not forget that a little waiting may get us another bundle of the printing press dollars the crackpots in Washington are tossing around. We hope Congress will again turn down the proposals for federal aid for school construction but our guess is that such grants are on the way.

Progress Is Reported

Recent reports have been a little more favorable for a moratorium on nuclear tests. By a 75 to 0 vote the United Nations General Assembly condemned all forms of nuclear tests and asked "that all such tests should cease immediately and not later than January 1, 1963." Commenting on this action in the New York Times, Thomas J. Hamilton hopefully stated:

> "Although all the nuclear powers abstained in the vote, the Assembly's admonition has a much better chance of being heeded than the one a year ago, which called for an immediate, uncontrolled and uninspected cessation of all tests."

President Kennedy has stated that the recent atmosphere test in the Pacific was the last of a series by our country. Premier Khrushchev then announced that a test scheduled for November 20 was to be the last in a current Soviet series.

While still skeptical, Mr. Hamilton thinks there is a possibility of reaching agreement within the General Assembly next year. He points out that:

> "A year ago, a resolution backed by the neutralists called for another unsupervised, uncontrolled moratorium. The other 1961 resolution upheld the British-American thesis that tests should be prohibited by a treaty providing for "effective international control," and endorsed the specific points which the Soviet Union had already rejected.
> Each of the two resolutions adopted last week borrows something from the other camp, and the contrast between them is not so violent.
> "The conclusion of any international agreement is dependent upon a minimum amount of mutual confidence. As long as the Cuban crisis is not resolved, there can be little hope of achieving agreement on either the prohibition of tests or total disarmament.
> "If Mr. Khrushchev decides to force a showdown on West Berlin, that problem, too, will have to be resolved before the negotiators in Geneva can expect success to crown their patient efforts."

American Market

The international boundary to the north of us is a barrier to trade, but nevertheless, Canadians and Americans are each other's best customers. The exchange of goods back and forth across this border is enormous, and probably will continue to grow.

With the coming of the European common market, and more talk about common markets in general, more is being said about the possible advantages in lowering trade barriers between Canada and the United States, and the creation of a North American Common Market. The idea has interesting possibilities.

In recent years the American lumber industry has complained bitterly about Canadian competition and is asking for increased tariff protection. The main advantage enjoyed by the Canadian lumber industry is the lower shipping cost from west coast to east coast ports. The American shippers are forced to use American ships which charge higher rates.

Writing on this overall problem in a recent issue of the Canadian Financial Post, C. R. Widman, a British Columbia lumber company executive, made some interesting observations, along with a suggestion that serious consideration be given in both countries to the forming of an economic union of the natural resource industries. He stated:

> "A North American Common Market in forest products may be the answer to the current crisis in Canadian-U.S. lumber relationships and could prove to be the forerunner of other such economic mergers of our natural resource industries.
> "The problems of lumbermen on both sides of the border are identical and could be solved by co-operative action. By adopting restrictive trade legislation, we merely compound these economic troubles and delay indefinitely a final, effective solution.
> "Behind all the charges and rebuttals of lumbermen in either country, no one has dared to identify the real source of our difficulties—the continuing loss of lumber markets to substitute materials and a shortage of forest resources which has made operations uneconomical for many sawmills.
> "The principal object of a Common Market would be the elimination of any existing unfair, competitive advantages on both sides of the border and the gradual establishment of an unrestricted market for timber products between our two countries. The removal of tariffs on forest products would present obvious benefits to Canadian shippers but would offer considerable advantages to U.S. producers too.
> "Stimulation of two-way trade in forest products between our countries would do much to make our preponderance of volume more palatable to our U.S. friends and the long-term benefits of expanded markets and efficient utilization of resources might solve many problems of lumbermen in both countries.
> "A precedent has already been established in the realm of international co-operation between Canada and the U.S. in the fields of power, fish, minerals and other natural resources. There seems no reason why our two countries could not co-operate in a similar manner in the production and distribution of forest products.
> "In so many ways the problems of lumbermen in both Canada and the U.S. are identical—proper utilization of timber resources, productive efficiencies and market research are but a few which might be overcome by co-operative effort. A North American Common Market in forest products may be a lofty goal but could offer a real and lasting solution to these difficulties."

THANKSGIVING FEAST

The spirit of Thanksgiving takes root in the heart of a child in the same gradual fashion most of us have experienced.

First there is excitement and anticipation which abundance awakens in our minds.

Then comes the pensive moment when we realize that all this abundance is Someone's gift to us.

Next we know the prayer of gratitude that flows from willing lips and a thankful heart.

Finally — and supremely — there is the sense of confidence, of trust, in a God whose Love is everywhere so manifest.

The hope of your neighborhood churches is that your family's observance of this traditional feast may encourage the spiritual growth of your children . . . and renew your own precious faith.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Gift Giving Time is here

I received so many heart-warming comments on the last column I wrote that I will give you another. Hope you enjoy it as much, or even more, then the last one — which was my first "literary effort."

Thanksgiving is tomorrow —and if you haven't a ROASTER for the bird you'll be preparing, come in and get one as we have all sizes. The large sizes are $1.75— $1.98 — $2.69 and one a real SPECIAL at $2.00 plus 11c. This brings to mind the story of the bride — proudly placing on the table her first roast chicken, Mr. Newlywed telling her how beautifully she had stuffed it, and the little Bride saying, "but I didn't have to stuff it — this one wasn't hollow." Now when you sit down to your Thanksgiving dinner I hope your suspicions will be unfounded.

Now back to business: In August we had a chance to order PATRIOT REVERE WARE STAINLESS STEEL, at a big 20% savings to the customer. You have all seen — or probably have some of the copper bottom Revere Ware. Well, this Patriot Revere Ware has the copper between the layers of the stainless steel — which is so much easier to keep sparkling clean. Vic had a good bank account the day we ordered so we put in a big stock. The prices are in effect now, 20 to 25% off on the entire line. On (5) five pieces or more you get an extra discount.

..Our aisles are getting smaller every day — could it be that I'm gaining weight? Surely it must be our large stock and multiple variety of good merchandise. ..With sale prices on most everything, by Dec. 26th, we should have lots of room to move around in.

I told Vic I wouldn't say too much. Reminds me of the Maid who was given orders not to spill anything when she waited on the guests at dinner. She replied, "No Ma'am I won't say a word."

By this time you must have all received the Happy Holiday Circulars — plus the West Bend Circulars—which were mailed out this week. You have seen all of our EXTRA wonderful Specials, plus the registration blank to fill out and have a chance for 101 prizes — with first prize a 1963 Rambler. We have extra blanks if you have mislaid yours.

Every day people are lavish with their praise concerning our toy selection — and 99% of our toys are at Sale prices now. I must say Vic is a good toy buyer — I'm glad he let's me buy the housewares. I'm proud of how the ladies like to brouse and comment on the nice things we have back in the ladies corner. We want the men back there too as I'm eager and willing to help them select any gift and gift wrap it FREE for them too.

Here I go again, speaking of men, here is some advice. If when putting on a clean shirt some buttons are missing either Get Married or Get a Divorce.

We have those beautiful Aluminum Christmas Trees in three (3) sizes — with changing color light. Also all the trimmings plus Indoor and Outdoor Lights — also, wrapping paper, ribbons and bows. Get everything you need at ACE at reduced prices.

The response to our circulars sent out last week has been overwhelming. All of you good customers know a good thing when you see it. Our overstock is diminishing but we are still loaded with mercandise. Sale prices are on 99% of the items in the store. For instance, Christmas Cooky Cutters, any size or shape, will sell at 5c. We have lefse grills and lefse sticks. Northern Tissue, 4 pack, will be just 25c — as a special for this weekend — Limit 1 package.

NOTICE to all young hockey players and electricians— 60-foot roll friction tape for 37c. Keep the winter cold out, our plastic storm windows are 2 for 29c — storm door size 49c. Leakproof EVEREADY FLASHLITE BATTERIES are still 2 for 29c. LIGHT BULBS — you buy three and get the fourth one FREE. Save yourself some money — come to ACE and be sure of a savings on every item.

Now I'm going to politely sign off. After telling you just one more little joke. An old lady, in church, was seen to bow whenever the name of Satan was mentioned. One day the Minister asked her why she did so. Well, she replied "Politeness costs nothing — and you never know!"

Be seeing you (I hope)

A Time To Remember Who We Are

This is the time of year when Americans traditionally observe a day of thanksgiving for their blessings. It is good that we should do this.

But is it not also fitting that on the day—so reminiscent of our origins—we should be mindful of our heritage and the trust it imposes on us. The price the Pilgrims paid for survival. The bloody feet at Valley Forge. The thunder at the Alamo, Gettysburg, the Argonne, Midway, Bastogne and Pork Chop Hill.

Yes, let us remember who we are. For a little pride is the wellspring of courage. Let us endure unflinchingly whatever sacrifices we are called upon to make to defend our free institutions from the night of communism, which is bent on undermining our faith in ourselves. Let us rely not only on the gold in our vaults, but the iron in our blood. And let us cling like ivy to the faith of our fathers until, in God's good time, all men are free.

144 Enter 1962 Wool Sewing Contest Here

Wool garments were modeled by 144 girls and women in the annual Make It Yourself with Wool contest held Saturday at the city auditorium in Thief River Falls. Entries included 25 sub-deb, 92 junior, nine senior and 18 adult competitors from 11 counties in District I, with winners in junior, senior and adult divisions to meet in state competition at St. Paul on December 13 and 14.

Robin Shalde, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delmer Shalde of Perley, topped the large junior division in her first year of entry in the contest. Mrs. Yvonne Magnuson of Roseau won the adult division. Miss Linda Thordahl of Gary placed first in the senior division and Alana Elias of Mentor won the sub-deb contest. Miss Thordahl, 18, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mandez Thordahl, and Miss Elias, 14, is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Harold E. Elias.

Eleven districts in the state will send winners to the Minnesota contest in St. Paul. Junior and senior state winners will advance to national competition at Las Vegas, Nev., in January and vie for the national titles and trips to Hawaii.

Odegaard Talks

Prizes awarded in the local contest were provided by the Minnesota Wool council, Coats & Clark, Dritz and Vogue Pattern company. Miss Joann Odegaard, Gonvick, 1961 district, state and national winner in the senior division, told of her contest experiences and her expense-paid trip to Hawaii. She modeled her winning garment and told how her interest in sewing and the help of her mother and home economics instructor had helped her win the contest.

Runner-up in the adult division was Mrs. Norman Hoff of Ada; second place in the senior division went to Eunice Wangberg of Thief River Falls, first place junior winner last year; second place in the junior division went to Susan Hjelle of Argyle; and second place in the sub-deb group went to Kathleen Stenberg of Oklee. Also named runners-up in the junior division were Saundra Hoper of Stephen and Patra Anderson of Fosston, who were cited for best construction of their garments.

To enter the contest, contestants must make their own garments of 100 per cent American-loomed wool and model the garments which they made. Items to be made by each group include the following: sub-deb — skirt, jumper or skirt and sleeveless top; junior — separates, dress, suit, ensemble or coat; senior — separates, dress, suit or coat; and adult — dress, suit or coat.

Mrs. G. Milfred Peterson of Crookston is district director. Contestants entered from Beltrami, Clearwater, East Polk, Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, Red Lake, Roseau and West Polk.

JUNIOR division winner in the District I Make It Yourself with Wool contest held Saturday was 16-year-old Robin Shalde, left, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delmer Shalde of Perley. She made and modeled a pumpkin-colored dress made from a Simplicity pattern. Norman county 4-H style revue queen this year, Robin entered the wool contest for the first time and topped 92 other girls in the division. Adult division winner was Mrs. Yvonne Magnuson of Roseau. She made and modeled the brown wool suit shown above to win over 18 entries in the division.

Nelson To Attend National FU Meet

Lloyd Nelson of rural Thief River Falls was elected delegate from Pennington, Polk and Red Lake counties to the National Farmers Union convention at the state convention held November 19 in St. Paul. The national convention will be held in New York City in March.

Area residents attending also succeeded in their attempt for passage of a resolution favoring county board approval of projects devoting land to recreational use. The resolution was as follows:

"The State Conservation Department should thoroughly explore the great potential of the state for recreational development and state parks. Emphasis should be given to several areas which have been little developed so far along these lines, for example, the S. E. corner of the state. However, its economic impact on the area should be considered and in each case the final determinations must have the approval of the county board of commissioners in the affected counties."

The convention also supported a proposal of the national organization for a new dairy program which would provide price support through direct payments on milk used for manufactured dairy products. Edwin Christianson, state president of the Farmers Union, said that the proposed program is designed to assure farmers a return of $4.15 per hundred weight and would result in an income gain of more than $90 million a year for dairymen of the state and their communities.

Speakers at the meeting were M. W. Thatcher, general manager of the Farmers Union Grain Terminal association; T. H. Steichen, general manager of Farmers Union Central Exchange; John A. Baker, assistant secretary of agriculture; Dr. Leon H. Keyserling, economist and writer; and James G. Patton, president of the national Farmers Union.

Pennington county delegates at the convention were Lloyd Nelson, Silverleaf local; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rude, Pioneer local; Carl Anderson, Union local; and Archie Wilson, Good Hope local. Attending from Eastern Marshall county were Roy Wiseth, Neil Morrisey and Arthur Norby. Cy Carpenter, Farmers Union fieldman, also attended the session.

J. L. Rolland Rites Set Here Tuesday

Retired Meat Market Operator Died Thursday

John L. Rolland, who lived here since 1907, died at Northwestern hospital in Minneapolis on Thursday, November 22, at the age of 79 years.

Funeral services will be held on Tuesday afternoon, November 27 at 2 o'clock at Trinity Lutheran Church. Rev. Harold Peterson will conduct the rites; interment will be in Greenwood cemetery.

Hours of visitation at the Green Funeral Home will be until 11 a. m. on Tuesday, and for one hour prior to the services at the church.

Mr. Rolland was born on July 22, 1883 in Minneapolis, coming to the St. Hilaire community with his parents when he was still a boy, and growing up on the farm there.

In 1906 he married Miss Olga Wigg at St. Hilaire. The year following their marriage, they moved to Thief River Falls, where they have lived since, and where Mr. Rolland operated a meat market in conjunction with his brother, a trade they had also engaged in at St. Hilaire. Mr. Rolland was a salesman for the George Hormel Packing Company for 19 years. He also managed the meat department at the Independent Grocery here, and following that, managed the meat department at the Hartz Super Market, retiring at the age of 72 in 1955.

He is survived by a daughter, June (Mrs. Burton Emanuel) of Mankato; and four sons, Lester, Minneapolis; John and Dennis of Bakersfield, Calif.; Ellsworth, Tallahassee, Fla.; and Stanley, Minneapolis; by a brother, Alfred, of Waukegan, Ill.; and by two sisters Mrs. Bertha Miller of Crookston, and Mrs. Agnes Hanson of this city. Six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren also survive.

Preceding Mr. Rolland in death were his wife Olga, and five brothers and one sister.

Canvass Board Rules Today on Governor Race

Winners in Other Races Certified by State Board Friday

The state canvassing board Friday certified winners in all races except the governorship, but two of the decisions may be challenged in recounts.

Robert Odegard, defeated Republican candidate in the 6th District Congressional race, said Saturday he will seek a recount in his 348-vote loss to Alec Olson, DFL.

C. Donald Peterson, GOP, said he "still has under consideration" a recount in his 4,797 vote defeat by A. M. (Sandy) Keith, DFL, in the lieutenant governor contest.

The canvassing board will meet again today at 2 p. m. to consider further the disputed governor's race. The votes in 10 counties are under question in that race because amended totals were submitted by the county canvassing boards.

If the revisions are accepted, Gov. Elmer L. Andersen, GOP, would win by 142 votes. If they are not, Lt. Gov. Karl Rolvaag, DFL, would win by 58 votes.

The canvassing board Friday officially certified the total statewide vote in the Nov. 6 election at 1,267,502.

On basis of this total, all three constitutional amendments passed. They needed for passage one vote more than half the total number of persons casting ballots. That made the magic figure 633,752.

Amendment 1, to allow more liberal investment of school trust funds, got 828,880 "yes" votes.

Amendment 2, permitting the state legislature to incur debt beyond the old $250,000 debt limit by a three-fifths vote, received 728,255 "yes" votes.

Amendment 3, extending the legislative session from 90 to 120 days, received 706,701 "yes" votes.

The canvassing board consists of five members: Joseph Donovan, secretary of state, Associate Supreme Court Justices Thomas Gallagher and Martin Nelson, and District Judges Albin S. Pearson of Ramsey county and Luther Sletten of Hennepin county.

Hearing on Land Use at Newfolden Wednesday Night

Persons interested in the long-range plans of the Minnesota Department of Conservation for state-owned lands in eastern Marshall county are reminded of the public hearing to be held at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday in the Newfolden school auditorium. Plans involving the classification of state land into various management categories will be revealed.

Previous similar sessions have been held at Hallock and Roseau for Kittson and Roseau counties and another session for Beltrami county territory has been slated for December 12 at Grygla. Both sessions are open to the public and all persons interested should feel free to attend.

LATE HARVEST was taking place Friday on the Robert Oski farm in the Mavie area 11 miles east and two miles north of Thief River Falls. A 15-acre field of flax, which had been too green to cut earlier as a result of wet field conditions which caused late planting, was being straight-combined by Lloyd Watne and his son Lyle of Erie. Lyle is shown operating the self-propelled combine, one of a number of similar machines which the Watne's use on their annual combine caravan into the winter wheat area of other states. The flax yielded only about four bushels per acre—but even that is better than leaving it unharvested.

11-County Event

Region 1 Dairy Meet Set in City Dec. 5

Dairymen from 11 northwestern Minnesota counties will attend the annual Region I business meeting of the American Dairy association in Thief River Falls on Wednesday December 5. The session will begin at 11 a. m. in the American Legion club rooms with a free lunch to be served and adjournment is scheduled for 3 p. m.

The session is open to all dairy farmers, dairy plant managers and personnel and others interested in the industry in Beltrami, Clearwater, Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, Norman, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake, Roseau and Marshall counties.

Conlon Is Speaker

American Dairy association programs of advertising, merchandising, research and public relations for 1963 will be outlined by L. H. (Lew) Conlon, manager of the Minnesota Dairy Industry committee, state unit of ADA. Representatives of both the state and national staffs of the dairy farmer-financed ADA will be on hand to aid in the presentations and answer questions.

"The presentations will be a real pleasure this year since there is more modern, hard-selling materials in the 1963 ADA programs than I've seen in my 17 years with the organization," Conlon said.

He noted particularly that ADA research recently has produced some "startling and meaningful results" that have been the basis for expansion of some aspects of the ADA programs, particularly in the public relations area.

"The whole ADA program has been stepped up to the faster pace that is required by today's economy and competition if the industry expects to hold and expand markets for milk and milk products," Conlon said.

Non-Farm Salary Employment Drops 7,100 in October

Manufacturing, Trade, Government, Services Make Up for Decline

Nonfarm wage and salary employment in Minnesota decreased seasonally by 7,100 in October to a level of 1,007,500 workers, according to a report released by Frank T. Starkey, commissioner of the Department of Employment Security. Compared to a year ago, employment was up 19,100 workers.

The largest seasonal losses over the month were recorded in canning (−5,100), construction (−2,300), eating and drinking places (−2,000) and mining (−700). Partially offsetting seasonal returns were registered in services and government with the fall opening of colleges, Starkey said.

The end of the canning season resulted in layoffs for about 7,000 temporary workers; however, this was somewhat obscured by the opening of the sugar refining season and a gain of about 2,000 workers in this activity during October.

All listed categories of construction showed employment losses in October as outdoor activity began to lessen in view of the colder weather. Mining and outdoor eating and drinking places also reflected diminished activity due to the prospect of winter.

Railroad employment, which usually is on the downtrend in the fall, rose 500 workers in October due to the settlement of a labor dispute which had idled 1,200 workers in September. The labor dispute was completely settled but seasonal layoffs during the month offset part of the return.

In comparison with a year ago the largest gains have been recorded in the following industries: manufacturing, (9,200), government (5,100), services (3,600) and trade (2,600).

Production workers in Minnesota's manufacturing industries earned an average of $103.22 per week in October, a gain of $1.69 per week from September. This gain which was a product of the 5 cent jump in hourly earnings resulted from increased overtime in the durable goods categories and the withdrawal of the lower paid temporary canning industry workers.

The manufacturing workweek, at 40.5 hours, remained virtually unchanged from the previous month.

BPW Club Hears Judge H. Kjos on Youth Problems

The Business and Professional Women's club, meeting for their regular 6:30 dinner on Tuesday evening at the Rex Cafe, heard an enlightening talk on the juvenile phase of the probate court's activities.

Presented to the group by president Mrs. Clarice Collins, Judge Herman Kjos, county judge of probate, told of the often-times heartbreaking role of the judge in sending juvenile offenders to a correctional institution. He stressed the need for a sympathetic approach to these juveniles' problems, and rehabilitation rather than punishment. He made a plea for more foster homes for juveniles. Orientation films were shown by Ruth Wilson, with commentary by Mrs. Collins.

Prospective members were introduced. They were Miss Betty Johnson and Mrs. Flora Allison.

Plans were made for the Christmas costume party to be held at the home of Mrs. Collins, and it was decided that money customarily spent for gifts to be exchanged among the members would be diverted to some charitable activity instead.

He Carries 5,000 Drugs . . . NOT 200

In most retail fields, the typical store carries only enough varieties of goods to satisfy most of his customers, most of the time. A pharmacy could do the same — by carrying only about 200 different prescription drugs. But today's pharmacist stocks more than 5,000 drugs, even the most obscure, so as to have on hand exactly what the doctor prescribes — for any customer, at any time. It costs the pharmacist a lot of money to maintain such a stock. But you pay only what your prescription is worth. That's why we say . . .

The Library Corner

by Virginia Gjernes

If there is anybody in this day and age who wouldn't like to find out "how to be happy when you're miserable" they are either a poet or already have a ticket for that first trip to the moon and are busy standing in line on the moonship ramp.

You poor souls who are not poetically inclined or are a wee bit short of cash for the ticket, may do well to visit the Carnegie Public Library, for there in the "I Hate to Housekeep Book" written by Peg Bracken, you'll find the answers to many of the problems of day-to-day living keenly, effortlessly and amusingly written down for you to read and laugh at and learn by.

The book, with pointers on everything from accident policies to zippers, makes housewifery less toiling and more tittering. Miss Bracken gives explicit instruction on how to "move it, clean it, shine it, brush it, wash it or hide it" so no matter which road your mop travels you are well, and properly, informed.

Those with memory bugs will chuckle aloud when you reach the "How to Remember and How to Remember to Remember" chapter. Unexpected guests pose unforseen problems to you engaged in housewifery but "1000 beans and meatball" will serve eight hungry mates, off-spring and, the unexpected; . . double it. . . there's plenty for sixteen of same or various, plus guests of the unexpected guests, according to Miss Bracken's typewriter.

So, if it is a laugh you be needin', try Peg Bracken's book.

Cornelia Otis Skinner, the favorite of so many, has another of her entertaining, as well as educating books on the library shelf. Her "Elegant Wits and Grand Horizontals" paints a vivid picture of the life of the upper crust of Parisian society in the gay '90's. Miss Skinner, as witty a writer as any who have ever held a pen, makes the reader almost unaware of the knowledge he is acquiring about the turn of the century Parisian life, until after the book is finished. Elegant entertainment.

"Genius" is the name of the newest printed word from the author of "Auntie Mame", only this tells the tale of a portion of the life of America's greatest director. . . Leander Starr. Patrick Dennis relates his encounters with the talented director Starr prior to a Mexico City reunion, where Dennis is slaving over the writing of a book. Eventually the director and the writer have a meeting of the minds and a story.

The "Genius" settles down to work. He proves his mettle and those around discover him for what he is. . . a brilliant, greatly gifted artist. Good writing, good story makes for a good book. . . put "Genius" on your list of "things to do."

to 1963 and that great day in the lives of the British. . . the day Elizabeth II was crowned. The Clagg family will leave you little breathless and filled with anguish over their sorrowful turn of events. Their seeming defeat is aided and abetted by small miracles, however, and the reader of the Paul Gallico novel will agree the day the Clagg family went to London to see the Queen. . . and almost didn't get to see her with the words of little Pudney Clagg — "Well, it has been quite a day".

"All the Tea in China" is another bright new volume on the shelves at the Carnegie Public Library. Katharine Topkin's first novel captures the imagination and holds it tight until the very last word. The book, which is about neither tea nor China, traces the story of a modern family through conflicts and tensions into tragedy. There is a marriage, a protective parental love and adolesence, with all the humor, the earthiness and the shocking emotions of human beings realistically accounted by a bright new authoress.

Teachers Invited to Apply for Posts with Army Abroad

Interviews to Be Held at 'U' M. in Minneapolis Beginning December 7

Educators who are interested in teaching positions overseas will have an opportunity soon to apply for jobs in Germany, France, Japan, Okinawa, and Korea. Representatives of the U. S. Army Dependents School Program will discuss appointments for the 1963-64 school year with interested teachers during interviews to be held at the University of Minnesota December 7 to 9.

The Army's Dependent School Program is designed to provide the 84,000 American boys and girls who are enrolled with the same educational opportunities as those offered in the better schools in the United States. The greatest number of vacancies will be for elementary teachers with experience teaching grades 1, 2 and 3. Courses of study parallel those of the public schools in the United States and standard approved textbooks are used in the classroom.

In addition to salary, rent-free living quarters (or the equivalent in quarters allowance) and round-trip transportation overseas are provided by the government. The tour of duty for the instructional staff is one school year.

The interviews will be held in Room 102, Burton Hall, at the Minneapolis campus of the University. The interview hours are 4 p. m. to 9 p. m. on Friday, December 7, and 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. on Saturday and Sunday, December 8 and 9.

Married women with dependents and married couples applying as a teaching team will not be considered.

Persons who are interested in these teaching positions are encouraged to make an advance appointment to facilitate the handling of applications. For further information, they should send a postal card immediately to District Engineer, U. S. Army Engineer District, St. Paul, 1217 U. S. Post Office and Custom House, St. Paul, Minn., ATTENTION: Miss McGinley.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the kitchen of

MRS. CURTISS NELSON

In a hurry? Company comin' down the road? You probably have all the makin's for this dessert right on the pantry shelf, so don't worry about what to give them with that coffee. This one is usually eaten warm; it goes right from the oven to the dessert plate, if desired.

It's a favorite of our housewife-of-the-day, Mrs. Curtiss Nelson, better known as Ben, and perhaps equally well-known as half of the Dale Allen Combo; in fact, she is probably the only grandmother in these parts who has an orchestra!

But more about Mrs. Nelson later. Let's get to this yummy dessert.

CHOCOLATE CAKE PUDDING

1 cup flour
¾ cup sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup milk
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup nuts (less, if preferred)
½ square of melted chocolate
1 teaspoon vanilla

....Sift together flour, sugar, salt and baking powder. Add milk, melted butter, chocolate, nuts, and vanilla. Mix well. Pour into well-greased, floured pan, 8x8 inches square.

Mix together:
1 cup brown sugar
4 tablespoons cocoa
¼ teaspoon salt

Sprinkle this mixture over the batter. Then pour over all of this 1¾ cups boiling water. Bake 45 minutes at 350 degrees.

The boiling water combines with the topping and forms a gooey pudding at the bottom of the pan. When serving, spoon this pudding over the pieces of cake. Top with whipped cream, if you want to be extra fancy.

Mention hobbies to Mrs. Nelson, and you get an immediate and enthusiastic response, "MUSIC!" We capitalized it on purpose, because of course, that is the number-one interest in that household. Mrs. Nelson plays the piano for parties, dinners, etc., and also plays the accordion. Their son, Dale, plays trumpet and drums, and their daughter, Janet, now with her husband and two sons in Yugoslavia, plays piano also. Mrs. Nelson came from a musical family; her father was a professional musician near Devil's Lake, N. D.

Our homemaker has other interests as well as music, however. She enjoys knitting, crocheting, reading and traveling . . . They have been indulging in the latter pursuit quite extensively of late. In fact, by the time you read this, they will be on their way to Arizona.

Betty Crocker Homemaker Tests Offered at LHS

Ninth Annual Contest To Seek Homemaker of Tomorrow in Nation

Girls at Lincoln senior high school will be among more than 110,000 others in 12,500 schools across the nation competing December 4 in the annual Betty Crocker search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow. The written test on homemaking skills will be the ninth annual sponsored by General Mills.

The 1963 All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow and three runners-up will be named in the spring at the culmination of an expense-paid educational tour of New York City, Washington, D. C., and Colonial Williamsburg for winners from the 50 states and the District of Columbia and their advisors.

Scholarships offered range from $1,500 for each state winner, and $500 for each state runner-up, to $5,000, $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000 respectively for top national winners. From the start the program has been on the approved list of national contests and activities of the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

In past years winners have come from every type of community—large, small, medium and rural and private, public and parochial schools. The test is the determining factor in selecting local and state winners. Personal observation and interviews are added factors in selecting national winners.

Use of Water on Christmas Trees Helps Avert Fire

After testing several products and chemicals designed to make Christmas trees fire resistant, research workers at the federal forest research center at Madison, Wisconsin have concluded that the best method is to render the tree as turgid (water filled) as possible.

Best method found was to saw off one-half inch or more of the bottom of the trunk and place the tree in a pail of water for two or three days before decorating it.

It was also found that it helped to spray the tree with water several times while it is soaking, since trees take in water through their leaves or needles and through the bark as well as through the roots and trunk.

Avoid Headaches; Do Your Christmas Card and Gift Mailing Now

"Right now is the time to start your Christmas cards and gifts on their way. The calendar says Christmas is less than a month away, but here in the post office it will be Christmas every day from now on," states R. J. Dryden, Thief River Falls postmaster.

The postmaster went on to say that by getting into action now, a lot of headaches can be avoided when the full Christmas rush begins. For example, don't take chances on mailing poorly wrapped packages. Use sturdy corrugated mailing cartons, heavy paper adhesive tape and strong cord. Cartons containing several gift packages should be fully stuffed with tissue or old newspaper to cushion the contents.

If you have articles of unusual size or bulk, better check with the post office before attempting to mail them — the limits on size and weight of packages vary, depending on where they are mailed. As an extra precaution, it's always a good idea to place an extra label carrying both your return address and the recipients address inside the carton or package.

Postmaster Dryden also suggests, "Be sure to send your Christmas cards by first class mail, using the attractive new 4-cent Christmas stamps. When sent first class, your cards are delivered quicker, and they'll be forwarded or returned, if it becomes necessary. Also, they may carry written messages along with your signature."

The postmaster says it's especially important to include your return address on every Christmas card envelope. Besides being socially correct, this is a big help to both you and your friends in keeping your mailing list up-to-date.

Before you mail your Christmas cards, secure free labels from the post office which read, "ALL FOR LOCAL DELIVERY" and "ALL FOR OUT OF TOWN DELIVERY" so that you can sort your cards into two bundles, with the addresses all facing one way, thus expediting delivery.

Through the fine cooperation of the public during recent years, Postmaster Dryden reports that great progress has been made in getting the Christmas mails through on time. He is making many advance preparations to handle the 1962 Christmas mail rush, with extra mail clerks, carriers and expanded facilities all around.

"Mail Early and Often" is the Postmasters special slogan for this year's "Mail Early for Christmas campaign. It looks like a record year for Christmas mail and that's why the postmaster will especially appreciate your help in getting started now on your Christmas mailings.

Christmas cards and gifts for most distant points should be mailed first, preferably well before December 10. Those for nearby points should be mailed by December 15 or at least a week before Christmas.

CHAMBER L.I.F.E.

Living-Industry-Farming-Education

By Rolly Larson

Manager Chamber of Commerce

The arbitrary transfer of lands by former Conservation Commissioner, George Selke, from land and minerals into game and fish has been a topic of never-ending conversation since it happened. Since the Chamber of Commerce did take a firm position on this issue in 1961 and since a hearing on the subject will be held at Newfolden on November 28, perhaps it would be well to reiterate for just a bit.

ADD CHAMBER LIFE ....

The Chamber of Commerce position was based on the fact that the action taken was arbitrary to the expressed policies of the Department of Conservation and against the best interests of this area and of the State of Minnesota.

The Chamber recommended that the land transfer action be rescinded. It also recommended that legislation be enacted that would grant County Boards the sole and exclusive right to classify and release for sale any tax-forfeited lands within their boundaries whether inside or outside of conservation areas.

The Chamber of Commerce still holds this position. It is not an "anti-wetland" position as some have called it. It is a reasonable position, a sensible one, and the position that should prevail if "right" prevails. Considerably more thought and considerably less bias exist in the Chamber's position on this subject than in the positions taken by some other groups.

One thing that must be recognized is that nobody is really against game and fish or sportsmen but many feel that this area is primarily agricultural and that it must be given first and primary consideration.

If the Department of Conservation sincerely wants the good faith of the people in this area it will be necessary to take a fresh and more reasonable approach to their problems. Arbitrary action and complete lack of consideration for the thoughts of many people in this area will never meet harmony in Northwest Minnesota. The sooner this is realized the sooner the problem will be solved and the sooner the Department will be able to proceed with plans that they have in mind for their Division of Game and Fish.

People could surprise themselves often to find out what can be accomplished through consideration and cooperation Here in the Heart of Northwest Minnesota, the Thief River Falls Area.

Moist Barley Is Good Steer Feed

Frederick Advises Use Along with Supplement

High-moisture barley, stored in a silo and put through a roller when brought out for feeding, seems to be an efficient feed for fattening steers.

In University of Minnesota research reported at the meeting of the American Society of Animal Science in Chicago that high moisture barley with a special protein supplement was the most efficient ration fed.

E. C. Frederick said steers receiving such a ration averaged 2.4 pounds gain per day in one trial and 2.60 in another. Feed requirements were 797 and 793 pounds per 100 pounds gain in the two trials.

By comparison, steers fed rolled dry barley with a supplement required 831 and 817 pounds feed per 100 pounds gain in two trials. Feed requirements were that high or higher for steers receiving rolled dry barley and hay or rolled high-moisture barley and hay.

The high-moisture barley was harvested at 30 per cent moisture and put in an air-tight silo. It was rolled when removed from the silo just before feeding.

HAPPY HOMEMAKING

by Laura Duerst

PENNINGTON COUNTY HOME AGENT

Now that Christmas is fast approaching, the homemakers will be holding an open lesson on Christmas Ideas Tuesday, November 27, at the city auditorium in Thief River Falls. Any person interested is welcome to come.

Broiler-fryers have been added to the traditional twosome of turkeys and cranberries as the featured items on the U. S. Department of Agriculture's list of plentiful foods for December.

Roast chicken for holiday meals will appeal to homemakers with small families because of the size of the bird and the low price.

Turkeys, too, will continue to be plentiful for holiday dinners and will be available in a variety of sizes. Prices per pound will be easy on the budget.

To go with the turkey or chicken for holiday meals, there will be plenty of high-quality fresh cranberries for sauce. This year's cranberry crop is now estimated at a record 1,398,000 barrels.

Oranges and canned tart red cherries are the other fruits that will be abundant in December. The Florida harvest of oranges is expected to be large. The total U. S. crop will probably surpass the high record of last year.

Grocers' shelves will be well stocked with canned tart red cherries, packed either in water or as a pie filling. If you buy canned cherries for a pie, remember that a 9-inch pie takes about 1½ number 303 cans. Two cans will give you the makings of a pie and tarts, too. Or, you can buy your cherry pies already made from the frozen food case. These, too, will be plentiful.

Congratulations to all the winners in the Make-it-Yourself-with-Wool contest that was held Saturday.

Public Opinion

Editor Times:

I have read the letter addressed to the Editor of the Times, written by Clarence V. Hanson of Goodridge, Minnesota, in the November 12th issue of your paper. The letter is in regard to a drowning incident which happened in Clearwater County.

With all respect to C. V. Hanson of Goodridge, I feel there is a misunderstanding about your Sheriff, Mr. Richards. Mr. Richards and I had talked about the drowning and I had informed him that I would call him as soon as the water level had lowered in the river. It was my intention to call Sheriff Richards the day Mr. Spehart's body was found. Sheriff Richards has offered his assistance on numerous occasions and I am sure he would have aided in the drowning incident if I had called him, as he had offered to help. I appreciate greatly the assistance given me by the people of that area.

Respectfully,
Melvin P. Brustad, Sheriff
Clearwater County, Minn.

IT SEEMS A LITTLE WIND IS NEEDED to fan the coals of what was once a hot news item and topic of concern in Pennington county. A project which was undertaken with a good deal of planning and foresight has apparently hit some sort of snag which has been an impediment to progress.

Reference is made to the reorganization of the Pennington County Fair which, according to plan, was to operate under a new organization in 1963. If this plan is to be realized, something a little more concrete better get started again in the near future.

With the sudden passing of Thanksgiving, we are dropped squarely in the lap of the Christmas holiday season and activity will be a constant rush from now until the observance of Christ's birth. Perhaps any definite action is being delayed until after the first of the year. If this is the case, there is little need for worry that nothing will be done.

If this is not the case, however, and either the old or new group is guilty of a little backsliding, this hesitant attitude must be corrected soon. A county fair is not something which just happens every summer. To operate as it should, it must be given a great deal of advance planning and preparation. To make it as good as Pennington county deserves, the present is not too early a time to be giving the situation a little serious consideration.

Sale of memberships during the past months has resulted in a fair amount of money being collected by the Pennington County Fair Association, Inc., and a substantial group of county-minded citizens purchasing membership. In good faith with these good people, let's get going on a full-scale reorganization and be assured of a top-notch fair in 1963. What's holding up the show?

DEEP IN THE HEART OF TAXES note: Thirty years ago Babe Ruth was paid $80,000 as a baseball player and had $68,535 left after taxes. To have the same amount of money left today, after care and feeding of Uncle Sam, a player would have to be paid $960,000.

Advocates of a tax cut without reducing expenditures state that such action would stimulate the economy to the extent that the difference would be made up in increased production. This sounds suspiciously like cutting one end off the end of a blanket and sewing it to the other end to make it longer.

The bridge party hostess motioned for silence as the patter of little feet was heard at the head of the stairs. "Listen," she said softly, "the children are going to deliver their goodnight message. It always does something to me inside when I hear them." A hush fell over the group and was interrupted when a clear, childish voice announced, "Mom, Willie found another bedbug."

"Give me one good reason why I can't sell you a new car today," queried the persistent salesman. "Well," the customer replied, "I'm still paying installments on the car I swapped for the car I traded in as part payment on the car I own now." (Sound familiar?)

The doctor assured an agitated caller that his wife could not be having an appendicitis attack. "I removed her appendix two years ago. No one ever has a second appendix," the doctor said. "Well," the voice said after an exasperated silence, "did you ever hear of anyone having a second wife?"

"You are worried and upset over your child," the psychiatrist told the youngster's mother. "Take one of these tranquilizers each day and I will see you both next month." The month passed and the mother returned with her boy. "How is Johnny getting along?" the psychiatrist asked. And the mother replied, "Who cares?"

A SAGE SORT OF CAGE SPORT

Basketball season is now in the air—
A fast-action sport with a spectator flair,
Proponents of which are most loathe to confess
It does not require the greatest finesse.

Now I played the sport on the big hardwood floor;
The object of playing, of course, was to score,
But ball control was a part of the game.
With modern techniques it is not quite the same,

The trend of the times is to light up the board
With emphasis placed on the total points scored.
The reason is clear and nobody should quibble—
Because, after all, any baby can dribble.

Yule Seal Group Asks Design for '65 Stamp

"It would be a feather in Minnesota's cap to have a local artist design the Christmas Seal to be used in the 1965 national campaign against tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases," said Josiah G. Neal, managing director of the Minnesota Tuberculosis and Health association. "We invite every artist in the state to enter the Christmas Seal Design Contest — and to compete for state and national prizes, too."

Many well-known artists have won awards for their Seal designs, but no Minnesotan ever won national recognition until 1960 when Fredie Salomonsen, St. Paul, received an honorable mention for his entry.

To get statewide participation, the Christmas Seal association has mailed informational material giving specifications for designing the Seal to artists in free-lance, commercial or professional work.

"State prizes amounting to $1,000 have been donated by business firms in the Twin Cities and surrounding community," said George L. Cobb, general manager of Brown & Bigelow, St. Paul, and state contest chairman. "First place winner will receive $500, and second place winner, $300. There will also be eight $25 prizes."

All entries, whether state winner or not, will be forwarded to the National Tuberculosis association, New York City, for national judging. The artist whose design is selected for the national 1965 Christmas Seal will receive $1,000 and have his career publicized by the tuberculosis associations.

Designs must reach the Minnesota Tuberculosis and Health association, 614 Portland Ave., St. Paul, by February 1, 1963. Further information may be obtained by writing to this address.

Roseau Girl Is Critically Hurt In Crash Sunday

Mary Peterson Suffers Multiple Injuries In Accident Near Fourtown

As a result of a one-car accident about 11 a.m. Sunday, a Roseau girl is in critical condition at Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls. She is Mary E. Peterson, 21, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Peterson of Roseau.

Minnesota highway patrol investigated the mishap and stated that Michael L. Doyle, 18, Minneapolis was the owner and driver of the 1953 model car in which Miss Peterson was a passenger. The car was traveling east on highway 89 about a mile west of Fourtown and apparently got off on the right shoulder of the road, went out of control, crossed the road and overturned in the left ditch.

Both persons were thrown from the car, with Miss Peterson receiving multiple fractures of the spine and ribs, internal injuries and facial and head lacerations. Doyle received a cut near the eyebrow and a minor concussion but is expected to be released from the hospital soon.

The car was totally demolished in the mishap which is under investigation by the highway patrol.

LEGAL NOTICE

Nov. 26-29-Dec. 3
NOTICE OF SPECIAL MEETING OF MEMBERS

A special meeting of members of Grygla Co-op. Creamery Ass'n, will be held at Mar-Del Hall on December 4, 1962, at 1:30 o'clock P.M.

The business to come before the meeting will be a resolution, which has been recommended to the membership by the Board of Directors, for an amendment to the By-Laws. The new By-Law will have the effect of a "consent" by the members to take into their incomes, for income-tax purposes, the full amount of patronage equities to be issued for tax years of the Association beginning in 1963, and thereafter, except patronage equities on account of items purchased for personal living or family expense, or as a capital asset. This will permit the Association to deduct the same from its income on its return, provided it pays 20 percent or more of such patronage equity in cash.

The text of the resolution conforms to the text contained in the United States Senate Report on the bill, which is as follows:

"RESOLVED, That a new Article be added to the By-Laws of this Association reading as follows:

"ARTICLE
Taxation of Patronage Distributions

"Each person who hereafter applies for and is accepted to membership in this cooperative and each member of this cooperative on the effective date of this by-law who continues as a member after such date shall, by such act alone, consent that the amount of any distributions with respect to his patronage occurring in any fiscal year beginning after December 31, 1962, which are made in written notices of allocation (as defined in 26 U.S.C. 1388, the Internal Revenue Code) and which are received by him from the cooperative, will be taken into account by him at their stated dollar amounts in the manner provided in 26 U.S.C. 1385 in the taxable year in which such written notices of allocation are received by him—it being the intent of this by-law to provide a consent binding on all members who retain or obtain membership in this association after the adoption of this by-law and receipt of a written notification and copy of this by-law, for the purpose of making such distributions 'qualified written notices of allocation' within the meaning of 26 U.S.C. 1388(c)."

Dated Nov. 20, 1962.

Our LAND

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture.

There is no more erosion and gullying on the Emmeth Swenson farm southwest of Waseca. Swenson has tripled his yield. His soil works better and he says his neighbors now are adopting the same practices he uses. A SCS cooperator, Swenson built grass waterways, and two miles of terraces. He limes the fields and does his farming on the contour. He told County Agent Cletus Murphy, "If I had to go back to farming as it was when I bought the farm; I would either quit or move to a more level farm."

"I use matches on my farm only to light my pipe," says a cooperator with the Kandiyohi County SWDC. He learned a lesson early in farming. He was showing his landlord a field after harvest. "I can't get my plow through all that straw so I guess I'll have to burn it off first," he said. The wise, old landlord told him to go ahead but to start looking for another farm. He took the landlord's hint, worked his crop residue into the soil and still farms the same place. Now he owns it.

Terrace systems need regular care and maintenance to remain effective, Roger Harris, University of Minnesota extension soil conservationist, says that tillage up and down the slope across terraces may damage them so much they may need rebuilding every other year. But terraced land tilled parallel to the terrace usually needs little maintenance. When it does it is likely to be repairs on terrace fills across gullies.

Snow provides crop protection as well as moisture for alfalfa fields, studies made in Canada show. Serious ground heaving occurs during periods when the ground is lightly covered or not covered with snow. There also can be damage during periods of alternate freezing and thawing of the soil, particularly when water accumulates near or on the surface.

"Terraces and diversions laid out by Ron Rogge, SCS Soil Conservation aid at Windom, are the best soil conserving practices on my farm," says Maurice Mitchell, of Westbrook. A cooperator with the Cottonwood County SCD, he said that these practices protect sloping cropland from runoff and erosion. When used with a sound crop rotation they build and maintain soil productivity.

Pay off from land clearing — Chipping as a method of land clearing rather than bulldozing seems to pay long-term dividends, according to Darrell Kelly, Annandale. Kelly cleared a second growth area on his farm by bulldozing half of it and chipping the other half. A soil test was taken from each area last spring. It showed 3.5 per cent organic matter from bulldozed field compared to 5.4 per cent from chipped field. Both fields were planted to corn and fertilized according to recommendations. "The chipped field yielded about 20 bushels more to the acre," Kelly said. He pointed out that extra nitrogen must be applied to the chipped area.

Planting 12 acres of corn on the contour in 1961 and having these strips hold all last summer's rains without erosion damage, sold Paul Lauderbaugh, Bemidji, on contour farming. The 1962 spring runoff and rains caused little erosion to this field while adjoining fields washed considerably. With help from Morris Blackburn, SCS work unit conservationist, Lauderbaugh plans to contour another 20 acres this year. "When I get my planned waterways and terraces constructed, I'll be able to hold all the soil on my land," he says.

Wildlife use my stock water pond almost as much as my horses and cattle, says Edward Haglund, Koochiching SCD cooperator. He has seen deer watering at his pond as well as many smaller wild animals. This year two mallard ducks nested near the water. Haglund's pit was planned and laid out by Merle Rundell, SCS technician at International Falls and financial help from ACP.

Keep Those Old Foil Pans!

Somewhere in your kitchen there's probably a cupboard full of old frozen dinner trays and aluminum foil pie plates—all too good to throw away—but seldom used for lack of inspiration. This list, compiled by Anaconda Aluminum Company, one of the country's leading manufacturers of aluminum foil products, should clean out your supply and put it to good use:

For Mother:
- Cut up and form into Christmas tree ornaments and bulb reflectors.
- Cat and dog dinner dishes.
- Container for soap and wet sponges.
- Christmas gift cookie packages.
- Frog for flower arrangements.
- Dish for cleaning jewelry and silver.
- Everyday ashtrays.
- Packing lunches (keeps sandwiches and pie intact).
- Container for poaching eggs.
- Steam iron pad.
- Catch-all under range burners.
- Pan to melt butter for cooking.

For Dad:
- Hang them on strings in the garden or garage to scare birds.
- Reflector shade for light over ping pong table.
- Drip pan under paint can.
- Pan to catch oil drained from lawn mowers.
- Flats for starting garden seedlings.
- Used razor blade collector.
- Water container for humidifying furnace air.
- Pan for cleaning paint brushes.

For Children:
- Party hats.
- Dart targets.
- Base for molded clay figures.
- Here's a cute one: teach a child to tell time by cutting out paper hands and anchoring them on a pin stuck through the center of a pan. Write the numbers around the edge.
- Crayon trays.
- Try this one: punch a small hole in the center of a small pan and push through the handle of an ice cream bar. Keeps the drips off the floor and children.
- Sand box toys.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans' benefits may be obtained by visiting or writing the VA Contact Office at the Fargo VA Center.

Q—May a widow who has previously been denied a claim for pension because her husband did not have a service-connected condition when he died, apply again under a new law?

A—Yes. The new pension law does not require that the veteran have a service-connected condition, but is based chiefly on the financial need of the applicant or her minor children.

Q How does a new law affect educational benefits for reserves called up for active service during the Berlin crisis?

A A reservist whose training or education under the Korean GI Bill was interrupted by the call up for active service will have his deadline for completing his education or training extended by a period of time equal to the length of his "callup" period of service.

Q—Are young people engaged in the VA's War Orphan Education program benefitted by provisions of a new law?

A—Yes. If they are forced to suspend their schooling or training because of financial reasons beyond their control, such as illness in their immediate family, or because the job at which they work requires their presence on the job at a certain season, their deadline date will be extended by the length of time they are thus kept out of training.

Honors for Region Eight

Region Eight football gained considerable prestige this past week when three of the region's high school players — Paul Klungness of the Prowlers, Paul Sannes of the Fertile Falcons, and Dennis Aguiar of the Bemidji Lumberjacks — were named to Ted Peterson's All-State squad.

Klungness, co-captain of this season's Prowler eleven, was named as a halfback on the offensive squad; Sannes, a co-captain of the Fertile team, was placed at end on the defensive unit; and Bemidji's Aguiar was placed at safety on the defensive unit.

And WCCO radio announced its All-State football team this past week, and Brian Connolly of Bemidji was placed at center on the offensive team, and Mahnomen's Mike Liebl was named to a backfield spot on the defensive unit.

The naming of Klungness to Ted Peterson's Minneapolis Tribune All-State football squad marks the fourth time that a Prowler has been given this honor. Wes Hovie, captain of the 1945 Prowlers, was selected as a backfielder on the All-State squad; Jack Erickson, co-captain of the 1951 team, was chosen to the All-State backfield that season; and in 1951, Loren (Sid) Vraa, a quarterback, was selected to the All-State squad.

Perhaps a recital of the other Prowler athletes who won All-State tournament honors would be in order. In basketball, John Chommie in 1932, Wendell Kielty in 1932, Roy Lee in 1938, and Loren (Bones) Stadum in 1938 and 1939, were named to the All-State tournament cage squads.

It is in hockey that the Prowlers have been most successful in placing players on the All-State tournament squads. In 1945, Bob Baker, Jimmy Doyle and Wes Hovie were All-State tournament choices; in 1951 and 1952, Jack Erickson gained All-State honors; in 1954, Marv Jorde, Jack Hoppe, Mike McMahon, and Joey Poole were named, and Poole repeated in 1955; in 1956, Jack Poole, Glen Carlson, and Duane Glass were chosen, in 1959, Dale Wennberg was picked to the All-Tournament squad; and in 1960, Archie Schneider was honored.

In baseball, only two Prowlers have gained All-State tournament honors and they were Glen Carlson, a first baseman, in 1955, and Gene Weckwerth, an outfielder, in 1959.

Could Be a Threat

Coach Howard Emerson's Plummer basketball team will open its 1962-63 season on Tuesday night when they meet the Gonvick cagers on the Plummer court.

The Cardinals, who won the sub-district title last season, could again be a threat to the district's "big" schools. The Cardinal athletes completed a successful football season, being undefeated in Tri-County conference play, and this impetus could carry over into the basketball season as the mainstays of the cage squad were star players on the football team.

After winning the sub-district basketball title last spring, and in accomplishing this feat the Cardinals had to defeat a highly-touted Oslo club, coach Emerson's squad entered the District 31 tourney at Grand Forks. The Cardinals with a below-par performance, dropped a three-point decision, 46 to 43, to the Crookston Pirates.

From the starters in that district tournament game, coach Emerson has Russ Vigstol, Dennis Wilkens, and Marv Walter as returnees for this season. It will be worth the short trip to Plummer to watch the Cardinals in their schedule-opener.

More Dramatic

If you thought that the final minutes of the Big Ten championship football game at Madison between Minnesota and Wisconsin were dramatic, and they were, you should have been listening to the final minute of Calgary Stampeders vs. Winnipeg Blue Bombers western Canada finals game at Winnipeg. The last play of the game found Winnipeg, trailing by a 7 to 6 score, attempting a field goal from the Calgary 17-yard line.

The field goal would have won the game for coach Bud Grant's Winnipeg club, but it was missed. But a kick into the end zone must be run out by the defending team, or kicked out, otherwise a point is tallied by the kicking team. The placekick went below the uprights, and the defending safety man, in an effort to preserve Calgary's one-point lead, attempted to kick the bounding ball into the playing field, but the ball glanced off his foot and into an onrushing Winnipeg player, who fell on the ball in the Calgary end zone for a touchdown and a 12 to 7 win for the Blue Bombers. An unbelievable finish.

On Saturday, Winnipeg will meet the Hamilton, Ont. Tigercats in Toronto, for the Canadian football title. The Blue Bombers are the defending champions.

'U' M. Occupying New Structures

Begin Move Tuesday to West Campus Buildings

A large-scale relocation of University of Minnesota departments will begin Tuesday as some 170 faculty members start moving into the new 14-story social sciences office tower on the West Bank Campus.

During the next three weeks nine social science departments will move into the office building.

All but one of the departments now is quartered in Ford Hall on the East Bank.

The Department of Sociology and the Family Study Center will be the first to move. Other departments will follow during the first two weeks in December.

Units to be relocated include the Department of International relations and Area Studies; the Public Administration Center; the School of Social Work and the Departments of History, Geography and Political Science.

The social science program in interdisciplinary programs will also move from its present offices in the Temporary North of Mines Building.

The social science tower is one of three structures on the West Bank built with a $6.5 million appropriation from the 1959 Legislature.

A four-story general-purpose classroom building opened Sept. 24. The 12-story School of Business Administration tower is scheduled for completion early next year.

Wildlife Calendar Is Available from State Federation

The Minnesota Conservation Federation's new 1963 official "Wildlife of America" calendar is now available, according to Keith Brodin, federation president. This educational wildlife conservation calendar features 12 authentic paintings and informative animal biographies by eminent artist-naturalist Roger Preuss.

Popular subjects featured in this colorful series include tarpon, sunfish, goose, bear, bass, deer, elk, quail, gray fox, wood duck, and wood chuck. The Fishing Guide and official "Game Cookbook" recipes also give valuable information.

Copies may be obtained by direct mail ($1.00 postpaid) from Minnesota Conservation Federation, 4313 Shady Oak Road, Hopkins, Minnesota. Net proceeds assist the federation's work of promoting wise use of our natural resources.

Golf Club Will Elect Officers

Election of officers, discussion of the past year's operation and plans for the 1963 season will be made when the annual meeting of the Thief River Golf Club is held Thursday at 5:30 p. m. at the clubhouse. Dinner will be served and all members are invited to attend. Present officers include Jarvis Prichard, president; Robert Flynn, vice president; and J. J. Womack, secretary.

December Bow & Arrow Deer Hunt on Thru Dec. 16

Hunting Is Permitted Only South of Line from Moorhead to Duluth

Minnesota will have a December bow hunting season for deer again this year, it was announced by the Minnesota conservation department. The season will extend from December 1 to December 16, both dates inclusive. The open zone is that area of the state lying south of Highways 10, 210 and 39 running from Moorhead on the west to Duluth on the east.

The harvest of deer during the December bow and arrow season is usually very light. For example during the 1961 December bow and arrow season only 111 deer were taken in the 70 county area which was open.

Game law enforcement authorities remind bow hunters that no person shall take more than one deer either by bow or firearms during any calendar year; the deer may be of any age or sex. No person shall have a firearm in his possession while hunting with a bow and the bow must have a pull of at least 40 pounds at full draw.

Upon killing a deer with bow and arrow, every person is required to submit the deer to inspection by a game warden within 24 hours. The warden will affix the proper tag. No person shall hunt or take deer within 500 feet of any building.

Deer may be hunted from sunrise to sunset each day of the 16 day December season.

Cite Growing Demand for Fireplace Wood

Wood fuel is staging a sort of a comeback in the Twin Cities.

While few would mourn the demise of the wood-burning stove, many are now buying cordwood for more aesthetic reasons — to keep the glow in the fireplaces. And the increasing number of new homes with fireplaces may mean an expanding market for oak and birch trees that are otherwise hard to sell.

University of Minnesota foresters Dennis Schweitzer and Richard Sok recently surveyed 16 fireplace wood retailers in the Twin Cities. These retailers included general fuel dealers, garden stores and landscaping services, construction and home maintenance firms, one grocery store, and some persons selling fireplace wood only.

Birch accounted for 49 per cent and oak for 43 per cent of the sales. The rest was maple (6 per cent), ash (2 per cent) and misc. sps. (less than 1 per cent). The most common sales unit was a third of a standard cord of mixed oak and birch in 16-inch lengths.

So far, there are few formal standards for fireplace wood. Usually, dry wood was purchased with the understanding that it had been seasoned 10 to 12 months.

Brokers and dealers, who neither harvest nor retail, supplied more than half of the Twin Cities retailers. Owner-producers — persons who owned the timber, harvested it, and sold directly to retailers — accounted for about a third of the volume.

Purchase costs to retailers of oak and birch ranged from $18 to $24 per standard cord for seasoned wood. Gross returns per cord were from $45 to 54 when sold in units of one-third of a standard cord. Maple, ash, and other minor species sold for the same or slightly less.

Gross margins to retailers ranged from 49 to 65 per cent of the sale price, with further allowance for seasoning, splitting, drying and transporting, where appropriate.

The majority of the wood came from counties in eastern Minnesota — Rice, Carver, Hennepin, Anoka, Sherburne, Isanti, Pine and Aitkin counties.

Misprinted Stamp Again Being Sold

Dag Hammarskjold Error on Sale in Washington

The sale of deliberately misprinted Dag Hammarsjold postage stamps has been resumed in Washington D. C. following an out-of-court settlement suit which halted the sale for several days.

The postoffice department said Tuesday that Leonard Sherman, an Irvington, N. J., collector who had 50 of the original accidentally misprinted stamps, had dropped his federal court suit.

Sale of the deliberate misprints began immediately with about 600,000 in stock.

Postal officials said that in exchange for withdrawal of the suit, Sherman had received a postal inspector's sworn statement that Sherman has 50 of the original Hammarsjold misprints. The idea is to maintain some part of the value of those particular stamps for collectors.

At least 400 of the 120 million four-cent stamps honoring the late secretary-general of the United Nations had been printed with an inverted yellow plate, leaving a white stripe down one side.

Sherman had valued his unbroken 50-stamp pane at about $500,000 on the stamp collecting market. But that was before the department announced it would print thousands of the inverts and sell them in an effort to deflate the value of the original misprints.

About 375,000 of the deliberate misprints had been sold in less than four hours December 16 when Sherman obtained a restraining order in Newark from the 3rd U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Civil Aeronautics Board Authorizes Suspension

The Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington Wednesday authorized North Central Airlines to suspend service at Regina, Sask.

The board said neither the Canadian city, nor the route between Regina and Minot, N. D., has met the minimum standards of traffic set by the CAB for qualification for scheduled air service.

The CAB said that when it granted the route, it estimated it would require an annual subsidy of $57,000. Instead, the board said the requirement is $83,000 a year. It added that for the year ended Sept. 30, North Central incurred a net loss over the route of $4,000; and that in the forthcoming year the net loss probably would be $14,000.

Lawyers Tell Ways to Protect Inventions

How can an inventor protect his new development? This problem arises each time that a basement mechanic or a research scientist arrives at the successful conclusion of his labors and finds that he has made a discovery in the practical fields covered by our patent laws.

Filing an application for a patent is the best manner in which to build a record of proof concerning an invention. However, it is often advisable to fully develop a product before filing, which might involve considerable delay. Preparation of the application itself also takes time, the Minnesota State Bar association explains. Since questions of priority may arise, the inventor must take early steps to insure that he can prove that he is the first inventor of his product.

A common belief is that an inventor can prove his date of invention by his own written description mailed to himself by registered mail. As legal proof, this form of evidence has no value. Just as a person cannot prove facts by self-serving letters or documents in other fields of law, so also he cannot prove the facts of a patent suit without the help of an outside party.

At the earliest possible time, the inventor should fully disclose his idea to a reliable person who would be a good witness at a later date. That person should sign a written description of the idea. All sketches and drawings should be dated immediately and witnessed. No notarization or formality is necessary. Original models should be preserved, plus receipts for parts or labor used in developing the idea to a practical state. Photographs should be dated and witnessed. In this manner an inventor can build a record of proof which will be available and admissible in a proceeding to determine priority of invention.

The inventor who has never revealed his invention to anyone other than himself has no proof of invention. One of the surest ways to jeopardize an invention is to keep it a secret.

"The greatness of human actions is proportioned to the inspiration that engenders them. Happy is he who bears within himself a God, an ideal of beauty, and who obeys it: ideal of art, ideal of science, ideal of country, ideal of the evangelical virtues. These are the living wells of great thoughts and great actions. All of them reflect light from the Infinite.

Hang on to Your Hats

Six former government officials, prominent leaders in Roosevelt's New Deal administration, were interviewed recently on the Chet Huntley program. Asked what, in their opinion, might be considered the top failure in that program, they agreed that it probably was the inability to solve the unemployment problem. It is interesting to know that such an admission came from such Democratic stalwarts as Jim Farley, Henry Wallace, Frances Perkins, Judge Samuel Roseman, Raymond Moley and Adolf Berle. The billions of borrowed dollars that were spent to provide jobs did not solve the unemployment problem and government relief was continued on a large scale until World War II created a labor shortage.

Now the Kennedy administration is proposing more of the same program that failed back in the 'thirties, and no one can say that the program was not given a fair trial.

Roosevelt took the lid off of government spending, and we haven't recovered from his folly yet. Now, if Kennedy has his way, we are going to get more of the same, in larger doses.

The one encouraging thing in this picture is that Congress has shown some restraint, and no doubt there will be strong opposition in the next Congress to fuzzy ideas. That opposition may be strong enough to hold the line. If not, hang on to your hats, 'cause that down-hill ride is going to gain momentum fast once the brakes are released. And the climb back is going to become more difficult as we drop to lower and lower levels.

A New Khruschev?

The unpredictable Khrushchev has told the Communist Party Central Committee they must study the capitalist system and use those parts of it which are good. He pointed to the "profit motive" in Capitalism as an incentive to greater production, and thought it might be helpful in stimulating the Russian people to greater effort.

There seems to be general agreement among competent observers that the Soviet government is confronted with serious internal problems, and that changes are in the making. Russia under Stalin was a police state, and murder was a common method of disposing of the opposition. In his campaign of de-Stalinization, Khrushchev moved to the right, away from dictatorship and in the direction of liberalism. The fact that now, under pressure again, he is moving still farther to the right, is interesting.

The top men in the Soviet government certainly are aware that the rest of Europe has made greater progress under Capitalism since the war than Russia has made under Communism. Recognition of this fact probably is in the background of Khrushchev's recommendation in favor of the capitalistic system. And the fact that he is expressing such views openly indicates that he has strong support among the leaders of the party for the new approach that he advocates.

Maybe Khrushchev and some of the top men in the Kremlin have learned what some of our top men in government have forgotten—if they ever knew. Mr. K of Moscow now recognizes the fact that the producer is the important fellow in a nation's economy, and the worker who produces most is the best citizen and contributes most to the raising of living standards. Our Mr. K, in Washington, thinks there is an easier way. We can spend ourselves rich. Just borrow and spend and prosperity will eventually catch up to us.

But, unfortunately, so will the creditors.

Aid to India

Military aid to India should have top priority of all our foreign aid commitments, not because India deserves the help particularly but rather because, by strengthening India, we strengthen the free world in that part of the world in which our position has been most vulnerable.

Prime Minister Nehru undoubtedly is a man of peace. He has relied upon his own integrity and good intentions as adequate protection for his sprawling, disunited nation. He has relied upon strict neutrality as a means of maintaining the friendship of all nations in a world of cold wars that threaten constantly to become hot wars.

Nehru, the kindly dreamer, has not been realistic. Some close observers doubt that even now he is ready to join wholeheartedly with those who are giving him assistance, the nations of the free world. But whether or not we will gain his support by giving our support to his country, the assistance is justified not because it helps India but rather because it strengthens our own defenses.

Under the circumstances it should be possible to convince the Indian authorities that the assistance we give them to build military strength, that military strength must be available for the defense of all of southeastern Asia. A strong India should relieve us of at least some of the responsibility we have assumed in the defense of India's neighbors. That, surely, would not be an unreasonable requirement.

The fact that the Red Chinese have moved their invasion forces back, and have indicated a willingness to explore the possibilities of settling their differences peacefully, indicates that they are not prepared for a war that might be both long and costly. That is encouraging. And if this attack does have the good effect of convincing Nehru that he must favor his friends and assume his share of the responsibility for maintaining the defenses of the free world, then maybe the little sample of war along the Chinese-Indian border will have served a very useful purpose.

Three Recommendations

County commissioners of the state, meeting in St. Paul this week, will consider three recommendations having to do with the acquisition of lands by state and federal agencies for parks, recreation, wildernesses, and wetlands or wildlife habitat. The recommendations favor a requirement that all such acquisitions must have the approval of local authorities and that local units of government must be compensated adequately in lieu of taxes.

Here is the nub of the argument over land acquisition for such purposes in this corner of the state. State and federal agencies have acquired vast areas that lie largely neglected. In eastern Marshall county, for instance, most of the publicly owned lands are a handicap to the area. Such public ownership has retarded the progress of the agricultural region in which the lands are located. Because these lands contribute little toward the cost of maintaining roads and schools and other public services, this public ownership imposes an undue burden on those owners of lands who must pay taxes and assessments.

The three recommendations that will be considered by the commissioners deserve statewide support and approval. They provide:

"1—That federal and state programs for the acquisition of parks, recreation, wilderness and wetlands or wildlife habitat areas include provisions for adequate and proper payments in lieu of taxes to insure that local government in the area will have resources sufficient to provide necessary services and to satisfy existing financial obligations.

"2—In order for local areas to benefit from hunter and tourist spending, federal and state "no hunting" restrictions be imposed on wetland and wildlife areas only when absolutely essential to the purpose of the wildlife sanctuary involved.

"3—That provisions be made in all future wetlands, wildlife or wilderness acquisition programs at both the state and federal level that counties, thru their county boards, be given a formal opportunity to submit to the congress, the legislature or other appropriate body their independent views on the creation or acquisition of any new areas.

"The association is also opposed to the power of eminent domain if the acquisition is opposed by local government officials."

Making of a Delinquent

(Police Department, Houston, Texas)

1. Begin with infancy to give the child everything he wants. In this way he will grow up believing the world owes him a living.

2. When he picks up "bad" or "dirty" words, laugh at him. That will make him think he is "cute." He will run off and pick up some other words that will blow the top off your head.

3. Never give him any spiritual training until he is twenty-one, and then let him decide for himself. By the same logic, never teach him the English language. Maybe when he is old enough he will want to speak Bantu instead!

4. Praise him in his presence to all the neighbors, show how much smarter he is than the neighbors' children.

5. Avoid the use of the word "wrong." It may develop in the child a "guilt complex." This will prepare him to believe that when he is punished later on for wrong-doing, society is "against him" and he is being "persecuted."

6. Pick up everything after him: his shoes, his books, his clothes. Do everything for him so that he will be experienced in throwing burdens on others.

7. Let him read anything he wants. Have no concern whatever for what goes into his mind. Provide him with sterilized cups for his lips, but let his brain drink out of dirty containers for words and ideas.

8. Quarrel frequently in the presence of your children. In this way they will be prepared for broken homes later on.

9. Give him all the spending money he wants; never let him earn his own.

10. Satisfy every craving of the child for food, drinks and everything that has to do with the sense of taste and touch, gratifying every sensual desire.

11. Take his part against police, teachers and neighbors. They are all "prejudiced" against your child.

12. When he gets into real trouble, always defend yourself and say, "I never could do anything with him."

Interesting Opinions

"Every action and every thought of ours makes an impression on the mind. This impression may be slight at first; but, if the same action or thought is repeated, it will deepen into a kind of groove, down which our future behavior will tend to run.

How Long Will Recount Take?

This is the question I hear more than any other these days—"How long will the recount take?" It has been assumed that a recount is inevitable. Maybe you would be interested in the mechanics of a recount.

First of all, when the election judges of a precinct or voting district complete their work and fill out their report, it goes to the county auditor. He assembles all the reports from his county, reviews them with the county canvassing board (county auditor, clerk of district court, two members of county board, and mayor of largest municipality in the county). If four-fifths of the county canvassing board desire to check on the vote in any precinct, where an error appears to have been made, they can do so. A county report is made up on all election results affecting more than the local county and are sent to the Secretary of State in St. Paul for the attention of the state canvassing board. The state canvassing board consists of two district judges, two supreme court justices and the Secretary of State

Results from all the counties are tabulated and the canvassing board declares the winner of each race. If no one objects to the announced result within ten days, a certificate of election is issued, and when the candidate subscribes to the oath of office at the proper time, he then qualifies and takes office.

Within the ten days, however, anyone objecting to the announced result of the election can file a written notice of contest with the clerk of the district court in the county where the announced winner resides. If the contest involves a recount, each party names one "inspector" and these two select a third to make a team to do recounting. There can be many teams. In a gubernatorial recount there could be at least one for each county. The teams not only count, but examine the ballots to see if any were counted that should not have been, or any discarded that should have been counted.

If the team cannot agree on a particular ballot, it is set aside and goes to the district judge for his decision. When the district judge has decided on any ballots submitted to him and all counting is concluded, there is still the possibility of appeal of disputed matters to the Supreme Court. Eventually the legal procedures would be concluded, a winner certified and a governor inaugurated. Until the legal procedure is completed, a certificate of election cannot be issued.

It is clear, I am sure, that this procedure can be time-consuming—and it may not be completed by January 7th, the date of inauguration. What happens then? Section 3 of Article V of the Constitution reads: "The term of office for the Governor and Lieutenant Governor shall be four years and until their successors are chosen and qualified."

This makes clear that the Governor continues serving until the matter is resolved.

You can be sure that state government will continue to function and there will be no period of standing still or making time. It is a situation not equalled before in Minnesota history but one that will be settled in due course.

It happened 100 YEARS ago

The oldest incorporated trade association in the country, the United States Brewers Association, was organized in 1862—the same year that

IN MINNESOTA, the St. Paul and Pacific, the first railroad to move a wheel in the state, began regular passenger service on July 2. Proud Minnesotans toasted the new railroad with foaming steins of beer.

For then as now, beer was the traditional beverage of moderation. But beer means more than enjoyment to our state. The Brewing industry contributes more than 4 million tax dollars to Minnesota each year, money that helps support our parks, hospitals and schools.

TODAY, in its centennial year, the United States Brewers Association still works constantly to assure maintenance of high standards of quality and propriety wherever beer and ale are served.

Long-Range Proposal Reviewed

Conservation Dep't Gives Plans at Newfolden Wed.

Eastern Marshall county was well represented at a meeting held at Newfolden Wednesday night to hear the preliminary report on a study that had been conducted by the Department of Conservation on land use and the classification of state lands for management.

The Newfolden school gymnasium was filled to capacity by interested people, many of whom came to express opposition to the proposed program which would increase the area managed by the Division of Game and Fish for wildlife propagation and decrease the acreage of lands that would be available for agricultural expansion. Richard Knox, Deputy Commissioner, presided.

Most controversial of the issues involved in the report had to do with the Elm Lake and Ekvoll Wildlife management areas where the department had promised to transfer back to Land and Minerals some 8,000 acres that had been transferred to the Division of Game and Fish. These controversial lands had been previously recognized as suitable for agriculture and it was promised they would be made available for purchase for farm purposes.

The report ignored the promises that had been made and recommended that 900 additional acres of privately owned farm land in the areas be acquired for wildlife purposes. A summary of the report will be published in a later edition of the Times.

Organized Opposition

The "well-organized" opposition was directed by Warren Saetre of Warren, county attorney of Marshall county. In a preliminary statement he explained the position of the opposition in general terms, expressing the hope that in the final determination of the problem due recognition would be given to the interests of agriculture as basic in the economy of the area. He called on W. E. Dahlquist of Thief River Falls to review the background of the issues that are prominent in the present controversy.

Resolutions adopted by farm and civic organizations were presented by Senator Roy Wiseth of Goodridge and city attorney Robert Wurst read the resolutions that had been adopted by the city council of Thief River Falls.

Statistics Presented

Salvation Army To Reopen Store During December

Because of the demand for services being placed on the local Salvation Army unit by the public, Envoy Carl Paulson has made arrangements to reopen a Salvation Army store early in December. The site will be changed from the former Central Lumber company building to the former Sustad Second Hand store at 319 LaBree av. N.

Exact date of the store opening is not possible to determine, Envoy Paulson said, since the Christmas preparations of the unit create a heavy work load for the local organization. The Salvation Army in Thief River Falls serves Pennington, Roseau, Kittson and Marshall counties.

"I have had telephone calls, people stopping me on the street, people coming to the church—all asking when we are going to open the store again," Envoy Paulson said. The demand locally and from other counties has made the reoping of the store necessary.

Christmas activity of the unit is now getting underway with the annual Christmas kettle fund collection to start this weekend. It is expected that between 90 and 100 Christmas baskets will be distributed to needy families in the four-county area on the weekend before Christmas.

About 30 boxes of clothing were received by the unit on Tuesday but more can still be used, Envoy Paulson said. Winter clothing for both children and adults will be needed in the months ahead — either for sale at a niminal price in the store or for direct donation to families who cannot afford clothing purchases.

It is not known at this time whether or not the finger can be saved.

Arrangements have been made with the Neal Fox Studio to have pictures taken of any children whose parents wish photos of their youngsters in Santa's lap.

Christmas lighting is now complete with city streets filled with colored light festooning. Erection of the Jaycees nativity scene on the post office lawn will also take place this weekend to further herald the Christmas season.

Supreme Court to Decide Shortly on Governor Race

The Minnesota Supreme Court Wednesday took under advisement legal questions which will determine who was elected governor in the Nov. 6 election.

In the nearly two-hour hearing at the Capitol, five members of the high court listened to arguments on the muddled question of amended county canvasses.

Nearly 50 Attend Dinner of 'U' of M. Alumni Wednesday

Hear Discussion by Prof. Gerhard Neubeck of 'U' Family Life Department

Nearly 50 persons attended the annual dinner of the Thief River Falls unit of the University of Minnesota Alumni association, held Wednesday evening in the Elks club rooms.

Guest speaker, who was introduced by Supt. Marshall Hankerson of the local schools, was Professor Gerhard Neubeck, head of the family studies division of the university, who discussed the topic, "The American Family in a Troubled World".

Mr. Neubeck said a basic need in the family relationship is to have someone to lean upon, and that numerous men are leaners. He stated that rising employment of women has tended to give them more authority.

As important factors in building a proper family relationship, he cited companionship, sympathetic understanding, common interests and mutual respect. He stated that, proportionately, there is no more juvenile delinquency today than in former years, and he closed his address on the optimistic note that he doesn't believe the American family is going down hill. A question and answer period followed.

The program opened with the invocation by Gene Beito, and group singing accompanied by Bryant Ulseth.

Spud Growers Ask to Abolish Market Order

Red Lake Pennington Join Trend as Valley Growers Vote in Poll

Red Lake-Pennington potato growers followed the trend in the Red River Valley which resulted in a request for abolishing Federal Marketing Order 38 in a poll taken last week. Total vote was 657 to 546 in favor of abolishing the order approved in 1957. Red Lake-Pennington favored abolishment of the order by a seven to three vote.

As a result of the vote, the Red River Valley potato committee has requested the Secretary of Agriculture to abolish the order. In further action, the committee also requested the Secretary of Agriculture to terminate, as of Dec. 1, 1962, all regulations in effect under the order. This has the effect of suspending operation under the marketing order until the Secretary has officially acted on abolishing it.

Terminating regulations under the federal marketing order leaves the Valley potato industry with compulsory inspection and a regulation prohibiting the shipment of potatoes of less than U. S. No. 2 grade under a state marketing act covering the North Dakota and Minnesota Valley counties. The compulsory inspection and regulation were voted in by Valley growers in 1953 and 1954.

The vote by counties on continuing or abolishing Marketing Order 38 was as follows:

Slayer of Police Officer to Be Arraigned Monday

Trial of Paul Wangberg, Thief River Falls youth charged with second degree murder in the fatal shooting of Police Sgt. Donald Myers on February 17, may be held at district court in Warren on December 10, it was revealed this week by defense and prosecuting attorneys. Hon. Lyman A. Brink will preside.

An arraignment in the case had been set for 10 a. m. Monday in Warren but may be delayed because Warren Saetre, Marshall county attorney and prosecutor in the case, will be in district court at Crookston. At the arraignment the county attorney will read information on the case and the defendant will be given the opportunity to make his plea.

The law firm of Chommie and Charlson in Thief River Falls is defending Wangberg in the cases resulting from the incident last February when Sgt. Myers was killed and Wangberg wounded in an exchange of gunfire following a chase which led into eastern Marshall county. Wangberg has been confined in the St. Peter state hospital since release from the local hospital after the shooting.

School Board Reviews Building Alternative

Architect Estimates Proposal Would Cost District $2,106,000

School board members and interested citizens took a close look at an alternative proposal for the district's building problems at a special session held Wednesday evening in the school cafeteria. Richard Hammel, architect contracted by the district, was present at the session to review the proposal, present cost estimates and answer questions in regard to the plan.

Requested by the board of education at a previous meeting, following presentation of the possible alternative by member Howard Hoel, information was given on building a new area vocational-technical school, new elementary school and remodeling the present high school and vocational building with additions to house the junior and senior high school students.

Hammel stated that he had prepared, on the basis of data furnished by junior and senior high school principals, an outline of spaces which would be required to accomodate an educational program in Thief River Falls. The plan was based on an average of 30 pupils per classroom, a six-period day plus noon hour and enrollments of approximately 840 in junior high school and 650 in senior high school.

A diagram of the present school structure was also prepared by the architect, illustrating the usable area of the present plant. An analysis of the estimated cost of the plan was included.

Cost Excessive

"In addition to the fact that the cost of Proposal B is excessive, it exhibits certain deficiencies of which the board should not be unaware," Hammel stated in his report. He noted that "an addition to the present plant will further crowd a site which is already too small and an addition to the present plant must be made to the west and will box-in the portion of the existing plant — Lincoln — most exposed to the hazards of fire."

Hammel's total cost estimate was $2,106,000 which included $1,166,000 for expanding and remodeling the present plant, $465,000 for building the new vocational school which would replace the present area and rental facilities, and $475,000 for building a new elementary school which would include a multi-purpose room, kitchen, library, heating plant and the same number of classrooms (10) as originally proposed.

"Bear in mind that this cost would give you a considerably improved high school situation, provide a new area vocational-technical school and a much-needed elementary building," the architect said. "It is, however, beyond the limit for which the district can legally bond."

There are parts of the proposal which can be challenged, he added, and estimated that the total cost estimate could be reduced by as much as $500,000 by eliminating parts of the proposal. This would

$100,000 for Construction

Valley Home Gets Loan Installment

Valley Home Society has received the first installment on its $390,000 loan from the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency for construction of a home for the aged in Thief River Falls. Construction on the new facility is progressing on schedule and it is expected that the work will be completed and ready for occupancy by the deadline date of June 1, 1963.

First installment received on the loan totaled $100,000 and has been used to pay the contractor working on the new building. Partial repayment of an interim loan of $85,000 needed to meet construction costs until the federal money was received was also made with the federal loan.

"We hope that the receipt of this money will not lead people to believe that their local pledges need not be fulfilled," stated Waldie Christensen, chairman of the Valley Home Society board of directors. "We would appreciate all pledges being paid as soon as possible so that we can proceed with furnishing of rooms and make other necessary expenditures under our agreement with the government."

Applications for quarters in the new home are now being received and it is believed that the facility will be in operation by July 1. The federal loan is payable in 50 years with repayment on principal to start two years after the home begins operation. Application to the government will now be made for further loan payments based on 30-day estimates of finances needed for construction.

City Council To Ask Federal Aid for Gas Project

Thief River Falls city council Wednesday evening adopted a resolution to submit to the federal government a proposal for cost-sharing on a municipal natural gas system for the city. Passed by a 6-1 majority with alderman Donald M. Olson objecting, the resolution requests assistance under the Accelerated Public Works program in the $1,102,000 project.

The natural gas proposal is second on the city's priority list and the apprvoal of the resolution now makes it possible to submit four proposals to federal authorities when legal work has been completed. First priority was given to street improvement, water and sewer projects, second to municipal gas, third to a multi-county jail and fourth to a library addition.

Budget requests from departments were reviewed in preparation for setting the city's budget for the coming year. Discussion was also held on the hiring of a city accountant but action was deferred until a later date.

In Marshall-Beltrami SCD . . .

Torgrimson Is Conservation Farmer

Gust Torgrimson, who farms north of Goodridge in Moylan township, was selected as "Conservation Farmer of the Year" by the board of supervisors of the Marshall-Beltrami Soil Conservation district. He will receive a plaque award from the Minneapolis Star-Tribune and special recognition at the district's annual meeting in January.

Selection was made from a list of nine possible winners which was narrowed to three contestants for the annual award. Comprising the board of supervisors who made the choice from cooperators in the district were Oliver Howland, Peter Aune, Anton Anderson, Lyndon Magnuson and Ole Prestebak.

Torgrimson was born and reared on the farm he now operates, taking over ownership from his father in 1936. The farm was homesteaded by Gust's father in the 1890's. Since 1936 Torgrimson has increased the size of the unit from 160 to 1,320 acres with considerable acreage being cleared of brush and an extensive pasture improvement program being carried out in his farming program.

Currently having a herd of about 65 Hereford cattle, Torgrimson feeds out his calf crop as finished cattle and purchases some feeder animals each year. Pasture renovation is carried out by clearing the land and seeding down to a legume mixture with either oats or rye as a cover crop. Field ditching totals 6.5 miles on the farm and fertilizer used is based on soil test.

Torgrimson carries on a legume and grain crop rotation plan. "On newly cleared land I prefer a program of taking one grain crop off the land, which is seeded down the first year with a grass seed," he states. "The land is then left in a grass crop for several years before being grain cropped again. A considerable acreage is seeded this way each year."

Mr. and Mrs. Torgrimson have one daughter, Mrs. George Munyer of Grand Forks, N. D.

Dr. J. L. Erickson Says Vows With Susan Mills

Miss Susan Mills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Mills of this city, exchanged vows with Dr. James L. Erickson, also of Thief River Falls, at an evening wedding on Saturday, November 10 at Trinity Lutheran church. Rev. Reuben Wangberg read the single-ring ceremony in the presence of 125 guests. Beige, yellow, and rust-colored mums decorated the altar.

Wedding music was provided by Mrs. Walter Larson at the organ. She also accompanied Bryant Ulseth, soloist, in his rendition of "The Song of Ruth."

Dr. Erickson is the son of Verne Erickson and the late Mrs. Erickson of Minneapolis.

Miss Mills chose a sleeveless dress of beige linen detailed with an overskirt of heavy lace, and featuring a scoop neckline. She carried an arm bouquet of beige, rust and yellow mums, and wore beige mums fashioned as a crown.

She was attended by Sally Snyder of this city as maid of honor. Miss Snyder also wore a beige dress and carried a smaller bouquet similar to that of the bride.

William Marciniak Jr. Weds Cecile Prudhomme

In a recent wedding at St. Peter's Catholic Church in Gentilly, Miss Cecile Prudhomme of Crookston became the bride of William Marciniak of Thief River Falls, with Msgr. Victor Cardin officiating at the double ring ceremony. The church choir provided nuptial music.

Miss Prudhomme is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Prudhomme of Crookston; the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Marciniak Sr. of this city.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace with a fitted bodice and a sweetheart neckline accented with baby pearls and iridescent sequins. The gown featured long, pointed sleeves, and a full skirt of matching lace and tulle tiers over taffeta and net. A pearl crown secured her lace-trimmed shoulder-length veil. She carried a cascade arrangement of roses surrounding a corsage. Her single-strand pearl necklace and earring set was a gift from the groom.

Judy Holte and Richard Miller Are Wed at Grygla

Marriage vows were exchanged on November 3 by Miss Judy Holte of Grygla, and Richard Miller of Goodridge, at Grace Lutheran church of Grygla, with Rev. Julian Erickson performing the double-ring ceremony before an altar decorated with matching baskets of autumn flowers. Tapers were lighted by Steven Holte and Morrie Miller, brothers of the bride and groom, respectively.

Mrs. Walter Jelle presided at the organ for the rendition of traditional nuptial music and accompanied vocalist Miss Charlene Nordby as she sang, "O, Perfect Love," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, whose father gave her in marriage, was attired in a floor-length gown of white gardenia nylon organza over taffeta. Detailed with a chapel train, it featured a Bertha collar of re-embroidered Alencon lace, long sleeves terminating in a point over the wrists, and a bouffant skirt trimmed with appliques of re-embroidered Alencon lace. Her fingertip veil was of nylon net, attached to a crown of rhinestones and pearls, and her jewelry was a cultural pearl necklace. The bridal bouquet was fashioned of a single orchid surrounded by white carnations and streamers.

Maid of honor was Miss Jane Holte, a sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Leon Iverson, the groom's sister, and Miss Bonnie Brattell, cousin of the bride. They wore dresses of gold satin brocade with matching headbands and shoes. Each carried a cascade bouquet fashioned of a large gold mum arranged with autumn flowers. Their pearl necklaces and earrings were their gifts from the bride.

Little LeeAnn Holte, sister of the bride, was flower girl. Dressed in a dress of gold color and wearing a matching headband, she carried a small lace basket of autumn flowers. Billy Legg, a cousin of the bride, carried the rings on a satin pillow.

Best man was Leon Iverson, brother-in-law of the groom. Serving as groomsmen were Galen Dahlen and Paul Holte, the bride's brother. Seating of guests was carried out by Roger and Dennis Holte. All the men in the party wore dark suits with white carnation boutonnieres, and black bow ties.

Mrs. Holte was in a green sheath dress. She wore a matching hat and black accessories. The groom's mother wore a blue sheath dress and hat, accessorized with black. Both wore corsages of miniature yellow roses and white carnations. The grandmother of the groom also wore a corsage.

Following the wedding, the couple were honored at a reception in the church parlors, with approximately 250 guests attending. Esther Circle of the church served.

Centering the bridal table was a five-tier decorated cake topped with gold bells and a large white rose. It was cut and served by Mrs. Luther Anderson and Mrs. Sam Brattell. Mrs. Stanton Spicer and Mrs. Harry Hanson poured. All were aunts of the bride. Linda Holte, sister of the bride, was at the guest book. At the gift table were Mrs. LeRoy Johnson, Miss Antoinette Vicari, Miss Ginny Finstad, and Miss Marcia Vigen.

Guests presented at the reception were from Lakota and Grand Forks, N. D.; Minneapolis, Grand Rapids, Bemidji, Beltrami, Nielsville, Karlstad and Thief River Falls.

After visiting points in North and South Dakota, Canada, and Minneapolis for their wedding trip, for which the bride chose a sheath of blue velvet with black accessories, the couple are now at home at 414½ Beltrami Ave., Bemidji.

County Officials Back from Commissioners Conclave in St. Paul

The annual meeting of the State Association of County Commissioners was held at the Lowry Hotel, St. Paul, November 25-27. "Building the State-County Partnership" was the theme of the 53rd annual meeting of the association which represents the county boards of all 87 Minnesota counties.

Representing Pennington county at the sessions were Don L. Olson, Merle Lindberg, Woodrow Almquist and Glenn Tasa, members of the county board; Auditor C. W. Rodekuhr; and Joseph Seidel, engineer.

Don Olson was reelected to the state board of directors from District 3, comprising eight counties in Northwestern Minnesota, while Glenn Tasa reported for the highway committee, of which he is chairman.

Elected president of the association was Russell Peterson of Chisago county, with Chester Martin of Beltrami county as vice president, and Leo Gambrini of St. Cloud, Stearns county, as secretary-treasurer.

A major portion of the meeting was given over to consideration of legislative recommendations and policy matters of concern to counties in the areas of highways, welfare, conservation, drainage, retirement programs for county employees and recommendations for changes in tax sources and tax administration. State department heads for public welfare, conservation, taxation, civil defense and highways appeared on the program to discuss current activities and problems of their departments which affect counties.

Policy on legislative matters pertaining to counties was determined at the meeting. Policy proposals and legislative recommendations prepared by association committees and approved by the membership will be compiled into the association's Policy Statement and recommendations which will be distributed to county commissioners, legislators, the governor and other state officials. These recommendations are used as the basis for association staff testimony at legislative hearings and committee meetings.

Land Use Review Given for East Marshall County

northwestern Beltrami counties, pointing up the facilities that have been provided in the area, including schools and churches, and the investments involved in such services as roads, electricity and telephones, proving quite conclusively that the area is not an uninhibited wilderness. He also displayed a map of the area showing that taxes were being paid on a large proportion of the lands not held by the state and that it was these taxes that maintained the services.

Representative Richard Fitzsimons of Argyle reported on the condition of the drainage system in the highly controversial Eckvoll and Elm Lake management areas, where the report recommends expansion of the Game & Fish division holding. He pointed out that in these areas alone a total of $467,486 has been spent in the last 10 years for the maintenance and improvement of the drainage system, and paid for by the land owners.

Other Comments

Among others who expressed opposition to the proposed program were Andrew Korgen, county commissioner from the Newfolden district, who stressed the fact that the distress in Marshall county during the 'twenties, a decade of bank failures thuout Minnesota, was due to general rather than to local conditions. Gunsten Skomedal was sure all of the farm lands in the area held by the state would be sold if offered for sale, and add substantially to the tax returns of the area and the county.

The final report, according to Knox, will be published within a few months and will represent the long range policy of the Conservation Department in the disposal, development, management and use of state-owned lands in the county.

School Board Has Review of 2nd Building Plan

reduce the cost nearly to the previous proposal twice defeated by the voters but would provide "a building situation which you and the people of Thief River Falls would not be happy with", Hammel said.

Program Discussed

Considerable discussion was held on the school program and classroom scheduling with the comment being made by the administration that there is a distinct possibility that the junior high school music program could be curtailed next year due to the need to use this space for required classroom subjects. Music programs are conducted during the noon hour at the present time, but more classes must be taught at that time next year due to increased enrollment expected.

It was also noted that a letter has been received from the state board of education stating that high school vocational home economics facilities would not be approved after, the 1963-64 school year unless extensive remodeling and improvement was accomplished.

Morris Owen requested the architect to make a cost estimate on construction of a junior high school alone and a separate estimate of cost on a junior high school and 6-room elementary school for presentation at the regular meeting of the board on December 10. Hammel agreed to provide these figures so that all proposals could be compared.

Rufus Olson, district treasurer, reported that $100,000 in school funds received from the state but not immediately needed by the district had been invested in a short-term certificate of deposit and would earn $500 in interest for the district. County funds to be received soon would be similarly invested.

Permission was also given by the board for the Salvation Army to place boxes in the schools so that students wishing to do so could bring canned goods for use in the Salvation Army Christmas program.

Rev. Collver To Tell Experience of Plane Crash

Rev. H. Ray Collver, recently installed as pastor of the Assemblies of God congregation in Thief River Falls, will tell of his experience as pilot of an RCAF heavy bomber which crashed from 19,000 feet at a service to be held Sunday, December 2, at 7:45 p. m. at the Tabernacle located at 315 Duluth av. N.

Rev. Collver terms his experience "a truly miraculous deliverance". His plane crashed to earth and exploded while he was at the controls and he escaped when others aboard were killed.

The story, which has been told to large audiences across Canada and in many states, will be told in detail at the service. Rev. Collver spoke here in 1961 but the story is being repeated at this time by special request. The public is invited to attend the service.

Sandra L. Jensen Chimes at St. John Dedicated Dec. 2d

Memorial to Victim of Tragic Traffic Mishap to Be Dedicated Sunday

The Sandra Lea Jensen memorial chimes recently installed in St. John Lutheran church will be dedicated at the opening of the Sunday morning worship Dec. 2 at 10:30. The chimes are the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Max Jensen and of relatives and friends in memory of the Jensens' daughter Sandra who lost her life in a car crash last spring.

The Rev. A. C. Seltz will officiate at the dedication rite, and Mrs. Max Jensen and Mrs. Sherman Ilse will be the organists and will play the chimes in the communion service. The chimes are Deagan tubular organ chimes with a range of 21 notes. The height is 66 inches and the width 35 inches. They have been placed on the rear wall of the church high in the choir and organ balcony. The chimes are played at the organ.

A sound amplifier may later be added which would make it possible to hear the music of the chimes outside of the church building. The chimes were installed by the Larson Music Company. Friends are invited to hear the chimes Sunday or in any other service.

Sandra Jensen, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jensen, was a student at Valparaiso University in Indiana. She and three other students from Crookston and Red Lake Falls were killed in an auto accident last April 13 in southern Wisconsin when they were on their way home for the Easter recess.

Offer Operetta at Newfolden School

'Johnny Appleseed' to Be Presented This Evening

The elementary grades of the Newfolden community school will present the operetta, "Johnny Appleseed" at 8:00 p. m. tonight, Thursday, in the school auditorium. The operetta is directed by Mrs. Vera B. Craig, music teacher of the school, assisted by the elementary grade teachers.

Johnny Appleseed is the story of a young boy, living in the early 1700's. His name was really Johnny Chapman, but because of his love for planting apple seeds wherever he went, he was nicknamed "Johnny Appleseed".

A unique part of the presentation is that Leola and Deanna Chapman, two of the elementary pupils who will appear in the operetta, are related to Johnny Appleseed and have documentary proof to establish the fact.

Deland Elseth will play the lead part of Johnny Appleseed, with Susan Stokke as his mother and David Sethre his father. The rest of the grade students will all appear in minor roles.

Bidders Ask Total of $5.3 Million on 15 Road Projects

Apparent low bidders offered $5,297,454 on 15 projects at the November 16 state letting, the Minnesota highway department has announced. The jobs are located in 13 counties, with three of them in Winona county worth over $2 million. Two of these projects will widen and improve TH 61 from Minnesota City to within .4 mile of the north county line to expressway standards.

Work in the other twelve counties will consist of grading, gravel sub-base, gravel, crushed rock and bituminous base, plant-mixed bituminous surfacing, miscellaneous grading, erosion control, building removal and the construction of six bridges.

None of the projects is in this section of the state.

Goal of Farm Free of Debt 'Not Realistic'

The traditional goal of owning a debt-free farm may not be realistic for many families in years ahead, a University of Minnesota agricultural economist said Tuesday.

High capital needs, increased cash operating outlays and the relative difficulty in transferring farms nowadays may well justify "perpetual indebtedness," Sherwood Berg told clergymen at an Institute for Town and Country Churches on the St. Paul campus.

Berg pointed out that capital value of modern dairy farming setups often runs between $40,000 and $80,000. Beef-hog farms may range up to $350,000 and over.

Average price per acre for farm land in Minnesota has increased from $105 to $155 since 1957. Operating cash requirements have gone up, too. In 1930, Berg said, a farmer could figure $5 or $6 cash expense for each 30 hours labor in producing an acre of corn. Today, it takes $35 to $40 cash expense for every 5 or 6 hours of labor.

The farm of today has a smaller percentage of return left over to retire debts. Before World War II, a $6,000 gross left $3,000 for family living and debt retirement. Today it takes a $10,000 gross to provide $3,000 family income.

The entire situation, according to Berg, indicates a needed change in our philosophy toward farm debts. He suggested this example of how perpetual indebtedness might work: A couple might buy a 200-acre farm in southwestern Minnesota, valued at $300 per acre, with $200 per acre borrowed initially.

The couple might amortize $100 per acre in their life time, thus eventually reducing the loan to $100 per acre. Beyond that, all that is required would be interest payments on outstanding debt. Further principal payments would be optional.

The borrowers would use their earnings over interest costs to maintain or step up production efficiency and their level of living. The lender would have a relatively riskless loan, bringing higher returns than many alternatives.

Berg said such a approach to indebtedness has worked well in Sandinavian counties. In Denmark, 96 per cent of the farms are privately owned. But these owners rarely have more than 30 per cent equity in their holdings.

Berg also emphasized the need for rural people to take advantage of educational opportunities. He said recent studies show that only 28 per cent of the rural farm boys in Minnesota go to college, compared to 53 per cent of the rural non-farm and 56 per cent of the urban young men.

For girls, the figures are 26 per cent of the rural farm, 37 per cent of the rural non-farm and 43 per cent of the urban.

LEGAL NOTICE

Nov. 26-29-Dec. 3

NOTICE OF SPECIAL MEETING OF MEMBERS

A special meeting of members of Gryglia Co-op. Creamery Ass'n, will be held at Mar-Bel Hall on December 8, 1962, at 1:30 o'clock P.M.

The business to come before the meeting will be a resolution, which has been recommended to the membership by the Board of Directors, for an amendment to the By-Laws. The new By-Law will have the effect of a "consent" by the members to take into their incomes, for income-tax purposes, the full amount of patronage equities to be issued for tax years of the Association beginning in 1963, and thereafter, except patronage equities on account of items purchased for personal living or family expense, or as a capital asset. This will permit the Association to deduct the same from its income on its return, provided it pays 20 percent or more of such patronage equity in cash.

The text of the resolution conforms to the text contained in the United States Senate Report on the bill, which is as follows:

"RESOLVED, That a new Article be added to the By-Laws of this Association reading as follows:

"ARTICLE ____

Taxation of Patronage Distributions

"Each person who hereafter applies for and is accepted to membership in this cooperative and each member of this cooperative on the effective date of this bylaw who continues as a member after such date shall, by such act alone, consent that the amount of any distributions with respect to his patronage occurring in any fiscal year beginning after December 31, 1962, which are made in written notices of allocation (as defined in 26 U.S.C. 1388, the Internal Revenue Code) and which are received by him from the cooperative, will be taken into account by him at their stated dollar amounts in the manner provided in 26 U.S.C. 1385 in the taxable year in which such written notices of allocation are received by him—it being the intent of this by-law to provide a consent binding on all members who retain or obtain membership in this association after the adoption of this by-law and receipt of a written notification and copy of this by-law, for the purpose of making such distributions 'qualified written notices of allocation' within the meaning of 26 U.S.C. 1388(c)."

Dated Nov. 20, 1962.

Secretary.

Wrestlers & Cagers Start Play This Week

The Lincoln high school wrestling and basketball squads will open their 1962-63 seasons this weekend. On Friday evening, in the local gymnasium, coach Al Shaff's blue-and-gold wrestlers will meet the Ada Vikings wrestling squad. And on Saturday night, coach Jack Junker will take his Prowler cagers to Fertile for a schedule-opening tilt against coach Karl Groth's Fertile Falcons.

Friday evening's wrestling program here will start at 6:30, with competition between the 'B' squad wrestlers of the two schools. At 8:00 p. m., with Roy Delorme appearing for the Prowlers in the 95-pound class, the varsity wrestling will begin. Coach Shaff will have nine lettermen in the squad that he sends against the Ada squad in the first of a fourteen-match schedule. On Wednesday, Dec. 5, the Prowler A and B squads will travel to Crookston for matches against the Crookston Central squads.

In last season's cage game between the Fertile Falcons and the Prowlers, and which was played on the Fertile court, the Falcons, with a 16-point effort in the fourth period, edged out the Prowlers, 47-43.

Of the starters in that game, Fertile will be missing the services of forwards Ron Newell and Ron Messelt and center Jim Overland. These boys were graduates last spring. Rod Olson, who scored ten points against the Prowlers, and Paul Sannes, who tallied 12 points, are Fertile regulars of last season who will be in action in Saturday's game. Howie Slyter, Bob Gullickson, and Alan Ogaard are returning lettermen who will probably move into starting berths this season.

The Prowlers will have three of last season's starting five — Paul Klungness, Tom Lindberg, and John Aune — available for this season's game against Fertile. Gary Kelly and Wayne Bjerken, starters last year, and Elton Hornseth, George Hankerson, and Mike Aune, who were in action against Fertile, being lost through graduation. Joining Klungness, Lindberg, and Aune in the opening tussle will be Bob Olson, at center, and Ken Larson, at forward. And expected to move into the lineup early in the game will be Rick Jensen, Gary Hagen, Steve Mittelstadt, and Mark Anderson.

Following the Fertile playing date, the Prowlers will be idle until Friday, Dec. 7, when they meet coach Irv St. John's defending district champions at Warren.

Over 420 Deer Are Taken at Red Lake

Game Division Reports Kill for First Four Days

The department of conservation section of game has released statistics on deer hunting results in St. Croix state park, the Sandstone game refuge and the Red Lake wildlife management area.

St. Croix state park was open for firearms hunting for one day on Sunday, Nov. 18. There were 600 hunting permits issued on a "first come first serve basis" in Hinckley on Nov. 4 and 450 of those issued permits showed up to hunt Sunday. These hunters took 152 deer, several of them rather old animals between six and eight years of age.

There were 92 hunters checked in the federal lands adjacent to the Sandstone prison when that area was opened on Saturday. There were 46 deer taken by these hunters who also reported finding the skeleton of a man hanging from a tree not far from the prison.

Hunting in the Red Lake wildlife area was considered excellent with 421 deer being taken by 865 hunters up to Tuesday, Nov. 13. This represents a success ratio of approximately 50 per cent.

Dave Vesall, supervisor of the section of game, said all reports indicate another successful deer hunting season for Minnesota.

Viking Trotters Play AFB Team

Organized for another season, the Viking Trotters independent basketball team will play the Grand Forks Air Force Base quintet Monday at 8 p. m. in the Viking school gymnasium. Lunch will be served by the host team.

The Openers

Two of the three Prowler winter sports squads, the wrestlers and the cagers, will open their 1962-63 schedules this week. The hockey Prowlers will have to wait until Dec. 15, when, if ice is available, coach Gene Sack's Prowlers will meet the Grand Forks Redskins here.

But to return to this week's openers. On Friday night, Nov. 30, on the high school gymnasium mat the Ada Vikings wrestlers will meet coach Al Shaff's Prowler wrestlers. The varsity bouts are slated to start at 8:00 p. m., with the preliminary matches, between the Vikings B's and the Prowlers B's, being set for 6:30 p. m.

Coach Shaff's Prowler varsity squad, well-supplied with experienced matmen, will be a slight favorite to defeat the Ada squad.

While Shaff's grapplers will move into their schedule-opening match as favorites, the same cannot be said for coach Jack Junker's Prowler basketball squad, with the blue-and-gold meeting a highly-regarded Fertile team on the Fertile court on Saturday night.

The Falcons, under the direction of a new coach this season in Karl Groth, a former St. Olaf College star, have been installed as one of the district title favorites in District 30. Coach Groth will have such lettermen as Paul Sannes, Rod Olson, Bob Gullickson, Howie Slyter, and Alan Ogaard available for Saturday night's game. Sannes (who was named to Ted Peterson's All-State football squad last week) and Olson were regulars on last season's strong Fertile club. Sannes, who is a strong rebounder and a gunner, may prove troublesome for the Prowlers.

The Prowlers have shown promise in a couple of informal scrimmage sessions, but the lineup that will take the floor against the Falcons is still in doubt. Sure of starting berths are captain John Aune, Paul Klungness, and Tom Lindberg. But the other two positions are "up for grabs", with Bob Olson, Ken Larson, Rick Jensen, Gary Jensen, and a couple others making strong bids.

Operation Moose

Lloyd Samuelson and Don Harbott returned on Monday from a successful, and hurry-up, moose hunting trip into northern Saskatchewan.

In September the two hunters had made a trip up there, with high hopes and much ammunition, but they didn't see a moose. Since that time the pair have been subjected to insulting and belittling remarks about their moose hunting abilities.

On Wednesday morning at daybreak the two left town for White Fox, Sask. 800-plus miles away, and arrived at the hunting camp that evening at 8:30. Thursday's hunting, in company with a guide, proved fruitless, but on Friday, Sam, with one shot, bagged a cow moose; and on Saturday, Don filled his tag. On Sunday the animals were quartered and packed out of the swamp, and this proved to be a back-breaking carry of about three miles.

The return trip, which started from White Fox at 5:30 p. m., was uneventful until the pair reached the lonely stretch of highway north of Portal, N. Dak. The combination of a heavily-loaded trailer and a strong head-wind the villain, for at 2:30 in the morning the car sputtered to a stop, out of gas. The two unrolled their sleeping bags, and "hit the sack" for several hours, and it was not until 8:00 a. m. that they were able to hitch a ride into a nearby town and obtain some gas. From then on the trip was a happy one.

Lloyd and Don are already making preparations for another trip next season, and it is probable that they will be joined by several other hunters.

While Sam and Don were reporting a successful hunt, Ray Thyren and his party, who had gone into the Lewiston, Montana, area in quest of elk, reported a disappointing trip. Ray saw only two elk, a cow and a calf, and there wasn't an open season on cows and calves. And, too, the party was plagued by bad weather, being chased out of the mountain country by high winds and snow.

Bowling Note

Received a welcome note and clipping from Janet Leslie, who now resides in Milwaukee, and with the information that Gene Leslie, Janet's husband, is carrying a 198-pin average in a Milshore Bowl league. Gene has the top series in his division, a 696, which included a big 255-pin game. Gene led the three-man league according to last week's ratings, hitting a 651 total.

During his years here, Gene was a member of the high-scoring Hamm's team. And during the summer months he was a pitcher-infielder with the senior baseball Thieves.

Auggies Move Indoors

The Augsburg College hockey squad will play the better share of their 1962-63 schedule on indoor rinks this season, utilizing the Wakota Arena in So. St. Paul for their home games.

The Auggies are captained this season by Bruce Ranum, a former Prowler hockey player. Bruce has twice been the Auggies leading scorer, and he is expected to continue his high-scoring activities this season.

In their opener, on Dec. 5, the Auggies will meet the St. Thomas sextet on the Wakota Arena ice sheet.

Wool Sewing Contest Rates High with Seamstresses

By Mrs. Flora Allison
Times Society Reporter

An area industry promotion worthy of note was the District I Make-It-Yourself-with-Wool contest which was staged on Saturday at the city auditorium in this city. Participating in the annual show of craftsmanship were 144 fashion-minded and value-conscious seamstresses from an 11-county northwest Minnesota area.

State director of the contests is Mrs. Mildred Harrington, Minneapolis; district director, Mrs. G. Milford Peterson of Crookston, and Pennington county chairman, Mrs. Gunder Legvold. Sponsor of the competition is the auxiliary of the Wool Growers of America. The promotion has gained increasing favor among seamstresses with the passing years.

Miss Joann Odegaard, Gonvick, last year's national Senior division winner, appeared in her winning two-piece black ensemble styled with mid-length jacket notched at the waist, three-quarter-length sleeves, and high, rounded neckline. It was accented by a gold leaf-shaped pin at the shoulder. With it she wore a furry Cossask hat, and long, off-white leather gloves.

Joann's success story is also a story of failure. She entered the contest in the hope of gaining second place in the state competition and winning a new sewing machine so that she could have one of her own. Twice winner in the district junior division, she placed first and third in the state contest. Last year, she went all the way through national competition, winning the Hawaiian trip but losing the sewing machine. This year she is getting the coveted machine from her parents as a Christmas gift.

The contestants appeared in groups on the stage, then proceeded individually down the ramp while Mrs. Richard Fitzsimons of Argyle, former home agent of Marshall county, gave the contestant's name and a thumb-nail description of her costume.

Symphony of Color

Outstanding in the presentation were the clear, vibrant colors which are so characteristic of wools. Blues and variations of blues were the dominant colors, from vivid royal blue to pale turquoise. Reds were exceptionally bright and clear, many bordering on vermillion. There were a good many blacks, and a fair showing of browns and beiges, with some vivid emeralds and other assorted shades.

In the main, the costumes were of plain fabric but there were occasional plaids and some prints also. Textures were varied, from nubby boucle weaves and heavier, brushed effects, to flannels and sheer wools. Many featured just a suggestion of underweaves and subtle undertones. The plaids were beautifully matched and effectively used.

Almost Severe Styles

Styles for the most part were utterly simple, almost severe, with high, rounded necklines predominating and many two-piece costumes in evidence. Long and three-quarter-length sleeves were popular. Jackets were mainly mid-length, with notched detail at the waist. Costume jewelry too was uncluttered, much of it in sweeping leaf designs and plain gold, and worn mainly at the shoulder. Conspicuously absent were frills of any sort; the closest anyone came to these were tabs on pockets and occasionally on the sleeves. Covered buttons were very popular.

Among the sub-debs, knees were very much in evidence, and many in this group appeared in flats; many wore skirts and blouses, or sweater-skirt combinations. The junior group had dropped the hemlines slightly; sheath skirts and two-piece costumes were very popular with this group, as with the senior and adult groups, and hemlines were slightly lowered in the latter divisions. Many pleated skirts were shown, both pressed and unpressed types.

The fashions in this year's showing depended largely on line, color and beauty of fabric, rather than on fussiness. Accessories purposely were few, with emphasis on the costume rather than on accessories; several contestants wore or carried gloves, however, and several wore hats of their own creation.

Judges' Comments

Faults uncovered by the judges included skirts that were too short, uneven hemlines, metal rather than thread eyelets, over-pressing and under-pressing, and interfacings that were too light or too heavy for the fabric. Winners were determined on suitability of the costume to the girl as the first consideration; construction was only secondary. Modeling was also given high priority in selection of the winners.

Contestants' Comments

Samplings of comments among the winners: Adult, Mrs. Yvonne Magnusson, Roseau: "I'm real happy! I wanted to learn how to sew with wool; honestly, I found it so very easy; I don't know why I was so timid about trying it in the first place."

Patra Anderson, Fosston, with best-constructed garment in the junior group: "Wool is so easy to work with, especially when making set-in-sleeves. It has a lot of 'give'; it's easy to make it do what you want it to do."

Robin Shalde, Perley, junior division champion: "I can't believe I'll be going to the state, but I'll do my very best there." Her dress, of bright, pumpkin-colored wool with a faint chevron weave, was a 4-H winner at the Norman county fair, and Robin was dress-revue queen.

Linda Thordahl, Gary, senior division winner, with a beautifully-detailed black coat: "I can't wait to tell my mother!" This was her third entry; the first time she placed eighth, the second time fifth. "With wool, you have something that lasts. And when you make it yourself, you know what you've got," she stated.

Alnna Elias, sub-deb division winner, Mentor: "Oh, no! Me, a winner? This is the first time I ever made anything with wool. It's so thrilling!" Her outfit was of bright blue, with black braid trimming the plain top.

Mrs. Norman Hoff, Ada, runner-up in the adult division, wanted a new outfit, and thought she might as well make it of wool. "I find wool so easy to work with," she said, "so spongy, so adaptable, so comfortable!" Mrs. Hoff sews as a hobby.

Eunice Wangberg, Thief River Falls, runner-up in the senior division, who wore a gold-beige textured two-piece ensemble, said, "I might try it again next year, if I find the time. It's really a lot of fun, and quite a challenge."

With talent so varied and so outstanding, and with so much beautiful work to narrow down to a few winning creations, one can be happily grateful at not having been chosen as one of the judges. Theirs must have been most difficult decisions.

December Is Termed Perilous for Traffic

"December is one of the most dangerous months of the year for motorists and pedestrians," warned the Minnesota highway department's safety director today, and added, "caution must be taken if traffic trouble is to be avoided." traffic accidents occurred in Minnesota during December. They caused the deaths of 41 persons, and injury of 167 pedestrians," he said. "During Christmas holiday periods of the last five years, more than 3,100 accidents killed 17 and injured 1,359."

Merry-making reaches a climax at this time of the year. Christmas parties, vacations for students, hectic shopping rushes and increased use of cars add to the seasonal hazards of darkness, rain and sleet, ice and snow.

On snow packed roads and icy pavement, and during the longer hours of darkness, both motorists and pedestrians must use common sense in traffic if they wish to assure their safety. Common sense rules of driving include an adjustment of speeds to road and weather conditions, lengthening of distance between vehicles, using tire chains when needed, applying brakes easily and carefully, and strict adherence to traffic laws, signs and signals, the Director warned.

Pedestrians must also pay strict attention to traffic laws, signs and signals. They must be their own lifeguard in traffic and not expect others to look out for them. Jay-walking, cheating at traffic lights, piling packages so high in their arms that their vision is blocked, is only asking for serious trouble, he pointed out.

The Safety Director also stressed the danger of trying to negotiate in traffic while under the influence of holiday "cups of cheer" and directed the warning at both driver and walker. The drinking driver and pedestrian is a factor in a majority of the traffic accidents occurring at this time of the year.

COUSINS serving in the U.S. Navy are Richard A. Sannes (seated) and Conley Ness, both from the Holt community. They entered service in July and attended boot camp at Great Lakes, Ill., graduating in October. Sannes is now stationed at Port Hueneme, Calif. where he is attending builder's school, and Ness is at Mainside at Great Lakes where he is attending a Class A electronic school.

Wrestlers & Cagers Start Play This Week

The Lincoln high school wrestling and basketball squads will open their 1962-63 seasons this weekend. On Friday evening, in the local gymnasium, coach Al Shaff's blue-and-gold wrestlers will meet the Ada Vikings wrestling squad. And on Saturday night, coach Jack Junker will take his Prowler cagers to Fertile for a schedule-opening tilt against coach Karl Groth's Fertile Falcons.

Friday evening's wrestling program here will start at 6:30, with competition between the 'B' squad wrestlers of the two schools. At 8:00 p. m., with Roy Delorme appearing for the Prowlers in the 95-pound class, the varsity wrestling will begin. Coach Shaff will have nine lettermen in the squad that he sends against the Ada squad in the first of a fourteen-match schedule. On Wednesday, Dec. 5, the Prowler A and B squads will travel to Crookston for matches against the Crookston Central squads.

In last season's cage game between the Fertile Falcons and the Prowlers, and which was played on the Fertile court, the Falcons, with a 16-point effort in the fourth period, edged out the Prowlers, 47-43.

Of the starters in that game, Fertile will be missing the services of forwards Ron Newell and Ron Messelt and center Jim Overland. These boys were graduates last spring. Rod Olson, who scored ten points against the Prowlers, and Paul Sannes, who tallied 12 points, are Fertile regulars of last season who will be in action in Saturday's game. Howie Slyter, Bob Gullickson, and Alan Ogaard are returning lettermen who will probably move into starting berths this season.

The Prowlers will have three of last season's starting five — Paul Klungness, Tom Lindberg, and John Aune — available for this season's game against Fertile. Gary Kelly and Wayne Bjerken, starters last year, and Elton Hornseth, George Hankerson, and Mike Aune, who were in action against Fertile, being lost through graduation. Joining Klungness, Lindberg, and Aune in the opening tussle will be Bob Olson, at center, and Ken Larson, at forward. And expected to move into the lineup early in the game will be Rick Jensen, Gary Hagen, Steve Mittelstadt, and Mark Anderson.

Following the Fertile playing date, the Prowlers will be idle until Friday, Dec. 7, when they meet coach Irv St. John's defending district champions at Warren.

Over 420 Deer Are Taken at Red Lake

Game Division Reports Kill for First Four Days

The department of conservation section of game has released statistics on deer hunting results in St. Croix state park, the Sandstone game refuge and the Red Lake wildlife management area.

St. Croix state park was open for firearms hunting for one day on Sunday, Nov. 18. There were 600 hunting permits issued on a "first come first serve basis" in Hinckley on Nov. 4 and 450 of those issued permits showed up to hunt Sunday. These hunters took 152 deer, several of them rather old animals between six and eight years of age.

There were 92 hunters checked in the federal lands adjacent to the Sandstone prison when that area was opened on Saturday. There were 46 deer taken by these hunters who also reported finding the skeleton of a man hanging from a tree not far from the prison.

Hunting in the Red Lake wildlife area was considered excellent with 421 deer being taken by 865 hunters up to Tuesday, Nov. 13. This represents a success ratio of approximately 50 per cent.

Dave Vesall, supervisor of the section of game, said all reports indicate another successful deer hunting season for Minnesota.

The Openers

Two of the three Prowler winter sports squads, the wrestlers and the cagers, will open their 1962-63 schedules this week. The hockey Prowlers will have to wait until Dec. 15, when, if ice is available, coach Gene Sack's Prowlers will meet the Grand Forks Redskins here.

But to return to this week's openers. On Friday night, Nov. 30, on the high school gymnasium mat the Ada Vikings wrestlers will meet coach Al Shaff's Prowler wrestlers. The varsity bouts are slated to start at 8:00 p. m., with the preliminary matches, between the Vikings B's and the Prowlers B's, being set for 6:30 p. m.

Coach Shaff's Prowler varsity squad, well-supplied with experienced matmen, will be a slight favorite to defeat the Ada squad.

While Shaff's grapplers will move into their schedule-opening match as favorites, the same cannot be said for coach Jack Junker's Prowler basketball squad, with the blue-and-gold meeting a highly-regarded Fertile team on the Fertile court on Saturday night.

The Falcons, under the direction of a new coach this season in Karl Groth, a former St. Olaf College star, have been installed as one of the district title favorites in District 30. Coach Groth will have such lettermen as Paul Sannes, Rod Olson, Bob Gullickson, Howie Slyter, and Alan Ogaard available for Saturday night's game. Sannes (who was named to Ted Peterson's All-State football squad last week) and Olson were regulars on last season's strong Fertile club. Sannes, who is a strong rebounder and a gunner, may prove troublesome for the Prowlers.

The Prowlers have shown promise in a couple of informal scrimmage sessions, but the lineup that will take the floor against the Falcons is still in doubt. Sure of starting berths are captain John Aune, Paul Klungness, and Tom Lindberg. But the other two positions are "up for grabs", with Bob Olson, Ken Larson, Rick Jensen, Gary Jensen, and a couple others making strong bids.

Operation Moose

Lloyd Samuelson and Don Harbott returned on Monday from a successful, and hurry-up, moose hunting trip into northern Saskatchewan.

In September the two hunters had made a trip up there, with high hopes and much ammunition, but they didn't see a moose. Since that time the pair have been subjected to insulting and belittling remarks about their moose hunting abilities.

On Wednesday morning at daybreak the two left town for White Fox, Sask. 800-plus miles away, and arrived at the hunting camp that evening at 8:30. Thursday's hunting, in company with a guide, proved fruitless, but on Friday, Sam, with one shot, bagged a cow moose; and on Saturday, Don filled his tag. On Sunday the animals were quartered and packed out of the swamp, and this proved to be a back-breaking carry of about three miles.

The return trip, which started from White Fox at 5:30 p. m., was uneventful until the pair reached the lonely stretch of highway north of Portal, N. Dak. The combination of a heavily-loaded trailer and a strong head-wind the villain, for at 2:30 in the morning the car sputtered to a stop, out of gas. The two unrolled their sleeping bags, and "hit the sack" for several hours, and it was not until 8:00 a. m. that they were able to hitch a ride into a nearby town and obtain some gas. From then on the trip was a happy one.

Lloyd and Don are already making preparations for another trip next season, and it is probable that they will be joined by several other hunters.

While Sam and Don were reporting a successful hunt, Ray Thyren and his party, who had gone into the Lewiston, Montana, area in quest of elk, reported a disappointing trip. Ray saw only two elk, a cow and a calf, and there wasn't an open season on cows and calves. And, too, the party was plagued by bad weather, being chased out of the mountain country by high winds and snow.

Bowling Note

Received a welcome note and clipping from Janet Leslie, who now resides in Milwaukee, and with the information that Gene Leslie, Janet's husband, is carrying a 198-pin average in a Milshore Bowl league. Gene has the top series in his division, a 696, which included a big 255-pin game. Gene led the three-man league according to last week's ratings, hitting a 651 total.

During his years here, Gene was a member of the high-scoring Hamm's team. And during the summer months he was a pitcher-infielder with the senior baseball Thieves.

Auggies Move Indoors

The Augsburg College hockey squad will play the better share of their 1962-63 schedule on indoor rinks this season, utilizing the Wakota Arena in So. St. Paul for their home games.

The Auggies are captained this season by Bruce Ranum, a former Prowler hockey player. Bruce has twice been the Auggies leading scorer, and he is expected to continue his high-scoring activities this season.

In their opener, on Dec. 5, the Auggies will meet the St. Thomas sextet on the Wakota Arena ice sheet.

Wool Sewing Contest Rates High with Seamstresses

By Mrs. Flora Allison
Times Society Reporter

An area industry promotion worthy of note was the District I Make-It-Yourself-with-Wool contest which was staged on Saturday at the city auditorium in this city. Participating in the annual show of craftsmanship were 141 fashion-minded and value-conscious seamstresses from an 11-county northwest Minnesota area.

State director of the contests is Mrs. Mildred Harrington, Minneapolis; district director, Mrs. G. Milford Peterson of Crookston, and Pennington county chairman, Mrs. Gunder Legvold. Sponsor of the competition is the auxiliary of the Wool Growers of America. The promotion has gained increasing favor among seamstresses with the passing years.

Miss Joann Odegaard, Gonvick, last year's national Senior division winner, appeared in her winning two-piece black ensemble styled with mid-length jacket notched at the waist, three-quarter-length sleeves, and high, rounded neckline. It was accented by a gold leaf-shaped pin at the shoulder. With it she wore a furry Cossack hat, and long, off-white leather gloves.

Joann's success story is also a story of failure. She entered the contest in the hope of gaining second place in the state competition and winning a new sewing machine so that she could have one of her own. Twice winner in the district junior division, she placed first and third in the state contest. Last year, she went all the way through national competition, winning the Hawaiian trip but losing the sewing machine. This year she is getting the coveted machine from her parents as a Christmas gift.

The contestants appeared in groups on the stage, then proceeded individually down the ramp while Mrs. Richard Fitzsimons of Argyle, former home agent of Marshall county, gave the contestant's name and a thumb-nail description of her costume.

Symphony of Color

Outstanding in the presentation were the clear, vibrant colors which are so characteristic of wools. Blues and variations of blues were the dominant colors, from vivid royal blue to pale turquoise. Reds were exceptionally bright and clear, many bordering on vermillion. There were a good many blacks, and a fair showing of browns and beiges, with some vivid emeralds and other assorted shades.

In the main, the costumes were of plain fabric but there were occasional plaids and some prints also. Textures were varied, from nubby boucle weaves and heavier, brushed effects, to flannels and sheer wools. Many featured just a suggestion of underweaves and subtle undertones. The plaids were beautifully matched and effectively used.

Almost Severe Styles

Styles for the most part were utterly simple, almost severe, with high, rounded necklines predominating and many two-piece costumes in evidence. Long and three-quarter-length sleeves were popular. Jackets were mainly mid-length, with notched detail at the waist. Costume jewelry too was uncluttered, much of it in sweeping leaf designs and plain gold, and worn mainly at the shoulder. Conspicuously absent were frills of any sort; the closest anyone came to these were tabs on pockets and occasionally on the sleeves. Covered buttons were very popular.

Among the sub-debs, knees were very much in evidence, and many in this group appeared in flats; many wore skirts and blouses, or sweater-skirt combinations. The junior group had dropped the hemlines slightly; sheath skirts and two-piece costumes were very popular with this group, as with the senior and adult groups, and hemlines were slightly lowered in the latter divisions. Many pleated skirts were shown, both pressed and unpressed types.

The fashions in this year's showing depended largely on line, color and beauty of fabric, rather than on fussiness. Accessories purposely were few, with emphasis on the costume rather than on accessories; several contestants wore or carried gloves, however, and several wore hats of their own creation.

Judges' Comments

Faults uncovered by the judges included skirts that were too short, uneven hemlines, metal rather than thread eyelets, over-pressing and under-pressing, and interfacings that were too light or too heavy for the fabric. Winners were determined on suitability of the costume to the girl as the first consideration; construction was only secondary. Modeling was also given high priority in selection of the winners.

Contestants' Comments

Samplings of comments among the winners: Adult, Mrs. Yvonne Magnusson, Roseau: "I'm real happy! I wanted to learn how to sew with wool; honestly, I found it so very easy; I don't know why I was so timid about trying it in the first place."

Patra Anderson, Fosston, with best-constructed garment in the junior group: "Wool is so easy to work with, especially when making set-in-sleeves. It has a lot of 'give'; it's easy to make it do what you want it to do."

Robin Shalde, Perley, junior division champion: "I can't believe I'll be going to the state, but I'll do my very best there." Her dress, of bright, pumpkin-colored wool with a faint chevron weave, was a 4-H winner at the Norman county fair, and Robin was dress-revue queen.

Linda Thordahl, Gary, senior division winner, with a beautifully-detailed black coat: "I can't wait to tell my mother!" This was her third entry; the first time she placed eighth, the second time fifth. "With wool, you have something that lasts. And when you make it yourself, you know what you've got," she stated.

Alana Elias, sub-deb division winner, Mentor: "Oh, no! Me, a winner? This is the first time I ever made anything with wool. It's so thrilling!" Her outfit was of bright blue, with black braid trimming the plain top.

Mrs. Norman Hoff, Ada, runner-up in the adult division, wanted a new outfit, and thought she might as well make it of wool. "I find wool so easy to work with," she said, "so spongy, so adaptable, so comfortable!" Mrs. Hoff sews as a hobby.

Eunice Wangberg, Thief River Falls, runner-up in the senior division, who wore a gold-beige textured two-piece ensemble, said, "I might try it again next year, if I find the time. It's really a lot of fun, and quite a challenge."

With talent so varied and so outstanding, and with so much beautiful work to narrow down to a few winning creations, one can be happily grateful at not having been chosen as one of the judges. Theirs must have been most difficult decisions.

December Is Termed Perilous for Traffic

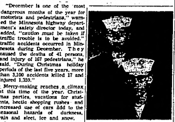
"December is one of the most dangerous months of the year for motorists and pedestrians," warned the Minnesota highway department's safety director today, and added, "caution must be taken if traffic trouble is to be avoided." traffic accidents occurred in Minnesota during December. They caused the deaths of 41 persons, and injury of 167 pedestrians," he said. "During Christmas holiday periods of the last five years, more than 3,100 accidents killed 17 and injured 1,359."

Merry-making reaches a climax at this time of the year. Christmas parties, vacations for students, hectic shopping rushes and increased use of cars add to the seasonal hazards of darkness, rain and sleet, ice and snow.

On snow packed roads and icy pavement, and during the longer hours of darkness, both motorists and pedestrians must use common sense in traffic if they wish to assure their safety. Common sense rules of driving include an adjustment of speeds to road and weather conditions, lengthening of distance between vehicles, using tire chains when needed, applying brakes easily and carefully, and strict adherence to traffic laws, signs and signals, the Director warned.

Pedestrians must also pay strict attention to traffic laws, signs and signals. They must be their own lifeguard in traffic and not expect others to look out for them. Jay-walking, cheating at traffic lights, piling packages so high in their arms that their vision is blocked, is only asking for serious trouble, he pointed out.

The Safety Director also stressed the danger of trying to negotiate in traffic while under the influence of holiday "cups of cheer" and directed the warning at both driver and walker. The drinking driver and pedestrian is a factor in a majority of the traffic accidents occurring at this time of the year.



COUSINS serving in the U.S. Navy are Richard A. Sannes (seated) and Conley Ness, both from the Holt community. They entered service in July and attended boot camp at Great Lakes, Ill., graduating in October. Sannes is now stationed at Port Hueneme, Calif. where he is attending builder's school, and Ness is at Mainside at Great Lakes where he is attending a Class A electronic school.

"The only freedom that deserves the name is that of being free to pursue our own good in our own way, so long as we do not attempt to deprive others of theirs."

—John Stuart Mill

Sensible Action

Out Hollywood way members of the Screen Actors Guild have decided not to ask for pay increases in coming new contract negotiations. The reason for this of course is the fact that many of the members have discovered that higher wage scales are of no value for the unemployed.

The record was quite convincing. Between 1958 and 1961 the number of films produced in this country dropped more than 30 per cent and American films produced abroad increased 50 per cent. Because of this increase in prices abroad, costs in foreign countries have been inching upward and, of late, there has been a trend toward increased production here at home. The sensible decision of the members of the Screen Actors Guild to hold the line on further wage increases will be very helpful in encouraging this trend.

A moratorium on all wage increases would be much more effective as a solution for the unemployment problem in our country than the reckless spending of borrowed dollars for government work projects.

Press Releases

The reporters who keep us informed on what is going on in Washington are not happy with the way the defense department handled news releases prior to and during the Cuban crises. We gather that some information was needlessly withheld. Some facts were misrepresented. The newsmen were not satisfied with the explanation offered by Arthur Sylvester, assistant secretary for defense, to the effect that the giving out of news during the Cuban crisis had been used as a "weapon" in order that the government might "speak as one voice."

Sylvester is the author of some new rules covering such matters apparently with the idea that the government's cause can be helped along by tricky press releases. We can understand the reaction of the newsmen to such a code. If the public loses confidence in the truth of the government's press releases then it will also lose confidence in the government itself.

The Christian Science Monitor disposed of the problem nicely with this brief comment:

> "There are matters of military security in which secrecy has to be observed; but there should be constant vigilance against the temptation to use it to hide what is merely embarrassing."

They Goof Too

On the eve of a meeting of the Soviet Communist Party's policy making Central Committee the Russian government ordered a newspaper release covering some of its failures in the management of a Siberian development program. It was reported that 47,000 Siberian workers had left their jobs during the first six months of this year because of low wages and mismanagement.

The story revealed that the construction of a new fruit cannery was half finished before the authorities discovered that it was being built in a part of Siberia in which little fruit grows. The equipment was then moved to a new structure built 1,500 miles west in a sunnier location.

There were several other interesting mistakes. Altogether, according to the National Observer, it was estimated that $600,000,000 was buried in uncompleted construction in the region and $80,000,000 worth of machinery is stored in warehouses waiting to be installed.

We can get some comfort out of knowing that ours is not the only country that is paying a high price for the mistakes of the economic planners who have goofed. We can't recall off hand however that our government ever handed out a press release admitting error.

Thank You Doctor

In his syndicated column on health advice, Dr. Joseph Molner gives assurance that there is no cause for the hysterical approach to the dangers of radioactive fallout. "What's been said about radioactive fallout has been overdone—or let's say that it has been overinterpreted", he writes. He states further:

> "Members of my staff tell me that if there was a 1,000-fold increase in radioactive fallout, and we lived in it for, oh, maybe 100 years, we might have some ill effects.
> "Therefore, while it's well for us to know about fallout, I see no logical reason for being so terrified by such a tiny amount.
> "In any case, why attack milk? There is radioactivity from fallout in meat, in vegetables, in fruit. The reason for the emphasis may be that we HAVE figures on the radioactivity in milk from week to week. It is a handy food to study. It is not as feasible to kill cattle once a week to test the radioactivity, although this has been done on occasion."

It is fortunate for our country that not many of our people have taken the Civil Defense program very seriously. Not many billions of our dollars have been wasted. Now if we could just get our leaders in Washington to decide that being the first nation to send a man to the moon and back may not be worth $40 billion, we would add greatly to the security of our grandchildren.

Let's Be Realistic

Paul Hoffman, the American businessman who guided the Marshall plan, which so successfully restored Western Europe following World War II, has written a book titled "World Without Want", in which he makes the cheerful prediction that a world without want could be achieved by the end of the present century. The year 2,000 will be with us in less than 40 years.

He doesn't say we will accomplish such a result. He maintains however that we do have the capacity for such an achievement. We are glad he qualifies his day-dreaming to this extent.

Hoffman looks upon the underdeveloped countries of the world as "a great new economic frontier", indicating that he has visions of more Marshall plans being as successful as in Europe. The plan was successful in Europe mainly because it helped people who ont only were willing to work but who also were skilled workers.

The people of Europe were experienced. They had had experience, for instance, with printing press money, and knew there was no magic formula by which they could spend themselves rich. Because of their first-hand experience with such matters, following the first World War, they avoided such errors as our dreamers in Washington still persist in, and which some future group of disillusioned Americans will have to pay for.

Hoffman says the richer countries are now "investing" $5 billion a year in the undeveloped areas of the world. The gentleman is careless in his choice of words. The richer countries are spending many billions, but our guess is that not many of the dollars our government has spent for such purposes could be properly called "investments". Not many of them have proven to be investments even in good will.

We do not know just what Mr. Hoffman has in mind when he speaks of "want". Here in our country we enjoy the highest living standard in the world, but we still have poverty and want. There is poverty and want in Europe. There is poverty and want in Russia.

While the world has made great progress in the past forty years, we see little justification for the hope that in another forty years we might solve all our problems and satisfy all of the needs of all of the nations and their people. Let's be realistic.

Impotent U.N.

(The National Observer)

The General Assembly of the United Nations, censuring South Africa for its racial policies, last week called upon members to break diplomatic relations with South Africa, impose economic sanctions, and consider booting South Africa out of the U.N. if its government continues to insist on maintaining white supremacy.

This resolution was sponsored by 34 nations, mostly in Africa and Asia, and supposedly demonstrated the growing strength of the Afro-Asian bloc within the world organization. Sixteen countries, including the United States, voted against the action, not because they condoned South Africa's policies but because they doubted the legality of the U.N. resolution.

The Assembly's action isn't apt to alter South Africa's racial attitudes. Nor does it enhance the stature of the U.N. All the resolution does is emphasize anew the impotence of a world body that takes upon itself the task of regulating the domestic affairs of a sovereign state.

One Way to Win a Letter

(New York Herald Tribune)

College pep rallies are no novelty, but they aren't exactly held every day of the week at Brooklyn College, which has no football team and where intercollegiate athletics are relatively limited. Nevertheless, a Brooklyn College team did manage to spark a rally not long ago on the ordinarily tranquil campus — the team which is currently appearing in the "College Bowl" quiz competition on television.

This kind of competition, in which college teams are called upon to compete in rapid-fire tests of knowledge ranging from the artistic achievements of the Sumerians to the scientific explorations of the space age, has been stirring up college campuses for several years now. Brooklyn College isn't the first of our city colleges to make an appearance on the "College Bowl," but it is the current representative, and is doing very well in its series, with two victories in its first two tries.

So we hope Brooklyn goes plunging on, until it crosses the goal line, or whatever the "College Bowl" equivalent is. The scholar who knows the middle name of James K. Polk may never replace the halfback who can throw passes. But it's good to know that he is at least having his brief hour of glory. C'mon, Brooklyn!

Ford ideas so contagious they started a new trend in cars!

If you think today's cars have a lot in common, credit the Ford sketches above. For these ideas sparked a revolution in car design that's reflected wherever you look on the American road.

Ford ideas have a habit of being exciting—practical, too. Consider the innovations found only in our '63s: There is Ford Galaxie's smooth new velvet ride. It cost Ford $10 million to bring it to you, but costs you not a penny extra to enjoy. There is Ford's full twice-a-year or 6,000-mile maintenance* schedule that cuts service worry and expense to a minimum. There's a new manual transmission that lets you shift down from second to first without coming to a stop. And for '63, there's the biggest choice of models ever offered—44 in all!

Only Ford offers all these advantages now. Other cars will eventually catch up—but if you can't wait, here's a tip. See your Ford Dealer today!

Some Widows to Get More Social Security

Some widows in this area, each at least 62 years old, may be eligible for a $1 to $10 increase in their monthly social security checks, according to Walter D. Kistler, district manager of the Grand Fork's Social Security Office.

These are women who worked under social security before or after their husbands died, he said, and who are now receiving social security benefits based on their own work rather than widows benefits based on their husbands' work.

A change in the social security law, enacted last year, raised widows' benefits by ten per cent, Mr. Kistler said. For some women, this means that their widows' benefit would be higher than their present retirement benefit.

Since social security's records these women only as retired persons and not as widows, there is no ready way to determine who these persons are, Kistler said. The women themselves must visit the social security office to apply for their increased benefits.

One clue as to whether a woman is eligible for higher benefits as a widow than as a retired person is the amount of her monthly social security check Mr. Kistler said. If the amount she receives as a retirement benefit is more than $100 a month, she will not receive higher benefits as a widow, he explained.

In no case would the increase to which these widows would be entitled be more than $10 per month, he said.

If a woman has any question as to whether or not she is entitled to this increase, she should visit her social security office, or representative.

VFW Posts to Hold Bicycle Checkups

Week of April 27-May 5 Slated for Observance

The Veterans of Foreign Wars of Minnesota and the Minnesota highway department will co-sponsor six traffic safety workshops to be held in January, State VFW Commander Alcuin Loehr, St. Cloud announced today.

"The VFW has just launched a national bicycle safety program for all its posts," Loehr said, "and we are proud to be a part of this state effort to reduce the heavy toll of traffic accidents."

The commander said that the VFW has set the week of April 27 to May 5, 1963, as national "Lite a Bike" safety week. Every post in Minnesota, along with many hundreds of others throughout the nation, will hold local bicycle safety clinics where reflectorized strips will be placed on the front and back fenders. The Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing company has contributed enough "Scotchlight" to protect 2,000,000 bicycles, he said.

The workshops will open in St. Paul on January 8, and be held in Rochester and New Ulm on January 9 and 10, and in Minneapolis, Detroit Lakes and Virginia, on January 15, 16 and 17.

Over $1 Billion in Health Insurance Paid in 9 Months

U. S. Policy Holders Are Collecting 12 Per Cent More Than They Got in '61

Health insurance benefit payments by insurance companies in 1962 are running 12 per cent ahead of last year, the Health Insurance Institute reported today.

In the first nine months of 1962 insurance companies distributed an estimated $2,917,000,000 in benefits to persons covered by health insurance policies, an increase of 12.4 per cent over the $2,585,000,000 paid out in the same period of 1961.

Benefit payments by insurance companies for the first nine months of 1962 are up over 1961 in all five types of health insurance—hospital expense, surgical expense, regular medical expense, major medical expense, and loss of income.

The greatest amount of benefits was paid out to help cover the costs of hospital care. The Institute said the $1,163,000,000 paid under hospital expense policies in the first nine months of 1962 was an increase of 13.1 per cent over the $1,028,000,000 paid out in the same period of 1961.

Surgical expense insurance accounted for $372 million in benefits from insurance companies during the first three-quarters of 1962, up 8.5 per cent over the $343 million for the same span of 1961.

Benefits paid to persons covered by regular medical expense policies, which help offset the costs of medical care and treatment other than surgery, increased 10.5 per cent, from $95 million to $105 million.

$5.6 Million Road Letting Dec. 14th

Another large state letting, estimated at $5,650,000, will be held at the Minnesota highway department's central offices in St. Paul on December 14, it was announced today. Eleven projects have been set up in nine counties for a total of 67.7 miles of trunk highway improvements, plus six bridges. None of the projects is in this area.

The biggest job consists of seven paving and plant-mixed bituminous shoulders on THs 90 and 63 in Olmsted county. This will provide motorists with full freeway or expressway highways from Rochester to Austin. Another big job is located in Ramsey county where grading and construction of three bridges will take place in St. Paul between Snelling and Hamline avenues and between the tracks of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railways on North Snelling avenue.

Interstate Roads Program in State Is Well Under Way

110 Miles Completed to Federal Standards, State Highway Department Says

With over half of its designated Interstate and Defense highway system under construction, in the engineering or right of way acquisition stages, plus 110.6 miles completed to present day or full and acceptable federal standards, Minnesota is well on its way in the gigantic nationwide highway construction program that was set up by the Federal-Aid Highway Act of 1956 for completion by 1972. This totals up to 573.4 miles and leaves only 324.7 miles of the state's 898.1 miles in the national system on which work is not in progress as of October 1, according to a report from the Bureau of Public Roads.

Total projects now underway or authorized in Minnesota represent an expenditure of $184 million. This is more than the total of all of the four other states of the five-state area.

The actual mileage in use throughout the nation rose from 11,252 miles a year ago to 13,129 as of September 30, the report stated. Thirty-two per cent of the Interstate System is now open to traffic.

The Interstate System will be the nation's key highway network, serving both civilian and defense requirements, and carrying about 20 per cent of the total traffic. The Federal-Aid Highway Act of 1956 required the system to be designed to accommodate the traffic needs of 1975 and completion of the system is scheduled for 1972. More than 13,000 miles of the 41,000 mile national highway system are now open to traffic and construction is underway on another 4,900 miles, according to the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads.

ACROSS THE MILES

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Time was when it took a month for a letter to get from one city to another, and such things as radio and television were unheard of.

Now we don't think in terms of miles — we think in terms of the time it takes to span them, and it doesn't take long to get around the world.

As for communications — well, they're instantaneous, these days.

But for all of that, we seem to find it just as hard to understand one another as we ever did.

Only one form of communication hasn't changed . . . God's method of communication. He speaks to you through His Church, and through a Bible that has survived the centuries. Go to church this Sunday, every Sunday, and hear His message for yourself.

FOR MARRIED WOMEN ONLY
All others do not read, especially husbands
Does your husband like to go first class? Naturally he does, look who he married. This Christmas you can give him a first class gift and save money doing it. This gift will give his feet much more comfort and a finer appearance. It most likely will be habit forming, but with the main fringe benefit, a better disposition, how can you lose? When your husband leaves for work call me at MU 1-1981 and we'll make a date to look at shoes. If he has a pair that fits him real well it will help if I can look at them.

Enroute to Winnipeg

German Fliers Stop Over At City Airport Thursday

Enroute to Winnipeg from Grand Rapids in a German-built plane, two representatives of a German airplane factory stopped at the Thief River Falls airport on Thursday. They were forced to land their twin-engine craft here due to bad weather at Winnipeg and stayed in the city over night.

Heinz Schafer, a pilot for 33 years and chief test pilot for the Dornier factory in Munich, and Eugen Ueblacker, mechanical pilot and co-pilot, are on a promotional trip in the hopes of establishing dealerships for their company in the United States and Canada.

The plane they were flying was a DO-28 model with a capacity of six to eight passengers which sells in Germany for $62,000. Schafer explained that the plane was virtually an airborne Cadillac and is designed for special charter and taxi service.

Only 200 feet of runway is needed for take-off and landing while the plane can cruise at 150 miles per hour or travel as slow as 30 miles per hour in flight. Special design with slots in the wing, rudder and flap give the plane considerable bouyancy. If both motors stop, the rate of descent is only 600 feet per minute, Schafer said.

The company also makes a single engine plane with the same characteristics which sells for $35,000. Shafer mentioned the safety factor of two engines, noting that he had flown a single engine craft all around Africa without any difficulty. "This is O. K. if motor is running," he said. "We see many, many trees. If engine is stopping—kaput!"

First model of the plane sold in the United States came to a man in Wisconsin last year and is the plane the men were using on their trip. Schafer, who was a pilot in the German air force during World War II, noted that his company employs 4,000 workers at plants in and near Munich. The Dornier company made "flying boat" cargo planes and as early as 1934 had a regular schedule of two flights per week from Germany to South America. They also made a propellor-driven plane in the early 1940's which attained a speed of more than 500 miles per hour.

This is the first trip to the United States for both men and they say our country is "just like home". "The only difference," Schafer said, "is three marks — only one dollar."

Conservation Dept. Report

Proposed Land Use In East Marshall Cty. Summarized

The preliminary report for the classification of state lands for management in Marshall County, was presented to the citizens of the area at a meeting held Wednesday evening in the school auditorium at Newfolden. Richard Knox, Deputy Commissioner of the Department of Conservation, presided. Following are excerpts from the department's report dealing with recommendations as to the future land-use program for the area:

"As a result of the large scale drainage program undertaken in the early 1900's, some of the northern Minnesota counties were unable to meet their bonded indebtedness on a large portion of their lands. These portions were designated by the legislature as Conservation Areas.

"Under these laws, the state financed the payment of delinquent ditch bonds, which the county was unable to pay. In consideration thereof, the lands within the area which were forefeited for non-payment of taxes became the absolute property of the state. Under these artes the lands thus acquired by the state were placed in charge of the Commissioner of Conservation, with instructions to manage the same for various conservation purposes, including the protection and propagation of wildlife.

"Under other provisions of law these lands must be classified, and those classed as agricultural may be sold by the County Board, with the approval of the Commissioner of Conservation.

"It is the established policy of the department to approve the sale of parcels whenever it is shown that they are better suited for agricultural purposes than for conservation purposes. Those lands best suited to conservation purposes are held for development and management for multiple use by the public.

Land Ownership Pattern

"At the present time Marshall County has approximately 121,193 acres in state ownership or 10½ per cent of the county's total. Of this, 285 acres are under the jurisdiction of the Dvision of State Parks; and 54,571 acres are under the jurisdiction of the Divison of Game and Fish, represented by several Wildlife Management Areas which are described as follows:

Thief Lake Wildlife Management Area

Thief Lake is one of the most important state-owned waterfowl management areas in Minnesota. It contains over 30,000 acres of state-owned lands. It is anticipated that when acquisition is completed that about 33,000 acres will be under management. Thief Lake itself comprises 7,100 acres of this total.

During the drainage boom of the early 1900's, Thief Lake was drained by the construction of Judicial Ditch No. 21. This proved unwise from an agricultural, water management and wildlife standpoint, and public demand for its restoration became quite intense. The 1929 session of the legislature authorized its restoration and the dam at the outlet was completed in 1931.

Rolvaag to Ask for Recount in Governor Race

Acts after Supreme Court Rules Elmer Andersen Is Winner

Attorneys for Democratic Lt. Gov. Karl Rolvaag late last week readied petitions for a recount after Elmer L. Andersen's certification Thursday as winner of the closest governorship race in Minnesota history.

The legal challenge of state canvassing board findings, which were bolstered by a state supreme court ruling, may be filed in any one of the state's 10 judicial districts. The filing must be made within 10 days.

The state board certified Andersen as the winner by 142 votes on the basis of returns which had been amended in 10 of the state's 87 counties. Orginal figures had given Rolvaag a 58-vote margin.

The high court ruled the amended figures should be accepted because corrections had been made before the state canvassers [illegible]

Rolvaag supporters argued that, had similar recounts been undertaken in other counties, more errors would have turned up which would have shown the Democratic candidate a winner.

It was expected that the recount action probably would be filed in one of those areas. The finally certified figures from the Nov. 6 election gave Andersen 619,722, Rolvaag 619,580.

The judge in the district where the petition is filed will serve as the arbiter over the recount, which will be carried out by teams of three inspectors. Each party will name one team member and those two then will select a third. In case there is no agreement, the judge will pick the third member.

Rolvaag backers have indicated they would seek a statewide recount rather than one directed at specific precincts. They informally have suggested that as many as 100 three-member teams be named.

It was estimated that such a force would be able to recheck all of the just over 1½ million ballots cast within about 10 days.

Set Rural Area Development Session Dec. 6

Federal Program to Be Discussed; All Groups Invited

Representatives of all segments of county life will meet Thursday, Dec. 6, at 1:30 in the courthouse assembly room to examine the Rural Area Development program, according to County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk. Various programs enacted have brought on a need for a careful study of community resources. The relationships of various programs will be looked into on Thursday.

Scheduled to meet with the county group are Dr. George Donahue, extension rural sociologist, University of Minnesota, and a district supervisor of extension work from the University of Minnesota. Both men will explain such acts as ARA, the Accelerated Public Works program, and RAD. The emphasis at this meeting will be on rural area development, which can have a very beneficial function in improving and supplementing the work presently done by existing organizations.

RAD is primarily designed to study the human and physical resources of the whole county. Based on such a study, groups can mobilize for action and accelerate the development of the area. The RAD program is not new but is now receiving special attention and reactivation throughout the United States. All federal agencies are cooperating to supply technical data to groups. The extension service is charged with the responsibility of information and organization of RAD.

The county board, the extension committee and the agency heads have already met to explore RAD. All groups are urged to be represented Thursday since the program is of concern to all, Stelmaschuk stated. This is not just a program for the rural area, but a programs for agriculture, the schools, the churches, industry, labor, financial institutions and everyone who lives or works in the county will be affected.

A public meeting for all citizens in the county will be called later this winter so everyone will have a chance to hear the possibilities of RAD and how this may relate to other government and progress of the whole county.

The announcement said the loan will create 45 new jobs.

BIG SPLASH was made by the Kratka bridge east of Thief River Falls last Wednesday when the structure being replaced by Roy Benson & Son of Stephen broke loose and about 100 feet of the span fell into the river. Four workmen were on the bridge when it collapsed and two were injured. Donald Nelson, 32, Newfolden, is recovering in Northwestern hospital from multiple rib fractures and a broken ankle. Leonard Basey, 29, Stephen, was hospitalized overnight and released the following day. Joseph Seidel, Pennington county highway engineer, stated the accident took place about 4 p.m. Wednesday. The bridge crew was working on driving piling prior to strengthening the old bridge for use as a work bridge, but weakened supports apparently caused the structure to twist and pull loose at the south end. A large tractor was used to pull the broken span up on shore.

New Fair Group Plans Annual Meet Dec. 12

To Elect Directors, Formally Organize To Acquire Fair Property

Annual meeting of the newly-organized Pennington County Fair Association, Inc., will be held Wednesday, December 12, at 8 p. m. in the courtroom of the Pennington county courthouse in Thief River Falls. Setting of the date was accomplished at a meeting of the interim board Thursday afternoon at the office of C. W. Rodekuhr, county auditor and secretary-treasurer of the association.

By-laws of the organization were also adopted at the meeting and have now become the official rules under which the association will operate. Appointment of a nominating committee comprised of Art Stenberg, Everett Amundgaard and Adam Lendobeja was also accomplished.

Under the by-laws of the organization, three directors will be elected from each of the five county commissioner districts and one each from the villages of Goodridge and St. Hilaire. The 17-member board, to be elected at the annual meeting December 12, will organize with the election of its own officers.

Election Procedure

According to plans made at the Thursday afternoon session, six candidates for director posts will be selected from each commissioner district and two each from St. Hilaire and Goodridge. Balloting will be held and the election results taking place in the following manner:

All members present will be given the opportunity to vote for all director candidates. Three directors will be selected from each commissioner district with the one receiving the most votes to serve for three years, second most votes for two years and third most votes for one year. Either St. Hilaire or Goodridge will have a director elected for three years and the other will name a two-year director.

End result of the balloting will be a board of directors which has five members for a one-year term and six members each for two-year and three-year terms. All elections in future years will be for three-year terms.

Temporary board elected from the organizational group includes Ray Oen, chairman; Maynard Mehrkens, vice chairman; and C. W. Rodekuhr, secretary-treasurer. Notices of the annual meeting will be sent to all persons holding membership on December 8. Memberships at $5 per person will also be available at the door on the night of the annual meeting December 15.

Formal Organization

Permanent and formal organization of the new association, which plans to acquire the Pennington county fairgrounds and operate the annual exposition, is being done to prepare for such acquisition. Former operating organization, the Pennington County Agricultural Society, Inc., is in the process of attempting dissolution as a result of financial losses and claimed lack of public support. Such dissolution has not taken place nor will it be done by the date of the new association's annual meeting.

Memberships in the new group have been sold during the past year in an attempt to revitalize interest in the county fair and obtain finances for acquiring the fairgrounds property and conducting the fair operations. About 400 memberships have been sold at $5 each for approximately $2,000 in working capital.

DONATION of $25 to the Red Lake-Pennington Association for Retarded Children, an annual project which has been carried on for many years, was made Wednesday evening by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary in Thief River Falls. Mrs. Arnold Kelley, left, auxiliary president, and Mrs. Ole Ness, chairman of the auxiliary committee on the mentally retarded, made the presentation to Theodore Booth, treasurer of the association.

Girl Shoplifters Apprehended Fri.

Four teen-age girls who were boasting of their shoplifting accomplishments at a Thief River Falls department store were apprehended Friday evening after a passerby overheard their conversation and the store management was alerted.

The four girls, who had taken a pair of expensive leather gloves at the S&L company store, were overheard as they were telling some older people in front of the Mint Cafe, "Look at what I stole at S&L." One of the girls had a young brother with her, according to C. R. Waldera, store manager, who was informed of the conversation and apprehended the girls.

Following their apprehension, the girls were turned over to the local police department and their parents were notified. A record was made of the incident and

Reach Only 55% of United Fund Quota by Dec. 1st

Cash and pledges totaling $9,727.81, only 55 per cent of the quota, have been received in the Pennington County United Fund with the deadline for reporting now having been passed. The fund office will close today but Mrs. Ruth Steen will continue as secretary, operating from her home with the Northern State Bank to continue as a collection center.

"We have had a slow response from some employers," stated Richard Bjorkman, fund drive chairman. "Several letters have been sent to self-employed businessmen and the response here has also been slow. Only four of 21 townships have reported. In order to complete the drive, I urge all employers to submit their returns as soon as possible."

George Gessner left Wednesday for Mission, Tex. on a business trip. He expects to be gone about 10 days.

LHS Orchestra To Hold Candy Sale, Purchase Uniforms

In what is hoped to be the final phase of a year-long fund-raising campaign by the Lincoln high school orchestra, a candy sale will begin this week in Thief River Falls. Members of the organization are seeking funds to purchase uniforms which could be used at public performances by the orchestra.

With the money already realized from concerts and car washes previously conducted by the group, successful sale will result in enough money to purchase the uniforms. James Solsten, director, noted that the uniforms would consist of navy blue blazers with crests and would be purchased through a local clothing firm on a bid basis.

Margaret Lynskey, a senior member of the orchestra, is the student manager in charge of the sale. She has organized the members into teams and prizes will be awarded to the winning teams and individuals with the highest sales records. Candy will be the same brand as that sold by the Lincoln Singers last year and will be available in three flavors at one dollar per box.

"This candy is a good product and would make an excellent Christmas gift," Solsten said, adding that he hopes the public will encourage the orchestra studentents when they call at homes in the area. "Since ours is the only LHS musical organization without uniforms, we believe they would add much to the prestige and appearance of the group."

March of Dimes Drive in January Is Discussed Here

Twenty persons were in attendance, and heard a talk by Larry Rieder of St. Cloud, fieldman for the foundation, who also showed motion pictures of work being done in behalf of victims of arthritis and birth defects. Arrangements for the meeting were made by Richard G. Mabey, chairman of the Pennington county chapter.

Enroute to Winnipeg

German Fliers Stop Over At City Airport Thursday

Enroute to Winnipeg from Grand Rapids in a German-built plane, two representatives of a German airplane factory stopped at the Thief River Falls airport on Thursday. They were forced to land their twin-engine craft here due to bad weather at Winnipeg and stayed in the city over night.

Heinz Schafer, a pilot for 33 years and chief test pilot for the Dornier factory in Munich, and Eugen Ueblacker, mechanical pilot and co-pilot, are on a promotional trip in the hopes of establishing dealerships for their company in the United States and Canada.

The plane they were flying was a DO-28 model with a capacity of six to eight passengers which sells in Germany for $62,000. Schafer explained that the plane was virtually an airborne Cadillac and is designed for special charter and taxi service.

Only 200 feet of runway is needed for take-off and landing while the plane can cruise at 150 miles per hour or travel as slow as 30 miles per hour in flight. Special design with slots in the wing, rudder and flap give the plane considerable bouyancy. If both motors stop, the rate of descent is only 600 feet per minute, Schafer said.

The company also makes a single engine plane with the same characteristics which sells for $35,000. Shafer mentioned the safety factor of two engines, noting that he had flown a single engine craft all around Africa without any difficulty. "This is O. K. if motor is running," he said. "We see many, many trees. If engine is stopping—kaput!"

First model of the plane sold in the United States came to a man in Wisconsin last year and is the plane the men were using on their trip. Schafer, who was a pilot in the German air force during World War II, noted that his company employ's 4,000 workers at plants in and near Munich. The Dornier company made "flying boat" cargo planes and as early as 1934 had a regular schedule of two flights per week from Germany to South America. They also made a propellor-driven plane in the early 1940's which attained a speed of more than 500 miles per hour.

This is the first trip to the United States for both men and they say our country is "just like home". "The only difference," Schafer said, "is three marks — only one dollar."

Conservation Dept. Report

Proposed Land Use In East Marshall Cty. Summarized

The preliminary report for the classification of state lands for management in Marshall County, was presented to the citizens of the area at a meeting held Wednesday evening in the school auditorium at Newfolden. Richard Knox, Deputy Commissioner of the Department of Conservation, presided. Following are excerpts from the department's report dealing with recommendations as to the future land-use program for the area:

"As a result of the large scale drainage program undertaken in the early 1900's, some of the northern Minnesota counties were unable to meet their bonded indebtedness on a large portion of their lands. These portions were designated by the legislature as Conservation Areas.

"Under these laws, the state financed the payment of delinquent ditch bonds, which the county was unable to pay. In consideration thereof, the lands within the area which were forefeited for non-payment of taxes became the absolute property of the state. Under these artes the lands thus acquired by the state were placed in charge of the Commissioner of Conservation, with instructions to manage the same for various conservation purposes, including the protection and propagation of wildlife.

"Under other provisions of law these lands must be classified, and those classed as agricultural may be sold by the County Board, with the approval of the Commissioner of Conservation.

"It is the established policy of the department to approve the sale of parcels whenever it is shown that they are better suited for agricultural purposes than for conservation purposes. Those lands best suited to conservation purposes are held for development and management for multiple use by the public.

Land Ownership Pattern

"At the present time Marshall County has approximately 121,133 acres in state ownership or 10¼ per cent of the county's total. Of this, 285 acres are under the jurisdiction of the Dvision of State Parks; and 54,571 acres are under the jurisdiction of the Divison of Game and Fish, represented by several Wildlife Management Areas which are described as follows:

Thief Lake Wildlife Management Area

Thief Lake is one of the most important state-owned waterfowl management areas in Minnesota. It contains over 30,000 acres of state-owned lands. It is anticipated that when acquisition is completed that about 33,000 acres will be under management. Thief Lake itself comprises 7,100 acres of this total.

During the drainage boom of the early 1900's, Thief Lake was drained by the construction of Judicial Ditch No. 21. This proved unwise from an agricultural, water management and wildlife standpoint, and public demand for its restoration became quite intense. The 1929 session of the legislature authorized its restoration and the dam at the outlet was completed in 1931.

Rolvaag to Ask for Recount in Governor Race

Acts after Supreme Court Rules Elmer Andersen Is Winner

Attorneys for Democratic Lt. Gov. Karl Rolvaag late last week readied petitions for a recount after Elmer L. Andersen's certification Thursday as winner of the closest governorship race in Minnesota history.

The legal challenge of state canvassing board findings, which were bolstered by a state supreme court ruling, may be filed in any one of the state's 10 judicial districts. The filing must be made within 10 days.

The state board certified Andersen as the winner by 142 votes on the basis of returns which had been amended in 10 of the state's 87 counties. Orginal figures had given Rolvaag a 58-vote margin.

The high court ruled the amended figures should be accepted because corrections had been made before the state canvassers met.

Rolvaag supporters argued that, had similar recounts been undertaken in other counties, more errors would have turned up which would have shown the Democratic candidate a winner.

It was expected that the recount action probably would be filed in one of those areas. The finally certified figures from the Nov. 6 election gave Andersen 619,722, Rolvaag 619,580.

The judge in the district where the petition is filed will serve as the arbiter over the recount, which will be carried out by teams of three inspectors. Each party will name one team member and those two then will select a third. In case there is no agreement, the judge will pick the third member.

Rolvaag backers have indicated they would seek a statewide recount rather than one directed at specific precincts. They informally have suggested that as many as 100 three-member teams be named.

It was estimated that such a force would be able to recheck all of the just over 1¼ million ballots cast within about 10 days.

Set Rural Area Development Session Dec. 6

Federal Program to Be Discussed; All Groups Invited

Representatives of all segments of county life will meet Thursday, Dec. 6, at 1:30 in the courthouse assembly room to examine the Rural Area Development program, according to County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk. Various programs enacted have brought on a need for a careful study of community resources. The relationships of various programs will be looked into on Thursday.

Scheduled to meet with the county group are Dr. George Donahue, extension rural sociologist, University of Minnesota, and a district supervisor of extension work from the University of Minnesota. Both men will explain such acts as ARA, the Accelerated Public Works program, and RAD. The emphasis at this meeting will be on rural area development, which can have a very beneficial function in improving and supplementing the work presently done by existing organizations.

RAD is primarily designed to study the human and physical resources of the whole county. Based on such a study, groups can mobilize for action and accelerate the development of the area. The RAD program is not new but is now receiving special attention and reactivation throughout the United States. All federal agencies are cooperating to supply technical data to groups. The extension service is charged with the responsibility of information and organization of RAD.

The county board, the extension committee and the agency heads have already met to explore RAD. All groups are urged to be represented Thursday since the program is of concern to all, Stelmaschuk stated. This is not just a program for the rural area, but a programs for agriculture, the schools, the churches, industry, labor, financial institutions and everyone who lives or works in the county will be affected.

A public meeting for all citizens in the county will be called later this winter so everyone will have a chance to hear the possibilities of RAD and how this may relate to other government and progress of the whole county.

New Fair Group Plans Annual Meet Dec. 12

DONATION of $25 to the Red Lake-Pennington Association for Retarded Children, an annual project which has been carried on for many years, was made Wednesday evening by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary in Thief River Falls. Mrs. Arnold Kelley, left, auxiliary president, and Mrs. Ole Ness, chairman of the auxiliary committee on the mentally retarded, made the presentation to Theodore Booth, treasurer of the association.

To Elect Directors, Formally Organize To Acquire Fair Property

Annual meeting of the newly-organized Pennington County Fair Association, Inc., will be held Wednesday, December 12, at 8 p. m. in the courtroom of the Pennington county courthouse in Thief River Falls. Setting of the date was accomplished at a meeting of the interim board Thursday afternoon at the office of C. W. Rodekuhr, county auditor and secretary-treasurer of the association.

By-laws of the organization were also adopted at the meeting and have now become the official rules under which the association will operate. Appointment of a nominating committee comprised of Art Stenberg, Everett Amundgaard and Adam Landobeja was also accomplished.

Under the by-laws of the organization, three directors will be elected from each of the five county commissioner districts and one each from the villages of Goodridge and St. Hilaire. The 17-member board, to be elected at the annual meeting December 12, will organize with the election of its own officers.

Election Procedure

According to plans made at the Thursday afternoon session, six candidates for director posts will be selected from each commissioner district and two each from St. Hilaire and Goodridge. Balloting will be held and the election results taking place in the following manner:

All members present will be given the opportunity to vote for all director candidates. Three directors will be selected from each commissioner district with the one receiving the most votes to serve for three years, second most votes for two years and third most votes for one year. Either St. Hilaire or Goodridge will have a director elected for three years and the other will name a two-year director.

End result of the balloting will be a board of directors which has five members for a one-year term and six members each for two-year and three-year terms. All elections in future years will be for three-year terms.

Temporary board elected from the organizational group includes Ray Oen, chairman; Maynard Mehrkens, vice chairman; and C. W. Rodekuhr, secretary-treasurer. Notices of the annual meeting will be sent to all persons holding membership on December 8. Memberships at $5 per person will also be available at the door on the night of the annual meeting December 15.

Formal Organization

Permanent and formal organization of the new association, which plans to acquire the Pennington county fairgrounds and operate the annual exposition, is being done to prepare for such acquisition. Former operating organization, the Pennington County Agricultural Society, Inc., is in the process of attempting dissolution as a result of financial losses and claimed lack of public support. Such dissolution has not taken place nor will it be done by the date of the new association's annual meeting.

Memberships in the new group have been sold during the past year in an attempt to revitalize interest in the county fair and obtain finances for acquiring the fairgrounds property and conducting the fair operations. About 400 memberships have been sold at $5 each for approximately $2,000 in working capital.

Girl Shoplifters Apprehended Fri.

Four teen-age girls who were boasting of their shoplifting accomplishments at a Thief River Falls department store were apprehended Friday evening after a passerby overheard their conversation and the store management was alerted.

The four girls, who had taken a pair of expensive leather gloves at the S&L company store, were overheard as they were telling some older people in front of the Mint Cafe, "Look at what I stole at S&L." One of the girls had a young brother with her, according to C. R. Waldera, store manager, who was informed of the conversation and apprehended the girls.

Following their apprehension, the girls were turned over to the local police department and their parents were notified. A record was made of the incident and

Reach Only 55% of United Fund Quota by Dec. 1st

Cash and pledges totaling $9,727.81, only 55 per cent of the quota, have been received in the Pennington County United Fund with the deadline for reporting now having been passed. The fund office will close today but Mrs. Ruth Steen will continue as secretary, operating from her home with the Northern State Bank to continue as a collection center.

"We have had a slow response from some employers," stated Richard Bjorkman, fund drive chairman. "Several letters have been sent to self-employed businessmen and the response here has also been slow. Only four of 21 townships have reported. In order to complete the drive, I urge all employers to submit their returns as soon as possible."

George Gessner left Wednesday for Mission, Tex. on a business trip. He expects to be gone about 10 days.

LHS Orchestra To Hold Candy Sale, Purchase Uniforms

In what is hoped to be the final phase of a year-long fund-raising campaign by the Lincoln high school orchestra, a candy sale will begin this week in Thief River Falls. Members of the organization are seeking funds to purchase uniforms which could be used at public performances by the orchestra.

With the money already realized from concerts and car washes previously conducted by the group, successful sale will result in enough money to purchase the uniforms. James Solsten, director, noted that the uniforms would consist of navy blue blazers with crests and would be purchased through a local clothing firm on a bid basis.

Margaret Lynskey, a senior member of the orchestra, is the student manager in charge of the sale. She has organized the members into teams and prizes will be awarded to the winning teams and individuals with the highest sales records. Candy will be the same brand as that sold by the Lincoln Singers last year and will be available in three flavors at one dollar per box.

"This candy is a good product and would make an excellent Christmas gift," Solsten said, adding that he hopes the public will encourage the orchestra studentents when they call at homes in the area. "Since ours is the only LHS musical organization without uniforms, we believe they would add much to the prestige and appearance of the group."

March of Dimes Drive in January Is Discussed Here

Plans for the 1963 March of Dimes to be conducted in January in behalf of the National Foundation were discussed at a six-county regional meeting at the Rex Cafe last Wednesday evening. Twenty persons were in attendance, and heard a talk by Larry Rieder of St. Cloud, fieldman for the foundation, who also showed motion pictures of work being done in behalf of victims of arthritis and birth defects. Arrangements for the meeting were made by Richard G. Mabey, chairman of the Pennington county chapter.

BIG SPLASH was made by the Kratka bridge east of Thief River Falls last Wednesday when the structure being replaced by Roy Benson & Son of Stephen broke loose and about 100 feet of the span fell into the river. Four workmen were on the bridge when it collapsed and two were injured. Donald Nelson, 32, Newfolden, is recovering in Northwestern hospital from multiple rib fractures and a broken ankle. Leonard Basey, 29, Stephen, was hospitalized overnight and released the following day. Joseph Seidel, Pennington county highway engineer, stated the accident took place about 4 p.m. Wednesday. The bridge crew was working on driving piling prior to strengthening the old bridge for use as a work bridge, but weakened supports apparently caused the structure to twist and pull loose at the south end. A large tractor was used to pull the broken span up on shore.

Jacobson, member of the Thief River Falls city council, was appointed by the city's governing body as a member of the three-man committee which will study the wage dispute between Municipal Drivers and Helpers Union and the city of Thief River Falls. The fact-finding panel, requested by the union, will include the city's representative, a representative appointed by the union and a third member agreed upon by the two representatives. The action was taken at a special council meeting late last week.

Patricia Anderson Wed to Robert Swan Nov. 24th

Miss Patricia Anderson of Clintonville, Wisc., became the bride of Robert Swan of Clintonville at a double-ring ceremony at First Lutheran church of Middle River Saturday, November 24. Rev. James Hanson officiated at the 2 o'clock service which was performed before an altar decorated with vases of white mums and gladioli.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. V. N. Anderson of Middle River, and Floyd Swan of Appleton, Wisconsin.

Mrs. James Hanson played Purcell's "Trumpet Tune" at the church organ. The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Oscar Anderson, wore a floor-length gown which she designed and fashioned herself. Of white wool, it featured a basic sheath with wrap-around overskirt and short sleeves. She wore a fingertip length veil and her jewels were pearl earrings. Her bouquet was a mum-encircled orchid.

The bride chose for her maid of honor her sister, Jenene Anderson of Fargo. The bridesmaid was another sister, Wanda Anderson of Middle River. They wore identical dresses of sapphire blue velveteen and carried mums in a cascading bouquet. Jewelry accents were pearl necklaces, gifts of the bride.

Attending the groom as best man was Dallice Mills of Clintonville, and the groomsman was Donald Anderson, brother of the bride. Another of her brothers, Robert Anderson, and Kendall Kolden of St. Hilaire, shared ushering duties. The men wore dark suits with white carnation boutonnieres.

Mrs. Anderson chose for her daughter's wedding a beige dress and hat with brown accessories, and wore a corsage of bronze mums and woodrose. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. T. S. Kolden of St. Hilaire, wore a navy blue dress with black accessories, and a corsage of white carnations.

A wedding reception for approximately 100 guests followed the ceremony. It was held in the church parlors, and given by the bride's mother. Mrs. Harry Young presided as hostess and Mrs. Edward Monson of Roseau, the bride's sister, registered the guests.

Centering the serving table was a three-tiered wedding cake topped with white roses and sculptured candles. The guests were served buffet-style.

Cutting and serving the cake were two of the bride's aunts, Mrs. C. E. Hinkle, Fargo, N. D., and Mrs. William Thompson. Miss Hattie Anderson of Warren and Mrs. D. M. Barton of Fargo, N. D. poured. Both are aunts of the bride. Serving punch were Misses Eileen Kimbrough of this city, a cousin of the bride, and Miss Joan Lundquist of Middle River. Opening and displaying the gifts were Mrs. Robert Hanna of Fargo, cousin of the bride, and Miss Linda Toren of Middle River. Assisting them were Miss Kay Johnson, Appleton, Wisc., and Mrs. Dallice Mills, Clintonville, Wisc. Those who assisted in the serving were Mmes. Ray Gusa, William Halvorson, Archie Prosser, Bennie Hanson, Wesley Waltonen, Siama Halme, and Arne Tuura.

Out-of-towners attending were from Fargo, N. D.; Warren, Coon Rapids, Roseau, Thief River Falls, Greenbush, Oklee and St. Hilaire, Minn. and from Appleton and Clintonville, Wisc.

The young couple left for Clintonville following the reception. The groom, a 1957 graduate of Lawrence College, Appleton, Wisc., is a director of instrumental music and also football coach of the high school there. The bride, a 1957 graduate of Middle River high school, and a 1960 graduate of Moorhead state college, is an art instructor at the public school in Clintonville. They will be at home at 78 Anne Street in that city.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the kitchen of

MRS. JAMES WALKER

Bread has long been called "The Staff of Life," and yet there are many homemakers who admit that they have never been able to turn out a creditable loaf of bread, or a really good sweet roll.

Part of the secret lies in precise measurement of ingredients, part in having fresh yeast, and part in following directions to the letter. Omitting one of these essentials has proven to be the pitfall of many a would-be bread-baker. Mrs. James Walker, a city home-maker who has a real knack with a sweet roll, sends us her fool-proof method. Even timid brides should be able to succeed with this recipe. (Don't tell hubby you're about to embark on the venture, however. Keep the secret from him until you bring a basketful of steaming rolls to the table for his supper, and then give him a chance to brag. . .) This would be a good time to ask for that fur, the new rug for the living room, or the bigger diamond you've always wanted.

FOUNDATION SWEET ROLL DOUGH

2 or 3 pkgs. (envelopes) dry yeast
½ cup lukewarm water
¾ cup shortening
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel (optional)
1½ cups scalded milk, cooled to lukewarm
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¾ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
3 eggs
8 — or — 9 cups flour

Dissolve the yeast in the lukewarm water. Cream shortening and sugar in a large bowl. Add salt and well-beaten eggs, lemon peel, and nutmeg, and the lukewarm milk with the dissolved yeast in it. Add 3 cups of the flour and beat with your electric mixer until smooth. Add the remaining flour, or just enough to make the mixture easy to handle. Turn it out onto a floured board and knead until smooth and elastic. Place in a well-greased bowl. Brush the top with melted butter. Let rise in a warm (but not hot) place until doubled in bulk. Punch it down, and let rise a second time. Then shape into rolls, brush them with melted butter, and set to rise until light and double their original size. Bake in a fairly hot oven (about 400 degrees) about 12 minutes, or until golden brown. Remove from pan, brush tops with melted butter, and cover lightly.

This dough can be kept in the refrigerator for several days, if you wish, and the desired amount used as needed. Let the dough rise until light before shaping it into rolls, and proceed as with freshly-mixed dough.

Our featured home-maker has a family of six children, only one of whom is still at home with her and her husband. Jim, the eldest, is married, and a consulting engineer in Bemidji; Brian, Hoyt Lakes, Florence, Plymouth, Mich.; Kathleen, Denver, Colo.; William, who graduated last year from St. John's University, Collegeville and now attends the U.N.D. at Grand Forks, N. D.; and Pat who is an 8th grade student at St. Bernard's Catholic school in this city.

Mr. Walker is owner-operator of Walker Sand and Gravel Co.

His wife likes to cook a big turkey, with all the trimmings, and serve it to all the family, which now includes also three grandsons and two granddaughters. This is her main delight. Her hobbies include art work, mostly china painting; her family; entertaining, and cooking. She has contributed many of these sweet rolls for bake sales; when we learned of her ability, we called her for a recipe, and she was kind enough to favor us with this one. Perhaps it will become one of your favorites, too.

The Library Corner

by Virginia Gjernes

Christmas is coming. . . (This startling revelation is only to enlighten those fortunates who have not yet flipped the calendar page) . . .so, when you are weary from the gift-go-round, come browse a bit at Carnegie Public Library. The shelves are crowded with volumes and volumes of happenings to real and imaginary people. Each book is guaranteed to sweep that Christmas list from your mind and make you forget, for awhile, the things you should have done and haven't or will do and shouldn't.

One of the current best sellers is a shocking, tragic, powerful novel about "The Thin Red Line" in which adventures, nightmares, self discoveries and absurdities of men at war are re-created for the reader who enjoys a literary work of art. James Jones' new novel, now in its third printing, will undoubtedly find a place in American literature along with the best works of the past. War and its happenings and its aftermath have been written about since wars began and men could tell about them, but only once in awhile does a novel about a war take its stand as a major achievement in the history of literature . . . this one will.

On the light side and for Ogden Nash addicts. . ."Everyone But Thee and Me", complete with illustrations by John Alcorn, is now on the library lending list. Nash's technique is his alone and he is at his best in this new book. His rhyme is never without reason! So for reading the light, and the mighty, try Nash because he's better than ever.

James Thurber is represented with a posthumus volume of a variety of pieces gathered together by his widow and called, appropriately enough "Credos and Curios". Those who have always enjoyed the work of Mr. Thurber will not be disappointed by this collection. . .for the fullness of Thurber the man is preserved along with his wit, his ideas, his imagination, his sentiment and his seriousness. The foreward written by his widow, Helen, quotes her husband; "Let us not look back in anger, nor forward in fear, but around in awareness".

The profiles of E. B. White, Elliott Nugent, George S. Kaufman and others are more than profiles for the personalities come alive when described by the author. "Six for the Road", "Return of the Native," and "The Future, If Any, of Comedy" will be read over and over and enjoyed more, for such is the writing of Mr. Thurber. The book also contains some of the author's own drawings. . .for no Thurber book would be complete without them.

"The Cape Cod Lighter" is the work of John O'Hara's pen. A novelist, Mr. O'Hara's offering here is short stories. Mr. O'Hara takes a subject, almost any subject, and writes knowingly and meaningfully. Readers who rely on fiction for entertainment will be standing in line to borrow this book.

Those on the Christmas shopping beat should remember the periodicals on the shelves at the library. Popular home magazines, timely news coverage publications, sports periodicals and many other magazines are available for those who would care to look through them while visiting the library.

Reference books, naturally, cover many of the bookshelves and cover the walls of your Public Library. These reference books may not be taken from the premises but are constantly available to those who have need for them.

Winter is well on its way—and extremely cold weather will soon be upon us, therefore, it is good to remember that children enrolled in the sixth grades and below may not use the library facilities or browse through the books on the shelves after 6 p. m. unless accompanied by a parent.

HAPPY HOMEMAKING

by Laura Duerst

PENNINGTON COUNTY HOME AGENT

Many of you have been or will be doing your Christmas shopping. I would like to mention a few of the safety tips you should remember when considering a child's toy. Toys you buy should create attitudes of safe living.

Some toys now on the market create improper safety attitudes that may be carried into adult life. For example there are toys that create excitement through a race between miniature cars and trains at the railroad crossing. When skills or judgement fails, they crash — to the merriment of all. Ask yourself what effect will such toys have upon the future drivers.

Here are some questions to ask before you buy toys.

1. Does the electrical toy carry the Underwriter's label insuring its safety? Are there definite instructions for operation included?
2. Has poisonous lead paint been used on the toy?
3. Do dolls and stuffed animals have button eyes that may be bitten off and swallowed by young children?
4. Do metal cars and trucks have sharp corners which can cut the child?
5. Is the child for whom you bought the BB gun or the .22 caliber rifle old enough to learn how to handle a gun safely?

Giving careful consideration to the safety of toys before buying them may prevent many an accident.

Last Tuesday several Christmas ideas were shown at the homemakers lesson. I have received several calls asking if I have them in the office. I will have them beginning today, so anyone wanting to see them or get a pattern may do so.

One idea I will pass along to you now is decorate bells. Cover paper cups with foil, crimping neatly around cup bottoms, then thread ribbon through each hole. Knot it on inside of cup to keep in place, leaving a little ribbon above the cup for hanging. Tie dime store jingle bells inside. Decorate outside if you wish in any manner desired.

Uniform Traffic Controls Sought

Changes Are Asked by State Motorists' Group

A major drive to secure greater uniformity in traffic control devices—signs, signals and markings—is now under way throughout the nation, according to Dr. William G. Sauer, president of the Minnesota State Automobile Assn.

"This intensified program for greater traffic signal uniformity was launched with the publication of a new manual on uniform traffic control devices," Dr. Sauer said. "Then followed a series of 13 regional conferences designed to acquaint state and local officials with the nature of new recommendations and the great importance of uniformity.

"For some time, AAA has supported measures to promote uniformity in traffic control devices throughout the United States," he added.

Recently a national confebence on the subject was held in Washington, D. C. in cooperation with the President's Committee for Safety to focus national attention on the problem.

"The U. S. Bureau of Public Roads has made mandatory the use of the new standards on all future installations along highways receiving Federal-aid," the AAA official declared. "In addition, the Bureau will permit use of Federal-aid funds on a 50-50 matching basis both to install standard devices and to make engineering studies to determine the needs in each state."

December's Here, But Only Calendar Can Give Proof

Month Opens on Record High of 54 Degrees As Rivers Remain De-Iced

Were it not for calendar watching and Christmas decorations, few area residents would believe that December is already here. The month opened with a record high reading of 54 degrees Saturday at the municipal airport with North Central Airlines reporting a low reading that day of 30 degrees. Similar records were set at most points throughout the state.

The high of 54 and low of 30 compare as follows with the past few years: 34 and 12 in 1961, 24 and —14 in 1960, 32 and 16 in 1959 and 8 and —5 in 1958. Very little ice is to be found on rivers in the area and few people took serious note of the fact that fish spearing season officially opened on Saturday.

November ended in fine fashion also with high and low readings of 43 and 28 degrees and eight consecutive high readings above the freezing mark. High reading for November was 51 degrees on November 26 with a low of 10 being recorded on November 22.

High and low temperatures during the past several days included 45 and 30 on Thursday, 43 and 28 on Friday, 54 and 30 on Saturday, 51 and 26 on Sunday and a low of 30 degrees last night. The forecast calls for variable cloudiness and mild today with considerable cloudiness tonight and tomorrow. Widely scattered showers are expected tonight with cooler temperatures tonight and tomorrow. Highs of 45 to 55 are expected today with lows in the 30's tonight.

Give Tips on Averting Christmas Tree Fires

Some cautions against fire hazards around Christmas trees are issued this week by extension foresters at the University of Minnesota. William Miles and Marvin Smith say most Christmas tree fires are caused by carelessness rather than the tree itself. But since the careless element can't be totally eliminated, the foresters suggest some safety tips.

First, choose a fresh tree. Tap the base against the ground. If a number of needles fall off, the tree is probably too dry and should be discarded. Make a new slanting cut at the base right after buying the tree, and keep the base in water at all times—whether the tree is inside or out.

Second, you can get some protection with a chemical solution. One is a mixture of nine ounces of borax and four ounces of boric acid in one gallon of lukewarm water. This can be sprayed on the tree.

Another solution is a mixture of nine parts of water glass (sodium silicate) in one part of water containing a wetting agent, such as a kitchen detergent. Use one teaspoon of detergent to a quart of water. This gives a shiny transparent colorless coating. For spraying, it may be necessary to thin the mixture with water and spray the tree more than once. This method is somewhat messier than using borax and boric acid but gives better protection.

Even if a tree has been sprayed, it is not fireproof. After the tree is up, place it well away from registers or radiators. Don't block staircases, doorways, or areas of heavy travel. Check electric lights against bare wiring or defective sockets.

Don't use inflammable ornaments. Keep gift wrappings away from the base of the tree. Don't leave Christmas lights burning over night or when you're away from home. As soon as you're through with the tree, remove it from the house. Don't attempt to burn it in the fireplace or furnace.

Girl Shoplifters Apprehended Fri.

girls involved and an investigation is now being conducted prior to the disposition of the case.

Incidence of shoplifting at this time of year is reported to be high since stores have exceptionally large stocks of merchandise on the shelves for the Christmas market. The change in season and availability of items apparently stimulates the shoplifting urge, local merchants believe.

"People often hear of shoplifting problems and wonder how children could do this without their parents' knowledge," stated Elton Cummings, local police chief, "but believe me, they do it. I would encourage parents to be alert to items which their children have but which were not purchased for them by the parents.

"Shoplifting is not uncommon among children from good homes. We have found that youngsters once started have a tendency to continue shoplifting until they are apprehended and that the practice usually stops after they have been caught." The Chamber of Commerce retail trade committee instituted a shoplifting control program several years ago, posting in various public places laws in regard to shoplifting.

Youngsters apprehended are placed on police records and their parents are notified. A thorough investigation of their background is made and they are either turned back to their parents or brought to juvenile court, depending on the facts turned up in the investigation. Thief River Falls has no greater problem than most communities, but an alerted public can reduce the problem even more, merchants and authorities believe.

of Rhyme & Reason

BY MARY LUNDIN

IF I WERE A TRF SCHOOL ADMINISTRATOR I would have a standing reservation at Northwestern Hospital to be sure of immediate care when I was rushed there following a nervous collapse. These men hold positions which can offer only one real satisfaction—self-knowledge that they are doing their best for the benefit of future generations.

My sympathies go with the superintendent, high school and elementary principals and elementary director as they seek solutions to a multitude of problems. Meeting these problems is, of course, the job for which they are being paid. But it is a thankless and endless task.

If it is not bad enough to arrange scheduling in a manner which is of the most benefit to the largest number of students, to find spaces for teaching so that the best curriculum can be offered, to secure competent teachers for this curriculum and to provide for minority and special groups—these men must also face a public which questions their ability and integrity. To less than this pressure sturdy men have been known to throw up their hands and surrender.

I would not attempt to tell a pilot how to land an airplane on a mountain in a heavy fog with all engines out and a full load of passengers aboard. Neither do I feel qualified to tell a school administrator what should be taught, to whom, in how many classrooms or at what expense. I figure the pilot has been trained to meet the crises of his situation and has experience on which to rely. I feel that school administrators are also trained and experienced and I would rather place the education of my children in their care than under my own unintelligent ideas.

There is no question in my mind that the school administration knows what is needed to teach district youngsters—nor is there any question that others further removed from the existing situation know less. It boils down to accepting a professional recommendation or non-professional personal opinion—accepting the diagnosis of a physician or Aunt Mary's cure-all herbs.

I can see no reason which the administration would deliberately want to over-build—no reason why these dedicated individuals would seek unnecessary construction—or that the board of education would permit them to if they did. I would, if I were a school administrator, resent having my integrity questioned in this situation.

With each frustrating meeting of the present board—wherein there is a distinct rift of opinion—the unhealthy situation compounds itself. Proposals become ridiculous and are offered with the apparent only real motives being those of providing some sort of substitute for the original and face-saving because of original opposition. There is a song which should be sung to open each board meeting. It goes something like, "The more we get together, the happier we'll be. . . ."

"Thought I'd drop in and see you about that umbrella you borrowed from me last week." "Sorry, I loaned it to a friend of mine. Do you want it?" "Well, not for myself, but the fellow I borrowed it from says the owner wants it."

"I am a government inspector entitled to inspect your farm," the man said, flashing his card to the farmer. Screams were heard shortly from the pasture where the inspector was being chased by a bull. Leaning over the fence the farmer shouted as the inspector drew near, "Show him your card, mister, show him your card."

According to medical reports, people can live much longer if they cut out everything that makes them want to.

Feelings of few people would be hurt if the signs erected by the VFW Post warning of the thin ice danger on the river were not necessary. In other words, it would be all right if the weather stays warm enough so that the river is open all winter.

LET'S BE PRACTICAL

Jolly Old St. Nicholas,
Won't you lend an ear?
Christmas time is coming soon,
In fact it's almost here.

I don't need ties at all this year.
(Doesn't that sound funny)
One thing would bring the mostest cheer—
Money. Money. Money.

December 14 Is SCD Deadline for Ordering Trees

16 Varieties Available for Field and Farmstead Windbreaks, Shelterbelts

December 14 has been set as the deadline for ordering trees through the Pennington county soil conservation district office, according to Oscar Houske, chairman of the board of supervisors. Trees ordered now will be received for spring planting at low prices made possible by grouping or orders for large volume buying.

Trees in 16 varieties will be available at costs ranging from two to six cents per tree but are only for farmstead and field windbreaks and shelterbelts, Houske noted.

Planting of a farmstead windbreak will beautify the property and provide protection from wind and snow, resulting in reduced home heating costs. It has also been proved that livestock will gain more weight when protected by a farmstead windbreak rather than exposed to the elements, Houske said.

Orders may be placed by calling at the district office located in the basement of the county courthouse in Thief River Falls.

Marshall Co. Land Use Report Is Released by Conservation Dept.

The primary management objectives on the area are to provide waterfowl production habitat and waterfowl hunting. An important secondary objective is to improve the area for sharp-tailed grouse. Management is also directed to improvements for deer, ruffed grouse, moose and furbearers.

"Development of the unit to improve conditions for game and to improve hunting has been stepped up in recent years and it is anticipated that this will continue for several more years. Some of the more important work scheduled includes:

1. Increasing the waterfowl feeding area by developing more cropland.
2. Increasing the marsh acreage by impounding water; especially along the Moose River.
3. Improving nesting habitat by removing brush through controlled burning and grazing and maintaining more grass.
4. Increasing local goose production and hunting with an intensive goose management program.

"Over 1200 acres on the unit are leased to neighboring farmers for agricultural purposes. These leases are taken to improve the area for wildlife, and at the same time they serve to supplement several adjoining farmers income. More emphasis is being placed on grazing leases in place of haying.

"A management technique to reduce waterfowl depredations was started in 1960 on Thief Lake, the Roseau River Wildlife Management Area and the Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge. Starting about August 1, along with the commencement of the small grain harvest, grain is distributed in prepared feeding sites within the wildlife areas. This is done each day and enough grain is fed to last until the next day. At the same time, local farmers and others are asked to report any flights of waterfowl on to swathed grain.

Grygla Wildlife Management Area

This is a 320 acre unit of Conservation Area land that was dedicated to wildlife management in 1959. Located 4½ miles north of Grygla on the east county line, it is primarily marsh and open water, bordered by brush and aspen. This is a very good waterfowl production and hunting area and also produces deer, grouse, muskrats, and mink.

It is proposed that 80 acres of private land be added to the unit so that the entire marsh is state-owned. Additional Conservation Area lands may be added to the unit in the future.

No development is proposed for this area for the immediate future.

Espelie Wildlife Management Area

This 160 acre tract is located 3 miles southeast of Grygla and was purchased from the Department of Rural Credit in 1956. Most of the tract is marsh and brush, and provides habitat and hunting for deer, ducks, grouse and furbearers. It is proposed to add 160 acres of adjacent Conservation Area land to this unit. No development is proposed for the future.

Mudlac Wildlife Management Area

This 240 acre unit of Conservation Area land was also dedicated to wildlife management in 1959. It is adjacent to the northwest boundary of the Agassiz and most of this unit is brush and marsh. No additional acreage is proposed to be added to this unit although a land exchange involving equal acreage is being considered.

Because of its proximity to the federal refuge, this area provides excellent waterfowl hunting at times. Deer and grouse are also present.

Florian Wildlife Management Area

This unit is located three miles east of Florian and 2¼ miles north of Old Mill State Park. It contains 965 acres, of which about 450 is marsh and water and the remaining acreage mostly hay meadow, brush and offsite aspen. The area lies in the north-south direction between two beach lines of glacial Lake Agassiz.

The area was purchased by the state through negotiations with three private landowners and the County.

"It provides excellent habitat and public hunting for waterfowl and deer, and is also an excellent waterfowl production area.

"It is proposed to add 120 acres of Trust Fund land to this unit on the north side. Further acquisition plans depend to some extent on what the final development plan for the area is to be.

Thief River Falls is not a poor community. The only thing that is poor is the attitude of those wonderful citizens who say that the community is poor. The shameful words that have been and are being uttered by some forecasters of doom in our community should be taken with a great amount of seasoning. Perhaps it would be well to show some evidence that Thief River Falls is not the shaky, declining, hard-up image that some would project.

In spite of the national trends, Thief River's population has held pretty stable and the city proper has even grown slightly over the past few years. In analyzing payrolls one can see fewer farmers, true, but more manufacturing employees, more retail and wholesale employees, more processing employees, and more government employees than the community has ever known. Furthermore, these people have more purchasing ability and stability than they have ever had.

Standards of living in this community have risen remarkably here in Thief River Falls just as they have across the nation during the last 10 years. If some folks have trouble making ends meet or trouble paying their taxes, it might often be due to the "cost of high living" rather than the "high cost of living." On the average, however, it appears that our citizens aren't hurting too badly.

Even many of the unemployed and the retired aged are much better off now than years ago due to the government programs that have been designed to provide for their welfare. Certainly incomes could be higher, employment could be higher, housing could be better, educational levels could be higher, but by and large Thief River is better off and has a better future than it has ever had.

There will be some adverse things happening to our community occasionally such as the tragic crop situation of the past two years and the losing of some railroad employees, or the loss of an occasional business, or the moving away of prominent citizens — but these occurrences are the exception rather than the rule and for some reason they receive more lip-service than the good things.

How many people talk about the 40-plus new families in town since last May? Or the growing payrolls at some of our newest businesses in town? Or the potential that exists for livestock enterprises in this area? Or for new crops that have never been tried? Or for cropping practices that some have never used? Or how many discuss the fact that the Thief River Falls trade area is definitely growing as more business comes in from the Red River Valley and eastern North Dakota and other distant points?

It's easy to vote "no", or to cuss out the Chamber of Commerce, or Jobs, Inc., or the city council, or the school board, or the county board, or the State of Minnesota, or Uncle Sam — but it takes honest Americanism to roll up our sleeves instead of crying 'Uncle' all the time. If some of the Thief River 'negatives' spent as much times working positively with their same groups of sympathizers they might find that things aren't as bad as they've led themselves to believe and good things might start to happen.

One good thing would be if we would Shop and Trade Where Bargains are Made — and Think Thief River Falls.

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture.

"Contour strips above and below my diversion terraces are so nice to work that I can hardly wait to get the rest of my strips established," says Ray Borash, Morrison SCD cooperator. With help from Russell Jongewaard, SCS technician at Little Falls, Borash plans a complete water erosion control and management system for his farm.

Water conservation is improved by tillage methods which reduce runoff from heavy storms and rapid snowmelt. Wyoming Experiment Station studies showed that land in grass, as left after haying, absorbs water 25 per cent slower than "trashy" plowing. Land under both conditions absorbed 30 to 75 per cent more water per hour than land left bare after harvest.

"Contour strip cropping and terracing have saved me many tons of topsoil," says Norman Prueter, Wabasha County farmer. He has used terraces for two years and strip cropping for only one year, but already is a firm believer in these soil conservation practices. He has built two miles of terraces and laid out 90 acres of strips. He plans to install another mile of terraces and 50 acres of strip cropping.

How does liming improve crops? Liming corrects soil acidity. This provides a favorable environment for the numerous bacteria which work in the soil to decompose organic matter and release nitrogen and phosphorus to plants. The nitrogen-fixing bacteria which live in the root nodules of legumes also require a non-acid soil. Soil acidity will dissolve iron and aluminum in the soil and the elements will react with phosphorus, making it unavailable for plant use.

Although Land-Grant institutions number fewer than 4 per cent of the nation's colleges, they enroll about 20 per cent of all U. S. undergraduate students and grant nearly 40 per cent of all doctoral degrees.

Fertile Quint Noses out Prowlers 60-55

Trailing by a 17 to 4 score at the end of the first period, and by a 38 to 20 margin at the intermission, coach Jack Junker's Prowlers turned in a rousing second half of play in their cage opener at Fertile on Saturday night before losing to the Falcons, 60 to 55.

This week, on Friday night, the Prowlers will move into district conference competition when they meet the defending district champion Warren Ponies on the Warren court. Coach Irv St. John's Warren club opened its schedule on Friday night by scoring a 62 to 50 win over the Mahnomen Indians.

In Saturday night's game at Fertile, the Prowlers, getting but one field goal in the first period, that a lay-up by Tom Lindberg, trailed coach Karl Broth's Falcons, 17 to 4 at the end of the first eight minutes of play. And Fertile, with guard Rod Olson hitting from the outside and center Paul Sannes scoring on rebounds, held a 38 to 20 lead at the half-time break. The pair of Fertile veterans accounted for 18 of the 21 points tallied by Fertile in the second quarter.

In the third period, with Paul Klungness scoring three field goals and a pair of free throws to pace the attack, the Prowlers outpointed the Falcons, 18 to 11, and pared the Fertile lead to 49 to 38.

In the fourth period, which found the Prowlers moving up to within two points of Fertile at one time, trailing 54 to 52 with 3:18 to play, Lindberg notched six field goals and a free throw. The Prowlers, employing a zone-press, forced the Falcons into numerous errors, and the locals converted these errors into points.

Fertile, throughout much of the third period, resorted to ball-control tactics, and the Prowlers, playing an aggressive brand of ball, committed fouls. Fertile's Rod Olson, who shared the game's high-point honors with Lindberg, dropped in four straight free throw points, and added a field goal on a drive-in lay up, to give the Falcons the win.

Each team had three players scoring in double figures, with Klungness having 14 points and John Aune scoring 10 points in addition to Lindberg's 20-point effort. For the Falcons, Paul Sannes had 19 points and guard Bob Gullickson notched 10 points.

Conservation Volunteer Says Hunting and Fishing Licenses Are a 'Bargain'

Long range conservation planning, land use philosophy and a comparison study of national license fees are featured in the November-December edition of the Conservation Volunteer, official publication of the Minnesota conservation department.

Minnesota's army of some 1¼ million anglers, as well as 600,000 small and big game hunters will be interested in how their license costs compare with those of 49 other states and Canadian provinces.

License studies for the Volunteer were prepared by David Vesall, supervisor of the section of game, and Dr. John B. Moyle, supervisor of the research and planning section.

Vesall and Moyle contend that "our licenses are still outstanding full season recreation bargains in an era of $2.50 first-run movies and $5.00 football and baseball games. In fact, Minnesota sportsmen, on the basis of statistics provided by other states, have one of the most outstanding recreation bargains in the nation."

Five division directors of the department presented "reports in depth" on conservation planning for the next decade at the request of Commissioner Clarence Prout. Comprehensive reports on forestry, game and fish, lands and minerals, state parks and waters are presented in the Volunteer's 26-page special section.

The Volunteer cover features a color photo of Ka-Ka-Gesic, 116 year old Chippewa residing at Warroad, Minn., on land deeded to him by President Theodore Roosevelt.

Langen Addresses Crookston Forum

Congressman Makes Plea for More RRV Industries

Congressman Odin Langen called Friday for more industrial plants in the Red River Valley to process locally-raised products and raw materials. Langen, speaking before a Business Development Forum held in Crookston in conjunction with the Area Products Show, said that the addition of processing plants is the key to the future prosperity of the area.

"It makes sense," said the Congressman, "that processing plants located in the same areas where raw materials are raised will not only save the consumer money but will assure a measure of prosperity for the entire area. I have long felt that the future of our agricultural areas depends a great deal on the degree to which we enter into the business of processing our own products."

Langen noted that the agricultural areas of Minnesota and the Dakotas have lost population, due to people leaving the farms for work in industry. "We can keep these people here at home," said Langen, "by developing businesses that rightfully belong in this land of plenty."

Langen pointed out that this year's Area Products Show is proof that the Red River Valley can play an important industrial role in the years to come. "This is more than just a display of products produced in this area," he said. "It's actually an indication of the contribution this area is making to the growth and progress of our nation."

Some Encouragement

While it was tough for the youthful Prowler basketball team to drop their season's opener to Fertile, 60 to 55, at Fertile on Saturday, there were some encouraging aspects to the Prowler play. What made the loss so tough to take was because of the remarkable second-half rally turned in by the Prowlers. Fertile, at the end of the first half, held a 38 to 20 lead and appeared in control of the game, but not so. In the second half, and especially in the fourth period, the Prowlers, with an aggressive defense and a driving offense, pared the Fertile lead to but two points with three minutes of play remaining.

Credit must be given to the Fertile club, and to Paul Sannes and Rod Olson especially, for not wilting under the pressure applied by coach Jack Junker's squad. Olson, on a four free throws and a field goal, scored Fertile's final six points to insure the win for the Falcons.

The Prowlers had some erratic moments, and particularly in the first period when they could connect with but one field goal. The locals gained the shots, but the tenseness of the season-opening game perhaps caused some of the boys to become too anxious, with the result that these basket tries were off target.

Prowlers Have Depth

The game proved that the Prowlers will have a squad with "depth" this season, and it will probably be mid-season before coach Junker will be able to name his "regulars". It could be that the Prowlers will have an eight or nine man "regular" team this season. As the boys moved in and out of the game on Saturday night, there wasn't any noticeable change in the tempo of the Prowlers' play. And it is reasonable to believe that the junior boys on the squad, Rick Jensen, Ken Larson, Bob Olson, Mark Anderson, and Gary Hagen, will improve as they gain experience.

And the Prowlers rebounded quite well on Saturday, and there had been some doubt that Bob Olson and Tom Lindberg would be able to contain Fertile's Paul Sannes. The Prowlers won't be too rugged under the boards, and this may prove to be a handicap when the locals move up against such clubs as Bemidji, Grand Forks Central, and Fargo Central.

But the boys proved, by their second half play on Saturday night, that they have the heart and desire to play come-from-behind basketball.

Together Again

The Augsburg Auggies defeated the North Dakota Sioux, 63 to 48, in a basketball game played in Minneapolis on Saturday night, and in the Auggies lineup were a pair of former Prowler high-scorers. Referring, of course, to the Hanson brothers, senior Phil and sophomore Ron. Ron played with the Auggies last season, but Phil, having some scholastic problems, did not play basketball last year.

The two boys gained high-scoring honors during their careers as Prowlers. Phil, as a senior in 1958-59, scored a total of 327 points for the year's high-point honors. Ron, who towered six-feet eight-inches in his senior year, had a 357-point season in 1959-60, and in 1960-61 the lanky center rolled up a total of 503 points. Phil, incidentally, was the Prowlers' high-scorer during the 1957-58 season, too, having a total of 299 points.

The Lincoln high school's season's high-score honors, though, belong to Dave Hanson, who had a 577-point production in the 1956-57 season. It's all in the Hanson family, as Dave is a double-cousin of Phil and Ron.

Repeat Winners

Coach Harry Peter Grant's Winnipeg Blue Bombers made a successful defense of their Canadian football championship when, after 1:29 minutes of play on Sunday afternoon, they defeated the Hamilton Tiger-Cats, 28 to 27.

The Grey Cup game, which is Canadian football's championship game, was started on Saturday afternoon, but after three-quarters of play, and with Winnipeg leading by that 28 to 27 score, the game was suspended because of a dense fog that enveloped the field in Toronto. It was an unprecedented situation to have a championship game suspended, but playing conditions became impossible. Local fans who witnessed the game on TV can attest to the "socked in" condition of the playing field.

But the Bombers, who were the under-dogs in the wagering, came through with a one-point win, 28 to 27. As one of the commentators stated, it appeared that the Bombers had an extra man on the field in their playoff games against Calgary and Hamilton.

Hockey Notes

Received a friendly epistle from I. T. Simley, former superintendent of schools here and now in retirement in South St. Paul, which inclosed a half-page clipping from the St. Paul Suburban Life paper. This article, embellished with a four-column cut, was about Marv Jorde, the former Prowler and Gopher hockey star who is now teaching and coaching at St. Paul Park high school.

Marv is playing with the South St. Paul Steers in the United States Hockey League this season in addition to his teaching and coaching duties. In a recent game against the highly-rated Rochester Mustangs, Jorde scored a pair of goals as the Steers defeated the Mustangs, 5 to 2.

And where is the ice for the Prowlers and the Thieves?

Defeats Eagles Friday by Decisive 57-37 Tally

The Plummer Cardinals marked up their second win of the young cage season when, on Friday night at Red Lake Falls, coach Howard Emerson's club defeated the Red Lake Falls Eagles, 57 to 37. The game was a Polar conference tilt.

The Cardinals opened their 1962-63 schedule on Tuesday evening by scoring a 68 to 49 win over Gonvick in a game played on the Plummer court. Greg Toupin led the Plummer scoring with 18 points, with Marv Walter tallying 16 points for runner-up honors.

In Friday night's Polar conference win over the Eagles, Walter, a forward, scored eight field goals and three free throws for 19 points. The Cardinals, who have been installed as one of the favorites in conference play, held a 30 to 10 lead at the intermission.

On Friday night, the Plummer club will be up against a conference contender, meeting coach Norman Wagner's rangy Fisher Flyers on the Fisher court. Fisher, a club that some players experts have dubbed as a District 31 threat, opened play by scoring a 44 to 30 win over Argyle last week.

'63 Conservation Calendar Issued

Published by Minnesota Conservation Federation

For persons who enjoy the great outdoors, there is no substitute for active participation in activities available in the out-of-doors. During part of the year, however, when bird-watching, fishing, hunting, hiking and other forms of recreation drop off due to inclement weather, closing of the seasons and other factors, publications devoted to these subjects continue to provide pleasure for many outdoor fans.

One such publication is the official 1963 "Wildlife of America" calendar, distributed by the Minnesota Conservation Federation. Featuring 12 full-color game paintings and articles by Minnesota's famous wildlife artist Roger Preuss, the calendar is recommended by eminent editors and game authorities as educational for the entire family. It is a reminder to practice conservation.

Popular subjects featured in the colorful 1963 series include Canada geese, elk, tarpon, smallmouth bass, brown bear, deer, woodchuck, quail, sunfish, largemouth bass, fox and wood duck.

The animal biographies authored by the artist, together with authentic game recipes, a daily fishing guide and tips for sportsmen add up to a jam-packed parcel of outdoor lore.

Copies may be obtained by direct mail for $1.00 each postpaid from Minnesota Conservation Federation, 4313 Shady Oak Road, Hopkins, Minnesota. Net proceeds assist the Federation's work of promoting wise use of the state's natural resources.

6 Million Christmas Trees Taken in State

According to Ray Clement, the conservation department's chief of forest nurseries, Minnesota continues to produce more Christmas trees for the market than any other state in the nation. Out of a total annual national production of 21 million Christmas trees, Minnesota produces six million.

"The only states that come close to Minnesota in this field are Montana and Washington," Clement said. One of the principal reasons for Minnesota's leadership in this business is the vast acreage of peat lands in this state — approximately one-seventh of the nation's total. Clement explained that Minnesota's peat lands produce black spruce, one of the most popular species used for Christmas trees.

Although this tree reproduces easily in the peat bogs, the water table is so close to the surface that the tree's growth is retarded to the point that it may take 100 years for it to grow to a height of six-feet.

In most cases the tree never reaches a size where it can be utilized for timber which is the reason why the state authorizes their cutting for Christmas use.

The general policy of the conservation department is to restrict the harvest of state-owned timber to mature trees, but an exception is also made in some instances where good forest management calls for thinning out overly dense stands.

Some Christmas trees are actually the tops cut from fully grown spruce or balsam which have been taken for pulpwood or other use. This enables the logger to realize an income from a part of the tree unwanted by the pulp or sawmill.

Today, of the six million Christmas trees harvested annually in Minnesota, about one million are from plantations where they are planted and grown for the Christmas market.

After removing your wool coat, suit or dress, give it an airing and a rest between wearings, suggest extension clothing specialists at the University of Minnesota. The garment will then lose most of its wrinkles so it won't need pressing.

Social Security Agent Visits City Tuesday, Dec. 4

A representative of the Grand Forks District Office of the Social Security administration will be in Thief River Falls at the city Auditorium Tuesday, December 4, at 10 a. m. Individuals who have questions regarding social security or who wish to file claims may contact him on that date.

Self-employed farmers can become eligible for future social security benefits by reporting their earnings each year to the Internal Revenue Service. "Thoughtful men, once escaped from the blinding influences of traditional prejudice, will find in the lowly stock whence man has sprung the best evidence of the splendor of his capacities; and will discern in his long progress through the past a reasonable ground for faith in his attainment of the future."

—T. H. Huxley

Now the Recount

We can see no justification for major changes in our voting laws merely because of a close election and a number of errors. The close election for the office of governor was not the result of rules prescribing the voting and recording procedures. The close vote merely indicated that the voters were divided just about evenly in their choice between the two candidates. That the vote should be so close, with so many ballots cast, is of course rather remarkable.

That there are errors in the counting and recording of votes is understandable. Election officials are normal human beings and many of them are no doubt lacking in accounting skill. And at the end of a long day figures do get jumbled up sometimes.

The recount will reveal many more errors and the final result could go either way. And there always is the possibility of intentional errors but our guess is that these would be very few. And so we will await the outcome patiently, hoping for the best.

Why Wars are Fought

Most writers have attributed the Chinese invasion of India to a need for food. To starving people, India's rice bowl had understandable appeal. Maybe that was the right answer.

The way in which the Chinese have conducted their operations, however, suggests that the fighting above the clouds in a mountain wilderness may have been prompted by some other incentive. That is the interesting question raised by the Financial Post of Toronto, and its conclusion makes sense. Here it is:

"Why was China so eager to get control of mountainous Tibet? Why do China and India quarrel passionately about the location of their common frontier in the high Himalayas? These questions may baffle the Western observer until he hears about the Tsengpo river.

"It flows east through southern Tibet. After a hairpin bend it heads for India where it becomes the Brahmaputra.

"Turning the bend, which is close to a disputed Sino-Indian area, the river's descent is rapid. A 10-mile tunnel (same length as Kitimat's) would eliminate the bend. Diverted through this tunnel, the Tsengpo would become a waterfall 1.25 miles high.

"This cascade, highest on earth and 40 times the drop of Canada's Niagara, would yield 330 billion k.w.h. per year, about one quarter of world production of electricity.

"No wonder China is interested. A few years ago there was a proposal that Tibet, China, India and Pakistan should co-operate on the tunnel. China got there first.

"But how many people in the West ever heard of the Tsengpo or its potential? One may wade through miles of political debate and propaganda about Tibet and the frontier without finding the river and its economic importance once mentioned."

Self-Help a Must

Dairying "is one of the biggest, and most costly, headaches currently harassing the agricultural department," is the opinion expressed by Associated Press reporter Ovid A. Martin. He states:

"It cost the department an estimated 600 million dollars, a record, to support the price of butter, cheese and dried milk in the marketing year which ended March 31, 1962. And the only reason the cost is expected to drop to 550 million for the current marketing year is that the price supports have been lowered."

Secretary of Agriculture Freeman raised the support level for dairy products shortly after he took office. The higher price probably was a factor in increasing production and decreasing demand. Early this year the support price was cut back again.

Freeman has warned farmers that agriculture, as a segment of the American economy that at one time was a strong force in American politics, has lost much of its political influence with the shift of population to the metropolitan areas. This is a warning that certainly should be heeded.

What this means is that agriculture in the future will have to depend more upon its own leadership than upon the leadership of politicians, most of whom would be thinking in terms of urban interests. President Kennedy, for instance, didn't know of any agricultural economist that he could appoint to the important office of Secretary of Agriculture and gave the job to a city politician.

In the past, Congress has encouraged segments of agriculture to control their own production and marketing organizations, and in several instances such organizations have been successful. Most of the products of our farms are raised and marketed without government direction or assistance. Most livestock growers prefer to make their own decisions. The turkey growers learned the hard way the high cost of overproduction. Our potato growers are following the good example set by the fruit growers and are making good progress in developing their own marketing organizations.

The dairy industry, unfortunately, has been leaning too heavily on government supports. Too many of its leaders have come to depend entirely on government help rather than on self-help, and the only thing that will change this will be necessity. The industry, however, should not wait until it is driven to better self-control by the whip of necessity.

It would be much less painful, and much more profitable, for the industry to apply its own pressures voluntarily, and a move in that direction should get under way at once.

Present School Needs

Five years ago we were quite proud of our school system, and the hired men complimented the people of the community for their fine record in providing adequate facilities. The new Washington had met the foreseeable needs for elementary classrooms and the needs of the Vocational school had finally been recognized in an expansion program that cost $1,200,000.

Now we are told that our school system is shamefully inadequate, and more millions must be spent and quick. Fortunately the people of the community have not responded to the rush act, and it should be possible now to give the problem calm consideration. What are the facts? What is it that has created a desperate need in a period of five short years?

We have had no substantial population increase. School enrollment is up a little but not much. Let's take a look at the figures.

In the school year of 1957-58, that was the year we occupied the new Washington, our elementary enrollment was 1,131. For the year 1961-62 the total had increased to 1,174, a gain of 43 pupils. These figures do not take into consideration our kindergarten enrollment where there was an increase of two pupils.

In our high school for these same years, enrollment increased from 1,050 to 1,134, a gain of 84 students. With the new space that has been made available by more classroom construction and rental property, we have been able to reduce substantially the class size of our school system, a thing some educators think is very desirable.

During this period of time we have increased the number of elementary teachers from 40 to 49, reducing the average class size from about 28 to 24. In our high school we have increased the number of teachers from 46 to 59, decreasing the average class size from about 23 to 19. This class size estimate is based on the number of students per teacher ratio.

It is interesting to note that the recommended class size has been reduced to 30, and our average has been, and is, well below that figure. But even if circumstances made it necessary to operate with some classes larger than the recommended average, we would not be penalized. Our state aid would still be paid in full.

We do have a vocational school building problem that deserves early consideration. The old Washington can be put in shape for more years of service at little cost. This was admitted in the architects report which, as we recall, included a sprinkler system, probably to build up a fictitious cost figure. The old Washington is not a fire trap. There is no heating plant in the building and nothing to explode. There are ample fire escapes if a fire should break out in one of the waste baskets, and for a comparatively small expenditure the building could be reconditioned and be made just as safe and sound as any other of our school buildings. That is the opinion of competent construction men.

What must be done should be done, and the things that should be done are well within our means. There is no justification for spending huge sums for future needs. While we have confidence in the future of our community, and are satisfied that future years will bring with them many expansion problems, we should not attempt to solve these problems now.

One of the best ways for us to assure continued progress is to maintain a sound public financial structure in our community. Excessive taxation is always a retarding influence, and our tax load is already excessive.

Under good management, we can face the future with great confidence.

Gov. Elmer L. Andersen

Capitol Christmas Tree

Another beautiful Minnesota tree has been placed on the Capitol grounds to mark the 1962 Christmas season.

Last year's tree was perfectly beautiful, this one is equal to it. It is a white spruce, 68 feet tall, has a branch spread of 37 feet at its widest point and a trunk girth of 4½ feet 27 inches above the ground. It's quite a tree.

Minnesota is indebted to Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Ekbom of Brainerd for the Capitol Christmas tree. The tree comes from the Ekbom tree farm located near the village of Saum west of Kelliher in Beltrami County. A public tree lighting ceremony and carol sing is scheduled for 4 p.m. Friday, December 7. Come if you can.

Supreme Court Decision

As I write, word just came that the Supreme Court has ruled that the corrected votes of ten counties should be taken into account in deciding on the winner of the Governor race. This results in my being declared the winner. I am happy and grateful. I believe a recount will confirm this result. We can now move forward in a strong and positive way to prepare for the legislative session and the years ahead. The past two years have been a time of planning and preparation. We now have the results of many studies and can proceed in a sound carefully planned way.

I feel tremendously confident about the future of our state. I would rather be Governor right now than at any other time in our history. The challenges are great—but the opportunities for important accomplishments are enormous. I will enter upon the next four years with tremendous anticipation and determination.

I am thankful beyond words to my wife and family for their support in this undertaking—to the officers and workers of the Republican party— and to the thousands more who participated in the campaign effort. I also am indebted to a dedicated staff in the Governor's office, and to a corps of public service workers throughout state government, diligently working to build a better state.

FATTENING LAMBS

PAYS GOOD DIVIDENDS

John and Robert Falk of Tenstrike are feeding out the 800 lambs shown above with Peterson-Biddick company lamb fattener feed. They say they will make an additional $3400 over and above the amount they would have made if they sold their lambs as feeders.

The lambs came off the pasture weighing 60 to 65 pounds and are going on the market at premium prices at 105 pounds—and it doesn't take long to add on the extra weight and profit.

Why let someone else make the profit on your lambs? It may pay you well to investigate a good feeding program before selling your lambs as feeders. Ask about the lamb fattening program available at

St. Hilaire Lefse Plant Is Booming Winter Industry

City Editor

At the rapid rate of six per minute, lefse are coming off the grills five days a week at the Torkelson and Johnson lefse plant at St. Hilaire. Eleven employees, all from the local area, are producing the flavorful potato products so popular with residents of this country during the winter months and especially the holiday season.

Mrs. Anton Torkelson and Mrs. Norman Johnson began their little enterprise two years ago in the basement of the Torkelson home as a winter project to earn some spending money. The project proved successful, but the state department of health stepped in and informed the industrious partners that use of such facilities for production of a product for public sale to consumers would not be allowed.

Unwilling to give up their winter pastime, the ladies purchased the former Hartz store building just south of the post office and which had been vacant for several years. They removed a partition, installed storage and sanitary facilities, hooked up to voltage water service, arranged lighting and ventilation, repaired the floor and painted the entire interior of the building. This fall they began their production in the 25x50 foot plant.

Equipment used in making lefse is not extensive but is somewhat specialized. A gas-fired cooker is used to cook 100 lbs. of potatoes at a time and these are hand-peeled after cooking to eliminate as much moisture as possible. A power grinder is used to grind the potatoes and a commercial bread mixer or large-scale beater is used to mix the lefse dough. Mrs. Johnson does the mixing and cutting of the dough in preparation for the rolling out process.

Five women, using rolling pins of various sizes, roll the dough on an assembly-line basis into thin, circular sheets ready for the grill. Mr. Johnson and Mr. Torkelson, using two gas grills and one electric grill, are in charge of the turning during baking. The grill surface areas permit 12 lefses on the stove at one time.

Cooling Important

"We use no special preservative in the lefse," Mrs. Johnson said. "The most important things are to keep the moisture content low in the potatoes and to cool everything thoroughly. Lefse freezes very well and should be at least kept under refrigeration, but we have tested some on our shelf for eight days at 80 degrees without spoilage."

The plant prefers to use Kennebec potatoes because of their low moisture and must have washed potatoes to eliminate washing in the factory. About 700 to 800 pounds of potatoes are used each day as well as more than 100 pounds of flour. Average daily production is 60 dozen packages (three lefses per package) but the total has gone as high as 72 dozen. Packages are heat sealed to insure freshness.

Five-State Distribution

This year all lefse made at the plant will be sold to a commercial bakery for distribution in Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Iowa and Nebraska. Production will be about three times the amount made last year. The plant opened in mid-October and will operate into April. The bakery has also ordered 200 cases of four dozen packages each to be frozen for summer sale.

"The bakery's district fieldman has told us that they could use twice what we are producing now," Mrs. Johnson added. "We would have to work a double shift to do this and experienced help is hard to find. It is possible that we may go to a double shift in the future if the demand continues and we can secure experienced help. We have a wonderful crew here now. They know their work and aren't afraid to pitch in and help each other."

Proof of the initiative of the partners is a shelf of home-made jams and jellies offered for sale at the plant. "We had a lot of juices and decided to use them last summer," Mrs. Torkelson said. "We have sold some, mostly to people who come to see the plant and notice that we have the jars here."

Workers in the plant appreciate the chance to have employment during the winter. Several of them join their husbands in farm field work when the lefse season ends in the spring. In any event, the thriving little industry is an economic boost to the rural community of St. Hilaire. And the product must be good—even the workers insist on eating lefse for lunch.

FU Grain Terminal Assn. Meeting Set

25th Annual Convention Opens in St. Paul Dec. 10

Northwest communities will be represented when several thousand farmer-delegates and cooperative managers and directors gather in St. Paul for the 25th annual meeting of Farmers Union Grain Terminal Association, December 10, 11 and 12.

The delegates and co-op officials represent nearly 700 cooperative grain, feed and seed elevators in North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana and Minnesota.

This meeting is the cooperative's twenty-fifth, and according to the veteran GTA general manager, M. W. Thatcher, special ceremonies during the three-day session will highlight the significance of the anniversary.

In celebrating a quarter of a century of cooperative achievement, Thatcher said that this year's anniversary meeting will bring before delegates a definite long-range program of financing and expansion. It will be aimed at giving farmers greater control over their own products, increased farm incomes, and a program for stepped-up growth.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman will be the featured speaker at the co-op's big farm dinner on Tuesday evening, December 11. He will share the stage with Senators Hubert H. Humphrey and Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota.

Yule Pageant in St. Paul Is Slated for Next Sunday

The St. Paul Christmas choral pageant Sunday December 9 in the municipal auditorium arena will be the 22nd annual presentation of this community-wide observance.

The event, which began as a Christmas carol gathering on the steps of the Minnesota state capitol, is believed to be the largest sacred observance of its kind in the nation. Approximately 3,000 persons of many faiths from throughout the city and surrounding area will take part.

The pageant tells the story of the birth of Christ in a series of stage scenes enacted by students from St. Paul colleges. Three St. Paul clergymen will portray The Three Kings in the final Nativity tableau.

Soloists will be Ethel Wagner De Long and Charles Fullmer, well known performers in St. Paul civic opera. The Dnipro Ukrainian Chorus of the Twin Cities, the glee club of St. Joseph's academy, and choruses from the St. Paul public high schools will be featured.

SEALING packages containing three lefses each at the St. Hilaire lefse plant are Mrs. William Ulrich and Mrs. Henry Konickson. Packages are heat sealed to insure freshness and the entire production of the plant, which has reached as high as 72 dozen packages in one day, is marketed through a commercial bakery. Distribution is made in Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Iowa and Nebraska.

Winter Camping for Boy Scouts Will Be Offered

Winter camping for Boy Scouts in the Pen-Ro-Shall, North Star and Pembina Trail districts of the Lake Agassiz Council will be available at Norris Camp 18 miles south of Roosevelt during the Christmas school holidays. Herb Dill of Holt is the council camping and activities committee chairman.

Dates for the Pen-Ro-Shall district are December 27, 28 and 29 with Quentin Jones of Thief River Falls as district camping chairman. Reservations and tour permit applications must be completed and submitted to the council office by December 15 with a $1 reservation fee per person to cover cost of camp facilities and insurance.

Items to be considered by boys who might attend the camp are the opportunities for tracking, nature identification, woods lore, survival techniques, cooking, hiking, mapping, compass work, night orientation and sleeping out. Many of these can be combined and should be worked out on a patrol experience basis since members of the refuge staff will not be available to assist with the program, Dill said.

Commission Report Summary

Railroad Position Is Given To Rotary Club

Summary of the report of the presidential railroad commission in regard to railroad management and labor laws was presented by W. W. Abbey, public relations director of the Soo Line, at the Monday dinner meeting of the Thief River Falls Rotary club. Ed Hamerski, superintendent of the Central division of the Soo Line and former Thief River Falls resident, was a special visitor and introduced the speaker.

Announcement was made that the Rotary club would not meet next Monday but would hold a combined session with the Lions club at 12 noon on Wednesday, December 12. Congressman Odin Langen will be the guest speaker at the combined session. Rotary Anns will be guests at the December 17 meeting and college students home on vacation will be guests on December 31.

Quoting from the commission's report, Abbey noted that the commission "was generated out of a recognition by both labor and management in the railroad industry that basic and even revolutionary changes have occurred in the industry over the past 40 years. The scope of the changes has been so broad that, given the traditions and institutions of the industry, neutral participation was regarded as crucial to the adjustment of work and compensation rules to the changed circumstances."

Basic Features

Three basic features of the broad changes were reflected in the hearings and studies and, in part, include the following:

(1) Technological advances . . . have probably been the most conspicuous. Engines have increased in size and power and diesel has supplanted steam. Increases in engine power have made possible expansion of the length, weight and sustained speeds of trains. Santa Claus Due In City

Arrangments have been completed by the retail trade committee of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce for a special appearance by Santa Claus in the city on Saturday afternoon. Area youngsters 12 years of age and younger are invited to visit with St. Nick and receive a sack of candy provided by the Chamber of Commerce.

At 1:45 p. m. Santa will board an Arctic Cat at the Soo Line depot and follow a police escort down Third street to Main avenue, turning south on Main and traveling to the municipal auditorium to meet his many young friends. Arrival at the auditorium is scheduled for 2 p. m.

Arrangements have been made with Neal Fox Studio for photographs to be taken of all youngsters visiting with Santa at the auditorium. Parents desiring to purchase 5x7 photos may do so at a cost of $1 each but there is no obligation. Assistants will be present to take orders from those who desire to purchase pictures.

Again this year the auditorium will be arranged so that everyone will be able to wait in line inside the building and seating will be available for mothers bringing their youngsters to the auditorium. About 20 of Santa's helpers gathered Tuesday night to sack candy for the visit in anticipation of a large crowd again this year.

For youngsters who are unable to visit Santa this Saturday, a similar procedure will be followed on Saturday, December 15. The Chamber of Commerce encourages all area youngsters 12 years of age and younger to come to the auditorium on either Saturday for their visit with St. Nick and a free bag of candy.

Region I ADA Meeting Held On Wednesday

Muzzy Reelected As Regional Director and Organization Chrm.

Merchandising promotions—designed to increase sale of dairy products in 1963 and a summary of a report issued by the American Medical association were outlined at the Region I ADA meeting held Wednesday in Thief River Falls. Principal speakers were Wayne Churchill, Chicago, merchandising director for the American Dairy association, and L. H. Conlon, manager of the Minnesota Dairy Industry committee.

Conlon said the AMA report came as a result of research supported by the American Dairy association and shows that a well-balanced diet includes foods from the milk group such as milk, cheese and ice cream. The report also states that elimination of certain foods of proven nutritional value could be detrimental to health.

"Scientific reports linking cholesterol and heart attacks have touched off a new food fad among do-it-yourself Americans," the report says. "But dieters who believe they can cut down their blood cholesterol without medical supervision are in for a rude awakening. It can't be done. It could even be dangerous to try."

Muzzy Reelected

James Muzzy of Thief River Falls was reelected Region I ADA director and regional chairman with Donald Walker of Red Lake Falls named alternate director and regional vice chairman. Bertrand Thompson of McIntosh was reelected secretary-treasurer of the region. More than 50 persons attended the meeting.

ASC Asks Farmers to Hold Land in Soil Bank

Farmers who have land under conservation reserve (Soil Bank) contracts which expire in 1962 are being contacted about continuing the diversion of this land for another year, Edward A. Johnson, chairman, Marshall Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, announced. Continuation of the land diversion is made possible under the 1963 Land-Use Adjustment program authorized by the recently enacted Food and Agricultural Act of 1962.

The county committee is reexamining each contract which expires in 1962 to determine whether the land is eligible, the chairman said. Farmers are urged to participate in the program for 1963 to the extent their land is eligible.

Mr. Johnson explained that all of the land which is now designated under a conservation reserve contract expiring in 1962 will be eligible for continued diversion under a 1963 Land-Use Adjustment Agreement except:

1. Conservation Reserve land which is already devoted to a water storage facility, or on which trees have been planted, or which the county committee determines is in such physical condition that it will not be returned to crop production; or

2. Certain land of which the ownership has changed since Dec. 31, 1960; or

3. Land which is owned by a social club, recreational club, country club, golf club, cemetery association, or a state, county, city, town, local government, or subdivision thereof.

One important change from the old contract, according to the chairman, is that grazing will be permitted on the designated acreage under the new land-use adjustment agreement. Where the land is grazed, however, the payment rate will be reduced to 50 per cent of the regular rate where this applies. No payment will be made on land designated at the nondiversion rate which is grazed.

To encourage the planting of trees on acreage continued in the program, a tree-planting practice payment will be made at 100 per cent of the average cost of carrying out the practice, including land preparation, cost of trees, and cost of planting. Other land designated under the program will be eligible for regular cost-sharing under the Agricultural Conservation Program to the extent the county committee consider it advisable to use available ACP funds.

The chairman urged producers who have conservation reserve contracts expiring in 1962 to protect the cover on their land until they can learn all the details about the new land-use adjustment provisions. Compliance with the program will require that the land be protected from wind and water erosion.

Rotary Club Has Review of Rail Report Monday

years ago have caused significant changes in the character of road operations. Use of automatic switching and retarder systems, as well as extensive reorganization, have caused wholesale changes in both the nature and volume of yard work.

(2) The position of the railroad industry in the total pattern of American transportation has undergone drastic change. Forty years ago the railroads stood as the virtually unchallenged source of continental transport for both passengers and goods. Today, they are confronted by the insistent competition of the truck, bus, airplane, automobile, pipeline and water transport. New modes of transportation are on the horizon.

(3) Unionization has come to many basic American Industries whose employees were unorganized 40 years ago. Employees in these industries have achieved improvements in earnings and working conditions which railroad employees and other organized workers possessed long before. As the procedure power of our economy and its ability to provide an improved life have increased, wages and other benefits have increased both in the railroad industry and in other industries. The achievements of employees outside industry have caused railroad employees to reexamine the entire question of fringe benefit levels in the railroad industry.

Employment Decreases

Commenting on the number of employees needed to move a given volume of tonnage over the road, Abbey stated a decline had taken place as it has in the number required for the performance of a given volume of yard work. Between 1920 and 1960 railroad employment has declined from 2,000,000 to less than 800,000. Overall railroad productivity, as measured by the number of man-hours involved in handling a given volume of traffic, has increased significantly.

The commission report also stated, "The basic considerations which have governed our thinking in formulating recommendations have been that the nation is entitled to a safe and efficient rail-transport system, that management should be accorded reasonable opportunity to install technological improvements, that employees are entitled to work under a sound and equitable pay structure and under conditions which promote efficiency, safety and security, and that where improvements in technology leading to greater productivity adversely affect employees, adequate provision must be made for their welfare."

Abbey noted that particular emphasis has been placed on the possible job loss to firemen. He noted that the 27,000 firemen with 10 or more years seniority be kept on with full job rights until death or retirement. The 13,000 with less than 10 years seniority be phased out with three to 12 months notice, receiving dismissal pay based on length of service—a five-year man getting pay for 36 months at 60 per cent of past pay while keeping all outside earnings. Displaced firemen also would get preferential re-hiring status and two years re-training with the railroads paying 75 per cent of the tuition.

The railroads accepted the complete report of the commission, declaring that "we are taking the bitter with the sweet, recognizing that no subject as complicated as this can be settled to the complete satisfaction of everyone. The public interest demands a prompt solution to this problem". The unions flatly rejected the recommendations of the commission.

Pennington DHIA Annual Meeting Held on Tuesday

of milk and 712 pounds of butterfat. Christensen was second with an animal producing 16,060 pounds of milk and 641 pounds of butterfat while Maynard Mehrkens placed third with a cow producing 18,260 pounds of milk and 633 pounds of butterfat. The top 10 producing cows came from seven association herds.

Business Session

Members authorized the board to call in old stock certificates from former members in the Red Lake-Pennington DHIA and issue new ones and also to increase membership in the association to 26. It was also decided to present an award next year to the dairyman showing the largest increase in herd average over the past year.

Dr. Frederick Speaks

Dr. E. C. Frederick offered several suggestions in his talk which could be utilized by dairy farmers. He noted an insulated pail, such as a minnow bucket with styrofoam liner, would hold udder-wash solution within four degrees of original temperature for an hour. This permits a dairyman to keep the solution between 110 and 120 degrees during the milking period without making trips for hot water or using a cold solution.

The dairy specialist also gave information on hay cutting, noting that cuttings of alfalfa in October have been made the past three years without injury to stands. He emphasized that cutting should begin early in the spring and that as many as four cuttings can be taken. The third should be before September 1 and the fourth may be taken after the first killing frost has left the roots dormant. Leaving standing strips of six to eight inches in width will provide snow cover under such conditions during the winter.

Mastitis effect studies were also revealed from tests made on cattle which were apparently cured. Tests taken from individual quarters of the animal showed that the infected quarter, although no longer infected, produced far less milk with a lower butterfat content and low content of solids not fat.

"From this you can see why it is important that you prevent mastitis in your herds, not merely treat it when it does occur," Dr. Frederick said. He added one more management tip — simply kicking straw back under the udder of a cow immediately after milking since cows have a tendency to lay down soon after milking, often before the normal bedding chore is performed.

Stelmaschuk Talks

"Hay isn't just hay," stated Paul Stelmaschuk, Pennington county agricultural agent, in providing part of the afternoon program. "This year we had lots of hay but we must take a close look at the protein content, digestible nutrients and what supplemental rations are needed."

He noted that there is a wide range in protein content among hay samples tested this year, ranging from 4.2 per cent on some Soil Bank hay to 14.5 per cent on the best alfalfa tested. Expressing the hope that more attention would be given to feed content rather than volume, he related the value of hay to the farmer in relation to its protein and digestible nutrients.

In supplementing hay with grain, he stated that a great deal depended upon quality of the grain but a rule of thumb is that a bushel of barley equals ¾ bushel of corn and a bushel of oats equals ½ bushel of corn in feed value.

Left to right are Mr. and Mrs. Matt Wick, Mr. and Mrs. William Herzog, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Paulson, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hammer and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Durham. Park Rapids Boy Kills Brother and Then Shoots Self

Third Brother Wounded In Shooting on Monday; No Explanation Given

Park Rapids police Tuesday talked to the only survivor of a family shooting that killed two brothers, but they were no closer to finding a motive for the puzzling slaying.

Police said Gregory Larsen, 13, apparently killed his brother, Henry, 11, and wounded his brother, Erick, 8, before taking his own life with a .22 caliber rifle Monday evening.

A neighbor, John Johnson, said he had visited the three boys 10 minutes before the shooting and found them playing together without friction.

Hubbard County Sheriff Robert Potter said Erick, who is in critical condition at St. Joseph's Hospital with a bullet wound in the chest, "couldn't give me a reason for the shootings.

"All he can remember is sitting in the living room reading a book when Gregory came through the kitchen door and started shooting," Potter said.

His brother Henry was in an adjoining playroom watching television. Henry shot first. He (Erick) was hit as he ran for the door.

The shootings occured at 6:30 p. m. as the boys were waiting for their widowed mother, Mrs. Mary Larson, to come home from work.

Postmaster Expresses Appreciation for Aid In "Mail Early" Plea

Postmaster R. J. Dryden expressed his appreciation today for excellent cooperation so far on his 1962 "Mail Early for Christmas" campaign. He said, however, that only by stepping up all Christmas card and gift package mailings immediately will it be possible to process and deliver your cards and gifts by Christmas Day.

The postmaster said further, "It looks like the Christmas mail this year will set an all time record, far exceeding the quantity of mail that was dispatched and delivered in the pre-holiday season of 1961."

The postmaster continued, "Let's not disappoint a single friend or loved one at Christmas time by putting off our Christmas mailings to the last minute."

He offered these suggestions that are easy to follow: Be sure your return address and the recipient's name and address is plainly typed or written on all labels and Christmas cards; always use zone numbers; avoid abbreviations of state and city names.

Try to bring your parcels to the postal windows before 10 a. m. or between 1:30 and 3:30 p. m. to avoid the noon hour rush.

Pack your Christmas gifts in strong corrugated cartons. Use plenty of stuffing material to insure safe delivery. Seal packages with heavy paper adhesive tape and tie them with good, strong cord. Be sure to ask about parcel post size and weight limitations when you go to the post office to buy stamps.

Speaking about stamps, the postmaster said, "Use the colorful new 4-cent Christmas stamps on all your Christmas cards. By sending your cards first class mail, they will be delivered promptly and forwarded or returned, if necessary, providing you include your name and address on the Christmas card envelopes."

Free labels which read, "ALL FOR LOCAL DELIVERY" and "ALL FOR OUT OF TOWN DELIVERY" may be obtained from the post office. Cards should be separated into two bundles, thus expediting handling and delivering of them at the post office.

Beginning December 10, service windows at the post office will be open 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily except Sunday, Postmaster Dryden said.

"Try to get all of your Christmas presents mailed before December 10," he added. Christmas cards for out of town delivery should be sent before December 15, and those for local addresses should be mailed at least a week before Christmas. The postmaster states that we can make it a merrier Christmas for everybody if we will "Mail Early — and often!"

Jail Escapee Gets Long Prison Term

S. O. Nathaniel Given 27 Years by Crookston Judge

Sylvester Otis Nathaniel, 34, Philadelphia, was sentenced Tuesday afternoon in district court in Crookston to serve not more than 27 years at the Minnesota state prison at Stillwater.

He was sentenced by Judge J. H. Sylvestre of Crookston on charges of second degree burglary and escaping from a penal institution. Nathaniel changed his plea to guilty last week on the escape charge after a district court jury found him guilty of burglary. He had originally pleaded not guilty to both charges.

He was sentenced to not more than 20 years on the burglary charge and not more than seven years for escape, with sentences ordered to run consecutively.

Nathaniel, one of three men who fled the Polk County Jail Oct. 17 after jailor Tony Janorschke was severely beaten, appeared in court Tuesday with his court-appointed attorney Henry G. Tweten of East Grand Forks.

Leaders' Council Holds Christmas Program Monday

Pennington 4-H Group Selects Delegates for Institute at Crookston

Christmas selections set the scene for the monthly 4-H leaders' council meeting Monday night. Cathy Oski Mavie, gave a reading and a skit entitled "The Night Before Christman" was given by Pat Larson, Kratka; Bennie Finstad, Rocksbury; Nancy and Alan Newton; Smiley; and Ken Parnham, Happy Acres. Group singing was led by Nancy Newton and Bonnie Finstad.

Korydon Cheryestad reported on his Jaycee-sponsored trip to the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago. Seven other boys from Minnesota attended. While there Korydon had an opportunity to visit such places as the planetorium, museum of science and museum of natural history. As they were about to leave, the Lennon Sisters, Arthur Godfrey, Chuck Conners and Lawrence Welk arrived at their hotel.

At the short business meeting, Mrs. Vernon Wold, Mrs. James Muzzy, Mrs. Ernest Swanson, Lloyd Nelson and Mrs. George Breznay were selected to attend the 4-H Institute which will be held January 9 at Crookston. A brief explanation of the career program was given by Laura Duerst, home agen.

All 4-H members 14 years of age and older were urged to take part in the radio speaking contest. The topic this year will be "How Should 4-H Prepare Me for Responsible Citizenship?" The talk should be 5 to 7 minutes in length.

Interstate 4-H leader's forum will be March 14-16. Selections are due in February so county delegates must be selected in January. Cost is $160 per person plus $10 or $15 for tours in New York and Washington. Local Methodist Church Observes Commitment Day

On Dec. 2 the Community Methodist church joined in a nationwide observance of Commitment Day, a time when Methodist individuals and families are encouraged to decide and act concerning alcoholic beverages and problems produced by alcohol. In presenting the 1962 theme, "What Does Drinking Mean to You?", the Rev. A. Dean Headley took as his sermon title: "Restraint in Love".

Roger Burgess, national leader of Methodism's division of temperance and general welfare, said that the 1962 theme stresses not only individual answers but also understanding the answers of other people. To bolster Methodism's traditional concern for social action undergirded by sound understanding, the division will award five $750 research grants for the 1963-64 academic year.

Grants will be announced May 1, 1963, for the winning graduate projects. Entries may relate to alcohol problems, addiction, gambling, pornography, juvenile delinquency and crime, penal systems and rehabilitation, mental health and medical care, aging, population and planned parenthood, traffic safety, capital punishment, and general welfare policy and practice.

GOOD HIGHWAYS BOOST LAND VALUES, IS CLAIM

Many of the advantages now accruing to agriculture and farm life from improved highways are reflected in rural land values. The U. S. Department of Agriculture has found that the sale price of farm properties located on gravel roads is from 3 to 11 per cent higher than the same properties served by dirt roads. The value of land on a paved road is from 7 to 32 per cent higher.

Feature Former Resident of Area In Calif. Paper

Orville Helm Has Dairy Herd of 200 Cows While Attending Fresno SC

Orville Helm, former resident of this area and a brother of Lloyd Helm who farms east of Angus, was featured recently in an issue of the Fresno (Calif.) "Bee". Helm is a student at Fresno State College at the age of 38 and operates a 200-cow dairy farm near Easton, Calif.

Helm began his herd with a shoestring start after applying for and getting a grade A milk contract from a chain store. He leased a place and arranged to get 30 cows. The 30 Jerseys have now increased to 200 with 70 per cent of them registered and more than 100 on milking status. His cattle average more than 450 pounds of butterfat and Helm hopes to pass the 500 pound mark this year.

"In his spare time between milking, putting up hay and studying," the feature story states, "Helm has found time to be a member of the FSC judging team and the college dairy club, manage a Little League baseball team and serve as a dairy leader for the American Union 4-H club.

"But his management job on the dairy is what has impressed his professors. In fact, (Prof.) Selkirk uses Helm's dairy for classroom demonstration work as an example of what can be done by good management. And because of the quality of his cows, the FSC dairy team practices judging on them."

Helm listed a number of his reasons for selecting Jersey cattle, adding, ". . . they are ideal for a man like me who is too poor to own the larger cows and too proud to milk goats for a living." He also thinks his wife Eleanor should qualify for the FSC Dames Club's PhT (putting hubby through) degree just for the moral support alone. The Helms have five children, Louanne, Gary, Gale, Carol and Lonita.

Conservation Dept. Land Use Survey And Plans Given

AGASSIZ NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE

"This area, formerly known as the Mud Lake National Wildlife Refuge, was established in 1937 as a link in the chain of refuges in the Mississippi Flyway.

"The refuge comprises about 61,000 acres. It is administered by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Department of the Interior. The refuge is managed primary for waterfowl and has an excellent reputation as a nesting and production area.

"Refuge personnel farm up to 300 acres and local farmers sharecrop 1500 acres annually. Permits are issued for timber cutting, haying, grazing, bee keeping, and fur trapping when such uses do not interfere with the primary purpose of the refuge.

"Twenty-five per cent of the cash revenue received by the Government through the sale of such surplus products reverts by law to Marshall County for school and road purposes in lieu of taxes.

Land Classification Procedure

"The objective of this study was to examine all the state land in the county to determine those which should be retained in state ownership and dedicated to natural resource development, and those which should be released for sale.

"Before starting the study, it was necessary for the Committee to set up and agree on a method of procedure which would permit efficient operations in the field. Accordingly, three types of land classes were mutually agreed upon, into one of which all of the state land parcels in the county would be placed. These categories and their explanations follow:

Class I — Intensive Management Area

These are areas containing a high percentage of state land, and because of soil, water, vegetative cover, drainage and location are well adapted for a specific type of long range conservation use. Management plans have therefore been prepared for these areas for the purpose of developing one or more phases of the resource into a single, coordinated plan beneficial to all concerned.

In these plans, primary consideration is given to protection of the land from wild fires. Without adequate fire protection, all other objectives of management will fail.

A total of 67,116 acres have been placed in this classification, or 77 per cent of the state lands involved in this study.

A description of the units in this category and their proposed management follows:

ELM LAKE WILDLIFE MANAGEMENT AREA

This unit is located immediately adjacent to the south boundary of the Agassiz Refuge in Agder and Grand Plain townships. It consists of 14,874 acres of Conservation Area Lands which were dedicated to wildlife management in 1960. It is proposed that 400 acres of private lands be added to this area. Land exchange will be used for acquisition to the extent possible with no change in total acreage.

"The development and management of this area will be directed primarily to obtaining better water management. Besides the wildlife this unit has an abundant water resource and is important from a water conservation standpoint. Proper control and utilization is of great importance.

"Sharecrop leases will be an important part of the management. Parts of the area have good potential for grazing and these leases especially will be encouraged. Charges are low enough so that in many instances, it is more profitable for the individual to rent this type of land than to own it. Controlled moderate grazing in this area is beneficial to certain species of wildlife including waterfowl and prairie grouse. Some grain leases will be taken and this will be on a share basis. The states share will be used as a supplement to the normal food supply for wildlife on the areas.

Access will need to be improved. The policy on these areas is to make portions of the area readily accessible but to leave portions accessible only by foot to retain quality hunting and an aspect of the wilderness.

ECKVOLL WILDLIFE MANAGEMENT AREA

"This is a 6,280 acre unit located in Eckvoll township on the east boundary of the Agassiz Refuge. These are Conservation Area lands that were dedicated to wildlife management purposes in 1960 at the same time that the Elm Lake area was established. It is proposed that 200 acres of private lands be exchanged in this area. The area is similar to Elm Lake except that it contains a larger percentage of brush and offsite aspen.

"The discussion on wildlife and development and management of the resources in the Elm Lake area applies equally to this unit.

"Both of these areas have very good potential for goose management and improvement of the hunting of these birds.

"Future acquisition plans call for land exchange so that the total acreage would not be changed.

MIDDLE RIVER MANAGEMENT AREA

"The Middle River Management Area is located to the northwest and northeast of the Village of Middle River. The total area comprises 80,500 acres, of which 37,920 acres or 47 per cent are state owned.

"Wildlife is quite abundant, with deer and sharptail the most common. Many consider this unit one of the best deer hunting areas in the state.

"It is proposed that this area be designated the Middle River State Forest. A state forest is defined as land devoted to the production and perpetuation of forest and game crops, recreational uses and water conservation.

"Wild fires burn over much of this area each year. As a result, most of the highland vegetation consists of hazel brush, offsite aspen and scrub oak. Unattended spring meadow burning is probably the major cause for the large acreage burned.

"To adequately carry out a program of fire protection as well as all phases of a forestry program, a full-time ranger should be assigned with headquarters at or near Middle River. A lookout tower should also be constructed in Como township (possibly in Sec. 15) which would make possible cross readings with the River tower. A system of firebreaks strategically placed to give adequate protection should also be initiated.

RANDEN RIDGE MANAGEMENT AREA

The Randen Ridge Management Area is located east of the old townsite of Randen in Linsell township.

It comprises a total area of 8,320 acres, of which 5,460 acres or 66 per cent are state owned.

The most critical development need is the replanting of the brushy understocked areas. A 1958 survey indicates that about 3,400 acres are plantable. The greater portion of this is low and best suited for lowland species such as black spruce and cedar.

Game management needs will be considered in the planting program, and will influence both the acreage and species being planted.

Class II — Extensive Management Area

"In this class are those lands for which no intensive conservation use is planned for the immediate future by the Conservation Department. As Extensive Management Areas, they will be managed on a short term basis. Accordingly, no individual and detailed management plans have been prepared for the lands in this classification, as for those in Class I.

"Timber and game will be harvested as good management indicates, but no monies will be spent on long range programs such as tree planting and game habitat improvement.

"The farming potential of these lands is low at the present time, and there is little likelihood they will be needed for agricultural purposes in the immediate future.

"Land parcels in this classification may be sold with the approval of the Departmental Divisions concerned. They may be purchased by an individual or persons owning adjacent lands, provided that cause and need for the additional acreage can be shown, and provided further that the specific tracts involved do not have a higher conservation value.

"The total area is 10,984 acres or 12.5 per cent of the land involved in this study.

Class III — Custodial Lands

"Generally, these lands have been determined to have the least value for conservation purposes, and the highest for agricultural purposes. These lands are situated primarily in the eastern-half of the county. Many of the tracts or parcels of unsold Custodial Lands border existing farms. Lands in this category are also the most accessible of the three classes.

"Of the State lands under study, approximately 9,481 acres (11 per cent) have been classified as "Custodial". They will be offered for sale at public auction as the need or demand develops, and unsold tracts or parcels may be leased on an annual basis.

"In 1957, a study was made of the future land use needs of the county by representatives of the Soil Conservation Service, County Extension Service, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation, Farmers Home Administration, and the State Forest Service. This group determined that by the year 1975 an additional 12,972 acres of crop land and another 2,930 acres for pasture use will be required.

"Much of this required acreage for future use would, of necessity, have to come from expanded development of existing farms, and from the custodial managed (Class III) state lands which have been described earlier in this report.

(Due to space requirements this report has been condensed. Complete copies are available from the Minnesota Department of Conservation, Centennial Bldg., St. Paul 1, Minn.)

TRF Fallout Shelters to Be Marked Shortly

A team from the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers will arrive in Thief River Falls soon to begin marking selected buildings as public fallout shelters. The engineers recently completed a nationwide survey designed to determine which buildings can provide protection from deadly radioactive fallout in the event of enemy attack. The next step in the program is to now post signs on these potential shelters.

Before a shelter may be posted, the marking teams must first secure permission from building owners. Civil Defense officials have urged the owners to cooperate with the engineers in order to speed up the marking program. The fallout shelter signs must be posted throughout the state before February 1, 1963. Building owners in Thief River Falls can expect to be contacted during the week of December 17 by the marking team

The public fallout shelter program was recently accelerated by federal and state authorities. On October 27 the Civil Defense committee of the U. S. Governors' Conference published a resolution urging a speed-up in programs designed to provide more protection for the public from the hazards of nuclear attack. While the Army Corps of Engineers has been assigned the task of marking shelter sites, the governors pledged the assistance of state civil defense departments and encouraged local officials to assist in sign posting.

After the shelter signs have been posted and written permits of "licenses", have been received from building owners, city and county civil defense officials may carry out the stocking of marked areas with food, water, medical supplies, radiological instruments and other supplies. It is anticipated that this work will continue into 1963.

Region One ADA Meeting Held in City Wednesday

material to be used in the campaigns.

Minnesota support of the ADA program during the first 11 months of 1962 totaled $776,998, it was reported to the group. This amount comes from a deduction of 2 cents per hundredweight on milk or one-half cent per pound on butterfat from the price received by the state's dairy farmers.

It was also noted at the meeting that ADA now carries full insurance on regional dairy princesses when they are making appearances in behalf of the dairy industry. Reports were given by Muzzy on state and regional ADA activities and by Walter Schon of Fosston on dairy promotion sponsored by the Polk county ADA group.

Stuart McLeod, president of Northwest Dairy Improvement association, sponsor of Northwest Dairy Day, reported on the 1961 event and the financial position of the organization. Colored slides of the event and an explanatory narrative were presented by Marvin Lundin.

Highway Studies on Rural Travel Trends Due Soon

Department to Release Data Assembled in 1961 by Automatic Recorder

Results of the 1961 annual study of travel patterns have just been issued in a booklet on Minnesota rural trunk highway and local rural road travel in 1961 by the Minnesota highway department in cooperation with the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads.

The survey, made annually since 1936, was accomplished with the help of automatic traffic recorders and manual classification of motor vehicles and weighing of commercial vehicles by a staff of highway employees.

Automatic recorders procured information on the hourly, daily, seasonal and annual variation on trunk and local roads. Manual classification of motor vehicles passing selected points throughout the state was made to obtain information on the use of the systems by passenger cars and each type of vehicle involved.

The weighing of commercial vehicles was conducted at 17 points on the rural trunk system and six points on local rural roads. When being weighed each vehicle was also measured for certain essential information and facts also gathered as to the vehicle's use, origin and destination.

The first article in the series will be published in the near future.

Canadian Boys Arrested in City by Police Dept.

One Boy Is Released To Border Patrol; Formal Deportation Is Started

Three Canadian boys from Steinbach, Man., were apprehended by local police Saturday on charges of drinking by a minor. Two of the boys posted $15 bond which was forfeited and the third appeared in municipal court on Monday.

William Hildebrandt and Milton Wiebe were released on bond and later apprehended by the border patrol as they attempted to return to Canada. Peter Wiebe pleaded guilty to the charge in court Monday and was sentenced to a $15 fine or five days in jail.

The latter was released to the custody of the border patrol on Wednesday and formal deportation action was initiated. A sentence of two years in prison is the penalty for first offense in violating deportation and 10 years in prison for a second offense. All three boys have extensive Canadian criminal records.

Police also report an accident Tuesday when a school bus driven by Russell Sortebeg, rt. 3, was traveling north on Main avenue and stopped for the Great Northern railroad crossing. The bus was struck from the rear by a car driven by Curtis Elteland, city, with about $75 damage to the bus and $200 to the car resulting. The mishap occurred about 12:45 p. m. and Elteland was cited for following too close.

It was also noted that two short-change artists had been in the city Tuesday. They purchased a 39-cent item in a local business place and in an exchange of money short-changed the clerk of $10. They are reported to be in their 20's and from their talk were believed to possibly be Canadians.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

A Pair of Yardsticks

Basketball fans in the district will get an inkling this week of the title-defending potential of last season's district champion Warren Ponies and last season's sub-district champion Plummer Cardinals.

On Friday night, on the Warren floor, coach Irv St. John's Ponies will meet the Prowlers in a conference game; and the same evening, coach Howie Emerson's club will be playing the Fisher Flyers at Fisher.

The Warren club that defeated the Climax Vikings, 56 to 52, in the District 31 finals at Grand Forks, had Tom Howard and Dave Fischer at the forwards, Bob Peterson at center, and Howard Elseth and Jerry Cook at the guards. Of this quintet, and they played the entire game against the Vikings, Howard, Fischer, Peterson, and Elseth have graduated.

It is evident that coach St. John has a rebuilding problem this season, but it appears that the Ponies are going to make a strong defense of their title as in the schedule-opening game last week they rolled up a decisive win over the Mahnomen Indians. The return of veteran guard Jerry Cook has given coach St. John a fine nucleus for this season's team. Cook is a three-year regular, and from his back-court position he directs the Pony attack. In the two games played against the Prowlers last season, which found Warren winning the first by a 54 to 48 score and losing the second 67 to 60, Cook tallied 30 points, getting 17 points in the first game and 13 points in the second.

A big loss for the Ponies was the graduation of center Bob Peterson. Peterson, who won the district high hurdles track title for the past two seasons, was a strong rebounder. And while he wasn't a consistent scorer, Peterson did have games where he led the club in scoring. Cook proved to be the team's most effective marksman.

Fisher Has Strong Team

And the Plummer Cardinals will face up against some tough opposition in coach Norm Wagner's Fisher squad. Fisher, with eleven of last season's twelve-man squad returning, will put on the floor the biggest and burliest team in the district. Plummer's "big" man, Russ Vigstol, will have his troubles trying to nudge the Fisher rebounders out of position.

Another interesting game on this weekend's schedule will find coach Clarence (Bun) Fortier bringing his highly-regarded Bemidji Lumberjacks to Grand Forks for a game against coach Marv Skaar's Redskins. The Jacks have been impressive in their wins over Crookston Central and East Grand Forks. Big Bill Rabe is back at center, and the rebounding of the blond is the key to the Jacks' fast-break offense. But the Jacks are not a one-man squad as coach Fortier has ample bench-depth this season. Saturday night's game between the Jacks and the Redskins should be a thriller.

Games-Wanted Dept.

There are a couple of independent basketball teams in this vicinity that are anxious to arrange games with out-of-town teams. There is an independent team at Goodridge, and teams desiring to schedule this club should write Harold F. Janneck, Goodridge, Minn. The Goodridge team would prefer Thursday night dates, or, by arrangement, weekend dates.

And the Viking Trotters are again in action, and they will accomodate any independent team in the area.

Incidentally, the Grand Forks Air Force Base team, a team that has been on the Trotters schedule for the past several seasons, is competing in the Winnipeg senior basketball league this season. They have been dubbed the Grand Forks Voodoos.

He'll Be Back Up.

The other week I mentioned that Gordon (Red) Berenson, the All-America hockey player from Michigan University had made the jump from college hockey to the National Hockey league, with the Montreal Canadiens. Well, this week it is reported that Berenson has been sent down to the Canadiens' number one farm team, the Hull-Ottowa club.

It doesn't mean that Red is not of National Hockey league caliber, though. The Montreal club had seventeen players on the roster, exclusive of goalies, and it was necessary to cut down to the league limit of sixteen players. Berenson was the only player on the squad who could be sent down without asking for waivers. I'll make a small wager that Berenson will be back up with the Canadiens before the season is ended.

HOCKEY without ice poses a problem for Coach Gene Sack and his Thief River Falls Lincoln high school Prowlers. One solution could be the one suggested by Tom Morben, left, and Tony Poole, recently elected co-captains of the Prowlers — but roller skates just don't seem to fit into the picture. More likely the Prowler pucksters will have to wait until weather turns cold enough to provide ice needed for practice and games. The late season, although welcome, is a deterrent to the Prowlers who have been in the state tournament eight times since 1945 and won state championships in 1954 and 1956.

UNCONCERNED about the fact that the fish spearing season opened last Saturday, anglers took advantage of unseasonably warm weather and a wide open river early this week to try their luck in the Red Lake River. Catches were reported to be good last week but the fish just weren't biting when this photo was taken Tuesday. Phillip Schmitz, 219 Duluth av. N., had a little trouble with ice on his line and admitted that his fingers felt frozen, but was reluctant to give up his favorite passtime—even if it was the fourth day of December. Each passing day had established a record for the river being open.

Drivers Urged to Be Extra Careful During Christmas Holidays

"Both motorists and pedestrians should now make an effort to take added precautions that will protect them from traffic trouble during the rush of the year-end holiday season," Safety Director Garnet Hall advised today.

"In the hurry-scurry of the season, too often both drivers and walkers forget to follow the simple rules of safety and the end result is a ruined holiday," Hall pointed out.

He went on to list a few safety rules that should be followed in order to keep the holidays happy and free of grief or pain. They are:

1. Bad weather driving of the season calls for added caution on slippery streets. Walk more carefully, and drive slower to allow more time and more distance for evasive maneuvers.

2. Drivers must keep windshields clean. This requires regular checkups of windshield wipers and defrosters, and also a little use of "elbow grease" to clear windows and the windshield of ice, frost and snow before driving. In turn, pedestrians should realize that motorists cannot spot them easily in the reduced visibility brought on by snowfall, sleet storms and fog. Walkers are gambling with death if they take it for granted that motorists will watch out for them.

3. Be aware of the dangers of carbon monoxide poisoning. Don't warm-up car motors in closed garages and don't sit in a parked car with the motor running. Always drive with a window partially open.

4. The installation and use of seat belts will help keep drivers and passengers alike from being injured seriously if a car goes into a skid or spin on slippery streets.

5. It's the season for parties, but the wise motorist and pedestrian will not try to negotiate in traffic while under the influence of liquor. Alcohol can be a deadly potion to either a driver or a walker.

6. Above all, obey traffic laws—signs and signals. Cheating in traffic may only cheat you out of a lifetime of holidays.

1962 Christmas Holiday Safety Campaign

Since Christmas is the most dangerous time of the year on the highways, the National Safety Council urges us to join with them in reducing holiday tragedies by perpetuating good will and concern while driving. As Mayor of Thief River Falls, I would appreciate your cooperation in observing the period between December 1 and January 2 as "Christmas Campaign Time." I wish to call upon every citizen to participate by driving sanely and by setting a good example. Observe all traffic laws, don't drink and then drive, and eliminate all hazards at home.

Happy Holidays!

TB PICKED UP IN CHILDHOOD may go to work during adolescence. That is why the Christmas Seal association sponsored the tuberculin testing of 292,000 school children last year. The tuberculin test shows whether the TB germ is in the body. The chest x-ray shows whether the germs are doing any damage to the lungs.

Safety Director Urges Thought Be Given Bicycle Gift

Highway Safety Chief Urges That Bicycle Be Fitted to Child's Needs

Parents were reminded today by Garnet Hall, safety director of the Minnesota highway department, that they are charged with the responsibility of making every effort to see that a Christmas bicycle doesn't prove to be a "ticket to tragedy" for the young recipient of such a two-wheeled gift.

"Too often, the 'givers' buy bicycles that are too big for the child, and also forget to consider the fact that the youngster may not have any practical knowledge in the operation of a bicycle," Hall pointed out.

"The bicycle can be a source of great pleasure for a youngster, but it also can cause tragedy to sadden a family, especially when the child is unskilled in the operation of the two-wheeler, and also is not familiar with traffic laws governing its operation in today's fast-moving traffic.

"In the last 10 years, 98 bicyclists have been killed and 4,672 others injured in Minnesota traffic. Of those killed, 80 were 14 years old and under, and 4,000 of the injured were in the same age bracket. In 98 per cent of the mishaps involving the two-wheeler someone is either injured or killed," he said.

Hall suggested that before a child is given a bicycle he be taken on a staged shopping trip to a sporting shop where the child can be allowed to try out bicycles for size. It's important that the child "fits" the bicycle for the best in rider control, he explained.

"And it is imperative that a child be given instruction in traffic laws that govern the use of bicycles, and that he has a full knowledge of traffic signs and signaling procedures before he is allowed to ride the two-wheeler in traffic."

Investigation Please

Now that Congress has taken steps to force American business and industry to file factual statements of all personal expense items listed for income tax exemption, it has been suggested that members of Congress now impose upon themselves a rule of complete publicity for all of the government funds that are used for travel and junkets of all kinds.

Reports indicate that millions of dollars are wasted by the members of Congress for their own entertainment each year. Only a small part of such expenditures are revealed by the executive department and most Congressional committees refuse to make public information about such activities of their members.

The following comment by the National Observer is quite revealing.

> "Travel is broadening, so we're not inclined to quibble when globe-trotting congressmen insist their junkets serve a valid legislative purpose. We wonder, though, whose purpose is served by the 10 legislators now traveling abroad at taxpayers' expense who lost their seats in last month's elections."

Trading With the Reds

One Minneapolis store has properly refusel to stop selling products imported from Communist-bloc countries. The demand was made by a local "Committee to Warn of the Arrival of Communist Merchandise," a national organization formed to discourage the sale of such imports. Several other stores, it is reported, have yielded to the pressure.

The merchandise in question is imported under the provisions of trade agreements approved by our State Department, and it is admitted to our country generally in exchange for American products.

We are not going to make friends among the people of the Communist world by refusing to trade with them, and we need their friendship and confidence. Many of them are our friends.

Our Canadian neighbors and other members of the British Commonwealth trade extensively with Communist countries. Canadians have disposed of much of their farm surpluses by sales to China. Recognition of China and a removal of trade barriers would be in our own best interests and in the interests of peace.

Let's start acting grown-up.

Worthless Gift?

The Upper Harbor Project at Minneapolis is nearing completion but there seems to be little enthusiasm among business and civic leaders of the city as to the value of this facility. This project never did have the support of the Army Corps of Engineers, which has maintained from the start that the need did not justify the cost. Minneapolis people are beginning to see it that way too, according to a story by Pat McCarty in the Tribune.

The cost of the project is in excess of $33 million, which of course is just another drop in the bucket. The project is mainly interesting for its historical background and the procedure by which Congress wastes billions by pork barrel spending.

As we recall it, Senator Hubert Humphrey was going to do terrible things to the Corps of Engineers if they got the idea that they could tell Congress what was right and what was wrong. And in all probability the Senator voted for many other unnecessary projects thruout the country in order to get the support of their sponsors for his gift to his home town. What if that gift now proves to be worthless?

Time Is Needed

Our northern states are loaded with dogooders who have easy solutions for the race problem of the southern states. For them the problem is simple. All that is needed is an admission by the whites that they are wrong, and have been wrong all the time. Then suddenly the blacks will rise to equality and all of the prejudices will vanish. Peace and harmony will prevail forevermore.

The simple northerners, some of them in positions of influence, who give lip-service to this kind of an approach, do immeasurable harm to the cause of racial justice. Equality is not a condition that is created by an aldermen's ordinance or by an act of Congress. This is a self-evident fact that the simple northerners too often fail to take into consideration.

Prejudice cannot be legislated out of human relations. Edmund Burke, British statesman and philosopher, and friend of freedom, recognized this fact when he urged the government not to try to transform the people of India into Englishmen and Christians in one generation. As usual, under such circumstances, the advice of Burke was not heeded.

We were sidetracked into this dull discussion by the comments of a distinguished English commentator, Stanley N. Shaw, on the race problem in South Africa. We like his approach. Here is a condensed version of what he said about it recently:

> "The apartheid policy is an expensive one, yet it is being borne courageously by South Africa's people. In time it will be modified. From separateness will come unity and equal rights. But what South Africa needs now is time—and a sympathetic understanding."

We think our northern do-gooders, understandably impatient with slow progress toward equality in our southern states, might well be guided by the thoughtful advice of Mr. Shaw. Prejudices must be overcome gradually. Attempts to move too fast sometimes cause regrettable delays.

Obscenity

We have received an invitation to become a subscriber to a publication that features pornography in a way that would appeal to cultured and refined people. The samples of what was considered refined obscenity were interesting. The thing that puzzled us however, was the proud boast that this literature would not be available at the usual places where such sordid publications were regularly displayed and could be purchased by any and all who had the wherewithal to pay for the rubbish.

This particular publication would be delivered only by mail, thus protecting the weaklings who might be corrupted by association with high-class filth. This suggestion that we might be corrupted in a cultured and refined way by the filth that would be delivered to us directly by mail, caused us to wonder if the postal authorities agreed with this. According to the United States criminal code:

> "Every obscene, lewd or lascivious, and every filthy book, pamphlet, picture, paper, letter, writing, print or other publication of an indecent character—is hereby declared to be nonmailable matter, and shall not be conveyed in the mails or delivered from any post-office by any letter carried."

This is a matter we are going to take up directly with Clarence Knudsen the next time he starts needling us at the pie counter.

Population Lag

Minnesota's population as of July 1 was 3,475,000, according to a Census Bureau estimate. That's a gain of 61,000 or 1.8 per cent since the official count in 1960.

But Minnesota's rate of growth during this period was only about half of the national rate. In some states the rate of growth would be much greater than the national rate, and it all adds up to the fact that our rate of growth has been discouragingly low.

Surveys by responsible organizations have suggested several plausible reasons for our failure to grow, and the one reason that seems to be supported by all of the studies is our unfavorable tax climate. This has reference particularly to our tax climate in relation to industrial development. For industries that do an interstate business, and are able to choose the state within which they will locate their operation, the tax picture becomes a very important factor.

For this reason our tax structure should be as nearly uniform as possible with the tax structure of states that might be considered competitive. And if, by better management, we can provide our public services at less cost than the competitive states then we would be at a distinct advantage in the comparisons.

Minnesota is surrounded by states in which the general sales tax is an important source of public revenue. And Minnesota is in the top bracket nationally with its state income tax. This tax picture does not invite industrial development and it does retard state progress.

Unfortunately this tax problem has become a political football in our state and has been misrepresented by our politicians. Too many of our political leaders who know better, lack the courage to tell a truth they fear might be unpopular.

The sales tax is a popular tax in the states where it has been tried. In no state where it has been tried has it been voted out, and in several instances voters have supported increases in their sales taxes as the preferable way to secure increased revenue.

Minnesota's failure to keep up with the growth pattern of other states is not good. It is a problem that deserves serious consideration, especially by the young people whose future is linked closely with the future of their community and their state.

WE'RE UP TO OUR NECK IN GIFT ITEMS And TOYS! WE'RE HAVING A STOREWIDE SALE On EVERYTHING

THE ACE STAFF IS AT YOUR SERVICE!

"I bought so much that my staff thinks I'm a little '?' Crazy!"

VIC KALINOSKI

"Sometimes I get pretty enthusiastic about the volume of business we expect to do at Christmas Time. This year, I must have been pretty optimistic, because I've bought more merchandise than ever before.

In fact, we have filled our store with so many Christmas Gift Items and Toys that the employees have been asking me just what in the world I am doing.

Maybe I'm not so sure myself, but I look at it this way: I bought a lot because I believe in giving a good choice. And, by buying in volume, I get the lowest possible price and pass it on to our customers in storewide savings.

In fact, our customers are invited to check our low prices. I know we won't be undersold on similar quality items.

Speaking of toys, I'm very happy with the many, many comments about our good selection and the remarks about our low prices. For the benefit of customers who do not realize it — 99% OF OUR TOYS ARE NOW AT SALE PRICES! (We make a profit on the other 1%) Never before have I gone so wild on buying such a huge stock of toys.

I may never go so wild again, but at our SALE PRICES, I expect to see the bare walls again before too many more days.

A new pair of skates will be a real delight for any young boy or girl at Christmas Time. And even if the weather has been unusually warm, I guarantee that there will be plenty of skating before next spring.

So, TRADE IN YOUR OLD SKATES; You can buy Boys or Girls FIGURE SKATES for only $7.22.

And, I'm especially pleased with this little deal: Hockey Pucks for just 23c!

Well, I could write a whole book about our bargains. But, just wander in our store and see for yourself. You'll like our huge selection, and you'll appreciate the savings you make.

SERVICE WITH A SMILE!

Here's the gal at the checkout counter that takes your money with a hearty smile, and makes this "process" less painful! She is Vie Kalinoski, wife of the boss, who is a very cheerful person. Vie loves our customers, and joins Mr. Kalinoski in seeing that you are always satisfied with every purchase.

Vie suggests that you be a little daring this year and make your own Christmas Decorations with Christmas Spray Paint. It comes in five colors, and 16-oz. cans are only $1.29.

Spray Snow has been reduced from 98c to 67c, and is perfect for use of styrofoam, Christmas trees, leaves, wreathes, etc. They really turn out beautiful. (PS: free stencils if you want them!)

ACE HARDWARE

When it comes to trees and lights, I'm your Santa Claus!

RONNIE GERARDY

"Hi! My main job at Ace Hardware is the "Chief" of the electrical and plumbing department. But, at this busy time of the year, we all get involved in other things. Right now, I'm sorta "light headed" . . .

Right now, I have NINE different kinds of Christmas Trees. Long needles, short needles—you name it, I've got it. I know you'll find a perfect tree for your home in our selection. But, if you don't, you'll like my deal on a tree stand for only 69c!

One reason that I'm "light headed" these days, is because of our terrific deals on NOMA CHRISTMAS LIGHT SETS, for both outdoors and indoors. Our stock is so huge that we're making a big 20% DISCOUNT on all light sets! You're saving 20c on the $1!

Be Sure to see the new "24 tiny lites.' It's regularly $4., but our Ace Price is $3.20. And, see the new "20 Glamour star-like light sets" that are regularly $4.50, but you pay only $3.60. And, the lamps can be replaced!

If you want something real fancy, we have colored lens for only $1.35 to put over a regular flood light, or you might prefer the revolving 4-color wheel for your Xmas Tree.

If you're just replacing bulbs this year in your sets, just look at these deals: Indoor Tree Light Bulbs, (N7½), selling at FIVE for 40c; the Outdoor Light Bulbs (N9½) are FIVE for 55c.

While they last! We're selling 25c boxes tinsel for 19c!

I guess there are many people who do not know that we handle kitchen and bathroom exhaust fans. Somehow, I sold three in four days, and Vic was very happy. Maybe this is the practical gift idea for you this year. Or, door bells and chimes make mighty fine home gifts. We sell a lot at this time of year, so we have a much larger stock than usual.

One more thing: if you need a Stainless Steel Sink, I still have a few left at $29.99, and you better hurry as these sell out like hotcakes.

Art Overbye at the Controls

"The boss asked me to write a column, and I'm not so sure that he did the right thing. After all, my main time is spent in the tools and hardware part of the store, and it's hard to write a column with a chisel.

Not only does Vic want me to write a column, but he tells me that I'm a specialist in the LIONEL TRAINS AND ROAD RACING SECTION. Well, this is more down my alley, and I guess I can tell you a little about what we have.

Before I forget, be sure and stop in to watch the trains and racing sets in action. It's fun and it's fascinating, and you don't even have to buy, but you won't hurt my feelings if you do!

LIONEL, of course, is the really famous name in electric trains, and we are Lionel Headquarters. We have "027" tracks to fit Marx and Lionel for only 19 cents.

A real deal is the "027" STEAM LOCOMOTIVE with headlight and tender, with three cars, the track and the transformer. A regular $14.95 "package", you can now buy it at the sale price of $11.95.

The "027" STEAM LOCOMOTIVE with headlight, whistle, smoke, tender, and four cars, plus track and 60-watt transformer is a wonderful gift. It should sell at $39.50, but we have cut the price down to $31.95.

The "027" Remote Control Switches are regularly $17.50. But, right now the price has nose-dived to $14.95.

We have the famous HO TRAIN SETS now on sale for as little as $15.95, and you can make some young boy really happy with a gift like this.

Someone said that Electric Train Sets run into money. I guess he is right as we have more than $2700 invested in "HO", "027", SUPER O and STROMBECKER ROAD RACING ACCESSORIES.

Road Racing Sets have gotten to be very popular, and we stock three different types. It's fun for the whole family, and the prices are as tiny as [illegible]

My ideas are "Ladies Only" . . But Men are always welcome!

AGNES POST

"Vic is giving me my share of this ad. So I'm getting right down to business before pleasure by listing the "extra specials" in my department.

HAWKEYE GIFT HAMPERS: They range from $6.95 to $12.95, and are smart, decorative and practical. I'm selling COSCO STOOLS at $8.88, and SERVING CARTS at big discounts, as well as Nylon Mesh Play Pens.

POTS AND PANS: I have counted five different kinds of stainless steel pots and pans for your selection. We have EKCO 9-Pc. Sets at $17.67, and WEST BEND 10-Pc. Sets at $19.88. WEST BEND 3-pc. Bowl sets are only $3.99.

Here's a special for women who may forget that they are cooking stew, or get long-winded on the telephone: It's the new WEST BEND FUTURA STAINLESS with aluminum bottoms. They cook slower! And, we are also very proud of our selection of PATRIOT REVERE WARE.

HAIR DRYERS: they range from $5.95 to $27.95, and every gal would love to own one. Lady Sunbeam Dryers look like a radio. West Bend Hair Dryers have an attractive white case. Universal has a zip leather hat-box style. Men: come in and look these over. You'll help to keep your wife looking beautiful! And, we'll gift wrap your purchase . ... FREE!"

COOKIE MAKING TIME is here. This sounds impossible, but we are pricing all our cookie cutters for only a NICKLE in your choice of shapes.

Oh yes! We have Krumkake and Rosette Irons and Sandbakkals!

A nice little gift would be a "FREEZER THERMOMETEB," and we've reduced the price from 59c to 38c. And, if you want to know the temperature outside, we have OUT-DOOR-LOOK-THRU THERMOMETERS for only $1.42.

An extra special for this week is the 4-PACK OF NORTHERN TISSUE for just 25c. And ladies, we have those ironing caddies in stock now, but hurry . . . they sell out fast. Everyone can use TV Trays, and our sets are just $7.99, and deluxe Fibre-Glass Tray Sets at $9.99.

A very practical and inexpensive gift will be METAL CANDY AND CAKE BOXES, in richly colored designs. Prices are 99c and $1.29.

I hope I have room for just a smile here! You all told me how much you enjoyed my last two columns, and I thank you, although I don't think that Ann Landers is worried . . . yet.

Here's one for the road: "A drunk walked into an open elevator shaft and fell down three stories; Gingerly he stood up, brushed himself off, replaced his hat. "Doggone If," he exclaimed, "I said up!"

JUST SAY, "CHARGE IT!"

Inez Olson has been our office girl for the past three years, and is the gal who sends you a bill when you say "charge it." If you would like to open an ACE Charge Account, Inez will gladly do so for you. She has an ACE Special for Christmas, too!

Open an Account on your Christmas Gifts and you pay one-third in December, one-third in January, and one-third in February—at no extra charge!

If you don't spot Inez in the office, she may be on the sales floor to help out during the Christmas rush. If you want to "layaway" a gift or toy, just say so!

Changes Ordered in State National Guard

The Secretary of the Army Tuesday proposed a new troop allotment for the Minnesota National Guard which would raise the priority of the 47th Infantry Division but would eliminate two nondivisional battalions, each consisting of five company-size units. Over-all strength of the Minnesota Army Guard would be maintained at its present level of 9,600 officers and men, but the increased strength authorization to 10,500 which was given to the state two weeks ago would be nullified.

Eliminated from the troop basis would be the 1st Howitzer Battalion, 175th Artillery, with its headquarters at Olivia and subordinate units located at Montevideo, Dawson, Madison, and Ortonville. Also eliminated would be the 109th Transportation Battalion and three tactical carrier companies at Duluth and one tactical carrier company at Virginia.

The revised troop allotment was submitted to Governor Elmer L. Andersen Tuesday. It will not become effective unless and until accepted by state authorities. Brigadier General Chester J. Moeglein, State Adjutant General, will attend a conference of state adjutants general on Monday, December 10, at the National Guard Bureau in Washington, at which the troop allotments of the several states will be examined in detail. Final decision as to acceptance or rejection of the proposal will be deferred until after Governor Anderson has had opportunity to confer with the National Guard Committee of the Conference of Governors and until after the adjutants general conference.

Although the units to be eliminated are spelled out in the proposal, General Moeglein pointed out that this does not mean that the National Guard will go out of business in the communities affected. If it becomes necessary to accept this troop allotment, the stationing plan and organization of the Minnesota Guard will be revised to provide new units for those communities by transfer from other cities having more than one unit.

Mayor Proclaims Christmas Safety Observance Here

Religious Leaders Ask Assistance in Campaign To Reduce Accident Toll

In response to requests from ministers of various church congregations in Thief River Falls, Mayor Orin Green has issued a Christmas holiday safety proclamation.

The proclamation notes that the National Safety council is conducting a campaign to reduce the annual Christmas season accident toll and that the National Committee of Religious Leaders for Safety has asked all religious and civic leaders to cooperate in an all-out campaign to prevent tragedy on the highways and in the homes of our country.

The proclamation declares "enthusiastic participation in the 1962 Christmas Holiday Safety Campaign" and calls upon the people of the city "to observe the period of December 1 to January 1 and join in the effort to reduce accidents during the year's Christmas—New Year holidays."

"I therefore urge every citizen to be especially thoughtful of the rights of his neighbor, and on the streets and highways to drive by the golden rule, to set a good example for other drivers, to observe all traffic laws, and not to drive after drinking during the holiday season. In addition, we must eliminate hazards in the home."

U. S. Is Seeking Laboratory Aids

The Evening Star

The brilliant evening star is a symbol of many things to many folk. Mariners hail it as a good omen, for it usually forecasts a clear, calm night and smooth sailing. The shepherd tending his flock on a desolate hillside gratefully notes its appearance in the heavens, for its friendly light offers an intangible sort of companionship during his lonely vigil. To many, the star is representative of God's infinite power and wisdom.

Just as this star touches hearts in countless different ways, so may the Church bring to those in all walks of life peace and comfort which lead to a happier, more fruitful pattern of life.

Let us make the Church our guiding light. We can brighten our lives if we accept the teaching of the Scriptures as guideposts along the pathway to future endeavors.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
